FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS —By Merrill Blosser

Cavan Driver Guilty Of Careless Driving

Found guilty on a charge of careless driving, Bruce Shane of RR 3, Cavan, was fined $10 and $12.75 costs in Magistrate's Court Monday. The charges arose out of an accident March 7 when Shane's car struck a railway switch on Bethune St.

Police Constable John Conlin testified he found Shane's car near the broken switch when he investigated the accident but the driver was not in the area.

Shane complained his car had been stolen but later admitted to the officer he had been driving at the time of the accident. On the stand, he claimed he had swung into the switch in avoiding a parked car. George Moncrief, Bethune St. resident in the area when the accident occurred, said, however, he had seen no car parked there at the time.

Tire marks leading to the back wheels of the accused's car indicated he had been travelling in a straight line when he struck the switch.

Believing Shane's story was "not a satisfactory account," Magistrate W. R. Philp found him guilty of the offence.

citizen. The plane's flight was held up for half an hour to give her time to fill out papers and have fingerprints taken.

ENGINE TROUBLE

After leaving London Friday afternoon they stopped for an hour in Iceland. After an hour's flying out of Iceland something went wrong with one of the engines and they had to turn back to have it repaired.

On Saturday morning they arrived at Goose Bay, Labrador, where they found eight feet of snow.

"You can imagine what kind of a spectacle I made with a print dress on, saddle shoes and a white purse," Mrs. Stegink said.

The plane had just taken off from Goose Bay when another engine developed trouble and they had to return to the airport. TCA officials loaded the passengers in a bus, took them to an inn and gave them dinner, rooms and supper before starting off again for Montreal.

They changed planes at Montreal and two hours later landed at Malton airport from where they were taken to a Sunnyside motel where they rested for three hours.

They took off from Malton at 7 a.m. Sunday in a smaller plane and were met at Windsor three hours later by Mr. Stegink's parents and brother-in-law, driving the remaining 200 miles to Holland, Mich., by car.

Mrs. Stegink was operated on in Holland, Mich., March 10, and is now convalescing at the home of her husband's parents, hoping to return to Africa in three months' time.

Mrs. Stegink was formerly a teacher of Roseneath school, a member of Roseneath United Church choir and YPU. She graduated from Briercrest Bible Institute, Caronport, Sask., later going to Paris, France, for language study. There she met her husband.

They were married in Paris in July, 1952, and spent their honeymoon in the Swiss Alps. Flying from Paris to Africa, they reached the Sudan Interior Mission August 21, and were stationed at Fada N'Gourma, French West Africa.

Fafily Of Five

"They did an excellent job," said Mr. Watson. He said that the pumpers with 19 of the 20 volunteers were on the job within 10 minutes of the first call.

By keeping all windows and doors shut Mr. Watson kept the flames damped down. The interior is ruined and the frame building will likely have to be rebuilt. The intense heat and the smoke ruined most of the furnishings and personal possessions.

By Tuesday Mr. Watson would have paid off the second mortgage on his home.

Once before this winter the oil stove flared up. A small fire started in the kitchen but Mrs. Watson, with the help of neighbors, was able to put it out.

2 Players Hurt Free-For-All At Civic Arena

Two players were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital and several others are today nursing their cuts and bruises after a wild free-for-all Sunday afternoon at Civic Arena. It was the final game of the CGE inter-shop league in which Structural Steel defeated Machine Shop, winning the shop hockey championship.

While the Structural Steel boys collected the cup—or whatever it is that goes to the winners—they also collected their share of lumps.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

In the second period Moon Wootton, star lacrosse goalkeeper who keeps in trim by playing hockey in the winter, got into a jam of players at the Structural Steel blue line. He went down on the ice grimacing with pain. Rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, he was at first believed to have suffered a fracture of the left ankle, but later it turned out to be only a severe sprain, and he was able to go home.

With only a few minutes to go in the third period—and with Structural Steel comfortably in the lead with a four-goal margin—a Class A rhubarb broke out.

A veteran hockey fan described it as a "shame" and a "disgrace."

"It looked as though a truck had gone down the ice bowling the players left and right," he said.

Eric Delahey, 21-year-old defence partner of Wootton's, was knocked to the ice—whether by fists or a stick nobody is saying. In any case he was KO'd and had to be taken to St. Joseph's by ambulance.

He is suffering from concussion and has a cut at the base of the skull. His face was so badly battered that his jaws had to be pried apart Sunday; otherwise he couldn't open his mouth. At first it was feared he had a broken jaw and nose but X-rays indicated no broken bones. He also has a collection of other cuts, presumably from fists.

Goalie Ross Nichols, Structural Steel, was knicked for three stitches but finished out the game. Chum Fryia and several other players are also reported to have taken quite a pounding.

The score? Oh yes! . . . Six to two for Structural Steel.

Horace Steggles Guest Of Honor

Horace Steggles was guest of honor at a farewell dinner Saturday night attended by approximately 70 employees of A. Wander Ltd.

Mr. Steggles leaves Saturday to rejoin the staff of the Kings Langley plant of A. Wander Ltd. in England following 24 years with the company in Peterborough.

He was the first works manager of the plants when it was built in Peterborough in 1929 and in 1942 became general manager.

Mr. Steggles was presented with a wardrobe trunk and a brief case. The presentation, on behalf of the employees, was made by C. W. Stewart, assisted by W. C. Ashbury and John Lawrence.

Ed. Humphrey presented Mr. Steggles with a scroll signed by all the employees. A beautiful bouquet of flowers was given Mrs. Steggles.

The chairman for the evening's program was George N. Howson.

Guest soloists were Ronald Stewart, a Toronto employee of the company, and Miss Nickie Humphrey. Mrs. Cecil Searles and Mrs. Ken Kidd played a piano duet. Mrs. Searles was accompanist for the program.

During the evening, Mr. Steggles welcomed his successor, G. E. Goldsmith.

Man Dies 6 Hours After Son Born

TORONTO (CP) — Stanley McGookin, 59, died in hospital here early Sunday of a heart attack, six hours after his son, Stanley, was born in the same institution.

Confined to hospital with a heart condition for the last five months, he never knew of his son's birth. A nurse making rounds found him dead.

Mrs. McGookin, 33, was informed of his death three hours afterwards.

A native of Brockville, he was employed as an orderly at the Western General hospital. He is survived by his widow, a two-year-old daughter and the new-born baby.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at Brockville.

James Wilson Former President Of Power Plant

MONTREAL (CP)—James Wilson, 78, OBE, former president and chairman of the executive committee of Shawinigan Water and Power Company, died Sunday night.

Mr. Wilson, who was associated with a number of other companies in Canada, the United States and Britain, had been ill for some time and had resigned from the Shawinigan companies in 1950.

A Scottish immigrant who became one of Canada's leading industrialists, Mr. Wilson was appointed head of the Shawinigan companies in 1939 after 28 years as chief accountant, secretary, director, vice-president and general manager. He received the Order of the British Empire in 1948 for his services to the nation and the Commonwealth in two world wars.

Mr. Wilson was born in the Scottish border country, son of a solicitor who also was the local agent of the Royal Bank of Scotland. He worked at both law and banking in his father's office before emigrating to Canada in 1902.

He came to Montreal and worked as a bookkeeper before joining Shawinigan in 1911. He eventually was to become an officer or director of a number of companies, including Union Investors Limited, Saguenay Power Company Limited, Dominion Bridge Company Limited, Dominion Engineering Works and Provincial Transport Company.

In his youth, Mr. Wilson was an outstanding tennis player and lawn bowler in Scottish tournaments. He also gained renown as a footballer and was invited to join the professional Nottingham county club.

Survivors include his widow, the former Muriel Forbes Weir, one son, two brothers and a sister.

Community Fund Totals $82,795

A total of $82,795 has been collected for the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund in the first week of campaign overtime.

Canvassers are putting on an extra spurt to collect the $12,205 needed to reach the 1953 $95,000 objective.

Three divisions have still to go over the top. The Women's Division and Penny-a-Day Division have both made their objectives.

Russ Baer, chairman of the Industrial Division, reported today that nine more city industries had reached their objective, now making a total of 18. The nine Mr. Baer listed today are: Canada Packers, Canadian Sealright, G. W. Green Co., Martin-Hewitt Containers, Outboard Marine, Peterborough Canoe, Peterborough Examiner, Peterborough Lumber Co., Timber Structures.

The industrial division's total is $37,022—$3,778 down from its objective.

The Special Names Division has collected $24,070 of its $27,850 objective and the Retail Division has collected $13,706 of its $19,250 objective.

TRAVEL: With Jean Stenton

Before this school was built Irene could get no one to be her principal. No qualified people wanted to put up with the inconvenience. But when the new school was finished, there were many who felt qualified to take over. A first class row developed and in order to avoid a strike of 60,000 unionized teachers across the country the head of the government Department of Education had to step in and appoint someone from outside. Irene was transferred to another section and she finally resigned and remained in Taxco.

* * * *

She soon found a new area where there were children with no opportunity of getting schooling so she began at the bottom again. She went to see a former state governor, Gen Leyva, now the Number Three man in the War Ministry, and asked if he would be willing to pay the teachers if she opened a new state school.

* * * *

He knew Irene and her work and said he would provide the salaries. The problem then was to find a house. She was a close friend of the daughter of Senora Cayetanna Hernandez de Bustamante who lived high on the mountainside. She often visited their home and one day when the widowed mother was in Mexico City on some errands, Irene and the daughter put their heads together and decided to establish their school there.

* * * *

When the mother returned she found half her small house taken over by children. Her house would not be as large as some bungalows in Peterborough. Today there are 350 children registered there and 300 attending regularly. Four classes are held in the tiny patio, one on a little verandah, one in a large room and one at the back of the house in an area big enough for a car to park. Leaves of trees and a small piece of canvas provide shade for the latter. It is because of this the Rotarians are trying to get a roof on their partly completed school. When the rainy season comes (the end of May until the end of October) the children sit through the rain for their classes. They have done this for two years.

* * * *

After she got her new school operating this girl again appealed to the club and asked for help. They decided to try and build a new school.

* * * *

The federal government was contacted last September and asked for help. Since there was a new government coming in they were reluctant to act and told the club to see the new officials in December. So they decided to try the present state governor with a compromise. The school was to cost 90,000 pesos and they suggested each of the three pay one-third as they had done with the first school, which meant 30,000 pesos each.

* * * *

The governor told them he had no money at the moment, but to go ahead and he would have the necessary funds available when they needed them. So within a short period Taxco people raised their share and began work. When the money was gone they contacted the governor and he washed his hands of it. So the club was broke. They couldn't get state help and the federal government was just in the process of getting organized and was unable to act at that time.

* * * *

Four months work was done on the school before the money was exhausted, and the last man on the job was let go only a week ago. The new school will have 7 classrooms to house 50 children each, plus a principal's office for Irene and sanitary installations. In the temporary house school now there are supposed to be seven teachers. But because they lack one, Irene is both principal and teacher. All the teachers are being paid by the state.

* * * *

MAKE SACRIFICES

This point high on the mountain is one of the poorest districts in Taxco. They are mostly miners, bricklayers and peons living there. In spite of their poverty they wanted a school so badly that they managed to scrape together 2,500 pesos, an amount which for them is like $25,000 from someone else. Since they couldn't give much money, many of the fathers gave their work. They helped with the construction and cleared debris. The rock had to be broken by hand with hammers and drills. They couldn't blast the mountain rock because of houses above. They and club members lugged stone away. This was no small thing because many of these men worked eight long, hard hours in the mines and then came home and worked three more at night.

* * * *

The children and parents here appreciate their school because they are having to work so hard to get it. They will do anything to earn a few small pennies to boost the fund. Senora Hernandez allows them to use her tiny patio for weekly dancing parties and a Rotarian who is a TV dealer has donated a TV set and they charge a small admission for people to come and see the wrestling matches, etc.

* * * *

In this temporary house school Irene has only grades 1-5 because they are so short of space. There are two first grades, two second grades, one third, fourth and fifth.

* * * *

Senora Hernandez told me she was happy to have the children there. Her husband had lived all his life in that section and it had been his dearest wish that some day there would be a school for these forgotten children.

* * * *

"I will be happy to see the new school but I will miss the children so much," she said. "I will likely end up spending eight hours a day with them in the new school (two hills up) so I won't be lonesome."

* * * *

TEACHER SUPPLIES BOOKS

The teacher in these house schools has to be father, mother and teacher to these pupils. They must supply the text books, notebooks, etc., for their pupils. Only the salaries are paid. School runs from 9-1:30 and from 3:30 to 6:30. It is estimated that there are still 1,000 children in Taxco who have no school and no hope of any education.

* * * *

They are hoping that within 10 years this problem will be solved with schools and teachers to provide equal opportunity. All across the country there are many Irenes unselfishly giving their services so that Mexican youngsters may have their chance.

* * * *

Sr. Reyes of the Rotary Club said they think in four or five months they will have enough money to put the roof on the partially finished school. If no other help is forthcoming, they will carry on until they have been able to raise the rest of the money.

* * * *

There are no dull or lazy children in this school and they work hard because education is a treasure. While I sat in the living room of Sra. Hernandez' house, several of the children came in shyly and recited poems for me. Others showed me their work books. I have never seen more polite children. When Sr. Reyes and I climbed to the new school building six little girls accompanied us and they insisted that the senorita's purse was much too heavy for her to carry and also insisted on carrying my camera. Sweeter children would be hard to find and they have so little.

* * * *

I am hoping that in two or three years when I return to Taxco that I will find my little friends happily settled in their new school.

Fans, Players Stage Battle In Jr. Playoff

MONTREAL (CP)—Fans, officials and players teamed up at the Forum Sunday night to stage one of the wildest battles in the Quebec Junior Amateur Hockey Association's history as Montreal Canadiens edged Quebec Citadels 2-1 for their first victory in the final playdowns.

It was Claude Vinet's winning goal with eight seconds remaining in the third period that started the hassle. Quebec players, led by coach Phil Watson argued strongly that the puck had not crossed the Citadelles goal-line.

This resulted in a melee, involving Watson, players and fans.

The Cits now lead the best-of-nine series 2-1.

As the game ended, several Quebec players stormed officials and defenceman Gerard Houle offered referee Sibbey Mundey his hockey stick, indicating the official played for Montreal during the game.

Meanwhile, the crowd of more than 6,000 persons booed and hooted.

Apparently irked by ribs from spectators, Watson jumped into the stands and tangled with one. Several of his players joined him in the slugfest.

Seeing this, c hundreds of fans streamed from their seats and charged across the ice to the Quebec bench. The lights were immediately doused and a body of ushers managed to halt the uprising.

Money Broker Wins Florida Derby, 15-1

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Money Broker, a 15-to-1 shot in a field of 17 speedy three-year-olds, won the $100,000 added Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park Saturday, beating Blaze by a neck in a driving finish.

Spring Hill Farm's Jamie K and Mrs Wallace Gilroy's Slim finished in a dead heat for third in the 1⅛-mile feature.

Money Broker, owned by Ed Grosfield and Alex Grissom, Detroit automobile dealers, ran the distance in 1:53 4-5 under jockey Alfred Popara and paid a handsome $33.80, $13.70 and $6.60.

Bruce Campbell's Ram O'War, post-time favorite at 3 to 1, finished eighth.

Rev. L. R. Pocock Rector Of Cavan

The Rev. L. R. Pocock, BA, of Birchcliffe, will be the new rector of the parish of Cavan succeeding the Rev. A. A. Chote, BA, L.Th., who left earlier this year to serve as rector of the parish of Richmond Hill.

Mr. Pocock will preach his first three sermons in all three churches of the parish, St. John's, Ida; Christ Church, Bailieboro; and St. Thomas', Millbrook, March 29. At present he is assistant to the Rev. L. S. Garnsworthy, rector of the church of St. Nicholas in Birchcliffe.

Mr. Pocock, who is a young married man with three sons from three to eight years of age, plans to have his family move to Millbrook at the close of the present school term.

BATTLE AT HATCHERY—Pickets and police battle outside the strike-bound hatchery of Swift Canadian at Stratford. The truck in the background has 16,000 newly-hatched baby chicks which the company moved out after a scuffle with the pickets. The Humane Society, which previously had gassed 16,000 chicks, ruled that all chicks must be moved out of the hatchery within 48 hours after hatching or they will gas them. There are no facilities in the hatchery for feeding the chicks.

Youngest RSM Started Career In Army At Nine

PETAWAWA, Ont. (CP) — A 32-year-old soldier who went into uniform at the tender age of nine is the regimental sergeant-major of the 81st Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery, which left camp here Sunday bound for Korea.

Herb E. Fournier, a native of Kingston, Ont., is the youngest RSM in the Royal Canadian Army today.

He must also have been the youngest Canadian in the forces when, at the age of nine, he became a bugler in a navy volunteer reserve unit at Kingston. The unit needed buglers, he says, and recruiting officers asked no questions.

SWITCHED TO RESERVE

Two years later, Fournier switched to the reserve army and later, when he became 14, he signed on in the permanent army as a bugler in "B" battery of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery. Years later he won his paratrooper's wings as senior non-commissioned officer with the famed 1st light paratroop battery of the RCHA.

His prowess as a crack parade-square perfectionist is widespread. For the 1951 visit of Princess Elizabeth to Canada, he trained a tri-service guard of honor for the city of Winnipeg.

His wife, the former Margaret MacDonald, also comes from Kingston. They have two children. His father, Joseph Fournier of Kingston, is a retired veteran of 20 years' service in the permanent army.

Allan Cup Semi-Finals To Start Thursday

TORONTO (CP)—The first game of the Eastern Canada Allan Cup semi-finals will be played Thursday at Kitchener between Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, OHA senior A champions and Sudbury Wolves, NOHA senior A titleholders.

Dates for other games in the best-of-seven series have not been announced. The first two games will be played in Kitchener, the second three in Sudbury, and the last two in Kitchener.

Slides Of Voyage To England Shown

ROSENEATH (ENS). — "My Trip to England," an illustrated travelogue presented by Mrs. Harold Taylor, was the highlight of a social gathering sponsored by Centenary WA.

Mrs. Taylor is president of Roseneath Women's Institute and last fall spent three months with her relatives in England, after an absence of 39 years. Her slides included pictures of the boat, views of the different parts of England she visited, glimpses of the royal family and her trip home.

The speaker was introduced by the WA president, Mrs. Dawson Timlin and thanked by Mrs. Ernest Burrison. The Rev. J. R. Wheeler, pastor of Centenary Church, presided over the program.

A duet was sung by Shirley Woodruff and Eugene Hope with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Laurie Hope. Mrs. Silas Sherwin contributed two readings, and Mrs. Oscar Adams played a violin solo. Faye Adams put on a puppet show and Rev. Wheeler gave a reading.

Harold Taylor won the prize in a guessing contest by Mrs. Dawson Timlin. A "Pat" contest by Mrs. Walton Lean was won by Mrs. C. W. Varcoe. Mrs. Ernest Burrison was in charge of a quiz. The singing of the National Anthem concluded the program.

Home-made candy was sold and lunch was served by WA members.

Swift Applies For Injunction Against Strike

STRATFORD (CP)—Hearing on an injunction against picketing Swift Canadian Company property here is scheduled for today at Osgoode Hall in Toronto.

Swift employees, members of local 307, United Packinghouse Workers of America, (CIO-CCL) who have been picketing the company's main plant on Erie street and a chick hatchery on Pine street about three blocks away.

The question of the legality of picketing the hatchery has been raised by company officials who claim that building should not be affected by the strike. Union spokesmen say the hatchery is part of the main plant and was a part of that plant when union agreements were drawn up.

Last week thousands of chicks were destroyed at the hatchery because there was no way of feeding them.

Friday pickets and police became involved in a brief scuffle when two company trucks ran through a picket line blockade with about 16,000 chicks which were later distributed to farmers in the district.

A few thousand more chicks are due to hatch this week.

The strike started over a disagreement on wages and hours of work.

Not Enough Ammunition To Meet Push—Van Fleet

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. James Van Fleet has told U.S. senators that the 8th army hasn't enough ammunition to meet a Communist offensive in Korea.

"Should the enemy start something which is unpredictable, then do we have enough to meet this offensive, and I say no," Van Fleet declared.

Van Fleet gave his testimony to the Senate armed services committee March 5, 6 and 10. Most of it was kept secret until Sunday when the group decided the public should have the full story.

The former 8th army commander said he understood the situation is better now than it was when he left Korea last month. But he emphasized he is in direct disagreement with his Pentagon superiors on how much ammunition the army should shoot and what the army's mission in Korea should be. He favors a more aggressive policy.

SHOCKING

Senators used such words in the record as "tragic," "shocking," and "unbelievable" as Van Fleet told them:

1. The troops in Korea "have to be in trouble in order to shoot" heavy weapons and then they have only enough supplies for "merely a protective action to save themselves."

2. He had been forced to issue "no shoot" order to his gunners to hoard dwindling supplies, and at one time in May, 1951, there wasn't a shell left in his supply dumps—only shells at the gun pits.

3. Gen. Mark W. Clark, supreme commander of the Far Eastern Forces, told him last November the United Nations forces had to cut down their rate of fire against the enemy to conserve ammunition.

TWICE ARTILLERY

4. The Chinese and North Korean Reds now have twice as much artillery on the firing line as the UN forces—and the enemy has "adequate" ammunition supplies.

5. Victory can be achieved in Korea if the army is "given the means" which would mean more ammunition and more manpower.

6. In June, 1951, the Allied army had the Reds retreating "in a panic" and "I was crying" to be turned loose. He said he thought at that time he could have pursued the enemy, captured 200,000 to 300,000 prisoners and "all his heavy equipment." But he added he was ordered to stop as the truce talks began.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, insisted that under his present "sitdown" policy there is enough ammunition to do the limited job given the army.

Two Men Held In Fatal Beating

MONTREAL (CP)—Quebec Provincial police said Sunday night they were still detaining two Tillsonburg, Ont., men for questioning in connection with the slaying of Jeannine D'Amour, 27, whose decomposed body was found Dec. 29 in a sandpit near Shawinigan Falls, Que.

They are Real Leblanc and Paul Tremblay. Two unidentified Montreal men, also taken into custody, were released last Wednesday.

An alleged witness to the fatal beating, date of which was tentatively set as June 24, 1952, also was being held. The witness, whose name was not disclosed, said that while driving an automobile he thought he saw four persons engaged in a drunken brawl on a lonely highway near the sandpit.

The woman's home-town is said to be Gogama, Ont. RCMP at Ottawa established her identity from a fingerprint.

More than 50 persons have been questioned since the body was found by laborers working at the sandpit.

Horses Killed In Fires Since May Totals Nearly 170

NEW YORK (AP) — The fire at Jamaica race track Sunday night, in which at least five horses perished, brought to nearly 170 the number of horses destroyed in 10 race track fires since last May.

The biggest loss of race horses was at Louisville, Ky., Oct 27, 1951, when 68 perished at Douglas Park, where horses are quartered for racing at Churchill Downs.

Two fires at Belmont Park last year killed 46 horses.

Here is the list:

Pleasanton, Calif., May 6, 1952—10 perished at the Alameda county fair grounds.

Belmont Park, June 16—21 were destroyed and a groom lost his life.

Belmont Park, Sept. 14—25 thoroughbreds perished on eve of the opening of the fall meeting.

Chester, W. Va. Oct. 16—10 horses died, eight barns were destroyed and a stablehand killed at Waterford.

Albuquerque, N. M. Oct. 17—Five burned to death in a fire which swept through a nearly deserted New Mexico state fair grounds barn.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 27—68 race horses perished at Douglas Park.

Charlestown, W. Va., Feb 26, 1953—12 horses, nine of them thoroughbreds, lost their lives.

Lincoln, R. I. March 11—seven died in stable fire at Lincoln Downs.

New York, March 22—at least five horses perished at Jamaica race track.

How many ways do they serve you?

Guess again!

All of these people serve you in useful ways through their jobs. But, like people in all walks of life, they may also be helping you in certain important unseen ways.

Take your postman, for instance. He may have helped to build your home through his ownership of life insurance. It's possible — because the money of thousands of life insurance policyholders is invested for them in building throughout the nation.

In the same way your milkman, lawyer or nurse may have helped build new highways, waterworks, schools, power plants or other essential public works in your community. For there are millions of people in these and many other occupations whose invested life insurance money works these ways for everyone's benefit.

And — who knows — perhaps your job too was created by these life insurance policyholders' dollars, invested to develop new businesses and industries.

Even your health may benefit because so many people own life insurance. Several medical research projects, supported wholly or in part by life insurance companies, are now seeking ways of checking diseases and prolonging life for all.

So anyone who owns life insurance —including probably you—does more than provide financial security for his family. He also serves his fellow-citizens in all these useful ways!

AT YOUR SERVICE!

A trained life underwriter — representing one of the more than 50 Canadian, British and United States life insurance companies in Canada — will gladly help you plan for your family's security and your own needs in later years. Rely on him!

Scientific Study Reveals Three Keys To Safe Drinking

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Three keys to safe drinking — to prevent alcoholism — are found in an unusual international scientific study.

One key is to make children not think of drinking as a sin. They're less likely to be attracted if drinking is not regarded as forbidden fruit, or as a sign of being grown up.

Another is the type of foods people eat. Some foods protect against bad effects from even fairly large daily amounts of alcohol

Third is social customs. This includes types of alcoholic drinks, whether drinking is indulged in on an empty stomach, and how much affection children get.

These are the main significant findings from a study made simultaneously in Italy and New Haven, and described by Dr. Giorgio Lolli, medical director of the Yale Plan Clinic, an outstanding research centre on causes and control of alcoholism. The work was done co-operatively by the Yale clinic and the Institute of Food and Diet in Rome, headed by Dr. Emidio Serianni.

In Italy, alcoholism is rare. Only about one in 200 adults is alcoholic, sick or unable to control his excessive drinking.

The study compared the food habits, drinking habits, customs, emotional make-up and other aspects of life of 250 men and women living in Italy, and 250 Italian-American men and women of first, second, and third generation living in New Haven.

In Italy, the study finds, people drink wine almost exclusively, mainly at meals.

Italians immigrating to the U. S. keep this custom. Later their sons and daughters and grandchildren change. They are more likely to drink beer and distilled spirits, before and after dinner.

In Italy, wine is considered mainly a food or tonic, less as something bringing relief from worry and tension.

In Italy, children start getting a little wine very early. It may be a few drops of wine in a glass of water. By adolescence or earlier, they are drinking wine at meals just like their parents.

"This drinking is perfectly natural, is not regarded as sinful," Dr. Lolli explains.

In the U. S. this custom changes among children of second - and third - generation families. Wine or other drinks for the children are more likely to be frowned upon.

In Italy, adolescents have less desire to drink when they go out on dates, or to regard drinking as a symbol of being an adult.

A very significant difference is in type of food. Italians eat a higher proportion of spaghetti, macaroni, and bread than Italian-Americans who have been in this country for a while.

Alcohol taken with meals is not absorbed into the bloodstream as rapidly, to produce strong effects.

This food protects against effects from alcohol.

Fire Guts Factory

FORT ERIE (CP)—Fire Sunday gutted the factory of the Gould National Battery Company of Canada causing damage estimated at $225,000. Flames spread rapidly through the one-storey building, fed by naphtha, tar, paraffin wax, pitch and other materials in the plant. Vats of acids also caused the fire to spread, and machinery was twisted by the heat.

Plan New City For UN Workers

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Several hundred United Nations employees are planning a groundbreaking late this summer for a new international co-operative UN city, just outside New York.

Their plans call for the first families to move in Oct. 1, 1954.

There is a long gap to be filled in before that takes place, including nailing down the site, financing the project, contracting and building, but the backers of the international suburb are confident they'll succeed.

They're mum on the site because they want to prevent a boost in realty prices in the area they want before they get their cash on the table.

The UN has a section on town and country planning which collects the best opinion on that subject from all member countries. It also has the experience of an international community — the rental housing project which many UN workers still occupy at Parkway Village, a sub-division of New York City in Queens, Long Island.

CO-OPERATIVE-MINDED

Besides that, in the UN are a great many people, from Europe, Canada and the U.S., who are co-operative-minded.

Parkway Village has lost its convenience since the UN moved its headquarters from Lake Success, L.I., into the city. It has also lost its backing from the UN administration and there was a recent rent increase which the UN workers protested bitterly.

For these reasons and also because UN employees of 60 nationalities, colors and religions liked living in an international setting like the one they work in, the workers began to talk of setting up their own housing authority.

They are trying to get it financed like any other realty development and to form their own company to run it.

Already they have 429 applications for space.

Of this group 56 per cent said they preferred detached houses with three bedrooms and 1½ baths. The rest plumped for apartments with two bedrooms and bath.

Ernest Weissman, chairman of the group and a planning expert, said that a combination of homes —on minimum 75 by 100 foot lots —and garden apartments probably will be built.

Reds Plunder Worn Austria Of Millions In Oil Wealth

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA (AP)—It's no wonder Russia refuses to get out of Austria. Under Soviet occupation, the Russians are systematically denuding the country of its oil wealth—and even snatching its silk stockings and pencils for Russian women and children.

This is a key reason why hundreds of four-power meetings to try to get a state treaty for Austria always have failed.

The Russians plainly are out to take the last shirt of the eastern part of the country—their occuation zone. Two more years and the Russians will have taken the last drop of oil. Since 1945, they have stolen, plundered or cheated Austria out of $1,000,000,000.

Meanwhile, the United States has had to give Austria $1,419,000,000 in various aid. If it hadn't, the Alpine land would have collapsed under the Soviet heel.

The Russian robbery of Austria is all-embracing. Not only do the Soviets take most of the output of 300 factories, but they run a huge illegal black market that nets tremendous profits. On top of that, they supervise a big East - West business that brings in vital war goods for the Soviet bloc.

The Soviet exploitation has had this effect: production is way above what it was in 1938, but the average Austrian's income is far lower. He has to pay in taxes for what the Russians take out.

From 1945 to 1946, Soviet brigades carried off vast quantities of Austrian machinery, raw materials, textiles and vehicles as war booty. Then they declared they had a right to 300 factories and 100 agricultural properties plus the shipping of the Danube Steamship Company because these were "German assets" — meaning plants which the Nazis had seized before the Russians got to them.

Since then, Russian managers have been running these seized properties. Under them are 60,000 Austrian employees. The plants total one-fifth of Austria's industrial wealth.

These plants manufacture everything from steel products and bridges to silk stockings, bathtubs, and wine. Seventy per cent of their output is shipped eastward.

Most of the plants must sell their products at a mark-up of only four per cent above costs. This means that managers cannot afford even adequate maintenance and must borrow from the Soviet military bank to prevent deterioration. The result is that there is hardly a plant not in debt up to at least 40 per cent of its book value. In time, the plants will become outright Russian property.

Greatest single object of exploitation is Austria's oil. Since 1945, thousands of Austrian workers under Soviet experts have extracted 10,000,000 tons from the Zistersdorf fields north of Vienna. Of this, Russia and her East European satellites have taken 7,000,000 tons.

Rescues 7 Children

DRESDEN, Ont. (CP)—George Canton rescued seven children from the burning home of Eugene Ripley Saturday. Mr. Canton, Wallaceburg dry cleaning plant employee, ran two blocks to the house, rushed in and gathered up the children, including a baby in a carriage. The oldest was 10. The children, alone at the time, did not know the house was on fire. Their parents had been away visiting relatives.

Sign Agreement On Reparations

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Israeli cabinet Sunday ratified the agreement by which West Germany promises to pay Israel $822,000,000 in reparations for Nazi persecution of the Jews.

The agreement was signed in Luxembourg last Sept. 10 by Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett of Israel and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of Germany. West Germany's Parliament completed ratification Friday.

The exchange of ratification instruments, the last step in making the agreement effective, will take place within two or three days at United Nations headquarters in New York, a foreign office spokesman here said.

In contrast to the street demonstrations and other signs of vehement opposition by extreme right and left wing factions at the time of signing last September, the ratification was marked only by press comment, most of it favorable.

The country's leading trade union organ, Devar of Tel Aviv, noted particularly the "Arab League's failure to prevent the agreement from being concluded."

UK Book Prophesies Famine Despite Agriculture Boosts

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Britain's increasing concern about food production is mirrored in a new book, which asks "when shall we starve?"

Titled "Prophecy of Famine," the book answers its own query with a verdict of "quite soon"—unless the country abandons the practices of the industrial revolution and reverts to a peasant nation.

This is a suggested solution, in an extreme form, for a problem worrying many Britons.

The country's population, now more than 50,000,000 and going up, long has depended on trade for 50 per cent or more of its food. War dangers pose an added threat.

"Majestic insecurity" was a term Prime Minister Churchill used recently, referring to the need for a planned 20-per-cent boost in food production by 1956. It is, he said, as grave a problem as in the dark days of the Second World War.

Sir James Turner, president of the 200,000 - member National Farmers Union, predicted that the 1956 target, which would raise British food production 60 per cent above pre-war, "will fall very short of what is required in the years ahead."

"Prophecy of Famine," by the late H. J. Massingham and Edward Hyams, discounts complete self-sufficiency for Britain, barring food synthesis or a new food crop as revolutionary as the potato, but suggests two ways of getting closer to independence. One, vegetarianism, it discards.

The other is a high-geared version of the official government policy, which seeks higher production by higher productivity on more land.

The book urges the breaking up of 17,000,000 acres it claims exist as rough grazing land. It suggests cultivation on an intensive scale, adopting the terracing techniques of Japan and other countries.

Some of the book's ideas are partially covered in existing measures by the government and farm groups. There has been for some time a plowing grant, designed to encourage breaking off new land.

Financial support consists of minimum produce price guarantees and subsidies in various forms. The dwindling regular labor supply—down to 511,000 at the end of 1952, compared with 554,000 in June of 1951 — is under "permanent" study and some form of farm conscription has been considered. Deferment from military service is given in some cases although the movement to the cities is affecting the older farm hand as well.

Perhaps the most graphic starvation schedule has been worked out by R. J. Charlton, NFU vice-president, who says famine is approaching at the rate per minute of 13½ pounds of meat; 70 eggs, 40 pints of milk and 18 loaves of bread.

"The clock is ticking the food off our tables because building takes 50,000 acres of farm land every year," says Charlton.

UN Guards Quell Riots Of 4,000

YONCHO ISLAND, Korea (AP)—United Nations guards quelled a threatening riot by nearly 4,000 screaming Communist Korean officer prisoners Thursday, the UN prisoner-of-war command announced Sunday.

One U.S. officer was injured by Reds throwing stones.

Guards restored control with tear or vomiting gas. No gunfire was used, the command said.

The Yoncho Camp was the scene of a serious riot March 7 during which guards killed 23 prisoners. The trouble began at 3:30 p.m. Thursday when Red officers in one compound refused to stand a routine count.

"Prisoners of war in seven adjacent compounds ignored orders to remain inside their quarters, and came out in mass formation, screaming encouragement to the Red officer PoWs," the announcement said.

The branch camp commander deployed his troops so they could use "non-toxic irritants" (the army's expression for tear gas and adamsite, a gas that creates acute nausea and diarrhoea) and forced the PoWs back into their quarters.

Ill Queen Mary Sinking Near Death, Family Near

IT'S PUSSY WILLOW TIME in the Peterborough district, for throughout the district swamps the fluffy bits of white with the black coats are breaking out. Some districts of Ontario reported pussy-willows during February when the warm sun melted snow, flooding the low-lying areas. Irene Milne examines a few branches of early pussy willows. Some school children have taken their teachers boughs of pussy willows this week and already the boys and girls are sketching them.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Czech Plane Flees Iron Curtain

Four Anti-Communists Grab Control; Land In W. Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany — (AP) — Four anti-Communist Czechs—one a woman—slugged the radio operator and grabbed control at gunpoint of the "Freedom Airliner" which sought refuge Monday night at the big American air base here.

U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant today disclosed first details of the daring dash of the Czechoslovak airline C-47 which crashed through the Iron Curtain with 29 persons aboard.

The pilot and three fellow conspirators refused to land the craft until American authorities had assured them they would be granted asylum, Dr. Conant said. A total of six asked today to be accepted as political refugees.

An official statement said the flight captain and "some of the passengers" planned the escape. They requested political asylum immediately upon landing. U.S. officials indicated that genuine refugees would be allowed to stay in West Germany, but any who wanted to return to Czechoslovakia would be sent back to their Communist-ruled homeland.

The C-47 airliner carried four crew members and 25 passengers. It was flying from Prague to Brno, inside Czechslovakia, when the chief pilot made the successful dash for the U.S. zone of Germany.

U. S. radar sighted the airliner as it approached the West German frontier. It kept on into Germany for nearly 200 miles. American radio instructions guided it down on the U. S. Air Force runway at the big Frankfurt air base.

Unofficial reports said some of those aboard the plane were not seeking political asylum.

SECOND ESCAPE

The dash to freedom occurred just 10 days after three Czechoslovak Air Force men escaped to Allied-occupied Austria in an old German-made plane.

The airliner now is in the custody of the U. S. Air Force and presumably will be returned to Czechoslovakia. It belongs to the Czechoslovak National Airways.

U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant conferred this morning with his staff at his headquarters near Bonn before the terse official statement was released.

PROMISE REPORT

U. S. officials promised a full report after intelligence officers finished questioning the 29 persons aboard the plane.

The route the airliner had been scheduled to follow from Prague was eastward—directly opposite to its freedom flight. The political refugees among its crew and passengers risked being trapped by Czech MiG-15 jet fighters before reaching West Germany but that danger did not materialize.

The plane's night landing was concealed for 11½ hours by U. S. officials. Then the statement was issued to the press.

Japanese Tells Of Russian Massacres

Repatriated Woman Says Russians Gunned Down 1,000 Japanese

TOKYO (Reuters)—A Japanese woman who returned Monday from Communist China said today she saw Russian soldiers line up and shoot 1,000 Japanese in cold blood after Japan's surrender in 1945.

Mrs. Kesae Kuraishi, one of 4,000 Japanese just repatriated from China, said she and her husband alone escaped the massacre by faking death.

She said the incident happened in Manchuria when Japanese citizens, thinking they were still at war, fired on a Russian plane.

"About 1,000 of us, colonists from Japan, were lined up and raked with machine-gun fire," she said.

Her husband was later killed by Manchurians.

Mrs. Kuraishi's story was one of the most sensational told by any of the Japanese repatriates who landed in the port of Maizuru, after spending from 10 to 20 years in China.

Most of them gave confused but generally favorable reports of life behind the "bamboo curtain" to reporters who flocked to the port today.

They were the first of about 30,000 Japanese marooned in China since the Second World War to be repatriated. Japanese missions in Peiping negotiated their return.

Among those who landed were former sailors, soldiers and civilians who left Japan more than 15 years ago to fight Chiang Kai-shek's armies.

Most were in Manchuria. But they declined to discuss Chinese military moves there, the effect of the Korean war or the extent of Russian participation for fear of touching off repercussions against the 26,000 of their fellow countrymen still waiting to come home.

Some said the Chinese warned them before they left not to spread unfavorable stories.

Takes Grave Turn For Worse

Elizabeth Hurries To Grandmother, Proud Queen Worse

LONDON—(CP)—Proud old Queen Mary sank near death today and members of the Royal Family were summoned to her bedside. She is 85.

Queen Elizabeth, accompanied by the Duke of Edinburgh and Princess Margaret, left Buckingham Palace hurriedly just before 5 p.m. GMT (noon EST) for her grandmother's home, Marlborough House just 200 yards down the Mall.

Queen Mary took a grave turn for the worse today and anxious doctors said her heart is weakening. The proud old lady appeared to be sinking fast.

Other members of the Royal Family, including Queen Mother Elizabeth, the Duke of Windsor and the Duchess of Kent, visited Queen Mary's bedside.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, also hurried to the aged Queen.

CROWDS GATHER

Crowds began to gather outside the 85-year-old Queen's residence, Marlborough House, near Buckingham Palace. Court officials reported the grave news to Queen Elizabeth and other members of the Royal Family.

A medical bulletin issued early this afternoon said Queen Mary's condition has become "more grave."

It was the second bulletin of the day on the condition of the grandmother Queen, who took a turn for the worse today after being stricken a month ago with what doctors said was a recurrence of a gastric ailment

Medical experts said the two bulletins left no doubt that there had been a sharp deterioration in Queen Mary's condition.

EXTREMELY DANGEROUS

Weakening of the heart is extremely dangerous in a woman of her age, they said.

No details of the exact nature of Queen Mary's stomach complaint have been disclosed.

Her granddaughter, the Queen, and other members of the Royal Family were quickly informed of developments. The Duke of Edinburgh arrived by plane from a week's tour of Germany and hurried to Buckingham Palace.

EARLIER BULLETIN

There an earlier bulletin posted on the gates about 11:30 a. m. (6:30 a. m. EST) said:

"Queen Mary had a restless night due to a sudden occurrence of more severe symptoms of gastric trouble. Her Majesty's condition is causing some anxiety."

It was signed by Sir Horace Evans, the Queen's physician who specializes in kidney and arterial diseases, and Lord Webb-Johnson, her surgeon.

Paris Police Probe Red Plot

PARIS—(Reuters)—A force of 1,000 steel-helmeted police probing a plot against the state today arrested Communist leaders here in a series of dawn raids on Red publishing houses, trade union headquarters and homes of party members. The Paris military court ordered the round-up in connection with its investigations into alleged Communist attempts to demoralize the French armed forces. The investigation has been going on since last October, when police raided Communist haunts throughout the country. Three Communist big-shots nabbed at their homes by police raiders were charged with endangering the external security of the state. They are: Andre Stil, editor of the Paris Communist daily newspaper Humanite; Lucien Molino, secretary of the Communist-led Confederation Generale du Travail; and Andre Tollet, CGT leader.

Police also raided the home of CGT Secretary-General Benoit Frachon, 61, but found him gone. Guards at airfields, seaports and frontier posts were ordered to arrest him on sight.

Another CGT official whom the police failed to find was Marcel Dufriche, a member of the secretariat, believed to be in Vienna.

RELEASED EARLIER

Stil and party leader Jacques Duclose were arrested in May, 1952, and charged with inciting illegal demonstrations—the protest riots staged last May to mark Gen. Matthew Ridgway's arrival here as supreme commander of North Atlantic Treaty Organization armed forces in Europe. Both were later released.

Moscow Rejects U.S. Protest In Siberia Scrape

MOSCOW (AP). — Russia has rejected a U.S. protest against a shooting scrape involving an American plane near Siberia. A Kremlin note said the craft made two "premeditated" violations of Siberian territory and fired first. The Soviet rejection, printed in Russian newspapers today, demanded that the U..S government take steps to prevent future violations of Soviet borders by U.S. planes. A Moscow radio broadcast said the reply was delivered on Saturday to the U.S. embassy in the Soviet capital.

The U.S. protest had declared the March 15 incident—involving an Alaskan-based B-50 bomber which the U. S. Air Force reported on weather reconnaissance—occurred 25 miles off the coast of Siberia's Kamchatka Peninsula. It said a Soviet MiG-15 shot at the bomber, which then returned the fire. The U. S. Air Force said neither plane was damaged.

TWO OTHER FLIGHTS

The Russian reply said it had been "established" that the bomber made two flights over Soviet territory March 15—the first at Cape Krestovoi, in southern Kamchatka, and the second near the village of Zhupanovo, northeast of the Soviet base of Petropavlovsk.

"Good weather which in both cases enabled the crew of the (American) aircraft to carry out visual reconnaissance on a large area excluded the possibility of a loss of orientation and confirmed that the above two cases of violation of the state frontier of the U. S. S. R. were of clearly premeditated character," the Soviet note declared.

Senator Flanders (Rep. Vt.) accused the U. S. Air Force last Friday of issuing a "false report" on the air clash. He asserted that the "bomber was not just there on weather business. It may, nevertheless, have been engaged in a useful mission."

QUEEN MARY, 85-year-old grandmother of Queen Elizabeth was reported to be sinking near death today. Ill for more than two weeks, the proud old queen took a grave turn for the worse today.

Brilliant A-Blast Lights Desert Near Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A —brilliant atomic explosion was touched off on the Nevada desert this morning with 53 aircraft—including 12 intercontinental B - 36 bombers flying on various missions overhead.

The United States atomic energy commission's announcement said this was the first time such a large number of aircraft had participated in a test.

The AEC said today's blast was fired from a 300-foot tower on the Yucca flat proving ground 75 miles from here. There was no hint of the planes' missions.

Today's shot appeared much brighter here than the one that opened the 1953 spring series last Tuesday. And its coral-tinted cloud, which divided as it rose, seemed to ascend much faster.

NO DISCLOSURES

The AEC did not disclose the energy of today's blast or describe the type of device being tested.

But the sound of the explosion, which takes about seven minutes to reach this resort-gambling centre, was not as loud as last week's. This was apparently due to atmospheric conditions.

Brig.-Gen. William Bullock, director of an army manoeuvre in which 1,300 troops were stationed in foxholes 4,000 yards from ground zero, reported there were no casualties.

Starts New Row Over SA Negroes

CAPETOWN (Reuters) — Prime Minister Daniel Malan today waded into a new fight with South Africa's Supreme Court over his racial segregation policies.

The latest row involves the rights of Negroes to use waiting rooms allotted to white persons in railroad stations.

He said he would not accept the position created by a Supreme Court ruling Monday which upheld the right of colored persons to use "white only" waiting rooms where the waiting rooms for Negroes are not as good.

The court upheld the acquittal of an African laborer who defied Malan's racial segregation laws by using a waiting room reserved for white persons

The ruling was considered a major victory for the sponsors of a campaign of passive resistance against the race laws.

The test case involved George Lusu, one of more than 5,000 Africans, Indians and "Coloreds" (persons of mixed race) arrested for breaking segregation legislation. About half were convicted for breaches of the railroad regulations.

Toronto Blaze Guts Plant, Damage $175,000

TORONTO (CP) — A two-alarm fire raged out of control for more than an hour in east-central Toronto today, gutting a three-storey dress pattern factory and tying up morning rush-hour traffic in one of the worst jams in the city's history.

Firemen estimated damage to the McCall Corporation building, gutted after a four-hour fight, at $175,000.

Nine firefighters were treated for minor cuts as flames roared through the brick factory and burst through the roof, showering the area with fiery debris. Neighboring apartments were evacuated when the blaze threatened to spread.

TRAFFIC TIED UP

The traffic tie-up started at 6:48 a. m. when firemen laid hoses across Queen street east, east-west artery, blocking the majority of street-car service from Toronto's east end.

Thousands were hours late for work as trams lined up on either side of the fire area and Toronto transportation commission officials attempted to reroute their traffic. At the height of the snarl, the overload on the TTC power system caused a feeder line fire and cut off all power in the district for a short period.

Intermittent power breaks kept occurring as police and TTC officials attempted to untangle the jam.

Kaiser-Frazer To Buy Willys For $62 Million

NEW YORK (AP)—Kaiser-Frazer Corp. plans to buy Willys-Overland Motors Inc. for an estimated $62,300,000. The deal will make Kaiser-Frazer the world's fourth largest auto company, with assets of more than $200,000,000.

The purchase, announced here Monday by Kaiser-Frazer, is expected to be completed next month. It is subject to approval by Willys-Overland common stockholders who will meet April 24.

Kaiser-Frazer said it was financing the purchase with $72,000,000 in private capital from various sources. The estimated purchase price includes the assumption by Kaiser-Frazer of certain liabilities.

Edgar F. Kaiser, president of Kaiser-Frazer and son of Henry J. Kaiser, said the sale will give Kaiser-Frazer production facilities to boost it among the world's biggest automobile companies after General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

$600 MILLION SALES

Willys-Overland and Kaiser-Frazer put out a total of 242,461 cars and trucks last year. Their combined total sales are running at the rate of about $600,000,000 annually.

The purchase will give Kaiser-Frazer a complete line of automobiles and utility vehicles. The Willys-Overland output of the famed jeep, jeep station wagon, and Aero Willys will be added to Kaiser-Frazer's low-priced Henry J., and the Kaiser and Frazer lines.

Willys-Overland already held third rank among the U. S. exporters of commercial vehicles.

Kaiser-Frazer is financing the purchase with $37,600,000 put up by the Henry J. Kaiser Co., a holding company; $15,000,000 by the Trans-America Corp., a bank holding corporation; and $20,000,000 in a loan from the Bank of America National Trust Savings Association.

Britain Accepts Talk Proposals

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill announced in the House of Commons today that Britain will accept Russia's recent proposal for talks on measures to avoid Iron Curtain air incidents.

Churchill discussed the recent shooting down of an unarmed RAF bomber by Soviet jet fighters over Germany. Seven British airmen lost their lives.

He said two-power talks to avoid any further events of this kind were proposed by General Chuikov head of the Soviet control commission in Germany.

Chicks Removed Without Incident

STRATFORD (CP)—More baby chicks, 16,000 of them, were removed without incident today from the strike-bound Swift Canadian hatchery here.

Only four pickets of the striking Local 307, United Packinghouse Workers (CIO), were on hand as company trucks left the buildings. They stood and watched the move.

Today's evacuation of birds was the fourth since the strike began March 6.

Friday, city police escorted the company trucks through picket lines as near violence broke out with the strikers shoving and pushing officers in an attempt to halt the vehicles. One woman picketer was injured.

Sunday night, 16,000 more chicks were whisked through picket lines while another batch of birds were taken out yesterday. Strikers did not interfere.

In a hearing at Osgoode Hall in Toronto Monday, Chief Justice J.C. McRuer ruled that picketers must not interfere with the evacuation of any more chicks from the hatchery.

Meanwhile, other labor organizations here said they would support the strikers at Swift Canadian and Monday night, 50 non-packinghouse union members joined picket lines around the Swift property.

RCN Destroyers Win Citation

OTTAWA (CP)—Award of a unit citation by the president of the republic of Korea, Syngman Rhee, to four Canadian destroyers was announced today by naval headquarters.

The ships are the Cayuga, Sioux, Nootka and Huron. They were members of United Nations task force 95, under over-all United States Navy command, which received the presidential unit citation for "continued devastating attacks against the enemy" between September, 1950, and August, 1951.

The Athabaskan, another Canadian destroyer now on her third tour of Korean duty, was cited in December, 1951, for her services during the same period. The five destroyers have been rotated since the outbreak of the Korean war so as to have three destroyers on duty there.

"The efficiency with which task force 95 accomplished all of its assigned missions," the Rhee citation said, "was in accord with the highest traditions of the military service and reflects great credit upon the unit and each individual member."

The citation listed the accomplishments of the task force, which included assault landings at Inchon and Wonsan in 1950.

Fear 20 Dead

SAO PAULO, Brazil (Reuters)—Twenty persons are feared to have died today when a crowded passenger train plowed into the back of a standing freight here today. More than 100 persons were injured. The wreck occurred in the suburbs of Sao Paulo.

Blast Kills Four

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Four persons were killed and 11 were injured in an explosion Monday night at a theatre in Yingkao, 10 miles south of here.

CIO Head Moves To Squelch Rebellion Rumor

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Walter Reuther, his power again proved in his own United Automobile Workers Union, moved today to squelch rumors of rebellion in the parent CIO which he also heads.

Reuther invited David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, to address the UAW convention.

The expectation was that McDonald, who fought Reuther's election to the CIO presidency in December, would use the occasion to deny published reports that he might pull his union out of the CIO and take it into John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers (Ind.).

The auto workers, with a record of 1,350,000 members, is the largest union in the CIO. But even Reuther concedes that a bolt by the 1,000,000-member steelworkers could have a devastating effect on the CIO.

LED HAYWOOD DRIVE

McDonald led the unsuccessful campaign of the late Allan S. Haywood, then the CIO's executive vice-president, for the post left vacant by the death of President Philip Murray.

Haywood died shortly after Reuther's election. Some labor observers have speculated that without the unifying force of Haywood, McDonald might swing from the CIO. He is reported to be an opponent of long-term labor contracts cost-of-living wage set-ups and other UAW "babies."

Last Saturday, however, Reuther met questions about the bolt reports by saying the steelworkers were "anchored firmly in the CIO."

Object To Status

Ottawa Press Gallery Denies Membership To Newly-Arrived Tass Representative

OTTAWA (CP)—The Parliamentary Press Gallery Monday denied gallery membership to Ivan Tsvetkov, the present Ottawa representative of the official Russian news agency, Tass.

A general gallery meeting voted down a membership application by Tass on the ground that Mr. Tsvetkov is an official of a Russian government agency, attached to the Russian embassy in Ottawa.

A statement by gallery president Robert Needham, Ottawa representative of the London (Ont.) Free Press, said the gallery's decision was "based on an objection to Mr. Tsvetkov's direct association with the embassy which leaves his status as a newspaper man in doubt."

Mr. Tsvetkov, 30, denied he is associated with the Embassy. In an interview Monday night he said he is a Tass correspondent in Ottawa on the same basis as his predecessor, Arcadi Ogorodnikov, a member of the gallery recently recalled to Moscow.

The vote by the 72-member gallery bars Mr. Tsvetkov from such privileges as a seat in the press sections in the Commons and Senate chambers, desk space in the gallery quarters and attendance at press conferences restricted to gallery members. He can still file dispatches to Moscow, however.

His predecessors, Mr. Ogorodnikov and several others, obtained gallery membership because they were not officially attached to the Russian embassy. The press gallery checked Mr. Tsvetkov's status with the external affairs department and was told he entered Canada under a diplomatic passport and is listed as a member of the embassy staff.

The Press Gallery, which has discretion in accepting or rejecting applications for membership, based its decision on its long-standing practice of not admitting employees of any government to membership.

Although Tass is sponsored by the Soviet state, it is not regarded as involving such a direct connection with the Soviet government as Mr. Tsvetkov's embassy attachment.

A similar question was raised in Washington in 1951 by the American Society of Newspaper Editors, which demanded that Tass correspondents be barred from the congressional press galleries. The galleries' standing committee decided against the demand on the ground it should not move in the field of international diplomacy.

There are no restrictions on Tass reporters in the House of Commons at London, where the Speaker of the House controls the granting of press gallery privileges.

Seeks More Dollar Aid

French Premier Flies To U.S. In Bid To Prove France Not NATO's Weak Link

PARIS (AP) — Premier Rene Mayer and a large French delegation leave tonight by plane for Washington, seeking more United States help and hoping to persuade Americans that France is not the weak link in the Western defence chain that she is sometimes painted.

They are due in the U. S. capital Wednesday for talks with President Eisenhower, State Secretary Dulles and other top U. S. officials.

Among other things the French want:

1. More help in Indo-China, where they have fought a six-year, wasting war.

2. More aid in Europe, where they have made up-and-down progress toward regaining their position of pre-war importance.

3. An immediate advance of $125,000,000 to meet their 1953 military schedules.

4. A long-term program of aid from the U. S. upon which the European countries can base their budgets, in place of year-to-year uncertainties about what Congress will do.

From Eisenhower's first foreign aid bill, France would like in all about $1,000,000,000, instead of the approximately $666,000,000 she has had in one form or another during the last year.

With the extra money, she says she could increase her air force 25 per cent, strengthen her army from five top quality divisions and seven secondary ones to perhaps 10 or 12 first-class units. In addition, she could step up the training of native Viet Namese soldiers to take over her fight in Indo-China.

The French delegation is acutely aware that while its reception in Washington may be a bit pallid, the visit soon after of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer promises to be a booming success. France's Parliament still balks at ratifying the European army treaty, something the new U. S. administration wants badly. The lower house of Adenauer's Parliament approved the pact last week.

Almost-frantic, last-minute conferences were scheduled right up to plane time tonight to determine how best to present the French case.

No Changes Planned For U.K. Coronation

LONDON (Reuters)—It is understood plans for the Coronation June 2 will go ahead in any eventuality resulting from Queen Mary's current illness.

During the last month Queen Mary has expressed the wish that her illness should not in any way interfere with the ceremony, it was learned.

UN Troops Halt Big Red Attack On Western Front

SEOUL (AP)—United States and Colombian troops broke the biggest Chinese attack in five months today in a savage battle for three key hills on the western Korean front.

Early reports indicated close to 300 Chinese were killed or wounded along the Imjin valley invasion route to Seoul.

The main Red attack smashed at a three-mile sector. It swept over Old Baldy and Pork Chop hills and surged against T-Bone hill, three of the most fought-over peaks in Korea.

The Allied nicknames of the hills derive from the odd battle-scarred terrain.

STOPPED BY DAWN

U.S. 7th division soldiers cut out the heart of the attack by dawn, but the Reds held doggedly to one side of Old Baldy, still a churning battleground in the afternoon.

Part of the Colombian battalion with the 7th division took the first blow on Old Baldy. Later U.S. infantry came up to help.

The Chinese opened the battle along a six-mile strip Monday night with diversionary attacks on the Colombians just after dark. Three Red charges were beaten back

Then, at 9 p.m., the Reds swung their Sunday punch.

Three battalions charged from under artillery against the hills.

BATTLE TWO HOURS

At T-Bone, 7th division troops beat the Reds back after two hours of bloody fighting.

But at Pork Chop and Old Baldy the Chinese poured to the crest.

Hurricane Hits Onslow

PERTH, Australia (Reuters)—Every building in Australia's "atomic port" of Onslow was damaged Monday when hurricane winds reaching 114 miles an hour smashed into the town. The small Western Australian port served as supply base last fall for the British atomic tests in the Monte Bello Islands, 85 miles to the north.

TWO-CAR COLLISION

Two women drivers were involved in a two-car collision late Monday afternoon, one-third of a mile west of Peterborough on Highway 28. Nobody was injured and property damage was light. Mrs. Isobel Spicer of 1099 Clonsilla Avenue was starting to make a left turn while driving west along the highway at the same time as Mrs. Vera Johnston of RR 3, Peterborough, tried to pass. The right front of the Johnston car came into collision with the rear left fender of Mrs. Spicer's car. OPP Constable Gordon Gray investigated.

Brighter Future Seen For Boy, 4 and Sister, 2

Father and Friend Protect Children!

Last winter, a young father told a Confederation Man: "Fred, you know how much is left of my $5,000 income after payments on my house ... food and clothing bills ... and all the other expenses. How much protection can I afford for my family?"

"A lot more than you think, Jim," replied the Confederation Man. "We have a plan that, on your salary, will provide for your family $10,000 in cash at death . . . and $100 every month until your daughter is 21. Then, they'll receive another $10,000. In the event of death after your daughter is 21 this plan provides $20,000 in cash. That's enough to provide a brighter future!" That's how a Confederation Life Man helped one father protect his family. He can help you too!

Prairie Blizzard Leaves Big Drifts

PRINCE ALBERT (CP)—Northern Saskatchewan battled eight-foot snowdrifts Monday after a spring blizzard.

The storm left more than 18 inches of snow at some points in the Prince Albert-Battleford-Saskatoon triangle and 45-mile-an-winds piled it into eight-foot walls. Roads were blocked and some rural communities isolated.

The snow started late Thursday in southwestern Alberta. The storm picked up speed as it moved northeast across the Prairies. Monday night it was blowing itself out over the wild bush country of northwestern Ontario.

The Prince Albert area reeled under the worst storm since March 16, 1951. A milk shortage threatened as high drifts prevented farmers from making deliveries.

Fuel dealers were flooded with orders but deliveries could not be made because of snow-blocked lanes. Rural mail carriers were unable to get into the city to pick up deliveries. Country schools were closed.

Scott Takes Over L & F As Gemmell Unwell

TORONTO (CP)—Lands Minister Gemmell went to hospital Monday after suffering severe nose bleeds during last week's legislative session.

He joins Agriculture Minister Thomas who has been ill in hospital for several days.

Mr. Gemmell's place in the legislature was taken by Harold Scott, the former lands minister who now serves as a minister without portfolio.

Gordon Kelly

COBOURG (ENS)—The funeral of Gordon Kelly, Sr., proprietor of the Homelike Inn here for the past 21 years, was held Tuesday, with interment in St. Michael's cemetery. The pallbearers were Tweed Earle, John Gallagher, Austin Hill, Alfred Hanlon, Bert Terry and Earl Hamilton. Honorary pallbearers were Mayor John D. Burnet, Edward Hogan, Dennis Larkin, Edward Kelly, Robert McDougall and Edward Burns.

Roy Whatman

The funeral service for Roy Whatman, 60, of 240 Simcoe Street who died suddenly on Friday, was held Monday at the Belleghem Funeral Home.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd, minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church officiated. The pallbearers were: Clarence Morgan, Robert Wilson, James and Harold Carr, Donald Drummond, and Clayton Hannah. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Earchman, of Cavan, who also took a first prize with his Canadian-bred male wire-haired terrier Hi Tom Golden Brandy. The two dogs also took first prize for their showing as a pair. Before coming to Ontario, Col. Earchman was well-known for his Hi Tom kennels in Halifax and took a number of championships at shows in eastern provinces.

Trading Volume Lowest In Weeks

TORONTO (CP)—Prices slipped in early afternoon stock market trading today.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,624,000 shares — lowest since March 6.

Industrials were weak and western oils showed a small loss. Base metals and golds recovered slightly from early losses.

Foods, refining oils and utilities were weak in industrials. Most price changes were small.

Uraniums recovered from recent losses with good gains in Gunnar and Chimo. New Brunswick base metals also turned upward. Northern Ontario rare metals showed strength.

Western oils showed a wide majority of small losses. Britalta made a sharp gain.

Senior golds drew little support and holding companies were mixed. Junior producers balanced gains as losses.

OBITUARIES

R. R. T. ELLERY

The death of Raymond Russell Thomas Ellery, 26, of 518 4th St., Saskatoon, Sask., occurred in Saskatoon City Hospital on March 17. The funeral service was held on March 20, from the Park Funeral Home, conducted by Canon Roy Manwaring.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Edith Ellery of Saskatoon; his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. G. Ellery of Brighton, Ont.; one sister, Joyce, of Peterborough; three brothers, Roger of Winnipeg, Willam of Toronto and Robert of Codrington. He was predeceased by one sister, Joan, in 1937.

The interment took place in the Woodlawn cemetery, Saskatoon.

MRS. ANDREW CARRUTHERS

Mrs. Andrew Carruthers, the former Jane Mary Ward, died Monday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Benoni Isaac in Warkworth in her 87th year.

Born in Plainville, she was the daughter of the late Henry Ward and Elizabeth Neill. She and her husband farmed near Harwood until 1917 when he retired. In 1945 when her husband died, Mrs. Carruthers moved to Warkworth to live with her daughter.

While living at Harwood, she was a member of Bethesda United Church and while in Warkworth was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Carruthers is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Isaac (Jean), a granddaughter, Mrs. Vernon Helson (Lenore), Ottawa, and two great grandchildren. A brother, Alexander Ward, Peoria, Ill., predeceased her two months ago. Four other brothers died some years ago.

The funeral service will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the home of her daughter in Warkworth. The Rev. A. E. Toombs of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, will officiate. Burial will be in Bethesda cemetery. Pallbearers will be William Cornelius, Wilbert Ford, Bruce White, Wilson Thompson, Fred Platt and Joseph Greenly.

MPP Offers Bill To Repeal Ban On Colored Margarine

TORONTO—(CP)—Margarine and edible oils, subject of much discussion in members' rooms but little legislative action, came before the Ontario House Monday. Albert Wren, (Lib.-Lab.-Kenora) submitted a bill to repeal the ban on colored margarine.

Mr. Wren said the ban on yellow margarine was "discriminatory" and "useless". He thought the dairy industry over-emphasized the possible effect of colored margarine on the sale of dairy products.

The Liberal member spoke only briefly in the house, but he issued a prepared statement which said the ban served only to "deny a large section of the population the right to make use of foods in a manner most pleasing to them."

UNOFFICIAL SUPPORT

Observers said Mr. Wren's bill has considerable unofficial support from the government members, but was not likely to gain approval unless the government submitted amendments of its own which would make it government legislation.

Another bill on edible oils, which would empower the government to forbid the manufacture and sale of all edible oils except margarine, is still awaiting second reading although it was introduced almost a month ago.

The bill was protested by women's groups who paraded in front of the Parliament Buildings last week.

Agriculture Minister Thomas has been ill two weeks and was not present when the protest was staged. Other cabinet ministers, including Premier Frost, have declined comment.

ALTER CEMETERIES ACT

Health Minister Phillips introduced an amendment to the Cemeteries Act aimed at tighter control of cemeteries operated for profit.

During the throne speech debate, members on both sides of the House said profiteers were buying land cheaply and re-selling it for cemetery lots at enormous profits.

The bill would require cemetery companies to keep records, and make them available for government inspection at regular intervals.

It would also give the government power to decide what percentage of profits should be devoted to the perpetual care of cemetery plots. Members said cemetery promoters channeled little of their profits into the improvement of land.

Primeau Resigns As Leafs' Coach

TORONTO (CP) — Joe Primeau has resigned as coach of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League. His successor is Frank (King) Clancy, now coach of Pittsburgh Hornets, Toronto's farm club in the American Hockey League.

The 47-year-old Primeau, in his playing days centre of Toronto's famed kid line between Busher Jackson and Charlie Conacher, guided the club for three seasons. In his first term the Leafs won the Stanley Cup and Primeau became the first man to coach teams to championships in Memorial, Allan and Stanley Cup play.

The AEC said animals, including pigs and rabbits, were exposed to the blast for a study of biomedical effects.

SHEEP NEARBY

The army also stationed sheep at varying distances from ground zero and announced the troops will get a look at the animals, when it is safe to enter the area, so soldiers can see what happens to living things not fully protected.

Planes have been noted over the test range in previous tests—several explosions have been bomb drops—but never in numbers to compare with the 53 announced today. The B-36 is capable of carrying an atom bomb cargo from this country to any target in the world.

Observers said the flash of today's blast was one of the brightest ever noted here, comparing with those in the first series in 1951.

Presumably — in view of the brighter flash and the fact troops were stationed about 500 yards farther away — today's explosion was more powerful than last week's.

CLOUD TURNS PINK

The device exploded in the civil defence test last Tuesday was equal to 15,000 tons of TNT, which made it about three-fourths the strength of the bomb dropped on Hiroshima.

Today's mushrooming cloud turned a fiery red-pink as it rose high in the desert dawn and finally caught the rays of the rising sun. As it divided—and observers said it was the first time such a division has been noted from here—it was swept slowly northward.

Fifty-three AEC scientists and a group of military observers watched to-day's test.

A navy drone plane, an AD-2 fighter, was sent into the heart of the blast, guided from a mother plane.

Reuther's strength in his own union was demonstrated late Monday by the ease with which changes in the UAW's constitution went through the convention.

The amendments, firmly backed by Reuther, were designed to make it easier for the international union to keep Communists, racketeers and others it deems undesirable from holding even local union office. Reuther claimed a 10-to-1 victory on the issue, believed to be one of the most controversial to come before the week-long convention.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP)—The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 2 1-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today. Monday's noon rate was 98 3-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.75¾, against $2.76 5-16.

Senators Study Sending Bohlen To Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators appeared ready today to dip into raw files of the federal bureau of investigation to satisfy themselves whether Russian expert Charles (Chip) Bohlen should be sent to Moscow as U. S. ambassador.

Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, the Republican leader, proposed this unusual course near the end of a torrid Senate debate Monday on Bohlen's nomination by President Eisenhower. Taft predicted Senate approval of the appointment, possibly Wednesday.

Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.), a leader of the opposition, conceded that when the vote comes there may be only four or five votes against Bohlen, a career foreign service officer.

"GREAT PROTECTION"

Taft said an examination of the original reports made by FBI investigators—the unevaluated "raw" files—would be "a great protection to Bohlen" in clearing up rumors that he might have associated with immoral persons.

Chairman Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) planned to lay Taft's proposal before the Senate foreign relations committee. Advance comment of members indicated they would approve having one Republican and one Democratic senator examine alleged derogatory information.

Paris Police

Led by 25 chief inspectors, police today pounced on about a dozen CGT offices—mostly in northern Paris—trade union headquarters and party members' homes. The clean-up began about 5 a. m. and lasted more than five hours.

The raiders met some resistance but there was no violence, a police spokesman said.

PICK LOCK

Union officials at the central CGT headquarters refused to admit the police, who had a search warrant. So the gendarmes called in a team of eight expert locksmiths and picked the lock of the big steel front doors to get in.

While some police seized documents inside the building, others mounted ladders outside to tear down banners demanding the release of Alain de Leap, another CGT secretary arrested in the October raids.

Two Communist lawyers, Joe Nordmann and Marcel Willard, who will defend Stil and the other leaders under arrest, contended the police sweep was timed to coincide with Premier Rene Mayer's departure today for conferences in the U. S.

"Mayer wants to arrive with the heads of Communists in his suitcase," said Nordmann.

Takes Grave

Queen Mary has been confined to bed for more than a month by what doctors described as a recurrence of an old gastric ailment.

One London medical authority said the bulletin on the Queen's condition means she is "not quite holding her own."

PROBABLE CAUSE

The most probable explanation of it, he said, is that she has a base case of intestinal trouble (Diarrhoea) and her doctors are unable to replace loss of fluid quickly enough.

He said indications are that a blood transfusion is in order or that glucose may have to be injected through the veins.

In any event, the source said, it is a dangerous condition in a person of Queen Mary's age because resistance is hard to maintain.

Only Monday night it was stated at Marlborough House that Queen Mary had had a comfortable day and that announcement about her condition in the future would be made only from time to time instead of daily.

Both the Duke of Windsor and the Princess Royal visited their mother Monday.

BROKE OFF VACATION

The Duke interrupted a Florida vacation two weeks ago to hurry home to his mother's bedside. He was accompanied by the Princess Royal who cut short a tour of the British West Indies. The Duke also visited Prime Minister Churchill Monday, but no reason was given for his visit.

Queen Mary's condition has been followed with particular anxiety because of the elaborate preparations the government and people of Britain are making for the Coronation June 2.

Though it already has been decided that the dowager Queen's advanced age would prevent her taking an active part in her granddaughter's Coronation, the Royal Family hoped she would recover in time to at least watch the procession pass in front of her residence.

Sources close to the Royal Family have indicated that in any event the Coronation probably would not be postponed, but it is understood no firm decision has yet been made.

Youths Injured As Car Strikes Marmora Bridge

MARMORA —(ENS) —Three district youths were injured when the car in which they were riding crashed into the bridge over the Crow River here Monday night about 7 o'clock.

Don Wright, 20, was taken to Belleville General Hospital with injuries to his nose and head. Ross Lake, 20, driver of the car, suffered an injured kneecap and Stewart Haig, 22, an injured leg and foot. They were treated by Dr. H. G. Parkin.

The car hit the head of the abuntment on the north-east side of the bridge. It is a total wreck.

Village Constable Bert Lounsbury who investigated said that charges would be laid.

The play will be presented again tonight and Wednesday night. —(Parks Studio Photo).

Sacred Heart Presents Comedy Farce

SacredHeart Dramatic Club presented the comedy farce, Calm Yourself Monday, in the club house to an appreciative audience.

The plot centres around the actions of a social climbing wife and the efforts her husband makes to short-circuit her ambitions.

The husband talks a visiting interior decorator into making love to three women in the house at the same time to divert his wife's attention.

Unfortunately for the plan, the decorator falls in love with one of the women, a thrice-married widow.

There is a good deal of side play in minor plots that kept the audience on its toes.

The Rev. Gerard Sullivan directed the play.

Between acts, there were songs by Mrs. A. Conlin and Tom Murray and dancing by Nancy Flynn. Herbert Michel and Suzanne Martyn played piano duets. The play will be presented again tonight and Wednesday night.

Leaders Needed To Help Youth Cope With Life

A youth leader is a person who can influence other people to agree on common goals, to follow him or his advice and to go into action toward these goals," said Ben Solomon Monday evening at the Better Leadership course which he is giving at the Public Library Monday and Tuesday nights.

Mr. Solomon is the editor of the Youth Leaders' Digest in New York and is a lecturer at the University of New York and Springfield College in Massachusetts. He has written a book on juvenile delinquency called "Juvenile Delinquency, Its Causes and Cures."

Mr. Solomon went on to say that a youth leader must be worthy of emulation, and understand that children are not fully developed. They are immature and only half developed and do unreasonable things. He must have a sympathetic tolerance towards what children will do.

A leader must understand the basic values in any program that he is trying to teach to his followers and have a certain amount of skill in all the activities that he is going to teach.

In spite of all the youth agencies in Canada, only 20 per cent of the children are being reached, and it is extremely important to reach the other 80 per cent. For the ones who do not come, need the influence of leaders most.

The aims of the youth serving agencies are to help boys and girls to grow up to be better men and women. To help combat the pressures and hazards of the underprivileged boy's environment. To emphasie the basic values in the activities which are useful in life and to help young girls to become better mothers and homemakers.

Topo' the World

ALUMINUM has a habit of turning up almost everywhere. But "farthest north" was reached recently, when a U.S. Air Force pilot set down his aircraft at the geographic North Pole — on a pair of aluminum skis.

Aluminum's lightness - with - strength has made it the basic material of the aircraft industry. And because aluminum is only ½ to ¼ as heavy as other base metals, a pound of it goes a lot further. Which is one more reason why so many manufacturers of so many products have turned to aluminum to help keep their prices down. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Committee Raps $1 Million Cost Of Embassy

OTTAWA (CP)—The usually-immune external affairs department got caught Monday in the crossfire of running political strife arising from opposition charges that the government is using the public's tax money extravagantly.

The issue of the monent: An estimate by the department that it will cost about $1,000,000 to erect and furnish an embassy residence and office building in Rome.

In the Commons external affairs committee, Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Quadra) said it is "ridiculous" and "extravagant" to spend that much money for that purpose. He and Gordon Graydon (PC—Peel) asked the department to reconsider and try to save money.

"GOOD BUSINESS"

Tom Goode (L—Burnaby-Richmond) retorted that Canada did $150,000,000 worth of business with Italy in the last two years and figured the cost of the buildings would run to roughly $45,000 to $50,000 a year over 20 years. The alternative was to keep on paying $22,000 a year rent. He called it "good business."

R. M. Macdonnell, assistant underscretary of the department, moved cautiously through the controversy but he did say the department feels that in the long run the Rome investment would prove a good one. Once Canada had her own property, she would escape taxation under diplomatic privileges.

Return To 2-Party System Needed In Canada: McLean

What's needed in Canada today is a return to the two-party system—a government made to account carefully for its every action by a strong opposition—Angus MacLean, MP for Queens (P.E.I.). told a gathering of '70 Young Progressive Conservatives on Monday night.

Mr. MacLean, a 38-year-old former Wing Commander in the RCAF, said flatly that the Liberal government, in power now for 18 years, is conceited over its accomplishments and is becoming "more arrogant as time goes by."

"The Canadian people realize that there is need for a change," said Mr. MacLean, who was elected in a by-election for the P.E.I. riding in June, 1951. "Like a ship, a government after a time begins to gather barnacles, slowing it down . . . It's time for the Canadian people to put it on the slips for a refitting. It would do our country a lot of good if we had a change."

Mr. MacLean said there is a constant stream of propaganda coming from Liberal government sources. Public relations men give it the professional touch.

"This subtle propaganda is to the effect that our present government is infallible, almost that nobody could do as well as they are doing; that no other party has the calibre of leadership to take over the government. They don't say that exactly, but that is the effect.

USURPED POWER

The St. Laurent administration "has usurped all sorts of additional powers," said Mr. MacLean. "They have forgotten that they have no divine right to rule continuously. They are there by the grace of the Canadian people."

"YPCs can do Canada the greatest possible service by seeing that the party becomes stronger," said the stocky ex-Wing Commander. "If we obtain that objective we will be both helping our counfry and, incidentally, our own organization."

Mr. MacLean said the present Federal government had been "sailing too high for too long."

"It's time to return to a system where there are two strong parties so there's always an alternative government . . . . They (the Liberals) need to be aware that there is somebody ready to step into their shoes . . . The restoration of the two-party system will mean better government in Canada."

Mr. MacLean said that the Liberals have deliberately misrepresented Conservative policy, particularly as it applies to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

According to the Liberals there will be no television or radio in the French language if the Conservatives come to power, the speaker said. He said this wasn't true.

What the Conservatives want is a more impartial control over radio and television, said Mr. MacLean.

"At present the CBC is in an impossible position — playing a dual role. It is placed in the position of being in competition with private stations and at the same time controlling them."

FOLLOW AUSTRALIA

The speakers suggested a system similar to what they have in Australia—the Australian Broadcasting Control Board. The board regulates the operation of both government and private stations. Unlike the CBC it does not control and compete at the same time.

A similar condition exists in Canada with the Board of Transport Commissioners and the Air Transport Board. These boards handle both government and private business.

Mr. MacLean was introduced by Peter J. LaBranche and thanked by William Piercy. Robert J. Faulkner, who handed in his resignation as president on Monday night, was chairman.

Gordon K. Fraser, MP for Peterborough West, said: "The government is going farther down into the hole every day — every time we hold a session. It looks very good for the PCs — right across Canada.

"The Prime Minister said that we'll have an election before next November, and I feel sure that with the help of the YPCs, the main organization and the women's organization, we'll go over the top again."

Head Of Mission Stresses Unity Under Crown

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Sir Andrew Jones, head of the British food Mission in Canada, spoke to the Campbellford Rotary Club Monday evening. He was introduced by Rotarian Hector Arnold.

Sir Andrew, a native of Ireland, is a graduate of Oxford and spent 30 years in West Africa. He served as a representative to the League of Nations and was knighted in 1943. In 1946 he became nead of the British Food Mission in Canada and since then has purchased millions of dollars worth of Canadian farm products for Britain.

Speaking on "Some Characteristics of the British" he said that John Bull and Co. has three junior partners, the Scotch, the Irish and the Welsh, with an area of 92 million square miles and a population of more than 50 million, four-fifths of which is in England. Speaking of the Scots, he said that they cling to their dialect and cultivate it and are very proud of their homeland. The Welsh are in common with Scots in their determination to preserve the national customs of Wales. Welsh is a living language.

COMMON FALLACY

He said that the saying that silence is "conversation with an Englishman" is a fallacy. If an Englishman thinks he knows something about a subject you can't stop him from telling you. The Welsh and Irish will wade in too while the Scotsman sits back and listens.

The main characteristic of the British as a whole is their loyalty to the crown. An association of free peoples is the most powerful influence for peace. In the 26-year reige of George V, nine European monarchs fell while the crown in Britain today is revered. Suffering is as great a unifying factor as success and the British have had this in great measure. He said the British are at their best when they have their backs to the wall. He quoted Winston Churchhill's wartime speech "We shall defend our island—we shall never surrender."

President Frank De Carrol thanked the speaker.

Gas Price War Ends In London

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Cheap gasoline became a thing of the past in London Monday after eight weeks of price warring among most of the city's retail outlets.

Lowest price in the city Monday night was 36 cents a gallon—10 cents higher than some week-end rates.

Shell Oil and Regent service stations shoved their prices for standard brands to 38 and 36 cents respectively, with premium gasoline at 39 and 37 cents, respectively.

Earlier in the day Supertest stations went back to the old regular prices and Sun Oil was selling at 39 cents.

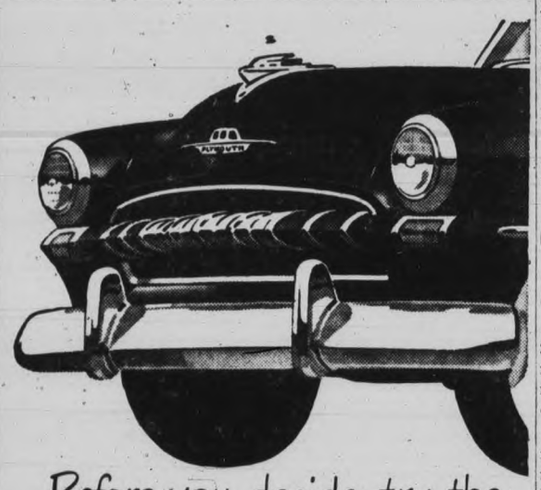
Police Crack Down On Cobourg Drivers

COBOURG ENS) — Fifty-five summonses have been sent out in the last three weeks to violators of traffic bylaws.

Police have been cracking down on speeding motorists, those who ignore stop signs and other violators. A number of accidents at intersections have spurred on the efforts of police to make motorists obey the law.

The drive against traffic violations will continue until there is a marked improvement in traffic manners, police say.

John Henry Valois



Funeral services were conducted Monday for John Henry Valois of Lakehurst, husband of the former Blandina Smith, from the Kaye Funeral Home. Mr. Valois died Friday at St. Joseph's Hospital in his 63rd year.

Mr. Kenneth Stewart of the Lakehurst United Church officiated. Flowerbearers were Thomas Easson, Keith Fawcett, Harold Valois, Richard and Jack Collins, and Cecil Youden. Pallbearers were Kenneth and Percy Hunt, Bert Easson, Edmund Westlake, Don Fawcett, and Gale Elliott.

Burial was in Lakehurst Cemetery.

FIRST DIVIDEND IN YEARS—A cheque for $142,327, marking the first dividend on preferred stock paid to the Government of Canada by the railway under the new capital structure authorized by legislation last year, is turned over to Hon. Lionel Chevrier, Minister of Transport, right, by Donald Gordon, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, in the Minister's office in the House of Commons. The dividend cheque also represented the first peacetime surplus for the CNR since the boom year of 1928.

Communist Line On The Coronation

The daily news provides little that is amusing but the official line of the British Communist Party on the Coronation is good for a laugh. The Daily Worker says that the only concern of adult Communists is that the holiday should be a paid one for British workers, but that Communists will not wish to dampen the merriment of their children. An editorial says "We are rather confident that none of the 35,000 party cardholders will march in the Abbey procession or any local parades; nevertheless individual members are making contributions to cover the cost of block parties on Coronation Day; we shall regard such recreation as a grand romp for the children".

* * *

We recall a conversation we had with a British Communist not long before the Coronation of George VI; he was, he said, above such frivolities, he pitied the deluded wretches who took pleasure in them; he intended to remain at home and do some severe intellectual work on the day of the Coronation, and ignore it . . . . We saw him at ten o'clock on the night of Coronation Day, and he was very drunk on his neighbours' beer, but he was still disagreeable. It is hard for even a Communist to keep his austerity when everybody else is having a good time.

* * *

The Daily Worker announces that it will provide "full coverage" of the Coronation; if we are not mistaken, it ignored the ceremony in 1937, filling its pages with news of a wide variety of events. The snub was thought to be funny by those who did not appreciate Communist irony. It will be interesting to see what the Communist press makes of the event on June 2.

* * *

Ideologically the British Communists haven't a leg to stand on, for no country makes more generous use of parades, pageantry and ceremonious hullabaloo than Soviet Russia; we doubt if Czarist Russia could touch it in such displays. But a Coronation, symbolic of the solidarity of a people who have developed government from despotism to parliamentary democracy, is necessarily gall and wormwood to the Communists.

Capital In Canada's Boom

Last month the brilliant and authoritative London Economist published an edition analysing Canada's expanding economy. This survey explored the general economic conditions, and special facets of it like "The Cheapest Power in the World", "Metals from the Northland", "Prairie Oil and Chemicals", "The One-Customer Economy". One of the most searching articles was on the capitalization of the boom, entitled "Capital, Not Men". We wish here to summarize some of its findings.

There have been two overlapping booms since the war: the industrial expansion of 1947-50, whose evidence is the vast production now, double what it was in 1937. The other boom, prominent in the past two years, is due to the emphasis put on the development of resources—on oil wells and pipelines, railways, hydro-electric power and new mines. This is the second boom added to the first.

Both these booms have required vast capital investment: the Quebec-Labrador iron development and the great aluminum project at Kitimat are examples. The Seaway will be another. In 1939 the total investment in Canada was $765 million; last year it reached an estimated $5,180 million. In 1939, capital investment as a proportion of the gross national product was thirteen percent. Since 1948 it has been over twenty percent. This high rate of investment has two remarkable characteristics: most of it has come from Canadians out of their own incomes and savings, and it has come from Canadians living in a "Welfare State"—as Canada has become.

Such spending on capital investment often results in extreme inflation as it snowballs, and in wild speculation. The Economist notes this: " The financial policies of the Canadian Government have been commendably strict, and have generally kept inflationary forces well in hand. Indeed, it is one of the interesting paradoxes of the postwar years that the country which has been developing most quickly has had less inflation than almost any other. There could be no more convincing evidence of wise financial and political management".

After the Korean War began, total investment increased more sharply than ever, partly because of the defence program but chiefly because of the rising tide of manufacturing, utility and mining investment. "Such shifts in the flow of capital expenditure illustrate not only the real pressure for expansion but also the continuing flexibility of the Canadian economy". Can it continue? The Economist notes that even with rapidly rising living standards, savings of over twenty percent. of the gross national product, for years on end, are remarkable. Much American capital has come into the country, but it has been less than six percent. of the total Canadian investment; and during the postwar period Canada has transferred abroad as much capital as has come into the country. "The boom rests on genuine Canadian savings". It is not, therefore, and in this regard, dependent on the United States. A temporary slump there should not seriously affect Canada.

May not this high rate of saving be too great an anachronism to survive in the modern world—in the world of the welfare state and high taxation where the saver is constantly cheated by inflation? Can Canada maintain its extraordinary rate of capital accumulation in a world that for the most part seems likely to remain desperately and chronically short of capital? These are deeply important questions and here is The Economist's expert and encouraging answer:

> The evidence, as yet, is reassuring. Canada has become, to some considerable extent, a welfare state, but government expenditure has not increased much faster than national income. In total (Provincial as well as Federal), it was 21.0 per cent. of gross national product in 1939 and 23.4 per cent, in 1951. There is at work here a virtuous circle. Because the Canadian economy has been expanding, it can carry a greatly increased volume of government activity without hampering the conditions of further expansion. No doubt social and psychological factors are also important. The democracy of the frontier still has some reality; the wage-earner feels himself part of a venture that is benefiting him directly and in which he can seize greater opportunities if he has collected a little capital. There is a general confidence about the future that encourages savings more widely than this. The danger that Canadian expansion will be slowed down by declining saving does not at the moment look substantial.

The high capitalization which has made the Canadian boom spectacular and the rate of expansion impressive may have some long-run disadvantages, the chief of them being the lack of people, of immigration to accompany the boom. The Economist points out that great economic expansions of the past have always involved large movements of labour, which, though an inconvenience, were a continuing stimulus.

There is also an American underpinning to be considered. The basis of the boom has been Canadian saving but "its spearhead is to a considerable extent American enterprise and American risk-taking". Most of the American investment since the war has been venture capital. A depression in the U.S. would cut off this impulse to the Canadian economy, and of course reduce the market for Canadian goods, since the U.S. is the chief buyer of Canada's products. But "what may happen in the absence of a (U.S.) slump need not cause sleepless nights in Toronto or Edmonton. It is on the side of demand, not of supply (even of technicians), that dependence on the U.S. is important". It is a reassuring analysis of a sound economic boom.

The World Ploughing Its Way To Cobourg

As you drive into Cobourg from the west end of the town, the highway curves abruptly south. At that very turn next October Cobourg will become a world centre. There, on the property of the County old people's home and adjacent farms which have been taken into the scheme for the purpose, the first World Ploughing Contest will be held. This grand design is the offering and instrument of the Ontario Ploughmen's association. That the Ontario society should at one stride reach for world status in its competition, shows the strength of farming in Ontario and the vision of the men who till the Province's soil. The World Ploughing Contest is not just a cocky bit of tub-thumping which will be heard really only in a few southern Ontario counties. The world abroad is hearing, too.

It will draw contestants from outside our borders. Already Percy Dixon of Gillingham, England, who won the tractor ploughing title at Dunsmore, Scotland, last November, is entered. Another United Kingdom champion, R. A. Hogg of Morton Grance, East Horsley, will attend. Mr. Hogg won the horse ploughing title in the Scottish event last year.

Elizabeth I

Today, exactly 350 years ago, Queen Elizabeth died, March 24th, 1603. Thus ended the great and expansive Elizabethan era, of glorious memory. Today that memory inspires hopes of another great Elizabethan era, challenging to mind and spirit as to material advancement. This year we put the figure I after the name of the first Elizabeth and look with hope to the coronation of Elizabeth II, Queen by the Grace of God and the inheritance of her ancestors.

Will Satellites 'Turn Tito'?

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL

ONE OF THE FIRST questions asked in West after the death of Stalin has been whether the loss of the "Great Teacher," by weakening the authority of the Soviet Government in the international Communist system, will increase the prospects of satellite defection.

* * *

AWARE of the severe economic strains imposed on the "People's Democracies" by the iron hand of Moscow, some Western commentators seem to imagine that quite a number of Communist satellite leaders, caught between Soviet orders and the need to keep their peoples quiet, would love to "turn Tito" — that they are only waiting for a weakening of Russian authority and some signs of understanding and preparedness from the West in order to break away and set up "national" Communist regimes. In depressing contrast to that view, a careful analysis of the ties linking the European satellite regimes to Moscow suggests that they are likely to remain loyal to whoever reigns in the Kremlin, so long as the Soviet Union presents to them a facade of unity. Only in one case may a serious chance of defections emerge; that is, if Stalin's Russian heirs quarrel openly among themselves and involve the satellites in their disputes.

* * *

THE FUNDAMENTAL REASON for this sceptical view of the chance of new Titos emerging in Eastern Europe—Communist China, of course, is not a satellite and stands in an entirely different relationship with Russia—is that none of the European satellite regimes now existing could hope to maintain itself without Soviet backing. None of them—in contrast of Mao's Chinese and Tito's Yugoslav Communists—gained power by its own unaided efforts; by the same token, none of them could succeed in holding down its people if Russian support was withdrawn. Nor could men like Bierut in Poland, Rakosi in Hungary or Bodnaras in Rumania, who never had any mass following before they arrived in the baggage van of the Russian Army and were offered power on a Russian platter, harbour any delusions about this: for them, defection would be suicide. It is true that the Czech and Bulgarian Communist Parties once had genuinely popular movements behind them, even though they always remained minorities; but these movements—founded to a considerable extent on the traditional sympathy of their peoples with Russia—have withered with the people's experience of the Communist regimes. Moreover, these two Parties have been purged and purged again by the Russians so often, and have been so thoroughly permeated with direct Russian agents, that no rebellious leader could hope to make even the first preparatory moves without being at once betrayed to the Kremlin.

* * *

THE ARGUMENT of political survival is strengthened by economic and ideological factors. The economies of all these countries are by now thoroughly integrated with Soviet planning and intensely dependent on Russia and on each other. Their whole foreign trade, including the foreign exchange reserves, have been for years in Russia's keeping, their new heavy industries depend on raw materials received from inside the Soviet bloc, and their formerly self-sufficient agriculture has been systematically reduced. This process has been linked to a heavy decline in living standards in the most advanced areas and has ceased to benefit even the more backward areas in recent years. A reversal of the trend by a turn to the West, though greatly beneficial in the long run, could hardly take place without a sharp crisis of transition and extreme dependence on Western aid which the "national communist" regimes would be unlikely to survive.

* * *

AS FOR IDEOLOGY, it would be an error to think that Communist teaching and training has been made dependent on the personal authority of Stalin. Communists everywhere have been taught belief in an impersonal doctrine and loyalty to the Soviet Union as the great power-centre of the "camp" of world socialism, and they will be as willing to accept the authentic interpretation of the "classic" Stalin from his successor as they accepted the authentic interpretation of Lenin from Stalin, when the latter's personal reputation as a theorist was still extremely poor. Where the need for authority is so strong, it takes no genius to supply it—only a recognised institution.

* * *

THE SOVIET LEADERS must be aware of all these factors working in their favour. If, nevertheless, Stalin's successors are showing evident anxiety to ensure the loyalty of the satellites, even by a certain amount of flattery, the chief reason may well be their own rivalry. In the struggles which followed the death of Lenin, all the competing leaders and groups appealed for the support of the Communist Parties abroad, causing numerous splits in the process. Today, any rival contenders for power in Russia must be even more compellingly tempted to appeal to the support of Mao and of the Communist satellite regimes in Europe—to use the allegiance of the vassals abroad as a weapon in the struggle for power at home.

* * *

IF THAT SITUATION arose, any satellite leader who had backed the wrong horse in Moscow and found his protector defeated would indeed have a compelling motive for breaking away—the chances of separate survival, however weak, would still be larger than those of escaping a purge within the Soviet sphere. Anybody looking for the chances of satellite defection should, therefore, watch for signs of struggle at the centre spreading to the outer periphery of the Soviet empire.

Unconsidered Trifles

"Got away, has he? Did you guard all the exits?"

Country-Constable: "Yes, but we think that he must have left by one of the entrances."

The truck took a corner too sharply and crashed into the kitchen of a cottage. "I'm sorry," said the driver, popping his head out, "but I really wanted the coast road."

"That's easy," said the housewife, carrying on with her cooking. "Just go straight on into the living-room and turn right by the sideboard."

THE BREAK-UP BEGINS and the summer cottager looks towards another season. This photograph taken yesterday at Gannon's Narrows, looks south down Buckhorn Lake. Ice covers the lake still, but at the shore (foreground in the photograph) needle ice indicates that it will soon go. —(Examiner Photo)

Letter To The Editor

PROFESSION INSULTED

Sir: You can rest assured that the Legal Profession will not bear in silence Mr. Nickle's strictures upon the operation of the Unsatisfied Judgement Fund, nor your uncalled for comments either.

Lawyers are painfully aware of the great expense of legal proceedings, so much so, that, mindful of a famous Judge's statement about bad settlements being often preferable to good lawsuits, much time and effort is spent in attempting to arrange settlements to the lawyer's loss and the client's gain. In fact hundreds of matters never reach the level of judicial determination because of the solicitors' preoccupation with clients' welfare. Savings are thus obtained both for the client and the public at large who, through taxes, bear the brunt of the cost of administration of justice. Through the wisdom of the Legislature the lawyer is barred from availing for his client this desirable solution of a case involving the Fund. In addition he is required to move a mountain of red tape before satisfaction can be obtained. It would appear then that the larger share of responsibility rests with this Assembly.

Experience of local lawyers with cases involving the unsatisfied judgement fund indicates a reluctance on their part to have anything to do with them because of insufficient remuneration for the work required to be done, and also because of the unsatisfactory solicitor-client relationship resulting in the long delay in securing payment out of the fund. The public blames the lawyer, as you do, and not the Legislature where it properly belongs.

When a case goes to court the fees and expenses are often high and consequently difficult for the ordinary citizen to bear, but so is any charge involving professional services. And sometimes the charges for unprofessional services are likewise high. I seem to recall the rates charged for insertion of legal notices in daily newspapers. On one occasion I paid $125.00 for three insertions of a short notice of certain proceedings in a Toronto paper about eight years ago and this charge had to be passed on in the legal account. Admitting costs to be high, your charge when you speak of "lawyers' exhorbitant fees," "lawyers costs and fees for pleading in simple accident cases," exhibits superlative ignorance of the subject. You owe it to the legal profession and to the public, if not to yourself, to inform them of the reasons for such fees.

There is a popular conception in this country that lawyers live in the lap of luxury, fostered, no doubt, by the lack of appreciation by clients of the value of legal services and by outbursts in which you have just indulged. I can show you proof that many lawyers average less than skilled tradesmen. In fact you can meet one who was anxious to make painful physical contact with you after reading your slanderous remarks who has averaged less than $2,500.00 per annum over seventeen years of practice.

As so often happens, the exceptions prove the rule, make more interesting newspaper copy and editorial comment. Your poverty in material for editorial comment is no excuse for the insult to an honourable profession.

Yours truly,
WM. C. GRANT.

EDITOR'S NOTE: We shall be happy to report whatever the legal profession says in reply to Mr. Nickle, and to Premier Frost, who publicly commended Mr. Nickle's speech. We do not agree that comment on a speech in the Legislature is improper editorial material.

Slow To Learn

(Hamilton Spectator)

We seem to have a blank spot about the automobile. Those statistics show that we are 18 times as likely to die by it as by a gun, and yet we handle it with a sloppy casualness which would terrify us in the handling of a firearm.

Actuaries tells us that it is 10 times more likely to kill us than an aircraft for each mile of travel, and yet we blithely climb behind its wheel, even when we are emotionally disturbed, with none of those nervous qualms which most of us still feel as we board an airliner which we known will be flown by a highly trained and emotionally stable pilot.

Perhaps some day we shall learn to respect the automobile with the respect which we accord to the firearm — some day, when we finally admit to ourselves how intolerable is the toll of death and mutilation which results from our carelessness.

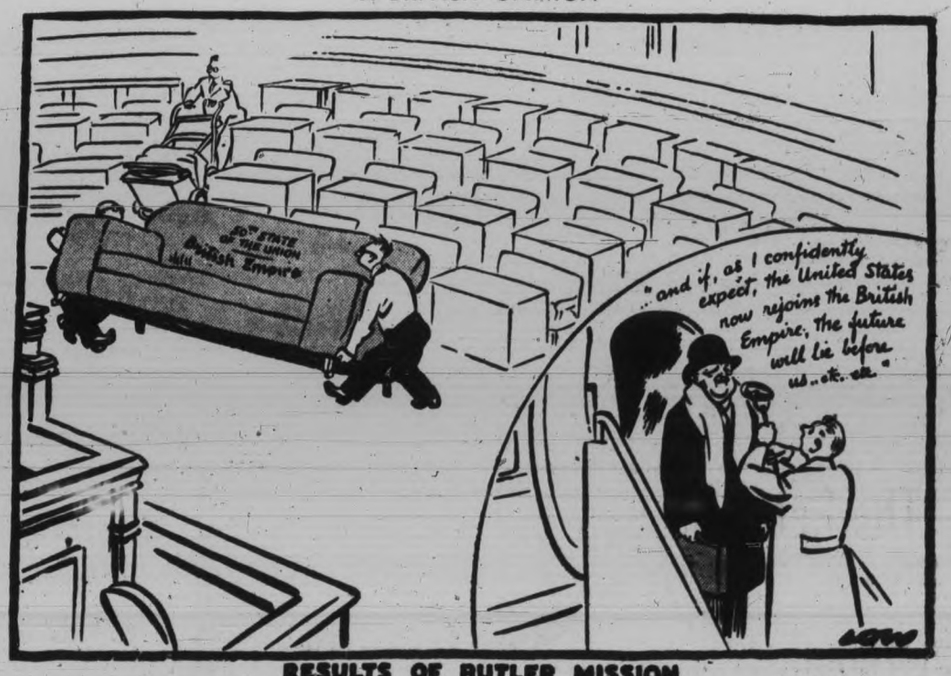
Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Hear, O heavens, and gave ear, O earth: for the Lord hath spoken, I have nourished and brought up children, and they have rebelled against me . . .

* * *

Hear thou, my son, and be wise, and guide thine heart in the way . . . . Buy the truth, and sell it not; also wisdom, and instruction, and understanding. (Prov. 23: 19, 23.)



* * *

And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus feet; and he healed them: insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see; and they glorified the God of Israel. (Matt. 15:30,31.)

* * *

How excellent is thy lovingkindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings. They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house; and thou shalt make them drink of the river of thy pleasures. For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light shall we see light. Stole Radio Tubes To Reach Canada, Engineer Pays Fine

LONDON (Reuters)—A 29-year-old radio engineer who stole 10 radio tubes to help finance his emigration to Canada returned all the way from Toronto to settle his account with the law here Monday.

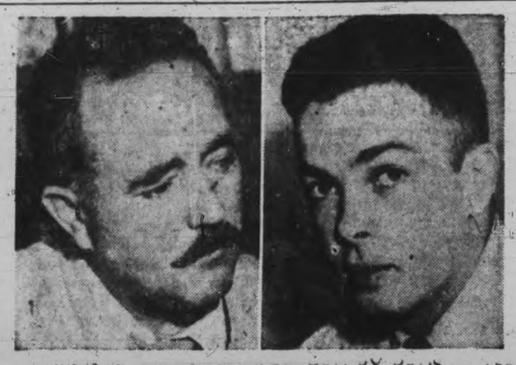
As he left the court a free man, after paying a £15 fine for jumping bail, David A. Goldstein said the long trip had been well worth while.

Goldstein pleaded guilty to stealing the tubes, worth £10, from his former London employer last June. He was conditionally discharged for the offence, but fined for leaving the country while he faced court charges.

In the nine months since he left, Goldstein said he has risen to a $140-a-week post as chief technician for the Coronet Television Co., of Toronto. The company gave him a good reference, promised to take him back, and offered to pay his return fare to Toronto.

A detective told the court Goldstein apparently had stolen the tubes to raise funds to get to Canada and that arrangements for his departure were made before the theft was committed. He was caught when his wife, now in Toronto with their two children, tried to sell the tubes to a radio dealer.

Packers' Unions Seek Settlement



TORONTO (CP)—A national campaign aimed at forcing Swift Canadian Company to bargain with the union for a settlement of the poultry plant and hatchery strike at Stratford will be undertaken by the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), Sam Hughes, assistant Canadian director, said Monday night.

Eamon Park, a member of the conciliation board which heard the 15-month dispute, accused the company of treating the board with contempt.

Mr. Park told the Toronto Labor Council (CIO-CCL) that Swifts have shown "contempt for the conciliation process, for the Canadian labor laws, and for the Canadian people." He said Swift's is a United States-owned corporation

Mr. Hughes, who told of plans for a national petition to be directed at Swift's management in Canada, said Eric Taylor, chairman of the board that heard the dispute, had authorized the statement that he had never had so frustrating an experience as attempting to conciliate with Swift's.

None of the company representatives appearing before the board were prepared or authorized to bargain, Mr. Hughes and Mr. Park told the labor council.

NEWSMEN BELIEVED CAPTURED BY REDS — The U.S. State Department ordered American officials in Hong Kong to take all possible steps to obtain the release of three Americans reported captured by Chinese Reds. The three, former news service correspondent Richard Applegate (left), correspondent Don Dixon (right) and merchant marine captain Ben Krasner are believed to have been captured by a Chinese gunboat while sailing aboard a U.S. yacht just west of Hong Kong.

New Trade Pacts Protect Europe

PARIS (Reuters)—Britain granted a series of trade concessions to her worried European Allies Monday and promised not to leave them in the cold on any long-term arrangements with the U.S. for converting sterling into dollars.

Richard A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, announced the concessions at a meeting here of the 18-country Organization for European Economic Co-Operation. Together with Foreign Secretary Eden he sought to allay European fears of being left in the lurch by the British Commonwealth program for strengthening sterling.

Butler also promised Britain's support for a 12-month extension of the European Payments Union, the OEEC's financial clearing house which was due to expire June 30. European countries feared Britain might try to withdraw from the union if sterling again became freely convertible.

Common Faith Great Need Of Modern World: Gallagher

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Rev. W. J. Gallagher of Toronto, general secretary of the Canadian Council of Churches, said Monday the greatest present need of the world is a common faith.

Addressing a local service club, he said the world today seems to be based on three paradoxes

The paradoxes are the political, in which the world is one and yet divided at the same time; the economic, wherein plenty and want co-exist; and the spiritual, in which man's values seem based on the material while he yearns for a truth only the spiritual can provide.

Dr. Gallagher said the world is governed by three facts: the world is in revolution; millions of people are suffering and the world has no common faith.

"The deepest need of the world today lies just there—the need for a common faith."

Such faith would solve the problems of the other two facts which stem from the existence of the three paradoxes.

The spiritual paradox was exhibited in the fact "we pay our pugilists more than our teachers and we pay more for drink than for education."

Marxism and communism attracted great followings not because of material attractiveness but because they offered a cause, even though it was based on false promises.

Protect Hallmarks

LONDON (CP)—British jewellers claim some American companies are copying their historic hallmarks. The board of trade has been asked to "negotiate" with the United States about the problem. Similar action was taken in 1911 and 1939.

Liberals Criticize Ontario Hydro Policy

TORONTO (CP)—Two Liberal members of the Ontario legislature criticized Ontario hydro commission policy Monday night.

Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver and Albert Wren, member for Kenora, spoke over a CBC Ontario network in a free-time political series. Both expressed criticism of hydro's handling of its frequency-conversion program in Southern Ontario.

Mr. Wren said cost-plus contracts and public relations activities put up the cost of the operation. Mr. Oliver predicted that the expenditure for frequency-conversion will prove to be double the original estimate of $191,000,000.

Teachers Request Higher Pensions

TORONTO (CP)—A group of retired teachers appealed Monday to a legislature committee on education for higher pensions, but the most they got was an indefinite assurance their request would be considered.

The delegation appeared to request changes in a proposed amendment to the Teachers Superannuation Act, which the committee approved and which now goes before the House for final approval.

Principal feature of the bill is a clause removing the $3,000 annual ceiling on pensions. The teachers asked for an increase in the annual minimum of $600 and a change in calculating pensions on average salary for the last 15 service to the last 10 years.

Two committee members, Harold Fishleigh (PC—Toronto Woodbine), and George Wardrope (PC—Port Arthur), urged immediate action for higher minimum pensions, but they were overruled by committee chairman J. N. Allan (PC—Haldimand-Norfolk.)

Word Of Department Awaited On Charge

A magistrate's court case which has hung fire for four months will be concluded March 30 with the arrival of information from the Department of Highways as to whether or not an Oshawa driver's licence was suspended on November 22.

The charge was laid by PC William A. Scott during investigation of an accident November 22 at Townsend and George Sts. Jack Miller, of Oshawa, admitted to the constable he was driving while his licence was under suspension.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, failed, however, to produce a legally admissible certificate proving Miller's licence was acutally under suspension.

W. B. Gordon produced evidence that Miller had purchased insurance shortly before the accident and maintained a copy had been mailed to the department as proof of financial responsibility. The suspension would automatically be lifted when he mailed it as mailing would have the effect of filing, Mr. Gordon maintained.

Crown Attorney Bradshaw said he would follow the advice of Magistrate W. R. Philp and attempt to obtain a certificate from the department as proof the licence was actually under suspension.

Named Inspector

BARRIE (CP) — District Sergeant John Clark, 50, will take over as inspector of No. 7 Ontario provincial police district headquarters here April 1. He will succeed retiring inspector Richard Cox. John Clark, who now has 25 years of service with the force, began his career at Kitchener. He served in Woodstock, Brantford, Simcoe and Dundas before coming here.

Dies Under Farm Wagon

KINCARDINE (CP)—Six-year-old David Gordon Moore, Huron township, died in hospital here Monday of injuries suffered when he was crushed under the wheels of a farm wagon taking him home from school. Son of Mr. and Mrs. David Moore, the youngster fell from the wagon, the front and rear wheels of the vehicle passing over his head.

ASKS WAR CLAIM — Mrs. Alice Boyse Shaw, 60, of Winnipeg, is seeking $148,423 from the War Claims Commission as payment for being a Japanese prisoner in the Second World War. She testified that Japanese interment killed her 70-year-old husband and that her own weight dropped from 135 to 81 pounds during the confinement. The couple were interned in the Philippine Islands. She asks payment to be made from Japanese and German funds held by the government.

Scott's Corners And Line Reach Bush Loop Final Bethany And Mounts Out

MILLBROOK—(ENS)—Last night's double header, played before 475 cheering fans, in Civic Arena, put Scott's Corners and Fourth Line, defending champions, into the Millbrook Bush League Gray Cup finals. Corners took a 5-2 verdict from Bethany and Fourth Line squeezed Mt. Pleasant out by a 7-5 count. In the Mountaineers-Liners' fray, play opened cautionsly with hard, close checking featuring the action. It was so tight in the initial stages that neither team had a shot on goal until the six minute mark when Friar and Dracup tested Evans and Hubbeard with close-in shots. The period ended without a score, although Carr was in the clear and on his way goalward at the bell.

Early in the second, J. Evans and Earl Hutchison were chased for holding and with both teams shorthanded, Allan Hutchison hammered home a pass from Walling for the ice-breaker. Guthrie and Friar had Evans at their mercy but blew the chance.

Fisher went off for tripping and Earl Hutchison got it for boarding. At the 9:03 mark McDowell spotted an opening and drilled the disc into the twine. The next five minutes saw the Hutchison-McDowell-Walling line put Fourth Line fans into a frenzy, when they staged the most scintillating display of the season. McDowell circled his own net, soloed through the Mt. Pleasant team in a glittering gallop and shoved a slider to Allan Hutchison who relayed it to Walling to flip into the net. Four seconds later McDowell registered single-handed and at 14.17 he and Walling combined in a masterful picture-passing play to make it 5-0.

The Mountaineers after completely losing effectiveness in the middle session roared right back with a great effort in the third to dominate play and outstcore Fourth Line 5-2.

Jamieson upset Earl Hutchison and the latter caught the eye of the Referee Payne when he handed out a receipt for the spill. Mt. Pleasant took advantage of their numerical edge to buy a pair of counters with K. Bryan getting the first and Crawford scoring from Armstrong and Dracup. Allan Hutchison fed a pass to McDowell and "Eagle Eye" Edward parked it in the top corner. Jamieson connected with a long shot from near the blue line. Carr went in alone and although checked, hung on like a visiting relative, until he got a shot away that beat Hubbeard and cut the Liners' margin to two goals. A blazing drive by Walling struck Evans over the left eye and the game was delayed while he had medical attention. Shortly after play was resumed, McDowell caroomed his fourth counter off a skate with the assist going to Lady Luck. Dracup, who had come close on several tries finally connected with three seconds to go.

Three goals sandwiched in a three-minute interval late in the third period broke Bethany's tie game and puts Scott's Corners into the hunt for Hank's Mug.

The Corners had three fast lines which kept the pressure on for the full 60 minutes and this, coupled with an injury to Magill when he crashed into the boards, spelled the downfall of the boys from ski town. Scoring action started with 15 seconds left in the second period when E. Brown flashed the light unassisted. The Crichton Crew started the third with definite ideas of getting into the scoring act and at the 2.30 mark Crichton cashed in on Alberico's pass to tie it up. Bethany moved into the lead at 7.03 with a Corkery-Brown-Gillis' effort and Alberico from Stevens picked up an equalizer two minutes later.

At 15.03 Little whistled one past an unprotected goalie and 27 seconds later Galley repeated with Laroque assisting on both and the boys from the big bend on Highway 28 were in. Dunn, from Blodgett added insurance at the 18.30 mark. Payne and Post, the whistle tooters for the evening, sent only two to the penalty plank in a clean contest. Pomeroy of Bethany required some repair work on a deep cut over the eye, picked up in an accidental collision with a team-mate.

Wednesday night Fourth Line and Scott's Corners will tangle in the first of the finals.

The teams:

First Game

Fourth Line: Goal, Hubbeard; defence, E. Hutchison, Olan; centre, McDowell; wings, Walling, A. Hutchison; alternates, Fallis, Thompson, Friar, Guthrie, Greenly, Lowery, Agnew.

Mt. Pleasant: Goal, B. Evans; defence, J. Evans, Fisher; centre, Dracup; wings, Parker, Armstrong; alternates, Carr, J. Fisher, Jamieson, Crawford, Minnie, K. Bryan, J. Bryan, Thornton.

Second Game

Bethany: Goal, Challice; defence, Edmunds, Burns; centre, Magill; wings, Corkery, E. Brown; alternates, Pomeroy, C. Gillis, Sinclair, N. Brown, McGill, Smith, Fallis, Boyle.

Scott's Corners: Goal, Hehn; defence, Dawson, Crichton; centre, Alberico; wings, Stevens, Harris; alternates, Conroy, Shaughnessy, Seabrooke, Dunn, Blodgett, Minnie, Largoque, Little, Galley.

Hawks In Shape For Series With Canadiens

MONTREAL (CP) — Well, tonight's the night, but until shortly before game time, Chicago Black Hawks, at least 50 per cent of the attraction at the Forum, will be far from the madding crowd.

W. J. (Bill) Tobin, vice-president and general manager of the Hawks, was the club's sole representative around these parts Monday. Coach Sid. Abel hustled his players to the quiet of the Laurentian mountains shortly after their arrival to make sure they wouldn't be bothered by ticket moochers or well-wishers.

Tobin, however, had several things to say about the team that faces Canadiens for the first time tonight in a best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series.

"Sid Abel is the grandest guy I ever met either on or off the ice. He's got the team fighting and I think we've got a good chance to win.

READY TO GO

"All our players are ready to go. We started our winning drive Feb. 22. Since then we have won seven games, lost only three and tied three. In that stretch we scored 30 goals and have had 18 scored against us."

On the other side of the rink, the Habs will be in a somewhat battered condition.

Big Jim MacPherson, who was sloughed by Gordie Howe in Detroit Sunday night, was taken to hospital following the team's arrival by train Monday night. It was feared he may have suffered a concussion.

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion had 11 stitches taken to close a cut over one eye and Maurice Richard suffered a cut scalp.

TWO DOUBTFUL

A spokesman for the team said "MacPherson and Geoffrion are doubtful starters. But we have a good record against the Hawks and I don't think coach (Dick) Irvin plans to inject any new players into the line-up. Ken Mosdell is another question mark because of an injured knee."

He said Canadiens have called up several players from their farm clubs, but they are expected to see action only if the regulars don't show enough zip early in the series.

Goalie Jacques Plante, defenceman Frankie Eddolls and forwards Calum Mackay and Lorne Davies have been called up from Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League and defenceman Ivan Irwin and forwards Colin Kilburn and Eddie Mazur from Victoria Cougars in the Western Hockey League.

Tamworth Gets Puck Title From Bancroft

BANCROFT (ENS)—Fitting tribute should be paid to an earnest, die-hard Bancroft hockey club that bowed to a faster, more seasoned Tamworth crew in a heart-breaking 4-3 contest at Belleville. The win made Tamworth the Hastings-Addington League champions with a 4-2 edge on the series. To the 800 fans from the village and district who made the junket to Belleville it was a bitter disappointment to watch the Tamworth squad blast the Pontiac's championship aspirations into oblivion, especially so in view of the fine record of the club which lost only one and tied two during the league schedule. The paid attendance was 1,350 and it was a financial if not a sporting success. A good game was watched by all and the club had support to the end.

Penalties were kept to a minimum and play was clean. Stu Stringer picked up the only Pontiac penalty but his performance during the rest of the game more than atoned for it. Munroe of Tamworth managed to pick up two of his team's penalties with Martin taking the other.

Norman Brough started the ball rolling in the right direction 20 seconds after the opening bell when he picked up a pass from Jack Hattin and beat Storring to put the Pontiacs in front 1-0. From that point on until the third period the team seemed unable to get started. Cox, Marshall and Weese dunked one each during the remainder of the first heat for Tamworth. In the second frame McDonald notched a single with the assistance of Fish. Art Young turned in a bang-up performance in the Bancroft nets as he kicked out rubber from all directions. The second period bell ended the Tamworth scoring.

Bancroft came out strong in the third period and had the edge all the way. Bill Delyea banged in a neat one from Ross Severin and Johnny Pilgrim scored from Delyea seconds later. The local crew meant business and the pressure was on. It looked as if Norman Brough was going to pull things out of the fire as he went in alone on Storring with seconds to go but failed to tally and it was all over for another year. Manager Bernie Shapiro pulled Young at the minute mark and put six forwards on.

The game was the first played by the local squad on artificial ice and the extra ice surface seemed to have them stymied for a while, as opposed to the many practice sessions held by Tamworth at Kingston last fall. It all combined to give the opposition a decided edge as the play proved.

Delyea, Hattin, Stringer and Norm Brough turned in a top-flight game for the blackshirts. Storring, Weese and Fish stood out in the Tamworth lineup.

The teams:

Bancroft: Goal, A. Young; defence, J. Hattin, L. Dougall; centre, E. Brough; wings, B. Comrie, N. Brough; alternates, B. Ramsbottom, B. Green, T. Maxwell, R. Severin, J. Pilgrim, B. Delyea, C. McAlpine, F. Bruce, S. Stringer.

Tamworth: Goal, D. Storring; defence, T. Brady, T. Jones; centre, T. Holmes; wings, K. Weese, R. Martin; alternates, T. Hinch, J. Munroe, D. McDonald, T. Fish, H. Rombough, R. Cox, G. Marshall, D. Rombough, M. Fisher.

Curling News

The Kiwanis Club is holding its annual bonspiel next Monday. John R. Sinclair is master of ceremonies.

Just a reminder: The men's annual banquet is Monday, April 6 at the Empress Hotel. The ladies' annual banquet is Tuesday, April 7 at Kawartha Club.

The Ostrander bonspiel gets away tomorrow morning at 9:00 o'clock sharp.

Tom Doughty, Dave Charlton, J. Baker and A. Ferguson came second in the tournament down in Kingston last week.

Just why so many people will go away up to Sudbury to see the McDonald-Brier competition is hard to figure out. We saw more real high class curling in our curling rink last night between 7:00 and 9:30 o'clock than we have seen for many seasons. We'll just run over the highlights.

On Ice No. 2: J. Begley was down three going home playing against S. Lambert. He ties up the game with a big three and then goes on to win the game on the extra end.

On the very next ice, No. 3: P. Moore was down three going into the 10th end, and he got a big three to tie the game. He was playing against T. Fowler. On the extra end it was nip and tuck, and when Moore played his last stone, all the experts conceded him the game—that is, all the experts but Fowler. That last shot of Fowler's was a pippin. It was out of this world. He must have had one foot in heaven when he made that shot. Ken Watson in all his glory never made one like it.

And then, believe it or not, on the very next ice, No. 4, the same thing happened. R. Perks, down three to A. Nelson, pulls the hat trick—counts three—ties up the game and forces an extra end, and only by clever curling did Nelson come through.

If the remaining games in this leads' and seconds' bonspiel are going to keep this pace going, we're going to see every game from here in.

Leads and Seconds results: W. Westrem won from E. Rye; J. Begley won from S. Lambert (extra end); T. Fowler won from P. Moore (extra end); A. Nelson won from R. Perks (extra end); J. Loucks won from S. Lockington; J. Watts won from Dr. R. Aiken; A. Miles won from W. R. Philp.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

As the fairways and greens dry out next months, hundreds of golfers here will be teeing off once again to start another long summer's season. Up at the north-east edge of the city, the Peterborough Golf Club executive is looking forward to a real busy time. Something new to golfdom in this city has been added, a Rain-to-Order irrigation system. They'll have watered fairways this summer and expect to show a green 18-hole course regardless of extra hot, dry weather in the months ahead. The sprays cover wide areas at the rate of a comparable inch of rain water every few hours when needed. Now, that's really something, eh?

Gordon Maniece is president this year of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club, with C. R. Stacey vice-prexy, and Tom MacKay again secretary-treasurer. Committee chairmen are: Property—Les Leid; house—C. R. Stacey; membership—Stan McBride; match and handicap—R. J. Hardill; greens—Stan Payne. Guess who's back as club pro. None other than popular Alf Hill for his third year. The northend club, with its fine rolling links, had its best season to date last year, enjoying a big membership and some excellent golf. Club officials expect an even better one in the summer of '53. Membership includes ladies, men, girls and kids down to caddy size.

Re Junior Lacrossers

Frank Patterson, local junior OLA sponsor, announces a meeting of executive and players for tonight at 7.45 in the YMCA. That means last year's players who are still of junior age and the ex-juveniles who hope to catch the team this semester. They'll talk over various matters, including the appointment of a coach and a manager, the sale of season ducats, a grouping, and so forth. Lou Vitarelli has announced that he will not stand for re-appointment as junior lacrosse coach this year, so someone else will have that duty in the campaign ahead. OLA hasn't announced the junior grouping so far, and there's a chance that Orillia may be an added starter. Eastern winner this year meets the western champs for the Minto Cup in the east.

Walt Murphy advises that the annual open meeting of the Peterborough Minor Lacrosse Association will be held next Monday eve at eight in Ken Kingston's residence at 21 Manning Ave. Everyone interested in the PMLA reorganization is invited, especially coaches and managers. Last year's officials, of course. The meeting will get reports on 1952 activities, discuss plans for the season ahead, and elect officers. This is a very well-organized and well-run association for the youngsters, being affiliated with the provincial setup and sending winners into Ontario playdowns each year. The senior club takes a keen interest in the minors, from whom they draw their future material. We don't know yet what senior player will be named as chief coach of the PMLA, as Harry Wipper won't be available in time.

Pat Baker Gets Three

Led by speedy Pat Baker, the local Shamrocks yanked out a 4-4 tie with Guelph on the latter's ice last night to start their OMHA bantam "A" finals. Return of the two-game series is here Thursday eve at 8.30, and this provincial final should pack the place. Baker was poison to the Biltmores as he breezed in for three goals, iron-man Larry Lonsberry notching the other. Wayne Haig was hot, too, to aid on a pair, with Gary Darling, Lonsberry and Bill Mahoney each earning an assist. Goalie Jim Riel robbed the homesters frequently, and all Pat Doherty's scrappy young Shamrocks played heads-up hockey. Each side tallied thrice with a man advantage, penalties proving costly. The return playoff promises to be a sizzling struggle.

Stanley Cup semi-finals commence tonight with Boston at Detroit, and Chicago at Montreal. Could be an upset or two, but the wise money is riding on Wings and Canadiens to make the final. Some talk already of King Clancy replacing Joe Primeau as Leafian coach next season. Detroit will be making a bid for their sixth Stanley Cup, taking it last year in eight straight over Toronto in semi-finals and Montreal in finals. It is their 14th straight season in cup play. Canadiens have been in these series 23 times, winning the trophy five times. Gord Howe won the scoring championship again with a record total of 49 goals and 46 assists for 95 points. Lindsay had 71 and Richard 61. Red Sullivan finished his 32-game NHL season with Bruins with 11 points, and now he's back in Stanley Cup play for the second year.

SAYS TOWEEL WON'T QUIT

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Mike Toweel, father and trainer of Vic Toweel, ex-world bantamweight champion, declared Monday his boy will not quit the ring, but will continue to fight as a featherweight.

Vic was knocked out in the 10th round on Saturday night by world champion Jimmy Carruthers of Australia, who originally won the world 118-pound crown from Toweel last November.

South African sports writers have advised Vic Toweel to quit the ring, but the elder Toweel Monday angrily said: "As far as I am concerned there is no question of Vic's quitting."

But he added a final decision will not be made until his boy returns from a holiday in a couple of weeks' time.

Meanwhile it was discovered that Toweel had suffered a broken nose in the fight and he went to a hospital to have it set.

Bill McConnell, manager of Carruthers, who has advised Vic not to retire, offered to handle him in the featherweight (126 pounds) division. Mike Toweel turned this down, saying he had trained his son for 15 years and would continue to do so.

Negro Boxer, 17, Dies After Golden Gloves

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — A 17-year-old amateur boxer died in hospital Monday night after being knocked out in a Golden Gloves bout.

Physicians said Clifton Johnson, 147-pound Negro, failed to regain consciousness after being admitted to the hospital in critical condition.

Johnson was knocked out in the third and final round by Charles Cator.

Australia Clears Costly Hurdle To '56 Olympics

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Australia Monday cleared a $4,500,000 hurdle blocking the way to holding the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne.

Prime Minister Robert Menzies said the government will advance the money to build an Olympic village in the form of an interest-free housing loan.

Melbourne's attempt to be host to the Olympiad has run into one snag after another, and the games were in danger of going to another continent.

But now "everything is fixed," Arthur Coles, Australian Olympic Games control committee chairman, said Monday night. "we could not wish for anything better."

The federal government will advance the $4,500,000 to Victoria state to house visiting athletes and Olympic officials. afterward the village will become a housing project.

There is one possible hitch. Victoria's Premier John Cain has not yet accepted the offer.

City Carpetball

Results of last week's play: At the Fire Hall, No. 4 had as their opponents Red Patch No. 11. The Smoke-eaters captured the first game from the Patches by a 12-7 score. The second game saw No. 4 in the lead when No. 11 made it 6-all in the sixth frame and then continued on to win a 15-9 game.

At the SOE Hall, the Sons won both games from Legion No. 12. In the first game No. 12 went into the lead, but No. 8 overtook them and won a tight game by an 11-8 score. The second game was 11-0 for No. 8 before the Legionnaires tallied—but No. 12 had started too late so they lost a 16-9 game.

At the Legion, teams Nos. 5 and 10 met. The first resulted in a tie when No. 5 after leading, fell behind, then finishing strong made it 10-all. The second game was tied twice before No. 10 went into the lead and continued on to an 11-7 victory.

Legion No. 3 vs. Orphans No. 2, and LOL No. 6 vs. Fire Hall No. 9 games were not played and must be played this week.

Two postponed games were played at the Legion Hall. Fire Hall No. 9 came from behind twice to tie the score, but No. 2 continued on to win a 12-7 game. No. 9 in the second game started with a big six and were leading 12-3 before the Orphans started to roll—but that big six proved too big a handicap to overcome and they lost 14-12.

LOL No. 6 went down to defeat twice against Legion No. 3. The first game was 6-2 in favor of King Billie, then their opponents scored a big six and that proved sufficient for a 12-9 win for No. 3. In the second game No. 6 came from behind to make it 3-all and into the lead 5-3—but that was the last they scored in that game as they were whitewashed for seven straight ends, losing to No. 3 by 15-5.

The semi-final round of the President's Cup saw Legion No. 7 take a 10-3 game from Orphans No. 2. In the second game No. 7 was leading 6-5 going into the final end when No. 2 scored a two to take a close 7-6 victory. The third and deciding game saw No. 2 leading 8-0 before No. 7 found the kat and while No. 7 went on to take the last five frames they failed by one to tie and No. 2 eliminated them 8-7.

The final round will be between Orphans No. 2 and LOL No. 6.

The second round of Gracie's Memorial Doubles saw four more teams eliminated. Team 24 won in two straight from Team 20 by scores of 11-4 and 7-6. Team 10 also won in two straight from Team 2 but had to win the first game in the last end by 8-7; the second game was 9-4.

Team 17 won the first and third games while Team 26 captured the second with a 9-4 score. The first game was 5-all going into the final end and No. 17 scored a single to win 6-5. The third game required two extra ends to declare a winner as again Team 17 came from behind to tie it at 6-all and scored in both the extra ends to take a 10-6 victory.

Teams 21 and 4 fought it out in three games. In the first No. 4 came from behind to score a big six in the final end to win 9-5. The second went to No. 21 by a 9-4 score The final game was tied twice before Team 21 emerged victorious by a 6-4 score.

Team 30 won 6-5 but lost the next two games to No. 15 by 4-11 and 5-7 scores, with No. 15 winning the final games in the last two ends.

Team 29 won the first game 5-4 but went down to defeat in the last two games to Team 18 by scores of 8-3 and 12-5.

Team 19 won the first and third games by scores of 8-4 and 9-6 while Team 11 took the second 9-8.

Third round doubles Wednesday, March 25.

At Legion: 8 p.m. F. Parson and A. Williamson vs. C. Giroux and P. McLean, winners of Group A. 8 p.m. M. Fraser and G. Gimblett vs. W. Curtis and C. McPhee, winner of Group B.

At SOE: 8 p.m. S. Roscoe and L. Herr vs. J. Fenton and S. Weaver, winner of Group C. 8 p.m. B. Reid and C. Stedman vs. A. Vinette and W. Sorrie, winner of Group D.

Bantam Shamrocks Tie With Guelph, 4-4 To Open Ontario Finals

GUELPH—Guelph Biltmore bantams and Peterborough Shamrocks battled to a 4-4 tie here Monday night in the first game of a home-and-home, goals to count, series to determine the OMHA bantam "A" championship. Second game will be played in Peterborough Thursday night. Pat Baker, fast-moving right winger, rifled in his third goal of the night with less than two minutes of playing time remaining to salvage a tie for Shamrocks. No overtime was played.

Biltmores started slowly and before the 10-minute mark Shamrocks had tallied twice. Terry Clifford got one back for Guelph before the first intermission. Biltmores jumped ahead with three unanswered goals in the second period, two by Tim Zuch and the other by Mel McPhee.

LARRY SCORES

Defenceman Larry Lonsberry, who played almost the entire game for Peterborough, cashed a goal-mouth pass early in the final frame but Biltmores successfully defended their goal until Baker clicked late in the game. He scored while Biltmores had a player in the penalty box.

Penalties hurt both teams, both sides counted three goals while they had a player advantage.

Shamrocks derived most of their offensive punch from the line of Gary Darling, Pat Baker and Bill Mahoney. Goalie Jim Riel played an outstanding game in the third period. Twice he kicked out shots from point-blank range. Guelph goalie Howard Kelly made a big save in the last minute when Lonsberry broke into the clear but Kelly kicked out the shot.

Although play was reasonably close most of the way Shamrocks were a stronger skating team and their shooting while not too accurate was harder.

Peterborough: Goal, Riel; defence, Haig, Kimball, Lonsberry; forwards, Stewart, Darling, Baker, Mahoney, Pace, Daley, Armstrong, Shaw, Jay, Coombes, Tetlock (sub goal).

Guelph: Goal, Kelly; defence, Lussier, Mellow, Colley; forwards, Hackett, Jones, Drone, Clifford, Keleher, McPhee, Zuch, Bradshaw, Booth, Farelley, Christie (sub goal).

Referees—Tom Watkins, Hespeler; Walter Wilflin, Preston.

Summary:

First Period

Peterborough—Baker (Haig, Lonsberry) 7:40
Peterborough—Baker 8:00
Guelph—Clifford (McPhee, Colley) 10:45
Penalties—Colley, Lonsberry, Darling.

Second Period

Guelph—Zuch (Keleher) 1:55
Guelph—Zuch (McPhee) 2:50
Guelph—McPhee (Farelley) 13:16
Penalties—Haig, Colley.

Third Period

Peterborough—Lonsberry (Darling) 1:30

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Trap-shooting is not, of course, what might be termed a popular sport. It has a limited participation, an even more limited spectator following. So it was but natural that a glittering hockey star, Rocket Richard of Montreal Canadiens, whose feat in breaking the ancient lifetime goals record, 324, compiled by Neis Stewart, should have been voted Canada's athlete of the year.

Richard is the Babe Ruth of hockey, a dynamic showman, a magnetic figure. But it seems as though the selectors, perhaps soured by Canada's famine of honors at the Olympic Games, overlooked one of the most brilliant achievements of 1952 by a Canadian youth. We mean the performance of 17-year-old George Genereux of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, the high school boy who won 10 of Canada's total of 30 points, he defeated the greatest trap-shooters in the world. That and its only Gold Medal, symbol of Olympic supremacy, when one so young should win such honors is unusual. That he should lack the acclaim such a performance merits, is unfortunate.

George Genereux's record in his favorite sport is little short of fabulous. He was only 13 years old when he first started to shoot at the Saskatoon Gun Club. His ability was quickly spotted by Jimmie Girgulis, veteran trap-shooting star. Girgulis was introducing his sons to the clay-target busting business one afternoon, by letting them shoot at birds with a .410 shotgun, when George joined in. This proved to be an important meeting, for, from that time on tournament-wise Girgulis kept George under his wing and has been his coach and mentor ever since.

The first major victory in competitive shooting for George was in 1949, when at the tender age of 14 he shot his way to the Manitoba-Saskatchewan Handicap Championship. Two years later at the American Trapshooting Association competitions at Vandalia, Ohio, he won three North American championships—the Junior, the Junior All-Around and the Junior High Over All.

Last year at the contests sponsored by the A.T.A. he was runner-up in the Junior Preliminary Handicap Championship, and won the Junior Champion of Champions of North America title. To this he added the Saskatchewan Championship, (Singles). Then before going to the Olympics he stopped at Oslo, Norway, where he placed second in the World Championships.

George Genereux is just a normal boy. In a game that requires chilled-steel nerves, there is no ice-water in his veins. At school, he is a star in hockey and baseball. And a good student. Just a normal, healthy young Canadian, whose fine feat was, unfortunately, overlooked in the attention paid more glamorous competitive sports.

Detroit Heavy Favorites To Roll Into Cup Finals

DETROIT—(AP)—The Stanley Cup playoffs get under way tonight and coach Lynn Patrick of Boston Bruins says: "Who's afraid of the big, bad Wings?" This can come under the category of whistling in the dark. If there's any team which should have a healthy respect for the champion Detroit Red Wings, it's Patrick's Bruins.

The two teams open their best-of-seven semi-final series tonight at the Olympia, and the Wings are heavy favorites to roll into the finals against either Montreal or Chicago.

During the season, the Wings butchered the Bruins. They won 10 of 14 games. Two ended in ties.

But the big point was the wide difference in scoring. Detroit hammered in 62 goals against Boston while the Bruins could score only 19.

GOOD IN PLAYOFFS

So why all the optimism on Patrick's part?

"Well," the veteran coach pointed out, "we've always been a good playoff club. Playoff hockey is different. We've been playing playoff hockey for the last month of the season.

"The Wings, on the other hand, have been playing a wide-open brand of hockey. Now it's a question of whether they can change their style.

"We're not scared of them."

The Bruins will be missing one player for tonight's opener. Forward Real Chevrefils injured his knee last Saturday night and will miss the first two games here, tonight and Thursday.

CAN WINGS LOSE?

It's hard to see how the Wings can lose. They won their fifth straight league title this season—an unprecedented feat—and they also had the leading individual scorer, Gordie Howe with 95 points, the best goalie, Terry Sawchuk, who won the Vezina Trophy for the second straight year, the highest scoring defenceman, Red Kelly with 50 points, and the highest scoring team, 222 goals.

But, as Patrick says, playoff time is different. It's like a new season.

Asked who he'd play against the Wings high-scoring first line of Glen Skov, Ted Lindsay and Howe, Patrick replied:

"It doesn't make much difference who'll play against them. . . I mean I hope it doesn't make much difference."

GIANTS SELL BLAYLOCK

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—New York Giants sold first baseman Marvin Blaylock Monday to their Minneapolis farm club in the American Association. The Giants also shipped six players to their minor league training base for assignment to various farm clubs: Pitcher Dick Adair, infielders Foster Castleman, Bob Boring and Bill White and outfielders John Golich and Bob Lennon.

Brisebois Kayoes Bryan Kelly For Welter Title

QUEBEC (CP)—The new king of the Canadian welterweight boxers is hard-hitting Rocky Brisebois, 23-year-old French-speaking Montrealer, who won the 147-pound crown Monday night with a seventh-round knockout over Bryan Kelly of Niagara Falls, Ont.

The fight was brought about by the retirement of former champion Johnny Greco.

Greco, who won the title from Dave Castilloux, the first welter king of Canada, lost it to Armand Savoie and won it back last August. He presented Brisebois with the emblematic belt after the rousing scrap before 2,608 fans.

Brisebois sent Kelly to the canvas three times in the sixth round, once for a no-count and twice for a nine-count, after opening a deep cut over the 21-year-old Irishman's left eye.

Brisebois apparently knew he had Kelly going as he started the seventh round with a furious, two-fisted attack. Kelly went down and was counted out at 1:34.

Kelly, showing more speed than Brisebois, held a slight edge on points in the early rounds but the champion opened up in the fifth round.

The only damage to Brisebois was a partly-closed left eye, suffered in the third round.

It was the ninth knockout victory for Brisebois in 36 fights. He won 15 decisions. Each boxer won once against the other.

Brisebois said it was a left and a prayer, "Come on, son, let's go," that put Kelly away.

The black-haired champion, who received 22½ per cent of the $6,000 net gate, said his wife is expecting a baby next month.

"Nobody can say he won't be a puncher," said Brisebois, hoping it will be a boy.

Kelly received 20 per cent of the gate. They were matched with the understanding that the winner would defend his title against Fitzie Pruden of St. Catharines, within 60 days, if Pruden wants the fight.

All three were listed as top contenders for Greco's vacated title.

ZULUETA DEFEATS SMITH

BROOKLYN (AP)—Cuba's Orlando Zulueta finished strong Monday night to gain a split decision over Wallace (Bud) Smith of Cincinnati in a telecast 10-rounder at Eastern Parkway Arena. Smith, a 7-5 favorite, weight 138 to Zulueta's 135¼.

Suspend Coach As "Cits" Lose

MONTREAL (CP) — President Martin Conway of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association said Monday night that as the result of a wild rumpus marking the end of a junior game here Sunday night, coach Phil Watson of Quebec Citadelles will be suspended for the next game and must post a good-behavior bond of $500.

Montreal Canadien Juniors defeated Citadelles 2-1 Sunday night, the winning goal coming with eight seconds to play. Watson and his players argued hotly that the puck had not crossed the goal-line. When the game ended the ruckus spilled over into the crowd, with Watson and his players involved in the fist-swinging.

The next game is scheduled for the Montreal Forum next Sunday. Citadelles lead the series 2-1 in the final playoff of the Junior Amateur Hockey Association.

In Quebec, Watson, still sizzling over the game, said the next game will be in Quebec next Thursday "or there will be no next game."

Hap Emms To Resign As Barrie Flyers' Coach

TORONTO (CP)—Hap Emms, coach of Barrie Flyers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, said Monday he will quit at the end of the season.

"This time it's definite," Emms said. "This coaching is too rough and I'm not getting any younger. The hockey season takes a lot out of me. It takes a lot out of anybody who really wants to win."

Emms said he had received offers elsewhere, but wouldn't say any more than that they were "higher than junior."

The Flyers currently hold a 4-2 edge in their best-of-nine semi-finals with Toronto Marlboros, with the seventh game scheduled for Barrie Wednesday.

Wings 3-5 Favorites For Stanley Cup Win

MONTREAL (CP)—Detroit Red Wings ruled heavy favorites Monday night in Montreal betting circles to win the Stanley Cup in the National Hockey League's post-season series opening tonight.

The betting was reported: Detroit 3 to 5; Montreal Canadiens, 2½ to 1; Boston and Chicago, 8 to 1 each.

No betting was reported yet on the two semi-finals in which the Red Wings meet Boston Bruins and Canadiens meet Chicago Black Hawks.

Primeau Retiring Says Newspaper

TORONTO (CP)—Joe Primeau, coach of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, will soon retire, the Globe and Mail says today.

Primeau, who operates a concrete block business, will be succeeded by King Clancy, coach of Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League and a Leaf farm, sportswriter Al Nickleson says.

Primeau would not comment on his future plans Monday night after returning here from the final game of the season in Boston. The Leafs were eliminated from the NHL playoffs Sunday night.

Conn Smythe, managing director of the Leafs, said he has not heard anything from Primeau about his future plans. He said that "Joe has the coaching job until he gives it up."

Remember When—

Lol Solman, famed Toronto sports promoter, died 22 years ago today. He built the old Mutual Street Arena, where Arenas and St. Patricks for years played their home National Hockey League games, and the stadium at Hanlan's Point across the bay, former home of the Toronto International Baseball League club. Solman was president of the Toronto ball club at the time of his death.

Olson Finishes AHL Season As Top Scorer

NEW YORK (CP)—Eddie Olson of Cleveland Barons, with a total of 86 scoring points, finished the American Hockey League's regular season last week at the top of the list. He is the first United States-born player ever to lead a professional league.

Olson automatically became the winner of Carl Liscombe Trophy and a league bonus of $300 by setting the scoring pace with 32 goals and 54 assists.

Guyle Fielder of St. Louis Flyers finished second with 22 goals and 61 assists for 83 points. Fielder was best in the playmaking department.

Third place in scoring went to Jackie Gordon of Cleveland with 78 points. Kelly Burnett of Syracuse Warriors was fourth with 76, and Ike Hildebrand of Cleveland fifth with 72.

Hildebrand was leading goal scorer with 38, one ahead of his teammate Steve Wochy, last season's leader.

Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh won a league trophy and a $300 bonus as leading goaltender of the season. He allowed 146 goals in 62 games for an average of 2.35.

France Sends Blunt Mayer Visits Ottawa, Washington

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP)—In Rene Mayer, who visits Washington and Ottawa late this month, France is sending a new sort of premier—a blunt-spoken, hard-hitting and hard-working politician who likes milk with his meals.

This is no treason to the motherland of fine wines. Mayer suffers a stomach ailment.

Graying and heavy-set Mayer exudes a ponderous dignity but can rise to rapier sharp repartee.

One of his grandfathers was the grand rabbi of a Parisian synagogue. On his mother's side he is related to the French branch of the Rothschild banking family.

When Mayer formed his cabinet it was a case of "third time's a charm." In October, 1949, he was voted in as premier but was unable to form a cabinet. In July, 1951, he failed to get the National Assembly approval by a few votes. He made it this time with Gaullist support and a pledge to re-examine the European Army project.

POST-WAR MARK

Mayer made his post-war mark in French politics as finance minister, with brief turns in the justice and defence ministries. At the end of 1947, he caught France's blackmarketeers flatfooted by a sudden devaluation of the franc and the mandatory recall of all 5,000-franc notes. People who turned them in were subject to questions about how they got them and whether income taxes had been paid.

A year ago Mayer had virtually decided to quit active politics. He agreed to take the French seat on the international court of the Schuman steel-coal pool plan but changed his mind at the last minute when he learned Italy would get the presiding judgeship.

Though he likes to dance and attend the theatre, Mayer lives a quiet, austere life in his classically-ornate, left-bank apartment on the Faubourg St. Germaine.

Prominent on his mantelpiece is the photograph of his only son, Antoine, killed in Alsace in 1945 while serving with a French paratroop unit. He has a daughter, Celise, married to a Lyon businessman, and three grandchildren, a five-year-old girl and one-year-old girl twins.

12-HOUR DAY

As premier, Mayer starts his working day at 9 a.m. when he meets with three or four of his closest staff members in his apartment to discuss the day's program before going to the premier's office in the nearby "Hotel Matignon." He works there until about 1:30 p.m., returns at 3 p.m. and works steadily until almost 9 p.m.

Mayer was born in Paris May 4, 1895. He was studying for the bar when the First World War took him into uniform with an artillery unit.

At the age of 30, he was named administrator of the port authority of Strasbourg, one of the largest river ports in the world.

Before the Second World War he was a director of the Chemin de Fer du Nord, then a private company. Mayer took the lead in nationalizing the French railroads and helped form the French National Railroad Corporation.

When France collapsed in 1940, Mayer was in London with an armament mission. He returned to France but soon slipped into the unoccupied zone. One day in 1943 he walked and climbed across the Ppyrenees iinto Spain, bound for North Africa.

Eventually he reached Algiers where Gen. Henri Giraud put him in charge of Free French communications.

Would Let Banks Lend Money On Mortgages

TORONTO (CP)—The Bank Act should be amended to allow chartered banks to lend money on mortgages as a means of providing mortgage funds for prospective home owners, W. H. Grisenthwaite of Hamilton, president of the National House Builders Association, said Monday.

Speaking at the association convention, Mr. Grisenthwaite said the National Housing Act limitation of 23 per cent of income as payment of amortization and carrying charges of mortgages was too restrictive if the Canadian demand for homes is to be satisfied.

He urged extension of the amortization period from the present 20-25 years to 25-30 years in suitable cases.

Canadian builders are at a disadvantage, he said. The selling prices of the homes they build were limited, where government-backed financing was needed, but prices of materials were fixed by supply and demand.

Federal Mines Minister Prudham guest speaker at the association's luncheon, blamed municipalities for the shortage of building sites served by water, sewers and pavements.

"All too often, municipal governments do not plan far enough ahead. Serviced land should be planned and developed at least a year ahead," he said.

Tired, Borrowed Car Youth Pays $50 Fine

LINDSAY (ENS)—Donald Iiles, 25, of Haliburton village, was fined $50 and costs Monday when convicted of joyriding Sunday afternoon in a friend's car.

OPP Constable Gordon Langton, of Haliburton, said William Croft, the friend, had reported seeing his car being taken out of the driveway from his farm home near Haliburton. Roadblocks were set up by the OPP in Haliburton and northern Victoria counties but the missing car was not seen.

Three hours later it was found abandoned in the village, a mile away from Croft's home.

ILes admittedtaking the car. He said he had walked a long distance after being out on a party and he was tired he helped himself to Croft's car.

Crown attorney Lorne W. Jordan, QC, asked for a substantial fine but Magistrate Gee said that as it was a friend's car he was limiting the fine to $50.

AN OMAHA TOMCAT named Midgie, bottom, has inherited a six-room house, top, and will live out his days in feline bliss with a private bedroom, plenty of salmon and solid security. A document making Midgie owner and master of the house was left by the cat's owner, Francis A. Putman, of Omaha, who died February 23 at the age of 74. When the cat dies the $7,500 house will become the property of a group of trustees.

Today's Canadians Judged On Use Of Resources: Drew

TORONTO (CP) — Future generations will judge today's Canadians by the use they make now of their "enormous" mineral resources, George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, warned today.

In an address entitled "Canada's Hour of Decision," prepared for delivery to the Canadian Club, the Opposition leader outlined the country's vast mineral resources and urged that they be used by Canadian industry and not exported as raw materials.

Canada's mineral production last year had a value of $1,278,365,516 —an all-time high.

"But the relationship between raw materials and the finished article can best be illustrated by the fact that although we were shipping out a lot of those minerals in the form of raw material, our industrial production last year had a value of $16,270,931,000.

"In other words, we earned from industrial products nearly 14 times the value of all minerals extracted from the ground last year. That simple fact tells us where the employment is to be created and money made.

"It presents us with a very real question as to what we are going to do with the minerals which will be in production in such large quantities within the next two or three years."

With all the increased production of the last few years and the economic expansion, Canada had "hardly yet felt the impact of the new discoveries of iron, copper, uranium, oil, gas, titanium and other minerals found in great quantity." Ungava iron would not start moving until next year and Alberta oil was just starting to move.

ADVANTAGES

No responsible person suggested that Canada should export no raw materials. There were obvious advantages in exchange of raw materials of various kinds between Canada and the United States.

"The question before us is whether the development of these resources is going to be under a policy which regards our own national advancement as the first consideration or whether we are going to permit large-scale exports of irreplaceable resources for the expansion of employment in another country."

Canada was confronted with a decision similar to one she faced some 40 years ago. The forest resources of the U. S. had been depleted to a point where the U. S. had to seek its raw material elsewhere.

"Enormous though our forest resources were, Canadians of that day recognized the fact that if the shortage of supply in the U. S. was met by trees cut in Canada, we would get the lowest possible return for our trees, our forest reserves would be threatened, and we would not only lose the trees themselves, but employment as well."

The decision taken to process the raw material in Canada, resulted for example in the fact that Canada today produced 65 per cent of the world's newsprint. Forest products became her highest single dollar earner, with a yearly value of more than $1,000,000,000.

"If we had followed the same policy in the use of our forest resources which now is advocated by some people in connection with our mineral raw materials, we would have been little better than hewers of wood for the factories and mills of the United States.

"There is no need to deny the essential requirements of other nations. There are some cases where it would be to our advantage to export large quantities of raw materials. But where it is to our advantage to manufacture here in Canada, then it would seem that Canadians should decide that in employing these resources the best interests of Canada will at all times be the first consideration."

400 Workers Ask For Strike Date

TIMMINS (CP) Almost 400 workers at the Preston East Dome mine Sunday asked their union to set a strike date.

The men members of the United Steelworkers of America CIO-CCL decided earlier this month to go on strike if the company did not accept a conciliation board recommendation of a 10-cent-an-hour wage increase across the board.

Union and managment have had three conciliation board meetings without reaching any agreement on any disputed points.

Epidemic Severe Of Feline Distemper

According to Humane Society Inspector Bruce Menzies, there has been in the past two weeks a severe outbreak of feline distemper and enteritis in the southend of the city.

Enteritis is an inflammation of the lining of the stomach. The symptoms are a high fever and a highly smelly breath. The cat will go completely off its food and will live for about eight days before dying from the disease.

Feline distemper is a highly contagious virus disease and is more severe than the canine distemper. The two diseases are not related. The cat will take sick one day and be dead the next day. It starts with a high fever.

Vaccination will stop the spread of feline distemper, but to vaccinate against enteritis is too costly a method and most people do not bother with it.

TURKEY COUNTS HER DEAD—Members of a Turkish family shiver in the bitter cold outside of the rubble that used to be their home. A series of earthquakes struck northwest Turkey along with rain, snow and sub-zero temperatures. The unofficial casualty list counted at least 1,071 dead and more than 2,000 homeless in the frigid weather.

Ask To Repeal Color Ban On Margarine

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario legislature today was asked to repeal legislation banning coloring of margarine.

A bill to repeal the section of the Oleomargarine Act was introduced by Albert Wren, Liberal member for Kenora. He said it was "useless" to ban coloring.

Mr. Wren spoke only briefly in the House, but he issued a prepared statement to the press in which he said prohibition of coloring served no other purpose than "to deny a large section of the population the right to make use of foods in a manner most pleasing to them."

Mr. Wren said colored margarine would not harm the dairy intry. He said the "discriminatory legislation" played one section of the agricultural industry against the other, referring to dairy and soy bean farmers.

Firemen Save Boots After Lad Frees Self

TILLSONBURG (CP)—With just a trace of a smile, Tillsonburg firemen entered this item in the occurence sheet Monday: Rescued —One pair of rubber boots

It was an anti-climax to a report that nine-yar-old David Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Davis, had ventured out into deep mud on Foundry street and had started to sink.

Canada Attracts More U.S. Business Persons

KITCHENER (CP)—Opportunities in Canada are attracting more United States business men and professional persons than any time since the Second World War, Immigration Minister Harris said Monday night.

Last year a record 9,000 American immigrants came to Canada, Mr. Harris said, but 27,000 Canadians took up residence across the border.

Mr. Harris said 58 per cent of the immigrants settled in Ontario. The immigration minister was addressing a meeting of the Kitchener branch of the Canadian Legion.

Why should shortening be "Cut in?"

Even if you happen to be a cracker-jack cook, you probably find it is tiresome to cut chilled shortening into the right size pieces. However, if you want crisp, flaky pastry that's light enough to blow away, you must "cut in" until the mixture has a pebbly texture. If the shortening is worked in with the fingers, or otherwise mixed smooth, the pastry won't be nearly so flaky. When Shirriff's set out to develop a pie crust mix that would be just as excellent as the kind good cooks make at home, we were determined to "cut in" the shortening too. We experimented for months, developed our own equipment, and finally produced the mix that we think is every bit as tender and crisp as the best pastry anywhere. You try it, even if you've never made a pie in all your life. We think you'll be pleased!

Ex-Architect Puts Taxco On Map With Silver Work

TAXCO. — Taxco owes its reputation as a silver centre and its prosperity to the work of one man—William Spratling, an architect who arrived from Tulane University in 1929.

* * * * *

As he found it then, it was a sleepy little town with only a few visitors and its artisans doing very poor work.

In 1931 he took a group of native workers into his home and began training them in skilled silver work, doing all the designing himself. His aim was to revive the native crafts. As the years passed, he had more than 400 men in his factory and all the best silversmiths in the town today are Spratling-trained.

* * * *

However, now he has reverted to his original plan of a house factory and he has 38 men turning out beautiful articles in his home, a few miles outside Taxco.

* * * *

"I depend on something like a flash of light, or an angle, etc., to give me new ideas for designs," Spratling says. He still does all his own designing and almost every piece is sold before it is made. Although he has written one book on Mexico, Spratling has dropped the writing the last few years because he says he can concentrate only on one thing at a time.

* * * *

WORK IN ROOFED BUT OPEN PATIOS

The men who work in his factory come out daily by bus from Taxco. They work in roofed but open patios which run at angles from the house. Whenever they need to expand, they just add another patio. It is so designed that the lighting is perfect no matter where a worker is placed. Several work at each table and there is one man in charge of each group. This supervisor is in turn responsible to a silversmith who has another master craftsman over him. Each man has a card checked at the office allowing two per cent of the silver fillings and it operates just like a bank.

* * * *

In addition to the silver workshops, there is a woodworking section where the men make such things as handles. The rosewood which they use is so hard it often chips the chisels.

* * * *

In the courtyard around which these patios are built there is a little fountain with a monkey. It is something like an old one in Brussels. The old Aztec monkey god meant ingenuity so it sits silently there reminding the descendants of that race they have an opportunity to recreate in silver some of the wonderful things their forebears did.

* * * *

COMFORTABLE SPANISH-STYLE HOUSE

Ten years ago Mr. Spratling bought the site for his present home. It was nothing but arid land then. Now he has turned it into a comfortable Spanish-style house. There are patios and courtyards in every direction. His garden has a big swimming pool and fine fruit trees. Because of the wonderful climate many of his rooms open into galleries facing the gardens. His long living room, where he doesn't mind if a little dust collects, has some of the treasures he has collected from tombs and excavations.

* * * *

The tall, thin man who radiates charm is as practical as he is artistic. Besides building his own house and pool, he also made all the tiles and bricks used. Mr. Spratling keeps a small plane and he usually flies to Acapulco or Mexico City on weekends. He was flying to the wedding of Nancy Oakes a few months ago and was reported missing for two days off the Bahamas. Spratling himself knew where he was but nobody else did.

ISADORE BLACK CANDIDATE

Isadore Black, past president of the Peterborough B'nai B'rith Lodge and secretary of the Eastern Canadian Council of B'nai B'rith, has been nominated for treasurer. The elections will be April 18 in London, Ontario.

Temperatures Across Canada Climb To 60 But Some Centres Still Feel Chilly

Winter is slowly relaxing its chilly grip on Canada and temperatures across the nation are climbing. The weather around Peterborough and most of Ontario is taking on a lush spring-like feeling and who hasn't seen a robin?

Even Dawson buried up in the Yukon is basking in the warmth of freezing point temperatures. And at night it slides down to only 7 above.

In the prairies where winter gave a last kick that shot snow over the whole three provinces and cut off towns behind six to eight-foot drifts, the mercury is climbing enough to begin to melt the snow. Regina, however experienced a chilly 4 above.

As it often is, Windsor was the warmest spot in Canada Monday. There the temperature climbed to 61, but Montreal matched it.

Today in Peterborough, by noon the thermometer was registering 49 and during the night it slid back only as far as 40.

Once Mayor, A. A. McIntyre Dies At Home In 96th Year

Mayor of Peterborough in 1920 and 1921, and an alderman of the city council during the years of World War I, Archibald A. McIntyre died Monday noon at his residence, 207 Brock Street. His 96th birthday would have been next May 22. Gradual infirmity as his age approached a century of life ended in a final weakness and death. Although his vision had been failing him for a year or more, his spirit and interests remained active, and he was occasionally seen down town accompanied by his wife watching his footsteps. His last appearance on George Street was only several weeks ago. And old friends who greeted him he recognized by their voices.

He had shaved Monday morning and was preparing to go out for a walk in the fine spring weather, but suddenly collapsed and died.

Mr. McIntyre had become an elder citizen of Peterborough. As a young man years ago he had moved into town from the adjoining township of Otonabee, and eventually was associated with his younger brother, Malcolm McIntyre, as builders and contractors. At their retirement from active work, they had contributed considerably to the physical property of the city. They had literally helped to build the Peterborough that has emerged since the turn of the century, but their concern did not end there. Both brothers were possessed of a sense of civic duty, and were together members of the city council for at least three years.

Although that active period is now past for Malcolm McIntyre, he has never lost his interest in the affairs of the council and its administration of the city. His brother still held public office at his death. He was a member of the City Trust Commission, the dissolution of which at the end of this year was approved last week by the Private Bills Committee of the Ontario Legislature.

Respect of the council for the late A. A. McIntyre and his record as a citizen of exceptional responsibility was reflected in his last reappointment for a five-year term of the City Trust. His age recommended his retirement, but the council recognized that both he and the Commission were approaching the end of their usefulness, that time was running out for both, and nothing was to be gained by depriving Mr. McIntyre of the honor of continuing as trustee of the depleted debentures of the old and useful Commission.

COUNCIL IN 1915

Records at the City Hall since about 1912, indicate that Archie McIntyre was first elected to the council in 1915 when the late William H. Buller was Mayor. His fellow aldermen were: Joseph Saunders, John Edgar, Albert H. Stratton, Frank H. Dobbin, J. J. Duffus, G. Walter Green, William J. Johnston, Archie Weir, and George Evans. Of that company only Senator Duffus remains.

Mr. McIntyre was returned continuously to the council until 1920 when he contested the Mayoralty with William H. Taylor. It was a routine election. The candidates were friends and fellow members of the council. Construction of the Hunter Street bridge had been an issue, but the contract was let during the Mayoralty of George H. Duncan, 1918-1919.

Interest of electors that New Year's night of 1920 were suddenly sharpened by the report of the day's polling which indicated unofficially that Mr. Taylor had received 1,481 votes and Mr. McIntyre 1,480. A recount was taken for granted as the citizens went home to bed.

Through his solicitor, George W. Hatton, Mr. McIntyre applied to Judge Huycke for the reopening of the ballot boxes. Twelve days after the voting, the result was still indecisive. Taylor and McIntyre were tied with 1,473 votes each. That imposed on City Clerk Simon R. Armstrong the duty of casting one ballot. It was for Mr. McIntyre, and characteristically, Mr. Armstrong offered no statement of influencing reason. However, Mr. Taylor was elected mayor in 1922 and 1923.

The members of the McIntyre council were: Robert Morrison, John J. Turner, Jr., James Hamilton, Harry Gainey, Nagle E. Phelan, Joseph Crowe, Robert N. Jones, E. Mel Turner, Walter Stocker, Malcolm McIntyre and Dr. W. T. Holloway.

J. J. Turner succeeded Mr. Taylor for two years, and Dr. Holloway was elected mayor in 1926-27.

Mr. McIntyre was a member of the council in 1919 under George Duncan, the year the contract was let to the Russell-Townsend Construction Co., Toronto, for the building of Hunter St. bridge. That was more than 30 years ago.

$60,000 BRIDGE

The estimated cost of the bridge was $300,000, but post-war spiralling of costs eventually required the issuing of debentures for the borrowing of $600,000. The debentures were issued for 30 years, and were retired in 1950.

The councils of 1918 and 1919 were long involved in the con-

City Should Pay For Mayor's Trip To Coronation

As a matter of principle, policy and the community's self-respect, the city should not permit Mayor Waddell to pay all the expense of his trip to Great Britain for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth, Max J. Swanston commented today.

"Mayor Waddell was invited as the representative of the people of Peterborough," Mr. Swanston, former mayor, said. "Just because he can afford to assume the cost of this honor, which is essentially to all the citizens, is no reason why they and the council should give their assent to that silent arrangement.

"Supposing the Mayor was a man who hadn't sufficient means to meet the cost of travel? What would our citizens and council have done? Would they have rejected the opportunity of having their chief citizen represent them at the Coronation? I feel sure that the council in that instance would have readily told their Mayor to arrange for his passage, and all costs of the trip would be charged to the city treasury.

OTHERS PAYING?

"Is Ottawa paying the expenses of Mayor Charlotte Whitton? Is Toronto sending Mayor Lamport? I feel positive that they are, and quite properly so. It is just possible that a few citizens are indifferent about our position as a city of Canada and our country in the British Commonwealth, but I think they are very few.

"I think we all take a pride in the honor that comes to Mayor Waddell by delegation because he is the elected head of our city, and because of that fact the city should not set up a precedent of letting His Worship personally pay the cost of his trip.

"I have not discussed this matter with Mayor Waddell, and I don't know his plans, but I feel certain that he will arrange to visit Mr. Hamer Nicholls, M.P., of the industrial Midlands who visited Peterborough last year. And, on that kind of mission, he will be trying to make connections with heads of industry, results of which we cannot foresee.

NO MENTION MADE

"I understand from press reports that Mayor Waddell made no reference in council to his intentions of assuming the expense of travel. That would be characteristic of him. If he wishes to go on to the Rotary convention in Paris that would be a personal matter, but at least I feel that the council should provide him with tickets to London, for himself and Mrs. Waddell, and their return. I think that would be simply in keeping with the practice of the council of paying the expenses of the Mayor when on city business.

"I hesitate to mention this matter and also the going of Mrs. Waddell. In Britain, the wife of the Mayor is the Mayoress, and that is actually the position of Mrs. Waddell, and the invitation was as I read in the press to the Mayor and his spouse.

"Briefly, I don't think the council should let Mayor Waddell pay the expense of his wife and himself. I don't think that it is good and worthy precedent for Peterborough. Personally, I sincerely hope that the council will insist on providing His Worship with travel tickets. I hope this does not embarrass him and Mrs. Waddell, but there is a community principle involved, and our council should not let it pass."

OFF TO ENGLAND and the Coronation on April 22 as a member of Canada's military contingent chosen for the special event, Cpl. Max Green of 26 Edgewater Blvd, is seen above in preparation for the trip. Chosen as one of 10 RCEME representatives from Canada, Cpl. Green will take one month's intensive training readying for his Coronation duties. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Cpl. Max Green Chosen To View June Coronation

One of 10 RCEME reserve unit men to be so honored in Canada, Max Green, of 26 Edgewater Boulevard, will leave the country for England and the Coronation April 22.

In the Peterborough reserve for 2½ years and a veteran of six years service in World War II, Cpl. Green was chosen for Canada's special military representation in view of his length of service, places of service and number of ribbons.

The Peterborough man joined the Glengarry Highlanders in 1940, was discharged in May, 1941, rejoined the services in the RCAF in November, 1941, and was discharged in March, 1946.

In the air force he acted on ground crews throughout England and the Continent, and was discharged wearing the 1939-45 star, Canadian Volunteer Service Medal, the Defence Medal, Victory Medal and the France and Germany Star.

INTENSIVE TRAINING

During his two-month absence, April 22 to June 24, Cpl. Green will take intensive training for one month prior to the Coronation. Although now a corporal, he has accepted a demotion to the rank of private for the big event.

"I'm very, very lucky," he said. "It's a great honor to be chosen."

Green has two children, Ralph, 1½, and Brian, six. His wife, Gladys, agrees "it's a wonderful chance," but admitted, "I'll miss him."

F. H. MITCHELL

De Laval Names F. H. Mitchell Sales Manager

Francis Hartley Mitchell of Montreal, former sales manager of the Montreal division (Quebec, Maritimes, Newfoundland) of the De Laval Company of Peterborough has been appointed general sales manager, the company announced.

Mr. Mitchell brings with him to his new position in Peterborough 21 years of experience in the dairy industry gained in company service.

Mr. Mitchell is following in the footsteps of his father, Robert Newton Mitchell, who retired three years ago after 40 years of service as manager of the same sales division.

In Montreal Mr. Mitchell is a member of the Board of Trade, is on the advisory board of St. Thomas Anglican Church, and assisted in the operation of the family dairy farm at Lennoxville. His wife and two children, Pamela and Hartley, will take up residence in Peterborough with him in the near future.

Recommend City Allow Garage

Application of Canadian Oil Company to build a service station at the northeast corner of McDonnel and Park Sts. was recommended to the council Monday night by the board of works. Estimated cost is $14,000.

Request of James Heffernan, general manager of Colonial Weaving Co., for exclusion of parking on the north side of Rink St., between Stewart and Rubidge Streets, was referred to the Special traffic committee.

Wolfe St., between Rubidge and Bethune St., is also placed on the traffic committee list, with complaints of parking at Stewart Place.

Request of North End Motors, 617 Reid St., for a permit to build a one-car simonizing garage behind the office was approved.

REMOVE GRAVEL

Peterborough Ready - Mixed Concrete Supply propose to remove gravel from part of the North Monaghan property used as a city dump. Excavation would continue for two years, and could then be used in the landfill method of garbage disposal. The letter was referred to the sanitation committee on Ald. Beggs motion.

Previously assured by City Solicitor Huycke of authority to demolish the McGlynn house on Rutherford Ave., the board instructed City Engineer Chalmers to let the contract to the lowest bidder.

Earlier Smelt Run Expected This Year

COBOURG (ENS) — Tulip shoots are up, rhubarb is showing and other early plants are putting in an appearance as a result of the mild weather of the past week.

Talk is turning to fishing already and smelt fishermen are hoping for an early season this year. Last year the smelt were running spasmodically due to the changeable temperatures of the season and the take was not as good as in other years.

Due to the fact that there was very little ice this past winter on inland streams, smelt fishermen expect creek waters to warm up more quickly this year and start the smelt running earlier.

Cars Collide At Corner Light Damage Done

Only minor damage was caused in a two car accident last night at Aylmer and McDonnel Sts. Drivers involved were James Stewart, 17, of Weller St., and Edward J. Bush of 238 Dublin St.

Stewart was driving east on McDonnel and, upon noticing the Aylmer St. stop light, braked, but skidded into the intersection. Bush, northbound on Aylmer was entering the intersection with a green light when he noticed Stewart's car.

He applied his brakes but could not stop in time to avoid an accident.

Damage to the Stewart vehicle was estimated at $45 while Bush's car received damages totalling $10.

PC William A. Scott investigated the accident.

Benson Ave. Rubbed Off List Of Paving For 1953 On Petition From Residents

Has To Be Repaired Every Spring Says City Engineer Council Agrees To Meeting Request

Paving this season of Benson Ave. from Parkhill Road to Wolsley St. was expunged from the proposed program of the board of works last night. That word seems to connote the direct and immediate action of the board in response to a petition from the frontage and taxpaying residents. No one mentioned reference to the Ontario Municipal Board or any other delaying course. When Ald. P. J. Anglesey, chairman, said: "What do we do with the Benson Ave. request?", Mayor Waddell moved, seconded by Ald. S. J. Black, that Benson be deleted from the schedule of 1953 work.

"If they don't want it, I wouldn't give it to them," said Ald. Black.

"It is not a serious matter," City Chalmer remarked. "The surface is not quite strong enough for the traffic it has to carry. A large area of it comes off, due to movement of the top with the traffic."

Mr. Chalmers said it had to be repaired nearly every spring. "I really thing people would want to have more streets paved."

FIREWORKS BYLAW

George Dormer of the Sugar Bowl, H. J. Hatton and Norman Sanderson appealed to the board to suspend effect of the passed fireworks bylaw until Sept. 1er.

To comply with that petition, Ald. Gordon Farquharson moved that City Solicitor Huycke be instructed to include in the bylaw, which has not yet been drafted, a condition that it should not come into force until after Sept. 1 next.

Mr. Dormer said orders had been placed for 24th of May fireworks, with enlargement for the Coronation celebration.

Mr. Hatton explained that delivery was also expected for the summer tourist trade which continued until September, representing the larger part of the season's business.

Council recently instructed Mr. Huycke to prepare a bylaw for the control of the sale of fireworks.

Revised Course Industrial Arts

A draft of the new course of study was presented to the Oshawa-Peterborough group of Industrial Arts Teachers at their final meeting for this term on Saturday at the Kenner Collegiate.

There has been a great deal of time and effort by the Industrial Arts Teachers throughout the province put into the revision of this new course of study.

It was felt by the teachers that this revised course would be of great value to the students and teachers. It gave to the teachers an unlimited opportunity to bring out the best in the all round development of the student.

President H. Fenton was in charge of the meeting and Dr. Ray extended a welcome to the teachers. Following the morning meeting the teachers journeyed to Norwood for the afternoon session, where they visited the Industrial Arts shop in the new high school. A discussion and exchange of ideas completed the program.

$83,859 TO DATE

Today's total for the Red Cross and Community Fund is $83,859. Division totals are: Special Names $23,970 ($27,850); Industrial $37,024 ($41,800); Retail $14,868 ($19,250); Women's $7.300 ($5,500); Penny-A-Day $697 ($600).

Dr. John Foote President Of Young PCs

Dr. John E. Foote, 27-year-old chiropodist who lives at 196 Brock St., on Monday night was elected president of the Peterborough Young Progressive Conservative Association. He succeeds Robert J. Faulkner who is moving to the Hamilton area March 30.

Mr. Faulkner was president of the YPCs for five months.

Two others were also elected to office: John Barnes, first vice-president, replacing June Fraser; and John de Wit, second vice-president, replacing Alan Drummond. Neither Mr. Barnes nor Mr. de Wit held executive office in the YPC before.

ON EXECUTIVE

Dr. Foote was born in Peterborough and educated in Toronto. He has been a YPC member for five years, serving successively in the last three years as treasurer, second vice-president and chairman of the membership committee. His nomination was proposed by Paul Thompson and Peter J. LaBranche and he was elected unanimously. Messrs. Barnes and de Wit also went into office by acclamation.

The meeting was in the Knights of Columbus hall with about 70 attending. Donald Houston, executive secretary of the Canadian YPCs, was chairman during the elections.

Mr. Houston said there was a new feeling of confidence among the Progressive Conservatives and he said this indicated a victory at the polls in the next federal election.

Beauty Of Korea Shown Rotarians By Army Padre

Korea from a new perspective—a land of scenic beauty—was presented in slides and commentary to Peterborough Rotarians at their luncheon meeting Monday by Capt. Donald Howson.

Capt. Howson, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Howson, 548 Aylmer St., has recently returned from serving as a padre with Canadian troops in Korea.

"Korea is not the God-forsaken country pictured by some people, but a beautiful country," the speaker explained. He backed up this statement with colored slides showing many scenes of Korea's natural beauty — rivers and streams and hills and valleys covered with trees and flowers, unmarked by warfare.

Capt. Howson also showed shots of Seoul, capital of South Korea. Here, he explained, signs of destruction of war are everywhere and beautiful public buildings and home are completely gutted. The people were shown in a makeshift way of life made necessary by the war.

NEED OUR HELP

"These people deserve our sympathy, prayers, help and understanding, as they try to make a new life for themselves in their war-torn country," the speaker said.

Capt. Howson also showed slides taken in Tokyo.

"Here the impressive buildings, wide streets and glittering facade of neon lights reveal how very much Japan has taken on of western civilization," he said. "These people are looking forward, but they are looking backward as well."

The speaker explained that many of the people in this country still cling to centuries-old habits and customs even as they accept some aspects of the western way of life. Many, too, are still suspicious of the West.

Capt. Howson was introduced by K. S. Wightman and thanked by the Rev. Henry Cotton, of St. Andrew's United Church.

Noted Mason Dies At Oshawa

OSHAWA (CP)—E. George Hart, 79, prominent in masonic circles and president of the Oshawa Dairy Limited, died Monday night following a heart attack suffered after a minor traffic accident.

A native of London, England, he had been connected with the dairy industry here for 42 years and was one of the early proponents of pasteurized milk.

A 33rd degree Mason, Mr. Hart was past master, Lebanon lodge, AFAM, Oshawa.

He was a former president of the Progressive Conservative Association for Ontario riding and was active in local clubs and organizations.

Mrs. Harold Dewar of Sarnia is a daughter.

$50,000 Blaze Guts Buffalo Baling Plant

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A three-alarm fire Monday night wrecked an old railroad station on the Buffalo waterfront now used as a paper baling factory and warehouse.

No one was injured. Fire commissioner Harold R. Becker tentatively estimated the loss at $50,000.

A high wind fanned the flames. Firemen battled the blaze for nearly three hours before bringing it under control.

Hundreds of tons of baled paper burned rapidly, causing parts of the roof to collapse.

The brick and frame buildings, formerly a Grand Trunk Railroad station, now is owned by the New York Central. Occupant is the Great Lakes Paper Company.

BOUNCING PRESIDENT—Antonin Zapotocky, newly-elected Communist President of Czechoslovakia, "trips the light fantastic" with Mrs. Zapotocky at a Czech village dance. He was elected to succeed Klement Gottwald who died a few days after attending Stalin's funeral. The new President of the Soviet satellite country was a Nazi concentration camp inmate during the Second World War.

Shipping Season Opens At Soo

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—The 1953 navigation season is scheduled to open here March 28, the day the first freighter is expected to pass through the Sault locks.

Warm weather, rapidly melting ice in the St. Mary's river is credited with the early opening. Below the docks there is open water for seven miles downstream towards Lakes Huron and Michigan. Below that point the ice is 10 to 12 inches thick but it is well honeycombed and is deteriorating fast.

The ice is thinner above the locks and there are some open leads in the channel. The ice there is also honeycombed.

Whitefish bay at the foot of Lake Superior, usually a big problem for the freighters, appears to be a small obstacle this year. It is full of drift ice from Lake Superior at present but warm weather could clear it fast.

Had Pelts, Fined

STRATFORD (CP) — James Bartje of Listowel was fined $50 Monday for being in possession of muskrat pelts a day before the season opened. G. R. Harris, a game conservation officer, said in court he found muskrat traps bearing Bartje's registration number set in a stream March 19. He obtained a warrant to search Bartje's house 30 miles north of Stratford and found five pelts and two unskinned muskrats. The muskrat season opened March 20.

Compromise Tax Rate

GUELPH (CP) — City council Monday night set a compromise tax rate of 72½ mills after votes on rates of 73 and 72 mills had each ended in a tie vote. A joint report of the finance and public works committees suggested the 72-mill levy, and this resulted in a 6-6 tie. An amendment calling for a rate of 73 mills also ended in a 6-6 tie. The compromise passed by a vote of 8-4.

Car Impounded For Three Months

Pleading guilty to a charge of drunk driving, Percy Little of 887 Water St. was sentenced to seven days in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp Monday. In addition, his car was impounded for three months.

The charge was laid by city police the morning of March 15. PC William G. Scott who was stopped at a Water St. N. service station, saw Little's car further along the road, stop in the middle of the roadway, 50 feet from Hilliard St.

A short time elasped before the car resumed and pulled into the station. The driver emerged and according to constable Scott, staggered, appeared drunk and spoke in a thick voice.

Charged, he was convicted and sentenced Monday although he requested a fine instead of a jail term. Magistrate Philp explained to the accused the Criminal Code makes no provision for a fine in case of a conviction on drunk driving.

Border City Hotels Seek Cocktail Bars

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—A delegation of Ontario border city hotel owners will meet Premier Frost of Ontario this week in an effort to gain permission to open cocktail lounges in Ontario communities of fewer than 50,000 persons adjacent to the United States.

James Nevin, manager of the Windsor Hotel here, said hotel owners in the Sault and similar cities are suffering from a loss of trade to adjacent United States cities where liquor is available. The population here is about 32,000.

Autos May Never Polarize Lights

TORONTO (CP) — Cars may never have polarized headlights for the prevention of glare in night driving, Fred Lautzenhiser, consulting engineer for the International Harvester Company in Chicago, said Monday.

Mr. Lautzenhiser said the automotive industry felt it would be an imposition to force car buyers to pay extra for a device from which little benefit could be derived for some years.

Mr. Lautzenhiser spoke at the opening of a week-long course in automotive fleet maintenance at the University of Toronto division of public safety.

He said that theoretically, with polarized headlights, a highway at night would look almost as clear as in daylight, but if a vehicle with polarized headlights, which are three times as powerful as present ones, met a car without the required polarized visor on the windshield the result could be disastrous.

Home On Wheels Okay

STRATFORD (CP)—City engineer William Riehl, who said Arthur Enazel built his home out of fish crates, said Monday the home had wheels and a charge of building contrary to city by-laws was dismissed. Last week a magistrate told Riehl to check Enazel's story that his home was a trailer and so did not come under the by-laws. Riehl said that, although earth was built up about the dwelling, it had wheels.

Lighthouse Keeper, Aide Save 9 Fishermen

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—A United States lighthouse keeper and his assistant Monday rescued nine commercial fishermen stranded on an ice floe in Lake Superior.

Strong winds broke up solid ice formations and pushed the floe out into the lake near Iroquois Point, Mich. Gustafsen Zier, lighthouse keeper at Iroquois Point, and his assistant, Jack Shoeman, chased the floe in a small motor boat and made seven trips before the last man was taken off. The flow drifted about a mile.

Some $2,000 worth of fishing gear and a car were lost.

Handy Spot

CRAWLEY, England (CP)—A helicopter which developed engine trouble landed in a children's playground in this Sussex community. The playground was deserted at the time.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

French Have Way To Poach Eggs Worth Giving A Try

A valued friend who has criticizing privileges blurted out, "Mary, if you would just tell some of these young cooks how to poach an egg you'd save the digestions of some of our brilliant young men."

I suspect she has a secret complaint against some of her daughters-in-law, for she is French and the mother of four handsome young men and a skilled cook.

Her heated remark made me wonder just how well our young girls do do such a simple thing as poach an egg.

Here are the cooking-school directions from my notebook of decades ago.

POACHED EGGS

Put boiling water in shallow pan to 1½ inches depth. When it boils hard, break an egg into a saucer, then carefully slip it into the boiling water. Cover. Remove from burner and set back where it will keep hot. Cook until white is firm and a film has formed over the yolk—about 4 minutes. Carefuly lift out with skimmer, drain a little, before transferring to hot plate or onto buttered toast.

Now would you like to know how the French poach eggs?

FRENCH POACHED EGGS

Put 6 cups boiling water in saucepan and add 1 tablespoon vinegar and ½ tablespoon salt. Stir vigorously around edge of saucepan, using wooden spoon held in upright position, while water is rapidly boiling. As soon as a deep whirling well is formed in centre, slip in 1 egg from a saucer. Reduce heat as much as possible and cook until white is set. Take out with skimmer, and slip onto small round of toast on hot platter. Keep hot until you have repeated poaching 1 egg at a time until you have enough.

EMEM'S SCRAMBLED EGGS

Beat 4 eggs with rotary or electric beater very foamy—about 2 minutes. Add 6 tablespoons milk or cream or evaporated milk and ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ to ¼ teaspoon pepper. Have ready in hot frying pan 2 tabelspoons butter melted until it is just turning golden. Quickly pour in scrambled egg mixture and keep high for 1 minute. With skimmer push to one side under portion which is getting cooked, allowing liquid to flow to bottom of pan. Repeat this pushing aside until all of the mixture is set, and the cooked portion is piled up in layers with golden streaks between. Do not overcook. Serve at once on or off toast and with or without bacon and some sliced tomato.

DINNER EGGS

This is one of those recipes where skill and patience produces a delicious result at very little cost. Hard cook 6 eggs. Chill. Remove shells, cut egg into halves crosswise and deftly remove yolks and mash them with 1 tablespoon chopped mustard pickle, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper and 1 tablespoon cream. Restuff whites with this mixture, and put pairs together again in whole-egg shape. Have ready 3 cups freshly-mashed potatoes seasoned with 1 tablespoon grated onion, about ¼ cup hot milk, and some salt and pepper, and whipped until fluffy. Cool these enough to handle them comfortably. Divide into 6 portions, flatten each portion out into a cake and wrap each devilled egg in this potato coat, making outside smooth and the same shape as a large egg. Roll in sifted dry breadcrumbs or in finely-crushed corn flakes. (I am going to recommend that you deep-fry these — but if you want to they may be baked—if you bake them roll them in buttered crumbs.) Fry in deep fat at 390 deg. Fahr., three at a time, until golden, turning once. Drain on paper towel while second batch is frying. Serve very hot in place of meat for dinner or supper, and accompany them with two colorful vegetables such as broccoli or spinach or asparagus and shoestring carrots or tiny turnip dice.

Lt.-Col. W. Effer To Be Inducted As Div. Com. of SA

In a special ceremony Thursday night in the Salvation Army Temple, Lt.-Col. William Effer will be inducted as divisional commander for the Mid-Ontario Division. He succeeds Brigadier Reginald Gage who has been appointed to Vancouver.

Sixty officers from the surrounding districts are expected to attend the meeting which will be conducted by Col. Robert Harewood, chief secretary of the Salvation Army in Canada. Also present will be the Temple Band and Songsters, the Young People's Singing Company and the Young People's Band.

Lt.-Col. Effer's headquarters wil be in Belleville.

An Englishman by birth, Lt.-Col. Effer has been an officer of the Salvation Army for 33 years. He was trained in the International Training College in London and he served for five years in Great Britain.

Included in his service are 20 years in Brazil where he became Territorial Commander. He also learned to speak Portuguese fluently, and he mastered Spanish while with the SA in Cuba.

Less than three years ago, Lt.-Col. Effer was transferred to Australia where he has been principal of the Officers' Training College in Sydney.

Mrs. Effer has 28 years of service in the SA. She was trained in the International Training College, London, and immediately after getting her commission went to missionary service in Brazil.

Hats Go Lighter In Color Trends

Because of the deft styling and the appealing softness of lines which the designers have put into men's hats for this spring, it begins to look as if the "1953 Easter Parade" may well turn out to be a "Men's Hat Parade."

Narrower brims and smaller, more tapered brims will be prevalent. Bright, smartly patterned bands will give hats an extra dash of color and style. Subtle color treatments are adroitly blended with the new lighter color tones.

TANGERINE, beige and brown combine in large checks on this full raincoat. Oversize buttons punctuate the front and the sleeves are cut on the bias with straight cuffs for an unusual use of the fabric on this Canadian garment.

DOROTHY DIX:

Mother Aided Daughter Regain Confidence In Self

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a cerebral palsy victim, 23 years old. For many years I had difficulty with my speech and trouble getting around, but though I still need some help, I have been able to overcome most of my handicaps. My mother has been largely responsible for my independence. I still have one trouble, however, that is hard to overcome.

People who don't understand cerebral palsy too well are inclined to offer help and suggestions that I don't need. For some reason, this sends me into a hysterical rage. I know their intentions are good, and when I have time to reflect, I realize how bad my behavior was, but at the time I can't control it.

My motner has taught me to make my own decisions, not to lean on others for aid, and has tried to teach me to control my temper—but in this last respect she hasn't been entirely successful. At home I have no trouble in this way, but when I am visiting I resent the fact that people try to assist me. I am a high-school graduate, belong to clubs and feel that everyone should know I can take care of myself.

PEGGY

ANSWER: God has certainly blessed you with a wonderful mother, and I'm sorry your entire letter couldn't be published as a tribute to her. It would be almost impertinent for anyone to add to the advice she gives you.

It is only natural that you should resent the assumption that you are incapable of making your own decisions, and caring for yourself but as your mother points out, people who haven't had direct contact with a cerebral palsy victim will have a tendency to believe you need help. Combatting this general opinion is another one of the handicaps you must overcome.

CONDESCENDING PITY

It would be a fine thing if the general public could be educated to use more wisdom in dealing with the handicapped. Good intentions generally dictate an attitude of condescending pity and a desire to baby the afflicted one. This is the wrong tack to take; in all things independence should be encouraged, rather than suppressed.

Instead of flying into a rage, Peggy, when proffered help irks you, say you have been trained to decide and act for yourself. Your mother has painstakingly brought you to the point where your independence can be a source of inspiration to anyone laboring under a handicap. Try to be a credit to her teachings in all respects, not just in the physical skills you have acquired. Both you and your mother deserve the highest tribute for the valiant manner in which you have handled a situation that might have been crushing. Don't be discoiraged at the work still to be done.

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm writing to a member in the armed forces in Korea. I have never met him, bu a friend who is over there gave me his address. My problem is that I don't know what to write about since I have no idea of his interests.

T. B.

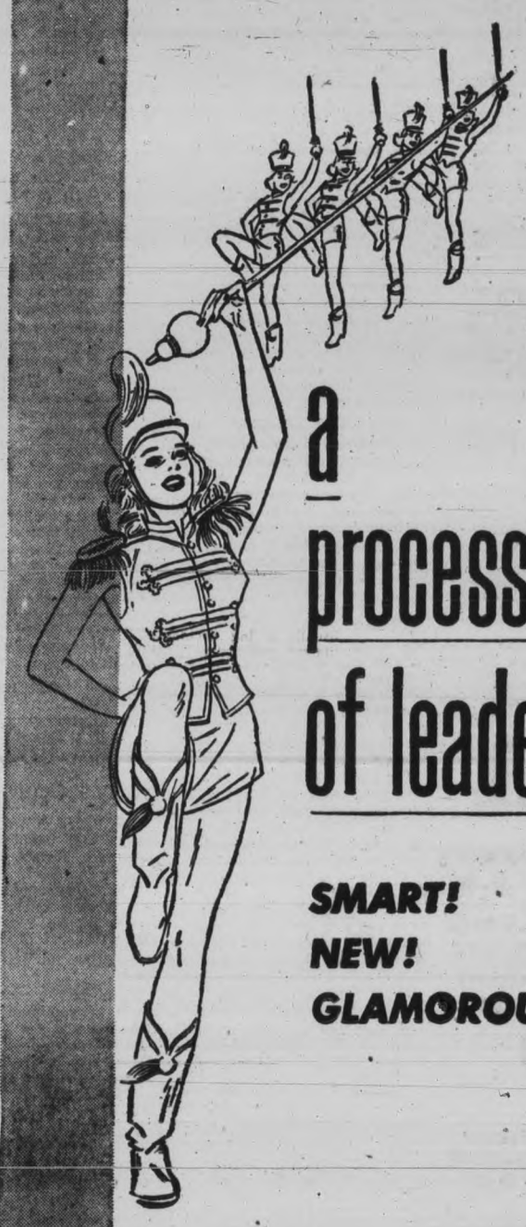
✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: While you are feeling your way to discover mutual interests, stick to universal themes such as sports, music, movies, radio and television. Clip amusing items from the paper and include them. Since most boys are interested in sports, items from the sports page are particularly welcome. Tell him about your home town, and describe the local characters. Servicemen are easy to write to once you have the hang of it, remembering the major theme of "newsy, cheerful, friendly."

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a girl of 20 planning to be married in June. The boy is only 18, and the problem is that he thinks I am only 19. I hated to admit I was so much older than he, but since we've become serious the difference has become important.

✧ ✧ ✧



ANSWER: The boy won't resent the age difference nearly as much as he will the deception, but since age is always such a delicate point, he'll undoubtedly appreciate your dilemma and forgive it. Tell him as soon as possible, and don't make too much of the issue yourself.

Dorothy Powell Presents Concert Of Wide Variety

An appreciative audience heard Dorothy Powell, Hamilton pianist, present a concert in PCVS auditorium Monday night. The concert was sponsored by the Married Couples Group of Murray St. Baptist Church.

This organization is to be congraulated for sponsoring such an event. Concerts such as the one Monday evening not only give music lovers in the city a chance to hear Canadian talent, but are also encouraging to young artists of this country by giving them the opportunity to perform.

Another heartening aspect of this concert was the more than average number of children in attendance. Too often musical training and enjoyment of children is allowed to end at music lessons. They sometimes never experience the thrill of hearing the performances of artists.

DIFFICULT SELECTIONS

Miss Powell chose difficult and for the most part technically demanding selections for her program. But there was variety and contrast and a good balance of dynamic and poetic throughout.

The full and heavy tone of her opening number, the Rameau-MacDowell Sarabande was nicely offset by the gracious lyrical Romanze of Mozart. And then the quick and sprightly Rondo from Sonata Op. 24 by von Weber.

Bach was well-represented with the pianist devoting a quarter of the program to specially arranged numbers by this composer. She played the Organ Prelude in G Minor, Come, Sweet Death, and the Toccato and Fugue in D. Minor.

The second half of the program was given over to 19th and 20th century composers. Two Brahms numbers, Waltzes, and, Ballade in D. Minor, were followed by Chopin's Mazurka Op. 33, No. 1, Nocturne in C Minor, and Etude Op. 10, No. 8.

Before bringing her performance to an end with the brilliant and exciting Lizt Hungarian Rhapsody No. 10, Miss Powell treated her audience to numbers in a lighter and more modern vein. The Bridal Suite by Peacock and Le Polichinelle of Villa-Lobos were well received by the audience as was the Debussy-like The Lake at Evening, by Griftes.

Mis Powell graciously came back for an encore and was presented with a bouquet of roses.

Install New Floor In Institute Hall

MOUNT PLEASANT (ENS) — A successful dance was held in the WI hall where a new hardwood floor was laid recently.

A canvass was held in the community and a substantial sum was realized. Collectors were Messrs. L. Handley, A. Armstrong, M. Fee, R. Carr, Ira Lowe and G. Ruth.

Mrs. E. McLean thanked all those who helped to make the evening a success. Music was supplied by Messrs. R. Carr, E. Whitmore and A. Lawson. The square dances were called by Messrs. F. Ballantyne, L. Hooten and Reg. Fee. Lunch was served by WI members.

DIAMOND TRUMPS

In the realm of socks, diamond panels continue prominent in traditional argyles and modern interpretations. They are shown in the usual two or three rows of diamond panes, although they may appear in one row only as in a band design. Many combinations of the new spring colors are featured.

Church Meeting Follows Easter Theme

George St. United Church Baby Band Mothers met in the board room Monday evening. The meeting opened with a devotional period on the Easter theme.

The period was led by Mrs. J. Weaver, assisted by Mrs. J. Bullock, Mrs. A. D. Harris, Mrs. R. Delahaye, Mrs. R. S. McFarlane and Mrs. S. Saunders.

Miss Gladys Langton favored with two delightful solos accompanied by Miss M. Maynard.

Mrs. S. James gave a reading from the study book on Missionary Angola Air Mail. She was assisted by Mrs. R. Back and Mrs. J. Telford.

The guest speaker was the Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church who gave a most interesting pre-Easter message. He was introduced by Mrs. J. Miller and thanked by Mrs. Telford.

The president, Mrs. O. Mackey, was in the chair for the business period. She gave the baby band rally report from Trinity United Church. It was decided to hold a potluck supper, April 29 and to entertain the nursery school teachers. Mrs. Art Long was appointed supper convener.

It was also decided to have a home bake table at the market, May 23 under the convenership of Mrs. R. Thirnbeck.

Mrs. J. Thirnbeck gave the treasurer's report and Mrs. D. Brown read the roll call with 51 members present and one guest.

The meeting closed with the mothers' prayer and a social half hour followed when Mrs. J. Miller and her committee served a delicious lunch.

Armitage-Shaw Wedding In Knox

The marriage was solemnied on Saturday in Knox United Church by the Rev. H. G. Douglas of Margaret Mary Isabella Shaw and Ray Stanley Armitage.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. S. Shaw, 166 Adeline Street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Armitage of Cavan.

The bride wore a grey suit with white and navy accessories and a corsage of deep pink roses.

Miss Verna Kerr was bridesmaid and wore a navy suit with pale blue and navy accessories, and a corsage of red carnations.

Mr. William Trayner of Cavan was groomsman.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home. The bride's mother received in a royal blue dress with navy accessories. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a grey crepe dress and red accessories.

Later the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Toronto. For travelling the bride wore her wedding ensemble and a navy top coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Armitage will live in Oshawa.

YWCA Board Plan Busy Season

The Board of Directors of the YWCA met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Harold Rehill, president, in charge.

Mrs. T. J. Carley and Mrs. John Hornal were appointed representatives on the YWCA executive. Mrs. T. Cook was appointed representative to the Girls' Work Board.

Plans for the coming season at the Y were discussed and it was reported that the swimming department was planning a display. A gym display is also planned to take place May 1. It was reported that the Copper Kettle was growing in popularity.

It was decided to hold a supper sale, April 10 and 11 with proceeds to be used to send delegates to the Y convention in Quebec City.

Plans were also made for the World Service Meeting, March 30, when Mrs. I. G. Pollock will be guest speaker, and also for the camp Reunion to take place April 6 and the Bunny Tea, April 6.

Coronation Big Influence On 1953 Fashion Scene

The texture, shape and silhouette of spring fashion is dramatically punctuated with excitement . . . royalty . . . and fantasy!

The coronation, of course, is the primary influence on the fashion scene. All of the splendor of this British state occasion is translated herein into royal colors, regal silhouettes and queenly fabrics.

Crowning favorite of the spring showings — is the costume suit, and its keynote is co-ordination and integration of fabric and color.

The slim sheath is the queen of dresses . . . the moderately full skirt, a majestic ally!

The boxy-jacket wears the crown of glory in suits, costumes and sportswear. The fitted suit, now enhanced with a stole or capelet, is a reigning favorite.

The soft, bloused profile and the "chemise" look are new, with a wonderful affinity for the soft supple fabrics for spring.

The newer-than-new "exclamation point" theme in coats provokes excitement from its narrow shoulders to its narrower hemline! Graceful back curves give a "parentheses" look to coat and suit line!

Look for — many new "feats with pleats". . . the Chesterfield influence with waist nip-ins or boxy look . . . the clutch coats . . . the "cowl" drape!

STOLE AND SHAWLS

The stole . . . is "ah" in fashion importance and shawls become specially significant — particularly, fringed!

In sportswear, the "bloomer girl" returns in pertly-pantied sun and swim wear . . . the long-torso swim suit is new and "in the swim"!

All smart women are "wearing the pants" — in fitted, tapered pants; modified "knickers". . . walking shorts . . . shorter-than-short shorts — enhanced and dramatized by clever, capricious T-tops and cover-up shirts and jackets.

Your jewels, milady—on dresses, coats, and suits . . . sparkling from simple rayon-lined sheaths to the most expensive of coats.

Fringes—all kinds, all lengths —jeweled embroideries — sparkles, jet and glitter accents add to the regal look of spring!

From the top of your head in shink "patent" straws, to the tip of your toes in sparkling black—patent is the target for attention!

You'll find a suave, polished look to leather, in footwear, handbags and belts! Smooth svele fabrics and roughly-textured ones in ready-to-wear for high fashion importance.

It will be a "white"-light and bright season! Fashion "breaks into print" again! The rose is queen of the flowers . . . in colors, floral accessories, as a print-motif—as the official royal lower of spring!

The shape of spring is important — so put yourself into shape, too — choose a new foundation — one of the long-line girdles, or an all-in-one.

Don't flatten yourself, but flatter yourself, for spring fashions for '53 do not curb the curves!

Here is the summary of a sigh-inspiring, exciting fashion spring: The three-piece suit . . boxy or fitted jacket, slim skirt, blouse to match lining. The long coat ensemble . . . dress in print, coat in solid, sometimes lined in the print. The jacket ensemble . . . slim dress and "shell" boxy jacket of self or co-ordinated fabric. The stole costume . . . fitted suit with stole, slim dress with stole or skirt with stole. The sweater costume. . . dress and related sweater or shrug.

Out of a wide variety of themes, treatments, ideas and trims come the fabulous . . the carefree and the casual fashions of the new season.

Milady is lucky . . the fashion world is at her feet—this spring, Mrs., Miss and Jr. Miss Canada are given the most royal treats of all—exciting wearables, that rival —in styling, fabric, workmanship and color—those of any queen!

Biblical Debate Highlights WA Meeting

The March meeting of Mount Pleasant Women's Association was held at the home of Mrs. William Walker with a large attendance.

Mrs. Gordon McLean, president, was in the chair. Mrs. Keith Morden read the scripture lesson. Mrs. W. Downer gave a excellent paper on the Psalms and pointed out the beauty and inspiration received from the reading and study of this book. The roll call was answered by a verse from a Psalm.

Mrs. T. Graham read a verse, John 2:15, for a discussion.

A committee composed of Mrs. D. Lawson, Mrs. H. Jamieson and Mrs. L. Handley were appointed to arrange for an entertainment or play, the proceeds from which will be used for the purchase of new table flatware.

Mrs. A. Bland and Mrs. E. McLean were appointed to arrange for flowers for the church on Easter Sunday.

The program under Mrs. Jamieson and Mrs. James Armstrong was highlighted by a debate, Resolved that Moses was a greater Bible character than Joseph. The affirmative was taken by Mrs. S. Tully and Mrs. D. Hayes, and the negative by Mrs. E. Garnet and Mrs. D. Lawson. It was very interesting and showed a great deal of preparation.

Miss Marilyn Walker played a piano solo and an Irish contest was conducted by Mrs. Jamieson.

The Rev. A. E. Larke closed the meeting with prayer.

The hostess assisted by Mrs. R. Carr, Mrs. A. Bland, Mrs. H. Bland and Mrs. McLean served a delicious lunch and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

H. & S. News

SOUTH VERALUM

The regular meeting of South Veralum Home and School Association was held Thursday in the Red School, with 22 present, and the president Mrs. D. Robertson presiding.

Business arising out of the executive meeting was discussed. A donation of $46.00 made by the Home and School Association towards a bus trip to Toronto for the school children. Mr. J. Edwards reported they had visited several places of interest and that the trip was very worthwhile and appreciated.

Mr. B. Robertson reported on the skating party in Dunsford rink. The proceeds amounted to $4.80. In the absence of the treasurer the report was read by Mrs. F. Taylor. Correspondence was read, re letter of thanks from Scotch Line School for bus trip and from Mrs. A. W. Nelson re-election of officers.

Cavan News

A "safe-at-home" short course was held in the hall Wednesday, sponsored by the Women's Institute and directed by Miss Grace E. Hamilton, RN. Fifteen ladies of the WI were present and a hot dinner was served at noon.

Prizewinners at the card party in the hall convened by Ivan Davis and Clayton Fitzgerald were: Ladies' high and low, Mrs. Bruce Fitzgerald and Miss Joyce Dafoe of Peterborough; men's high and low, Rodger Sweeting and Ivan Davis. The door prize went to Mrs. G. McIlmoyl.

George McIlmoyl is confined to St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.

Mrs. Chalmer Sweeting has been a patient in Civic Hospital.

Mr. Walter Mooney spent a few days in Toronto where he was a patient at the General Hospital.

Mrs. Roy Ballantyne and son Douglas of New Liskeard spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Nichols.

Trim And Slim Silhouette Favored In Men's Styles

The "lighter, brighter look" keynotes men's styles for spring. Expressed both in lighter, brighter colors and in fabrics greatly reduced in bulk, this trend is directly in line with the growing popularity of the slimmer, narrowed silhouette in suits, topcoats and sports jackets.

Both style-wise and comfort-wise, the net result is an extremely happy one.

Mr. Man's spirit gets a spring-tonic lift from his change to lighter colors. At the same time, his demand for comfort and practicality is met by fabrics and tailoring keyed to longer periods of warm weather and modern heating facilities in cooler weather.

In every item of apparel—from sport shirts to topcoat—he'll find the new "lighter, brighter look" singing the cheerful theme song of his Spring wardrobe.

Tweeds and flannels, lightweight worsteds, raw silks and mohair blends are assuming great style importance, along with the man-made fibre fabrics in a variety of blends with other synthetics and wool.

In surface texture interest, "the nubby, slubby look" looms large in the spring spotlight. Successfully initiated last fall, it has gained acceptance rapidly and is now being strongly featured in the softer textured fabrics.

It is big spring style news in almost every apparel group, including sport shirts in rayons, cottons and interesting blends and slacks featuring orlon and rayon and even dacron and rayon.

The "nubby, slubby look" is achieved by the use of raised balls of yarn, called "nubs" and of streaks of yarn of varying thickness, called "slubs."

The popularity of the single-breasted, two-button suit continues into spring, with a variety of single-button and three-button models also available (in sport coats, the number of buttons may run as high as five!). Still the top favorite of millions of men, the double-breasted suit is well represented in the spring style parade.

Suit models for the new season are marked by greater emphasis on patch pockets, narrower, longer lapels, smaller notches, medium width shoulders and easy lines. Blended tones of tan, grey, light and dark blue, and brown are the colors preferred in approximately that order.

The "Pre-Coronation influence," currently prominent in the women's fashion picture, has its masculine style aspects as well, tending to strengthen the influence in Canada of London's Saville Row, long the arbiter of men's fashions in the British Isles.

The flashy comeback bid of the vest is perhaps significant of this influence. This spring, the Tattersall will be seen peeking around the lapels of many jackets, with the blazer striped vest available for the more venturesome. There are even gaily embroidered vests and vests made of upholstery fabrics for daring souls.

With outdoor sports coming back into the picture and warmer weather approaching, active men will turn their attention to the wide selection of sports clothes of all kinds.

The golfer, for instance, may choose from a variety of shirts of all-wool or cotton jersey and wide range of cotton mesh and man-made fibre fabrics.

For spectator sports, double-vented sports jackets in three-button and two-button models will be popular.

PEARL BUTTONS stand out against this washable cotton boucle dress. Canadian-made, it has pique French cuffs and a narrow self-belt.

New Spring Coat Line Is Narrow and Tapering

The narrow line that tapers down at the hem is the newest coat line for Spring. Width and bulk appear at the top, stamping this silhouette 1953.

Though the coat itself is narrow, armhole cut remains loose and easy to permit comfort when the coat is worn over a suit. And while there's more shoulder width than in past seasons, it's not a square, solid, padded width. It's a new width that curves softly and is rounded without padding. These are lots of dropped shoulder seams.

The collarless neckline is a frequent choice for coats, just as it's well-liked for Spring suits. Cardigan banding that appears in suits also appears in coats and provides a natural background for scarves. The mandarin collar and the bandmaster's collar both appear in many collections, as does the large collar. This last may be a deep sailor, a rounded fichu or just plain round and big.

Length is a choice that's entirely yours. You may have the 30-inch topper, the seven-eighths, the two-thirds. Mostly, these have narrow lines. The length that makes fashion news here is two-thirds, with slender lines and deep armholes.

Navy and beige head the color list, with silky fleeces, pebbly tweeds and coatings with blurry surfaces getting a big fabric play.

Spring Clothes For Men Lighter In Weight, Color

With spring at hand, the man who knows the value of good grooming sizes up his wardrobe with an eye not only to the replacements he will need among his suits and coats, but to two other aspects as well: the clothes he lacks for certain aspects of social and business life, and the need to keep up with the times with clothes which have the newest fabric and cut.

When he enters his clothing store this spring, the average man will find that styles for 1953 place heavy emphasis on lighter, brighter colors and on fabrics greatly reduced in weight to reiterate the newer "natural look."

This "lighter, brighter look" is the biggest news in styles for spring.

LOOK SUCCESSFUL

In every aspect of apparel—from the lightweight shirt he buys for golf, to the suit and topcoat he purchases to create that important "successful - looking" appearance in business — the shopper will find this "brighter, lighter look."

When he shops for his new spring suit, the style-conscious man will find that the greatest variety in fabrics, colors and stylings will be found in suits of all-wool tropical worsted and in the new lightweight woolens.

Despite the countless new fibres and blends, most advances in suit styling and newest textures, are introduced first in wool and later adapted by the makers of blends and other fibres.

A variety of suit models is available for spring and — depending upon the section of the country — the shopper can take his choice not only of single and double-breasted suits, but also of three-button, two-button and single-button models of single-breasted suits.

STYLED FOR COMFORT

When it comes to spring topcoats and overcoats, unencumbered freedom of movement is the main interest of their designers. First choice on the topcoat scene is the single-breasted raglan-sleeve style, shown for spring in a wide variety of the handsome woolen weaves.

The balmacaan or bal collar topcoat is newer looking and places second in popularity. It has a less formal appearance, as the bal collar is a true collar and does not extend into lapels. Because of this, it is most suitable for wear in the afternoon.

The concealed fastening featured in topcoats in past season, gives way to an open display of buttons Three and four buttons are used in single-breasted topcoats and overcoats models. and usually are large, dark, and made of horn.

Overcoats continue to be made largely with the more suitable and formal inset sleeves, although raglan sleeves take first place in the new topcoat. Notched lapels retain importance in both overcoats and topcoats.

THE SURCOAT FOR OUTDOORS

There is one item of clothing that virtually every man needs — a surcoat. Surcoats are the solution for the problem of what to wear for casual sports and around-the-house outdoor activities.

This jacket falls to mid-thigh, and usually closes by a slide fastening down the front. Low front pockets for items such as shotgun shells or others equipment for outdoor sports may have slots to allow the hands to be warmed as well.

The cut of shirt collars for spring is a radical departure from what had been seen in the past.

The new collars fill the function of carrying the eye along the line of the body, heightening the slim look. This is brought about by a shortening of the collar — the short collar is the "only" collar, men's stores will tell you.

The main new collar styles are the sharp point in a fairly wide spread, and the round-pointed collars. One of the best of the short points is cut so that the angles on the inside and outside of the points are almost equal; it makes people note the longer line of the body of the tie and of the jacket.

Cookstove Made Of Trash Features Show

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

A cookstove made of rubble, with a garbage can for an oven, is a feature at the convention and exhibition of the Canadian Restaurant Association now being held in Toronto.

This primitive cookstove is set amid thousands of gleaming utensils and gadgets of sleek restaurant operation. It is not there, however, for contrast—and it is not there to show how the science of food-serving has progressed.

It is there to show people how to get to work quickly if war or disaster should set them to foraging amid ruins.

The cookstove is part of an exhibit by civil defence welfare services, which was opened Monday by Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, federal civil defence co-ordinator.

Electric- and gas-operated equipment of restaurants may be put out of commission, but anyone, if he knows how, can quickly set up an emergency kitchen with things that are around him.

He can build a stove from rubble, using mud for cement. He can set an oven in its centre, even if, as with the current exhibit, it is only a garbage can. He can provide a fuel space underneath which will burn wood, or hold a flash pan for oil and water.

In Britain, some 60,000 women are being taught how to go to work quickly with such "curbside" cookery. British experience is that people in their first distress and shock need something "hot and sweet"—probably tea or coffee. The "curbside" cookstove can provide that and follow up quickly with sustaining stews.

Restaurants and other cooking and baking establishments are being asked to make arrangements so that they can quickly put emergency facilities to work, if their modern kitchens are put out of action.

And, shortly, communities across Canada will be asked to send representatives to Ottawa to take instruction in emergency cooking and feeding. These representatives will, in turn become teachers in their own communities.

The current restaurant convention and exhibition has some of the hoopla of a political convention—each section of the country backing its own selection for the honor of becoming "restaurateur of the year."

Fifteen candidates have been chosen. Badges reading "our boy's Charlie" refer to Charles Bruno of Hamilton, and "we like Mike" to Mike C. Mario of Windsor, Ont.

A strong British Columbia contingent includes as candidate Charlotte A. Mann, who has been in the restaurant business in Vernon, B. C., for 34 years.

Portugal Approves

LISBON (Reuters)—The Portuguese National Assembly Monday ratified the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's additional protocol allowing German troops to serve under the NATO flag within the projected six - country European army.

U.S. Accused Of Trying To Underine Red Regime In Bitter Attacks By Czechs

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (CP)—In one of the bitterest attacks ever heard in the UN, the United States was accused today of trying to subvert the Communist regime in Czechoslovakia.

The accusation was made in a speech before the UN 60-nation political committee by Czech Foreign Minister Vaclav David.

Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., U. S. delegate, immediately replied that the Red Czech government, which seized power in a three-day coup d'etat in 1948, is itself the chief example of subversion in modern times and is in no position to accuse the U. S. of it.

The bitter attack came as the political committee returned from a week-end during which many delegates had tried to assess reported peace moves by the Kremlin.

The Czech speech dashed hopes, at least temporarily, of any real letup in cold war tension.

FINANCE ESPIONAGE

David charged that the U. S. Mutual Security Act of June, 1952, set up a $100,000,000 fund to finance subversion and espionage in Eastern Europe and Communist China.

He asked the UN to condemn these activities.

David also accused the U. S. of sending its jets over Czech territory. He said that U. S. jet plane shot down by Czech MiGs March 10 had flown 25 miles into Czechoslovakia. It was fired upon when it refused to heed signals to land, he said.

The U. S. has protested that the aircraft was over Western Germany when the incident occurred.

Replying to the Czech speech, Lodge said the Communists took over Czechoslovakia under a "preconceived plan" drawn up in Moscow.

The debate on Czech charges was taken up after the U. S. and Soviet bloc jointly killed an Indonesian move which that Asian country claimed might speed high-level East-West peace talks.

PEACE TALKS

L. N. Palar of Indonesia asked the UN's 60-nation political committee to move a Polish item called "methods for avoiding a third world war" to top place on its agenda. He said it should be possible to have serious peace talks in connection with an item bearing that title.

U. S. delegate Lodge labelled the Polish plan "an insincere and rather cynical proposal" and said it would increase tension rather than ease it.

Polish Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzeszewski said he was not prepared to discuss his own plan at this time. On the contrary, he declared, Poland was ready to go ahead with Czech charges of American espionage activities behind the Iron Curtain.

Palar, faced by opposition from both East and West, then withdrew his suggestion.

Palar's action had been interpreted as a move to bring President Eisenhower together with Russia's Prime Minister Malenkov for UN-sponsored talks.

tention that preceded the letting of the contract. Several years ago, Mr. McIntyre recalled to the Examiner that after the Quaker Oats fire in December, 1916, the council was primarily concerned with the problems of helping to finance the winning of the World War. The company undoubtedly wished to rebuild here, but experience had proved to them the persisting inconvenience of the old street level iron bridge across the river. Horse and buggy traffic, and the first automobiles, interfered with the busy shunting of cars across Hunter St.

Mr. McIntyre was a member of a deputation that went to Chicago to interview officials of the Quaker Oats about their intentions. The iron bridge was obsolete anyway, and the council and other citizens who were deeply concerned about retaining the big cereal mill were unanimously in favor of building for the future. On that deputation were also W. G. Morrow, Robert Neill, T. Frank Matthews and Archie Weir.

That is too long a story, the relating of the council's approach to details of structure, steel, concrete or a combination of both. Archie McIntyre had faith in concrete, but he was inclined to accept the lowest tender, which was from Edward Conroy, of Peterborough. Most of the council, and probably Mr. McIntyre, too, were dubious about Mr. Conroy's ability to do the job for $251,000, but he held out for the local man.

The ratepayers had voted $300,000 in the first estimate, "but the contractors had to come back for $100,000 and later on for another $130,000," Mr. McIntyre recalled.

The contractor was guaranteed $30,000 as a fixed fee, and in all the arguments that led up to an extremely reluctant decision, the council had fairly sought a firm bid. Instead they had to be content with the contractor's "cost plus." The $600,000 debentures were issued at 6 per cent for 30 years.

Said Mr. McIntyre, looking back from his early nineties, "There were criticisms of the council on the ground that the bridge had cost far to much, but the conditions were similar to those in which Peterborough Civic Hospital was undertaken.

"In each case, costs were affected by war and by the inflation it caused in wage rates and materials."

SEWAGE PLANT

Mr. McIntyre also recalled that in his council experience, decision had to be made on the site of the sewage disposal plant, the introduction of the collection and disposal of garbage, and the construction of the Townsend St. incinerator. Street paving had to be projected in increasing mileage. Those were some of the problems 30 years ago.

"We had a lot of decisions to make, but my only regret is that we didn't go farther down the river with the sewage disposal plant. However, the site opposite the foot of Park St. appeared to be a lot farther away than it is today."

That was a reminiscence of the of the elder citizen in 1949, when he was just then past 90.

"Peterborough should remember Archie McIntyre as an honorable man, a good citizen, and a good home man," M. J. Maher, of the Examiner staff, alderman in 1922 and later, said today. "He was broad-minded, tried to be fair to all sections and people of the city. There was nothing narrow about him. He was a just man. I can't say too much about him. And, the same applies to his brother, Malcolm. Their reputation is especially known by the older citizens."

Archie McIntyre was gifted with good cheer and humor all through his life. He was a friendly man, and as an administrator he was wont to seek the opinions of people on questions of importance to the city and its progress. He desired most of all to be right, to take the wise way, and if he was cautious in his approach to decisions it was because he tried to exercise carefulness in his judgments. There was no pretence about him, but there was a great deal of loyalty.

Mr. McIntyre was a son of Donald McIntyre and his wife Anne West, of Otonabee. His grandfather came from Scotland in 1820 and settled on the farm three miles from Keene now occupied by Harry McIntyre.

Archie McIntyre gained his first experience as a builder and contractor from his father at Keene. When he came to Peterborough he was accompanied by his brother, Malcolm, who was considerably his junior, and assistant. After completing the original Y. M. C. A. their relationship changed to a contracting partnership. Some of the works they carried out were: Murry St. Baptist Church, Lindsay Armouries, George St. United Church Sunday School, the Y. W. C. A., and other contracts here, in Millbrook, Norwood and elsewhere in the district.

He was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and Corinthian Lodge A. F. & A. M.

Mr. McIntyre leaves his widow, the former Maggie Belle Struthers, one son, Spence McIntyre of Santa Monica, Cal., and his brother Malcolm, of Peterborough. The body is resting at the Belleghem funeral home, Hunter St, until noon Thursday, when it will be conveyed to St. Paul's Church for the service beginning at 2 p.m., conducted by the Rev. Charles G. Boyd. Burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

Napanee Beaver Sold To Brockville Native

NAPANEE (CP) — The Napanee Beaver, one of Ontario's oldest weeklies, was purchased today by J. Earl Morrison of Napanee.

A native of Brockville, Mr. Morrison began newspaper work with the Recorder and Times there and since then worked for the Sudbury Star, the Deseronto Post and as Napanee correspondent for the Kingston Whig-Standard.

The Beaver was established in 1870 and until now, has been in the Templeton family continuously.

Napanee is 22 miles east of Belleville.

Law Shakedown Suggested By Bootlegger

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Cecil Smith, recently sentenced to two months for keeping liquor for sale, said Monday he would, under "certain circumstances," appear before the police commission to "tell the whole story" behind charges he made last week that he was the victim of a "police shakedown."

Smith, who has appealed the conviction and sentence, told the police commission last Tuesday he "bought" his way out of a conviction on a liquor charge two years ago but refused to pay a bribe to the same unidentified officer when arrested recently. He said he would not have been convicted had he agreed to pay the bribe the second time.

The commission asked Smith to put his charges in writing and return with his lawyer to the afternoon session last Tuesday. Neither Smith nor his lawyer showed up.

WON'T APPEAR

He said in an interview Monday he will not appear voluntarily at the special commission meeting Tuesday as requested by the commission.

However, he said he would appear if the commission sees fit to subpoena him and will grant him the protection of the court under terms of the Canada Evidence Act.

Police commission officials would make no comment when asked if Smith would be subpoenaed to attend the meeting.

Smith, who said his police record includes 87 convictions during the last 30 years, said certain elements of his testimony would involve him in criminal charges. He said he was afraid to proceed with the charges unless promised protection of the commission.

Under such protection, no civil or criminal charges could be laid against him as a result of his testimony under oath before the commission. However, he would be liable to perjury charges should there be any indication of false testimony.

Smith told the commission last week that a Windsor constable, to whom he had paid $800 two years ago for "protection," had demanded $400 recently to handle evidence in such a way that Smith would be dismissed when he appeared on the latest charge.

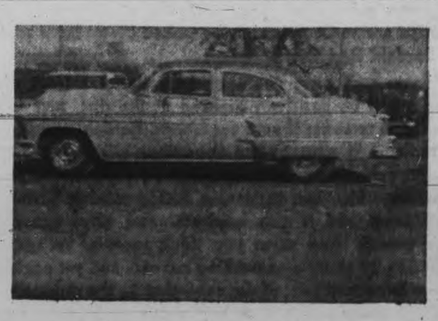
He now is free on $1,000 bail pending appeal of the latest conviction.

Chairman Judge Archibald Cochrane, Brampton, and crown attorney Bruce J. S. Macdonald, a commission member, last week termed Smith's charges "unbelievable."

Ontario Syrup Making Now In Full Swing

TORONTO (CP) — Maple Syrup making is in full swing in most Ontario counties, the agricultural department said today in its weekly crop report. However, farmers in some counties expect the season will be short.

The condition of fall wheat is generally good except in Oxford, where some damage was reported. A number of Huron, Haldimand and Peel county farmers are applying nitrogen fertilizers to their fields.



Mild weather is prevailing in Northern Ontario, melting snow and drying up fields. The main interest throughout the northern districts is increasing milk production.

Welland Warden Dies

WELLAND (CP)—Albert Mansfield, warden of Welland county and reeve of the village of Fonthill, died early today, a few hours before the March session of Welland county council was to begin.

He was serving his seventh term as reeve of Fonthill, and had been a member of Welland county council at intervals since 1921. His widow and three sons survive.

Richard Most Colorful, Best Money Player In Vote

This story is one of a Canadian Press series on outstanding players and teams in the National Hockey League. Selections were made in a poll of sports writers and sportscasters in NHL cities.

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO (CP)—Maurice Richard, a tight-lipped scowling figure on and off the ice, today was named the National Hockey League's most colorful player and the master when the chips are down.

He ranks high with color guys of another era—rambunctious Eddie Shore, flashing Howie Morenz and dynamic Francis Michael (King) Clancy. And the black-haired fellow can score million-dollar goals and fire his team-mates when the going is tough.

That is the opinion of sports writers and sportcasters in the league's six cities who have watched the Montreal Canadiens right-winger flash across the big league since 1942-43.

He is idolized and hated. In Montreal, he is the city's No. 1 citizen. In Toronto, he is public enemy No. 1.

RUGGED STAR

In his 11-season swing with Canadiens, the 31-year-old Rocket has had an electric effect on fans and players alike. His fists have played a tattoo on many faces and he has left a trail of busted beezers and buckets of blood behind him. At the same time he has become the greatest scorer in the history of professional hockey.

The experts, asked to name their choice in a Canadian Press poll, voted almost solidly for Richard as the game's most colorful player and the greatest money player.

In voting for the most colorful player, two balloted for Detroit Red Wings' Gordie Howe and one for veteran Milt Schmidt of Boston Bruins, but they were far behind Richard. No other players received a vote.

The selectors were asked to compare their choice with Shore, the bruising Boston Bruin defenceman of the 1926-40 era; Morenz, voted the game's greatest player of the half century in a CP poll, and Ottawa-born King Clancy, 155-pound bundle of dynamite with the old Ottawa Senators and Toronto Maple Leafs from 1921 until 1937.

SELECTORS' COMMENTS

They came up with various comments.

"Richard belongs with them," commented Baz O'Meara, veteran sports editor of the Montreal Star. "He scores the most spectacular goals."

"Richard oozes color," was the succinct comment of Bobby Hewitson, Toronto Telegram sports editor and former NHL referee.

"His great ability, coupled with his appearance and explosive temperament make him the most newsworthy player in hockey, on and off the ice, for all time," said Lou Walter of the Detroit Times.

John Gillooly of the Boston Daily Record, who balloted for Howe, said the 24-year-old Red Wing right-winger "is a match for Shore and better than Morenz and Clancy."

TOP MONEY PLAYER

The money - player decision showed Richard far ahead of Schmidt, Howe, Detroit's Ted Lindsay and Terry Sawchuk, Vezina Trophy winner last season.

"Look at Richard's playoff record," said Vince Lunny, sports editor of the Montreal Herald.

His 12 goals in the 1943-44 Stanley Cup playoffs against Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks is a record. He also holds the record of five goals scored in a single playoff game—in 1944—against the Leafs. In eight playoff series he has 65 points on 43 goals and 22 assists, another high.

Richard supporters stressed the stormy right-winger's ability to deliver in the pinch.

"Repeatedly Richard has cashed the big shots when the chips were down," observed Dan Desmond of the Chicago Tribune.

SUPPORT FOR SCHMIDT

Schmidt supporters said essentially the same thing about their choice. "He is always at his best in playoff games," said Red Burnett of the Toronto Daily Star. Sportscaster Foster Hewitt of CKFH, Toronto, said: "He is great defensively and offensively and scores the badly-needed goals."

Sportscaster Frank Fallon of WMEX, Boston, Dana Mozley of the New York Daily News, and Wes McKnight of station CFRB, Toronto, marked one up for Schmidt.

Richard is the league's most shadowed forward. Opposing players ordered to check him practically climb all over Richard's five-foot-10-inch frame and his retaliatory methods have been explosive.

Richard scored goals at a remarkable pace, climaxed by his record-breaking 325th last Nov. 8 which beat Nels Stewart's 324 total over 15 seasons. It came 10 years to the day after the Rocket, as a raw rookie, scored his first NHL goal.

MOST COLORFUL PLAYER—Maurice Richard, a tight-lipped, scowling figure on or off the ice, has been named the National Hockey League's most colorful player in a poll conducted among coaches, sports writers and sportcasters. He ranks high with color guys of another era and is known for his ability to deliver in the playoffs when the chips are down. He broke the NHL scoring record last fall when his 325th goal broke Nels Stewart's mark of 324 goals in the big leagues.

Worsham Gets 4th 68 To Win At Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Lew Worsham shot his fourth-straight 68 to fight off a closing birdie barrage by Jim Ferrier Monday and win the Jacksonville open golf tournament with 272. Ferrier finished second with 273.

Worsham birdied four holes on the second nine when he knew the pressure was on. His 272 was 16 under par.

Tommy Bolt, who started the day tied with Worsham for the lead, finished third with 275. His final round was 71.

Charges Waste, Corruption In Newfoundland

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A charge that corruption is going on under the nose of the Newfoundland government was levelled in the legislature Monday by Malcolm Hollett, leader of the Progressive Conservative Opposition.

He said no effort is being made to eliminate "waste and extravagance and graft and corruption."

Liberal premier Smallwood moved to have him ruled out of order, but Mr. Hollett was protected by a 17th-century ruling because the charges were not directed against a member of the House.

The maximum number of liquor stores in Saskatchewan will be reduced from 84 to 75. The legislature in committee of the whole house approved a motion to favoring fewer stores. There now are 71 stores in operation.

The New Brunswick government introduced a bill which would give the courts power to suspend a driver's licence and vehicle registration in case of an accident causing death, injury or damage or more unless satisfactory financial responsibility has been arranged beforehand.

The Alberta house approved expenditure of $87,210,650 in the coming fiscal year. Biggest single item is the highways department estimate of $48,000,000.

Manitoba will spend an extra $414,053 this year, bringing the estimated expenditure for the 1952-53 fiscal year to $50,164,148. Next year's estimate is $54,448,404.

LRB Revokes ANG As Service Agent

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Gregg announced Monday the Canada labor relations board has revoked the certification of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO-CCL) as collective bargaining agent for a unit of editorial employees in The Canadian Press.

The board action was taken March 18 and was reported unofficially that day.

The minister said the board's decision followed a representation vote of employees of the news agency in the bargaining unit. The vote, held earlier this month, was 58 for and 22 against decertification of the guild.

The union was certified in April, 1950, as collective bargaining agent for members of the editorial unit, consisting of some categories of editorial staff men and messengers.

F. Kokesh Leads

F. Kokesh hit 323 to lead in singles this week in the Girls' City Bowling League, as R. Pearse rolled 767 for top triple. Collis was best in team counts with 3,201 pinnage and an 1,100 single. They blanked Curtin's, and Arcos whitewashed Aces, while 2-1 wins went to Austin's over Bassel's, Cardinals against Black's, and Marines over Sevenaires.

Goodsingles included: N. Ephgrave 297, R. Pearse 291, B. Wasson 281, J. Brockley 268, B. Akers 267; A. Barnes 264, R. Wilson 263, B. Morrow 256, A. Anderson 254 and E. Thompson 251. Neat threesomes were: F. Kokesh 731, A. Barnes 696, N. Ephgrave 696, B. Nichols 662, D. Hendren 656, A. Anderson 656, H. Wilson 580 came closest to the blind score of 578.

Seeks U.S. Citizenship

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Gurie Lie, pretty blonde daughter of UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie, has applied for U.S. citizenship, it was learned Monday. Miss Lie, who is in her early 20s, has been in the U.S. with her father since 1946. She is a Norwegian citizen and has held a special visa which carried with it certain diplomatic privileges.

Rovers And Aces Get Floor Hockey Tussles

While Rovers handed the Friday Night Club a 12-1 pasting, the Aces rounded out a 7-4 victory over Huskies Monday night in the weekly floor hockey league at the YMCA.

Mick Magee with two and Payne with a single started the Rovers off to a 3-1 lead in the first period. Magee and Hill each scored three in the second to run the score up to 9-3. Caddigan, along with Magee and Hill, made the final score 12-1 in the third.

Magee with a total of six goals topped the scorers, followed closely by Hill with four. Peters scored the lone tally for Friday Night Clubbers.

Rowley, Twist, Burns and Dundas gave the Huskies a commanding lead, 4-2, in their game with the Aces. But that lead vanished in the second period as Pat Belsey, Seabrooke and Noble whipped in four goals to give Aces a 6-4 score. Longo's third period tally just lengthened the lead for the Aces.

Belsey, Seabrooke and Noble led the scoring with two each.

Lineups—Aces (7) — Belsey, Mongraw, Longo, Seabrooke, Pearson, Noble.

Huskies (4)—Marino, Dundas, Burns, Twist, Rowley.

Rovers (12)—Magee, Caddigan, Heffernan, Nickle, Hill, Payne.

FNC (1) — Crossman, Bain, Gracie, Bunker, Spears, Peters.

Eager Taxpayers

CALGARY (CP)—Prepayment of city taxes so far this year has surpassed all previous records with a total of $2,037,000 tucked into the civic treasury by March 12. The total advance payment in 1952 was $2,017,000.

Two NHL Records Set By Wings During Schedule

MONTREAL (CP)—One team and one individual record were set during the 210-game National Hockey League schedule which came to a close Sunday night in a wild scramble for the last playoff spot. The post-season Stanley Cup series now takes over.

Detroit Red Wings became the first team to win the NHL championship five seasons in a row. Big Gordie Howe, Detroit rightwinger, set a point-scoring record. His 49 goals and 46 assists for a total of 95 points bettered his own mark of 86 points, made in each of the last two seasons. He just failed to reach the 50-goal record for one season set by Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens in the 1944-45 campaign.

It was Detroit again for the goal-tending honors. Terry Sawchuk's goals-against average was the lowest and he is winner of the Vezina Trophy for the second successive season. The trophy goes to the goalkeeper "who has played the most games for the team with the fewest goals scored against it."

AVERAGE 1.90

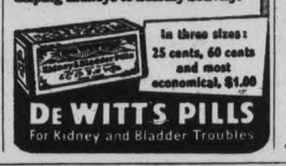
Sawchuk's average, counting the seven games he missed because of an injury, was 1.90. In his previous two seasons in the NHL Sawchuk had averages of 1.98 and 1.94.

The league record for goal-tending goes back to the 1928-29 season when the late George Hainsworth, playing with Montreal Canadiens, had only 43 goals scored against him in 44 games for an average of .977. Hainsworth registered 22 shutouts in the 44 games.

Gerry McNeil of Canadiens was second behind Sawchuk with 2.11, followed by Harry Lumley of Toronto Maple Leafs with 2.38, Jim Henry of Boston Bruins, 2.46, Al Rollins of Chicago Black Hawks, 2.50, and Lorne Worsley of New York Rangers 3.01. McNeil and Lumley led in shutouts with 10 each.

LINDSAY SECOND

In point-scoring, closest to Howe's 95 in the league's official statistics released today was 71 by Howe's line-mate Ted Lindsay. The little leftwinger had 32 goals and 39 assists. Richard finished third with 28 goals and 33 assists for 61 points.



Richard finished the season as the most penalized player in the league, with 112 minutes. He nosed out Detroit's Ted Lindsay, leader all season, by one minute. Toronto was the most penalized team with 810 minutes.

ONTARIO CHAMPION — Tommy Mallon, of Toronto, is winner of the Ontario five-pin bowling championship. He defeated runner-up Joe Dunphy, Kingston regional champion. Thirteen district contenders, representing the province's estimated 600,000 bowlers, competed in the finals held at the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show in Toronto. Mallon bowled 2,636 in the final 10 games against Dunphy's 2,380.

Ruling Robbed Howe Of Title

NEW YORK (CP)—But for an official ruling, Gordie Howe would have tied Maurice Richard's National Hockey League record of 50 goals in a season.

Howe, who wound up the season with 49 goals, believes he scored one goal which was awarded to defenceman Red Kelly.

The goal occurred Feb. 8 in Boston. Late in the third period Kelly fired a shot from the blueline which beat Jim Henry. Howe claimed he tipped the puck before it went into the net and his teammates agreed. But the officials didn't see it and credited Kelly with the goal. Detroit won the game 5-3.

Howe, who at that time was looking for his 40th goal of the season and his 200th since breaking in, wasn't bitter about the decision however.

"It couldn't have happened to a nicer guy," he said of Kelly.

DO YOU OWN A CAR?

If you own a car, we would like to tell you about a discovery.

About five years ago, the Manager of Bardahl Manufacturing Corporation had been driving a '39 model car. Noticing a leak in the radiator he took the car to a garage for repairs. At the time the Bardahl Manager had been working on a rust preventative for the cooling system. When he received his car back, he put some of this into his radiator. After driving the car for several weeks he noticed the radiator still leaked. Returning the car to the garage he reported the trouble. Later that day the garage operator phoned to ask Mr. Tennant what on earth he had put in the radiator. The garage owner went on to explain that when he drained the radiator the water was so thick with dirt it would hardly pour. The rust preventative prepared by Mr. Tennant had removed rust, scale and dirt untouched by the popular brand of chemical cleaner used by the garage owner.

The garage owner immediately placed an order for their own use. Since then hundreds of thousands of motorists across Canada and the United States have tried this Bardahl Rad Conditioner.

If you own a car you should try it, for if your car is old you'll be positively amazed at the dirt, rust and scale it will remove; if your car is new, Bardahl will keep the radiator in new, tip-top condition.

Bardahl keeps radiators clean . . . eliminates rust formation which can insulate a motor causing harmful overheating, and it also lubricates and stops squeaky water pumps. And when you think most of us spend about $25.00 every year washing our cars and yet neglect a more important part of the car—that is, the radiator—well, it's really worth it to buy a can of Bardahl Rad Conditioner at 80c.

British Treasury Refuses Release Funds For Bridge

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The recent conference of Commonwealth ministers has just had an impact in London. The British treasury has refused to release funds for a bridge in New Zealand.

The link between the two events—the Commonwealth economic conference and the New Zealand bridge—is simply that the Commonwealth ministers decided that future investment should be related where possible to projects that have something to do with earning or saving dollars.

With this in mind, Treasury Chief R. A. Butler regretfully informed the New Zealand government that though the bridge might be a good thing to have, Britain could not afford to finance it in the present "congested state" of the London capital market.

COMPLETED IN FOUR YEARS

The bridge, scheduled for completion in four years, was to have linked the city of Auckland with the borough of Northcote. It would have meant an "enriching" of the New Zealand scene, a treasury spokesman said, but it appeared to have little to do with the balance of payments.

In contrast, it is expected that New Zealand will raise some £10,000,000 on the London capital market for her Murupara newsprint development scheme. This project will probably be approved because it may save anything up to £6,000,000 worth of dollars a year.

The announcement about the Auckland bridge, which now presumably will be shelved or financed in some other quarter, came shortly after Butler stressed to a gathering of Canadian correspondents in London the high importance of ensuring that Britain's scarce funds were reserved for the right kind of development.

The wrong kind of development, he said, was the "milk-bar" type, where funds were released for such amenities as milk bars and cinemas.

FIRST PUBLIC REFUSAL

The decision in the Auckland case marks the first public refusal of finance since the Commonwealth ministers met here in December. The relevant clause of the communique issued after the conference was that "development should be concentrated on projects which directly or indirectly contribute to the improvement of the (sterling) areas balance of payments with the rest of the world."

Now Butler has shown that Britain means business.

This translation into bread and butter terms of the general statements and abstractions usually issued after Commonwealth conferences has been welcomed by the British press as injecting an air of welcome realism into the supply of Commonwealth capital.

Honor Family Of Missionary From Africa

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—The Rev. Harold Steed, Mrs. Steed and family, on furlough from Africa, were guests of honor Friday at a social evening given by the Missionary and Service Club of the United Church in the Sunday school rooms.

The guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. W. H. File. In a short devotional period the scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Clarence Coons and Mrs. C. H. Hunter led in prayer.

The Steed family was "adopted" by the club several years ago.

The Rev. Harold Steed first went to Africa as a baby, not quite two years old, and returned to Canada for further education at the age of 13 years. At that time he promised the natives that he would return some day and this promise he was able to keep after he had graduated in agricultural science from the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and then from Emmanuel College, University of Toronto, where he was ordained as a minister of the United Church. He also served with the Canadian forces in the Second World War.

FATHER MISSIONARY

His father, the Rev. J. A. Steed was a missionary for many years in Africa. He has now retired from the active ministry and lives in Lakefield. His brother, the Rev. Arthur Steed is a minister in Hamilton.

During the evening Mr. Steed showed many interesting slides and films of his work in Africa, where he serves not only as a minister but as an agriculturalist as well.

With the help of Dr. Allan Knight he has established a school of agriculture known as the Rural Life School, at which the African natives are taught better methods of farming. This school is located at Ghissamba, the same village where Mr. Steed lived as a child.

The Steeds have four children, Joy and Kathryn who were born in Canada and Genevieve and their only son Phillip who were born in Africa.

The family will sail from Quebec on April 17 for another term of ministry in Africa.

A cheque for $100 was presented to Mr. Steed by Mrs. William Whetung on behalf of the Club and the evening's collection was presented to him by Mrs. Robert McCracken.

The meeting then divided into birthday groups for refreshments. Tea was poured by Mrs. W. W. Leonard and Mrs. J. A. Steed.

The beautiful bouquet of spring flowers that centred the tea table was later presented to Mrs. Harold Steed.

Mars. J. R. Hull sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. M. Kennedy. The Rev. W. H. Tonge pronounced the benediction.

Confused By Streets Driver Fined $50

On a charge reduced from drunk to impaired driving, Archie McKinnon of Havelock was found guilty Monday and ordered to pay a fine of $50 and $3.75 costs.

PC William G. Scott said he followed McKinnon's car on the early morning of February 15. McKinnon, he said, was driving in an "erratic" manner. Stopped on George St. near Dublin St., the driver was unsteady on his feet, had glassy eyes and thick speech and smelled strongly of beer, Scott said.

PC Edward Niziol backed up Scott's observations. McKinnon, he said, was in a drunken condition, appeared very unsteady, smelled of liquor and had red eyes.

Leo Lalonde of Havelock said he had consumed "two or three" bottles of beer with the defendant at six o'clock the previous night.

McKinnon was in the city driving Joseph Hill of Havelock to a George St. address. He was confused by city streets and was tired, he told the court.

Though doubting the testimony of "two or three" beers, Magistrate W. R. Philps reduced the charge of drunk driving to impaired driving and convicted the defendant on the lesser charge.

Thief's Circle Tactics Land Him To Jail

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Phyllis Simon, cashier at the Sky Chief cafe, told police that a man who robbed her of $30 Monday night ran in a circle and ended back at the counter. She said the man pretended to be armed and demanded money. She handed over the $30 and he fled. Minutes later he came back in the door and sat at the counter. Mrs. Simon recognized him and called her son Clifford who struggled with the man until police arrested him. Charles McPherson, 24, was charged with robbery.

Mrs. Thomas A. Soles

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—The funeral for Mrs. Thomas Almond Soles, who passed away in Toronto General Hospital on Thursday, was held Saturday afternoon from the Hendren funeral home.

The former Jennie Hilton, she was 71 years of age and had been ill for several months.

Flower bearers were Earl Westlake, Louis Soles, Norman Crapp, Gordon Huck, Milton Soles and Frank Chumby. Pallbearers were B. F. Blake, Stanley Dever, William Fairbairn, William Shepperd, Donald Holmes and Stanley Hart.

The service was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Tonge of the Lakefield United Church and interment was in Lakefield cemetery.

IN QUEBEC RADIO SERIAL — Stars of the popular French-language radio serial "Un Homme et son Peche"—A Man and His Sin—are Estelle Maufette and Hector Charland. They portray a 20-year-old wife and her 69 year-old husband, Seraphin, in the program of Quebec village life which has passed the 3,000-program mark. Surveys estimate the program, started 13 years ago, has 2,500,000 listeners from Edmunston, N.B., to Edmonton, Alta.

Quebec Radio Story Of Miser Rolls Out 3,000 Chapters

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

MONTREAL (CP)—French Canada's most popular radio program is a serial dramatization of a Quebec novel about the life of a gnarled old miser and his 20-year-old wife during the rugged days when settlers opened up the Laurentian mountains north of Montreal.

Marking its 3,000th chapter recently in a special program, the CBC noted that author Claude-Henri Grignon had written enough words—6,000,000—to fill 50 average-size volumes since the serial started, unsponsored, 13 years ago. The program is carried on the CBC's French-language network.

"Un Homme et Son Peche"—a man and his sin—was an immediate success in Quebec province where listeners recognized in the growling Seraphin Poudrier and his devout Donalda a benevolent caricature of the penny-pinching habitant and his floor-scrubbing wife. Surveys estimate the program has 2,500,000 listeners, a record for Canada.

TAKEN SERIOUSLY

The program's French-language audience from Edmundston, N.B., to Edmonton takes the serial's intrigues so seriously that when there is a shortage in the Poudrier home, food and clothing are mailed to Montreal's CBC studios.

Once, when Donalda nervously told her husband she thought she was expecting, sympathetic listeners sent enough nursery articles to take care of a dozen babies. Butter and molasses are regularly mailed in because Donalda complains her daily diet of buckwheat pancakes is monotonous.

Gifts are turned over to charitable institutions by the CBC.

In time, "Un Homme" picked up not only a sponsor but United States listeners as well in the neighboring New England states where there is a large French-spea ng population.

The 15-minute program, broadcast daily Monday through Friday, has become so popular that the radio troupe spends the summer touring Canada's French-language centres with a stage production. Two films based on the novel have been made by a Quebec firm.

WRITES IN ATTIC

Author Grignon writes the serial in the attic of his white clapboard home in Ste. Adele en Haut, hilly Laurentian village 50 miles north of here, where he claims his characters once lived.

A bear-like man who still wears suits made out of hand-woven cloth, Mr. Grignon synchronizes action in his serial with seasonal activities on Quebec's farms.

A good share of the program's success is due to the acting of Hector Charland who is familiarly called "Seraphin" after the character he impersonates.

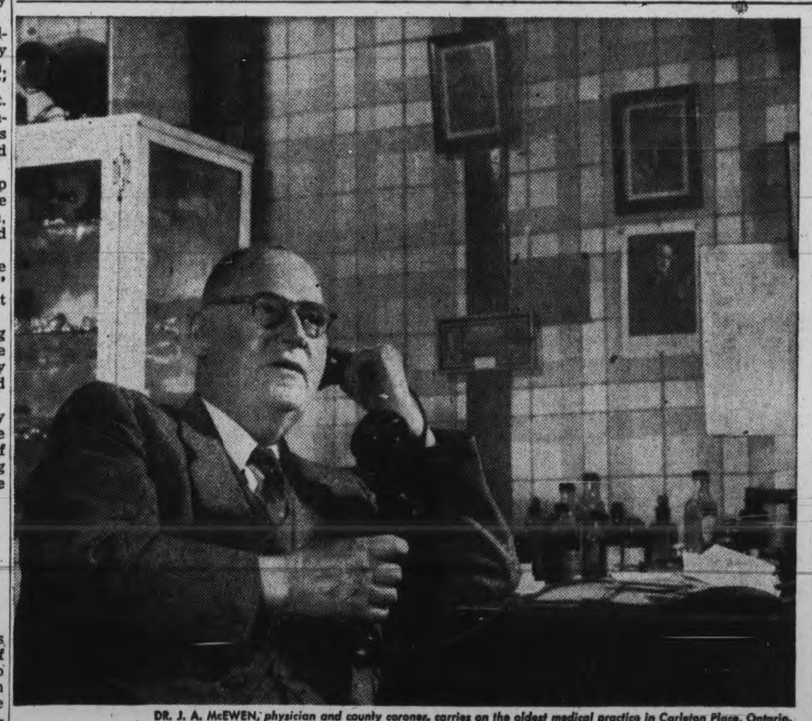
Most repeated scene in the serial, and the best-liked, has Seraphin coming out of his attic where he keeps a fortune amassed through usury.

The door's sinister creaking is followed by the sound of shuffling feet heading for the kitchen where the miser finds his wife indulging in a glass of milk or some other "luxury."

SPECIAL CUSS WORDS

Seraphin then rasps, "Viande a Chien"—his favorite cuss word, "Dog's Meat."

"Do you want to ruin me?" he asks.



To which Donalda usually answers: "My God, how you frighten me."

Mr. Grignon guesses his character has pronounced the cuss word about 25,000 times since the serial started.

"Un Homme" is peopled with a cast of about 75 characters who come and go at the author's bidding. It includes just about every type that can be found in a Quebec village, from the parish priest to local hotel-keeper.

Recently, when the CBC interviewed Grignon on the occasion of that 3,000th chapter and asked him what was the secret of his successful radio writing, he said: "I write what I feel like writing, when I feel like writing it; sometimes I'll write a half-dozen instalments in one night and then rest for a while."

For the last year, the program's radio time has clashed with a rosary crusade broadcast on private radio stations. The religious program cut heavily into "Un Homme and two weeks ago sponsors gave in and advanced the time of their program by 15 minutes.

Higher Costs Put Railways In Dilemma: CNR

OTTAWA (CP)—Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, said Monday railway operating costs and increasing freight rates resulting from them have put the railways in a dilemma.

He told the Commons railway committee the railways are pricing themselves out of some business and, beyond that, high rail charges of commodities could affect the sale of Canadian products in foreign markets.

The answer, he said, is "self-discipline" so as not to "kill the goose that lays the golden egg," though he said specifically he was not aiming this admonition at railway labor. The CNR payroll accounts for 56 per cent of its operating costs.

COVERS WIDE FIELD

In his annual appearance before the House committee looking into the CNR's affairs, Mr. Gordon gave information over a wide field including:

1. The CNR feels there must be no loss of revenue to the railways from the current freight-rate equalization studies being conducted by the board of transport commissioners.

2. The company is trying to find a means of producing cheaper meals in its diners, which now are giving an expensive and "too luxurious" service.

3. New and perhaps "surprising" proposals concerning commuters' service are to be made by the company to the transport board. Mr. Gordon said the CNR loses heavily on commutation service.

CNR NOT HAPPY

4. The CNR is "not too happy" about its accident record but is doing all possible to tighten up safety precautions. However, the record is no worse than those of other railroads.

5. On passengers operations, the CNR probably makes 'a little money" on its main lines and loses on practically all branch lines.

6. The CNR does not expect to lose out from water competition created by the proposed St. Lawrence seaway, figuring that anything good for Canada generally is good for the railways. New business created by the seaway will be shared in by the company.

On the question of how much higher freight rates can go, Mr. Gordon expressed some apprehension, in response to questions from committee members. He said the problem is complicated by competition from other carriers, chiefly highway transport.

"We are in a dilemma," he said, "and it is getting increasingly worse. With each freight rate award, the area in which we can get an effective increase is narrowing, and we are pricing ourselves out of the market steadily."

Hydro Use Increases Over Year Ago: HEPC

TORONTO (CP)—Consumption of electricity in Southern Ontario during the week ending March 15 was 7.5 per cent higher than during the same week a year ago, Robert Saunders, Ontario hydro chairman, said Monday.

In a weekly review of the province's power situation, Mr. Saunders said peak demands averaged 2,587,000 kilowatts, an increase of 180,000 kilowatts on demands during the corresponding week of 1952.

Consumption for the entire week was 331,808,000 kilowatt hours, Mr. Saunders said.

Social Credit Gov't Falls In B.C.

206-Day Reign Ends As Liberals Vote With Opposition

VICTORIA —(CP)— British Columbia's Social Credit government was brought down Tuesday night in the legislature after a 206-day minority reign.

The combined opposition, predominantly CCF, bolstered by one rebel Social Credit member, defeated the government by a vote of 28 to 17 to end a paradoxical situation.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said he will ask for dissolution of the 48-member House and an election, probably June 8.

Lieutenant - Governor Clarence Wallace can do one of two things:

1. He can grant Mr. Bennett's request for dissolution and an election. Earliest possible date for an election would be 60 days after dissolution.

2. He can ask CCF Opposition leader Harold Winch to form a government. Mr. Winch said he is ready and willing to form a government immediately.

The first choice appears more likely.

Present standing in the House is: Social Credit 19, CCF 18, Liberals six, Progressive Conservative two, Labor one, vacant two.

The government crashed on second reading of a bill designed to set up a new system of education costs. Bert Price (SC-Vancouver Burrard) voted against the government with the combined opposition. Before the vote was taken, Mr. Bennett said he would regard it as a vote of confidence.

SAVED SO-CREDS

On three previous votes this session, the balance-of-power Liberals had rescued Social Credit from defeat by siding with the government. On the last such occasion, the vote approving the budget, the Liberals were branded as "hypocrites" by C.C.F.

This followed the paradoxical pattern of the session which opened Feb. 3. Social Credit, apparently confident it could win a general election, taunted the opposition to defeat the administration and thus force a contest. The Liberals maintained British Columbians don't want to spend $750,000 on an election so soon after last June's balloting and supported the government.

The CCF could also govern with Liberal support. Liberal leader E T. Kenney said at the start of the session that if Social Credit were beaten, the CCF should be given a chance to form a government without a new election being called. He did not, however, promise Liberal support to the CCF.

The legislature will not meet today out of respect to Queen Mary but Mr. Bennett will meet other party leaders to discuss passage of a supply bill. This is necessary to keep government business going until a new election is held.

Supply will probably be passed Thursday and Mr. Bennett then will take his case for an election before the lieutenant-governor.

Britons Murmur Sadly As Queen Passes

Tramp of Sentries' Boots Only Sound As News Posted

LONDON—(AP)—"Poor old soul—and she wanted to see her grandchild crowned so badly."

So sorrowing Britons murmured as they wandered slowly away from gaunt Marlborough House early to day after a night-long vigil.

There were a few tears as the waiting crowd pressed against the tiny board hung outside the gates of Marlborough House bearing the final bulletin telling the world the courageous old Queen had died.

Men, some in evening dress, gently removed their hats and her and there a woman dabbed at her eyes as they filed two deep past the board.

They stopped for a few seconds, looked at the small slip of paper headed by a royal crest in black and then passed.

All was quiet save for the twittering of starlings in the trees and the hum of London's traffic along brightly-lit Piccadilly only a few hundred yards away, the tramp of iron-studded boots as grey-coated Guardsmen marched on sentry duty.

A crowd of 300 clustered along the sidewalks in front of Marlborough House and at sides of the open gates had been waiting silently for four hours for the tidings they knew were inevitable—"while sleeping peacefully Queen Mary died at 20 minutes past 10 o'clock."

Millions In World Mourn U.K.'s Grand Old Queen

By PHILIP CLARKE

LONDON (AP)—Millions around the world today mourned Britain's grand old Queen Mary. The symbol of British monarchy—Queen-Empress for 26 years, mother of two sovereigns, and grandmother of a third—she died peacefully in her sleep Tuesday night at the age of 85.

Her passing was not expected to delay the Coronation June 2 of her grand-daughter, Queen Elizabeth II. The decision is the Queen's, but stern-willed Queen Mary told friends months ago, while talking of the ceremony, that "nothing must interfere with it. Nothing."

Queen Mary had been ill for more than a month with what her doctors described as a gastric ailment. The exact nature of her illness has not been disclosed.

Her death came at 10:20 p.m. (5:20 p.m. EST), within hours of a sudden turn for the worse in her condition. Only the day before she had been reported improving.

Churchill Tells News To Commons

Prime Minister Churchill, himself only seven years younger than Queen Mary, gave the hushed House of Commons, and the world the first news of her death.

Holding a sheet of white paper in his trembling hand, the dinner-jacketed government leader said in a breaking voice:

"Mr. Speaker, I rise to move adjournment of the House. I have with great regret to make the announcement that Queen Mary has died."

A few cries of dismay from public galleries broke the quiet.

Churchill told the Commons he would make an address of condolence to Queen Elizabeth today, then ask adjournment for the day "as an expression of our profound sorrow and respect."

In Ottawa, Prime Minister St. Laurent announced the death to the Canadian House of Commons and it also adjourned. He termed the death "a personal sorrow for all Canadians."

As Churchill spoke, a solemn attendant a few blocks away posted the fourth and last medical bulletin of the day on the gates of Marlborough House.

Last Medical Bulletin Black-Edged

Edged in black, it said simply: "While sleeping peacefully, Queen Mary died at twenty minutes past ten o'clock."

Four generations of Britons who knew and loved her as the proud symbol of royalty paid their tribute. Through the Commonwealth, with its 575,000,000 people, flags were dipped and minutes of silence observed.

U.S. President Eisenhower sent his deep personal sympathy and recalled: "Queen Mary was a good, great Queen. Free peoples the world over will mourn her loss."

Similar expressions from other chiefs of state poured in to her monarch-grand-daughter at Buckingham Palace.

"She was like your own grandmother," said one of the mourners, who crowded in silence about her stately Marlborough House residence, where she died in London's foggy gloom.

"Poor old soul—and she wanted so badly to see her grandchild crowned," murmured another.

Plans For Coronation Go Ahead

Though the Queen's decision was awaited, preparations for the Coronation went ahead today. Because of her age and health, Queen Mary had planned to watch the Coronation on television.

Men bared their heads and many women wept as the Queen's personal standard was lowered slowly over her residence Tuesday night.

Some had waited all through the anxious hours for the posting of the first medical bulletin, at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, announcing Queen Mary had suffered a relapse.

Her eldest and dearly-loved son, the Duke of Windsor, had been summoned urgently by the doctors for his third call of the day. He arrived at his mother's silk-shrouded bed just nine minutes after she died.

Forty-five minutes later, grey and drawn, he left. The Duke had hurried to London from a Florida vacation two weeks ago.

Earlier Tuesday three generations of the Royal Family had called to pay their last respects in the darkened room filled with flowers and mementos of other years.

The old Queen was barely conscious when the granddaughter she helped train for the throne, Elizabeth II, stepped quietly to the bedside. But she recognized the Queen, turned her face and smiled.

Would Let Magistrate Set Date For Payment Of Fine; No Instalments

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Garson said Tuesday a plan to allow magistrates to set a date for settling fines is about as far as the government feels it should go towards instalment payment. He told a special Commons committee studying a revision of the Criminal Code that a magistrate may direct that fines be paid "forthwith at a time to be fixed." Mr. Garson made the statement in reply to J. W. Noseworthy (CCF - York South) who said that a number of organizations have urged the committee to institute instalment payment.

Mr. Garson said there is the danger of the police courts becoming cluttered with the business connected with instalments and dealing with persons who fall behind.

However, a magistrate could set a future date at which a fine must be paid so as not to work a hardship on a person without immediate cash.

F. D. Shaw (SC—Red Deer) appealed to the committee to consider the question of paying compensation to persons who serve a prison term after being wrongly convicted. He mentioned the case of Ronald Power, 21-year-old Nova Scotian, freed after serving 10 months of a five-year robbery term.

WRONGLY IDENTIFIED

Power was convicted last year in Toronto when he was wrongly identified by witnesses as a partner in the theft of a wallet containing $50. Later, police picked up Cass Martin, who resembled Power and found the wallet in his possession.

Power appealed and new evidence brought his release Feb. 12. Martin escaped from St. Catharines jail Aug. 21 while awaiting trial on charges of automobile theft. He is still sought by police.

Mr. Shaw said that in such a case the person loses his income during the time spent in jail and "many other things besides."

Mr. Garson said the federal government had no responsibility in the Power case. In his opinion, the provincial government already had the right to make compensation by order-in-council.

Inserting a provision for compensation in the code, he said, raised a constitutional issue.

Commonwealth Investment U.K. Firm's Aim

LONDON (CP)—A new financial company, aimed at increasing investment within the Commonwealth Development Finance Company will have an authorized capital of £15,000,000 as forecast exclusively in a Canadian Press dispatch from London last Jan. 8.

Formation of the company was foreshadowed after the Commonwealth economic conference last December, in which ministers laid stress on the need for increased development within the borders of Empire.

At the same time, it was emphasized that investment must be concentrated on projects which earn or save dollars—not what treasury chief R. A. Butler calls the "milk-bar type" of development.

Chairman of the new institution, which expects to be ready for business in a few days, is Sir Frederick Godber, chairman of Shell Petroleum and Shell Transport and Trading Company. Other members include Sir Ernest Oppenheimer, South African mining magnate, Sir Robert Sinclair, chairman of the Imperial Tobacco Company, Sir Geoffrey Heyworth, chairman of Unilever Ltd., one of the world's biggest businesses, and Canadian-born Sir Edward Peacock, head of a city banking firm.

Sir Edward, formerly of Toronto, was chairman of the group which organized the new company.

Financial support is being provided by the Bank of England and by outstanding industrial, commercial, mining and shipping interests. The company is expected to work closely with the World

100-1 Horse Winner Of Lincoln Handicap

LINCOLN, England (Reuters)—Sailing Light won the Lincolnshire Handicap today. Fastnet Rock was second and Magic Circle third.

Sailing Light, a plucky four-year-old, pulled off a tremendous last-minute spurt to win the first big race of the British turf season.

The colt took the one-mile event by a half-length from Fastnet Rock. Two lengths back came Magic Circle. A field of 41 started.

The winner and show horses both started at 100-to-eight. Magic Circle was a 50-to-1 shot.

Must Serve Pub Meals In Separate Rooms

TORONTO (CP)—Provincial Secretary Welch said Tuesday the proposed amendment to the Ontario Liquor Licence Act does not mean meals can be served in beverage rooms.

"The meals must be served in private dining rooms, separated from the beverage rooms," he said in an interview, clarifying recent reports of the change.

When asked about the serving of sandwiches in taverns, he said that would be decided later.

"However, sandwiches are served in some beverage rooms now."

Two-Pound Baby Lives

FORT KENT, Me. (AP)—A baby born Sunday with weight listed at one pound 14 ounces still was alive and reported in good condition today at hospital. The little girl, born 3 months prematurely to Mr. and Mrs. Hercules Roy, is being fed sugar and water hourly in an incubator.

Ask Curb On Farouk

CAIRO (Reuters)—Egypt has asked Italy to curb exiled former King Farouk's "political activities" or expel him, a spokesman announced today amid rising agitation to end the Egyptian monarchy altogether and set up a republic.

Worker Should Seek Success Not Pensioned Retirement

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A prospective employee — especially a young one — should be more interested in what his contribution to the employer will be than in the firm's pension plan, G. K. Sheils of Toronto, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said today.

Speaking to the Finance Club of the University of Western Ontario, he outlined "what the average Canadian employer likes or dislikes to find in the Canadian university graduate who comes to him for a job."

The employer is not favorably impressed, said Mr. Sheils, "by the young man of 20 or 25, whether he be university graduate or not, whose chief concern seems to be the degree of 'social security' which he can count on if he manages to remain in the employ of that particular company for the next 45 or 50 years.

"We get some of them just like that—almost before they get their hats off, they want to know all about the company's pension plan.

"The executive may be very proud of his company's pension plan, but his reaction to a feverish desire to learn all about any retirement scheme is: 'This fellow has no confiden ce is his own ability to get ahead—he's already, mentally, on pension.'

"The average employer is very happy to explain all these matters —but in their proper sequence. He just doesn't like to feel that before the prospective employee has even discussed what contributions he can make to the company, he wants to know all about what he can get out of it. . ..

"Many employers report that, during the very first interview, they have been asked by graduate applicants: 'How long is the training period before I can expect an administrative position.'"

Churchill Lauds Regal Life Of Queen Mary

LONDON (Reuters)—"She looked a Queen; she acted like a Queen"—with these words Winston Churchill paid tribute to the late Queen Mary in the House of Commons today.

"Her death leaves a void in our hearts and in the life of the nation—a void which it will be hard indeed to fill."

Both houses of parliament met for a short time before adjourning until Thursday as a mark of respect for the Dowager Queen, who died at 85 Tuesday night.

Churchill moved a formal address of sympathy to the Queen. He said:

"Queen Mary, by her personality, her example, and her bearing over so many years had endeared herself to the whole people of these islands and throughout the vast regions of the Commonwealth and Empire.

UNIVERSALLY HONORED

"There has not been in living memory a figure more widely known or more universally honored.

"Wherever she went she was assured of an applause which sprang from deep-seated affection and respect.

"She looked a Queen, she acted like a Queen. Her death leaves a void in our hearts and the life of the nation—a void which it will be hard indeed to fill."

Churchill's gruff voice, filled with emotion, rang clearly in the silent chamber.

Referring to the First World War and the part played by King George V, the Prime Minister said:

"During these unceasing ordeals in which the King acquitted himself so wisely and so well he was immeasurably strengthened by the support and comfort for which he could always look to Queen Mary.

ENDURED SORROWS

"She had to endure many personal sorrows, including the sudden death of three of her five sons. But she never allowed either personal sorrow and public anxiety to interrupt the discharge of her duties and her obligations."

"It may sometimes have been thought that Queen Mary, brought up in an age of conventions more rigid than those that now find acceptance, was intolerant to the changes which she lived to see.

"This was far from the truth. One of the most remarkable qualities was her lack of prejudice and the welcome she spontaneously gave to young people and to new ideas."

The House voted to send an address of sympathy to the Queen.

Clement Attlee, leader of the labor opposition, supported the motion, saying:

"The gracious lady whose death we mourn today had, throughout her long life, fulfilled the duties of her exalted station with grace, charm and dignity."

3 Hold Chances On Favored Horse

MONTREAL (CP)—Three Canadians, all from Ontario and identified only by noms de plume, drew Irish hospital sweepstakes tickets on Early Mist, favorite in the latest call-over for Saturday's Grand National steeplechase at Aintree, England.

The latest call-over quoted Early Mist at 100 to 9. His stable companion, Lucky Dome, quoted at 100 to 8, was drawn by three other Canadians, all using noms de plume.

Noms de plume of those with tickets on Early Mist are "4.30," Toronto; "Palomino," Welland, and "Guards Sweetie," Hamilton.

Those with tickets on Lucky Dome are "Gun," Ajax; "No. 106," Montrealu, and "Eric," Leaside, Ont. The Montrealer was identified as G. H. Carpenter of the Montreal Gazette.

"Smyley," Elora, Ont., drew a ticket on Mont Tremblant, quoted at 100 to 7.

Queen Decrees Single Month Of Court Mourning; No Barrier To Coronation

LONDON (CP)—The Queen today decreed a month's court mourning for Queen Mary, thus carrying out the wish of her grandmother that nothing interfere with the Coronation in June. Queen Mary died peacefully in her sleep Tuesday night at the age of 85. The Queen also discussed funeral plans for the grand old lady of British monarchy, Queen-Empress for 26 years and mother of two sovereigns. Her decision on the date and where the services will be held is expected to be announced within the next 24 hours by the lord chamberlain, the Earl of Scarborough.

The short period of mourning—the period for King George VI, ordered last February, was three months—assured plenty of time for completing preparations for the Coronation, now in the advanced stage.

QUEEN MARY'S WISH

Although Britons still awaited official assurance, there seemed no doubt that the June 2 Coronation will go ahead as planned. It was Queen Mary's last wish.

Stern-willed Queen Mary told friends months ago, while talking of the ceremony, that "nothing must interfere with it. Nothing."

As much as anyone, it was she who groomed her 26-year-old granddaughter for the Crown.

As the body of the Dowager Queen lay in the room at Marlborough House in which she died, the Queen and court officials conferred to decide the date of her funeral.

Lindsay Pilot "Mystery Flier"

RICHMOND HILL (CP)—George Wilkinson of Hartley, near Lindsay, was identified today as the mystery pilot who landed his two-seater plane north of here Monday night.

Wilkinson left the plane sitting in the backyard of a district resident all night then returned next morning, patched up a damaged wing and took off for Hamilton.

Wilkinson said he was flying from Lindsay to Hamilton when he hit a row of pines while flying low in some fog. He made a forced landing in the backyard.

Chinese Continue To Hold Mount

SEOUL (AP)—Chinese troops held Old Baldy today despite a rain of fire from Allied artillery and planes.

An Allied attack bogged down on the bare, windswept slopes of the key western front hill.

As the two-day battle rocked on, the Chinese clung to three-quarters of Baldy—the U. S. 7th division fighting uphill from a knob on the southeast corner.

The Reds were reported taking heavy casualties, but so were U.S. and Colombian units of the 7th division.

A stream of wounded moved to the rear. Helicopters shuttled from front to hospitals and back again.

B-26 light bombers started radar-directed strikes this morning, one every 20 minutes.

The Chinese made their move Monday night along a six-mile strip against the hill mass west of Chorwon that guards the invasion route to Seoul.

On Pork Chop, T-Bone and other hills the 3,500 Reds were beaten back in the darkness.

LONDON (Reuters) — Queen Mary's funeral will take place Tuesday in St. George's Chapel at Windsor Castle, it was officially announced tonight.

House Of Death In London Yields 4 Bodies

LONDON (AP)—Detectives today found a fourth rotting female corpse in London's "house of death."

The bodies of three women were found walled-up in the pantry of an apartment in the drab Notting Hill district Tuesday. The fourth, like the first three still unidentified, was under the floorboards of the same pantry.

One of the dead women, however, was believed by police to be the wife of the central figure in a general manhunt arising from the discoveries—55-year-old John Christie, a quiet little clerk who had rented the apartment.

Police with shovels and crowbars searched other rooms and began digging in the garden patch behind the house.

1949 SLAYING

The new discovery brings to six the number of deaths in the grim house in recent years. A woman and her son were murdered there in 1949.

Three of the decomposed corpses were believed to have been dead several months, and the other a few weeks.

Dr. F. E. Camps, a pathologist, carried out post-mortem examinations on the first three bodies and reported his preliminary investigation showed all had died from strangulation. They were reported to be bodies of women aged between 25 and 30.

Tenants of the building told police neither Christie nor his wife had been seen for a month.

A Scotland Yard spokesman said: "It is thought Christie may be able to assist us in our inquiries."

BEHIND WALLPAPER

The bizarre deaths were discovered Tuesday by Beresford Brown, a prospective tenant for the Christie apartment. While looking over the place, he found a pantry niche which had been closed off with several thicknesses of wallpaper.

Brown broke through the paper and was horrified to find the nude body of a woman.

He called the police, who found two more corpses in the niche.

Police records revealed that Christie was the principal witness in 1949 at the trial of Timothy J. Evans, who strangled his wife and infant son in the same dingy house.

Evans was hanged for the double murder.

Neighbors said Christie, who worked for a truck firm, had a nervous breakdown soon after the Evans trial.

Symbol of Crown's Dignity

Canadians Mourn Death Of Queen Mary

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A generation of Canadians to whom she was a living symbol of the dignity of the Crown mourned the passing of Queen Mary.

Though 50 years had passed sihce she set foot on Canadian soil, the 85-year-old Dowager Queen was a familiar figure to them. Her death Tuesday night severed a link with a period of history stretching back into their childhood.

The loss of the tall, stately woman who trained her children and grandchildren in the duties of the throne affected Canada almost as the passing of a reigning monarch.

A stunned House of Commons heard the news from Prime Minister St. Laurent at the opening of its evening sitting and adjourned quietly. Provincial legislatures adjourned, or observed two minutes of silence. The CBC devoted much of the evening to radio and television accounts of Queen Mary's life.

Mr. St. Laurent described her death as "a personal sorrow for Canadians" and cabled the Queen a message of sympathy on behalf of the Canadian people.

In a similar message, Governor-General Massey told the Queen her grandmother "will always be remembered in the hearts of all of us with love and affection and gratitude."

Opposition leader Drew said Queen Mary's serenity and firm character had much to do with the unique position of the British Crown throughout the Free World as a symbol of freedom. M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, spoke of her as "a queenly personality and a fine example of wife and mother." Social Credit leader Solon Low termed her "every inch a Queen."

Provincial leaders added their tributes. Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland said "a great and gracious lady of the commonwealth has gone." Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan said people in all parts of the world remember with affection the years in which she and King George V sat on the throne.

Manitoba's Premier D. L. Campbell said Canadians were proud to share the affection she gave to all peoples of the Commonwealth. Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario recalled her as "one who has given great leadership to the peoples of the Commonwealth and indeed to the world."

Nearly All Radar Network Finished: Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—An official statement indicated Tuesday that North America is fast winning its race against time in putting up a radar shield.

Its implications were that 90 per cent of the construction work on the joint Canadian-American network in Canada is finished.

The statement didn't, however, embrace the really vital part of the network—the electronic apparatus that would search out hostile planes that might transgress.

It was given to the Commons defence committee by R. G. Johnson, president of the government's Defence Construction Ltd., which does general construction work for the defence department.

90 PER CENT COMPLETE

He said:

"We have negotiated and supervised a number of projects being constructed for the account of the U.S. government. These contracts, which are all on a cost-plus-fixed fee basis, are now approximately 90 per cent complete."

There was little doubt that his reference was to the U.S. radar stations being built on Canadian soil and the indications are that Canadian stations are even farther advanced in general construction.

There is no public indication, however, as to how far advanced the installation of radar gear is but the RCAF has said the network should be fully or largely in operation late this year.

Three of the old Queen's six children survive her—Windsor, the Princess Royal Mary, Dowager Countess of Harewood, and the Duke of Gloucester.

She is survived also by nine grandchildren.

During her long life, Queen Mary had seen England change from its days of 19th century imperial glory under Queen Victoria, through two world wars, into the economic straits and tense atomic era.

In her later years, she witnessed social upheaval in her own country, the rise of socialist government controls and a curtailment of the monarchy which Queen Victoria could hardly have envisioned. The once-wealthy nation became poor. The opulent Edwardian life finally was succeeded by post-war austerity.

Her long career was punctuated, too, by personal tragedy. Her first fiance, Prince Edward, Duke of Clarence, died in 1891, a little more than a month after their engagement. She subsequently married his brother, George.

Their youngest son, Prince John, died in 1919. The death of her husband Jan. 20, 1936, brought widowhood, but within the year she was struck by another tragedy—the abdication of her beloved eldest, Edward VIII, to marry an American divorcee whom Queen Mary never received.

With the Second World War came death for her fourth son, the Duke of Kent, in an RAF crash in 1942. February 6, 1952, her second son, King George VI, died.

INDOMITABLE QUEEN

Through all the public and private sorrow, the indomitable woman never faltered in her stern devotion to duty.

At her husband's death, after the couple had reigned for a quarter-century, she said: "Although he will no longer be at my side and no words can tell how I shall miss him, I trust that with God's help, I may still be able to continue some part, at least, of the service which for 42 years of happy married life we tried together to give to this great land and Empire."

It was a pledge she staunchly fulfilled through the abdication crisis, the dark days of the Second World War and the bitter post-war years, until illness this winter forced curtailment of her activities.

She was born May 26, 1867, in Kensington Palace, the daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Teck and a great grand-daughter of King George III. Her parents christened her Victoria Mary Augusta Louisa Olga Pauline Claudine Agnes, but she became known as Princess May.

After Prince Edward's death of influenza in 1891, she married George in 1893. The death of Victoria, in 1901, and of George's father, Edward VII, in 1910, brought them to the throne.

LED BUSY LIFE

As Queen-Empress, and later as Queen Mother, she led a busy life of public service. She inspected slums and the homes of the working classes, gave generously to charity, visited hospitals, institutions and orphanages, constantly mingled with different classes of society, and was an indefatigable patroness of the arts and the theatre.

Trained in economical methods as the daughter of not-wealthy parents, she ran her palaces on strict and careful budgets. She rose early, ate lightly, carried on a voluminous correspondence and remained the centre of her large family.

During the Second World War, when she moved to the relative security of the Gloucestershire village of Badminton, she helped in troop canteens, organized entertainments, often dug in her vegetable garden as an example to the "dig for victory" campaign for more food, and gave standing orders to her chauffeur to give rides in her limousine to servicemen and women walking or resting on the highway.

HUMANITY SOFTENED

White-haired, stately, ramrod-straight, her aristocratic imperiousness softened by humanity and simplicity, the old Queen in her later years represented what historian Arthur Bryant described as "the English sense of home, of quiet certainty, of continuing standards."

The millions of Britons loved her for these qualities and for her human touches—her tightly-rolled umbrella, the turban-like hats she always wore because "George liked them," her tireless shopping, her ardent needlework, and all the other things that made her a woman as well as a Queen.

Queen Mary's public appearances began to dwindle after the death of eGorge VI, as increasing frailty and weariness took their toll. Trying to maintain her regime, she spent her last Christmas at the royal country home in Norfolk, Sandringham, but a chill delayed her return to London until the end of February.

The first indication of her last illness came three weeks ago, in a court statement that she had been confined to her bed for a week with a recurrence of gastric trouble.

Certify Unit To Bargain For Radio Men

The Canada Labor Relations Board have certified the National Association of Broadcast Engineers and Technicians (CCL - CIO) as bargaining agents for 14 employees of Radio Station CHEX Peterborough.

NABET are also bargaining agents for about 15 employees of Radio Station CKWS, Kingston. Both stations are operated by the Brookland Co. Ltd., Toronto.

They are the first two units of employees on private radio stations in Canada to apply for collective bargaining status. However employees at a third station, Verdun, P.Q., have signed up a unit of their employees and are understood to be ready to apply for certification.

CHEX employees applied for certification on Jan. 26, followed in a few days by the CKWS group. The hearing before the CLRB, which has jurisdiction over radio matters in Canada, was March 19, and certification was announced Tuesday.

The bargaining unit includes announcers, technicians, a continuity writer and librarian.

Next step will be to negotiate a collective bargaining agreement.

Fined Third Time For Sunday Work

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Convicted for the third time since last summer of carrying on business on Sunday contrary to the Lord's Day Act, Max Gostick, was fined $40 and costs Tuesday.

Gostick, owner of a drive-in market outside the city limits, pleaded guilty.

As he paid his fine he said: "We sell perishable merchandise, and as long as we have perishable merchandise we are going to stay open and sell it."

Crown Attorney C. C. Middlebro warned him in return that there is no exception in the law for such merchandise.

Stratford To Change Square To Parking Lot

TORONTO (CP)—A Stratford bid to convert part of the city's market square into a parking zone won quick approval today from the Ontario legislature's private bills committee.

The bill, introduced by J. F Edwards (PC-Perth), would enable the city to set up parking meters on a one-acre tract of land between Downie and Wellington streets.

Queen Decrees

The burial may take place at the end of this week or early next week. She is likely to be buried at Windsor, where her husband, King George V, was laid to rest in 1936 and her son, King George VI, was buried only 13 months ago.

The funeral service probably will not be held at Westminster Abbey because of the Coronation building work in progress there. The services may be conducted at St. Paul's Cathedral in London or St. George's Chapel in Windsor Castle.

During the month-long illness which led to her death, Queen Mary was anxious that nothing should interfere with the Coronation. She had already agreed with her doctors that she should not go to Westminster Abbey to see the ceremony. But she was hoping to watch her granddaughter drive through the streets of London.

WOULD WATCH TV

Eagerly, she told her friends that she would watch the two-hour Coronation service on her television set—one of her few concessions to the modern age. She never used a telephone in her life.

Through the night and day telegrams of sympathy poured into London from all parts of the world. Kings, statesmen and diplomats sent their condolences, and there were simple messages from folk in the Commonwealth who mourned the passing of the oldest member of their Royal Family.

Flags flew at half-staff from all public buildings, churches and chapels were open for early morning workers to offer their prayers, and radio programs took on a solemn tone.

Blinds still shrouded the window of the room where the Queen died at 10:20 p. m. Monday night. Her personal standard had been lowered.

It was outside this same brick house, little more than a year ago, that mourning crowds had seen the stately Queen standing erect while the funeral cortege of her son, King George, passed in procession.

FLAGS HALF-STAFF

Today flags flew at half-staff through the land. Many men wore black ties.

At 9:15 p. m. (4:15 p. m. EST) tonight Churchill will broadcast to the nation.

The period of mourning will dampen pre-Coronation festivities. Two big presentation parties, which were to have been held at Buckingham Palace today and Thursday, have been cancelled.

The BBC cancelled its scheduled programs this morning and substituted periods of solemn music interspersed with announcements of Queen Mary's death. The chimes of Big Ben and the bells of Lavenham parish church also were broadcast.

Boards Interview Student Teachers

Superintendents of schools, inspectors and members of school boards interviewed the students at the Normal School this week. They came from Kingston, Belleville, Hamilton, Brantford, Ottawa and many other smaller towns as well as representatives of rural schools. In most cases the students who will graduate in June were offered minimum salaries ranging from $2,000 to $2,300. Evidence of the shortage of teachers was in the fact that most of the representatives had contracts along for those engaged to sign.

Community Fund Tops 1952 Goal

The Red Cross and Community Fund total has now passed the 1952 objective.

The fund office reported that today's total is $85,410. This is $410 more than last year's objective but is still more than $9,000 under this year's objective of $95,000.

Canvassers are still hard at work, but the fund office will be quite happy to look after any contributors who may have been missed.

Division totals to date with objectives in brackets, are: Special names $24,178 ($27,850); industrial $37,024 ($41,800); retail $15,358 ($19,250); women's $7,339 ($5,500); penny-a-day $697 ($600).

Western Oils Mark Gain, Industrials Firm

TORONTO (CP) — Stock market prices were firm in early afternoon trading today.

Western oils gained while industrials held firm. Base metals and golds made minor gains. Volume for the first three hours totalled 2,132,000 shares.

Uraniums gained but New Brunswick base metals attracted little interest.

Industrials gained in steels, miscellaneous issues. Manufacturing companies and papers.

Seior golds and holding companies were mixed.

A fairly wide list of moderate gains strengthened western oils.

Higher-priced base metals were firm.

Raybestos Hearing Is Set For April 15

An application for certification as Raybestos Company workers' bargaining agent by the International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO-CCL) will be held before the Ontario Labor Relations Board April 15 in Toronto.

Raybestos workers are now represented by Local 527 of the rival United Eelectrical Workers.

Joe Wirtz, Canadian co-ordinator of IUE-CIO, claimed the IUE had already obtained cards indicating signed and paid memberships from a majority of Raybestos workers. The UE contract at Raybestos expires May 14.

Family, Cattle Flee Soo District Flood

BAR RIVER (CP) — One family and herds of cattle have been forced to flee to high ground from the rapidly rising flood waters of the Bar river in this area some 18 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie.

Water is reported three feet deep today in an area one mile wide and two miles long known as the Bar river "flats." A number of farmers have been forced to leave their cattle stranded in the water-soaked fields. One raised his barn eight inches but his liyestock was still knee-deep in water. Children from one home were taken out by rowboat to the highway to attend school.

Bank and perhaps to attract private American investors.

The importance of the new institution lies not only in its formidable array of talent and the swiftness with which it represents the implementation of Commonwealth decisions, but in that it marks the beginning of what could be a real solution to Commonwealth development problems.

The Manchester Guardian, for instance, comments today that if the company succeeds in achieving co-operation from the World Bank, it might lead to a revival of interest in overseas lending on the New York capital market.

"From there, it is not a long step to the American private investor," it says. "Switzerland and Canada may also have funds available."

In another announcement today, it was disclosed that Sir Alexander Roger is latest among leading British business men to make known plans for investment in Canada. His company, British Insulated Callender's Cables, is spending more than $3,000,000 to acquire the common stock of a Canadian company, Phillips Electrical Works, which will carry on the Canadian manufacturing business and act as agents for the British company's products.

KATMANDU (Reuters)—A group of 41 police officers have been arrested "to foil a conspiracy to overthrow the government" of the Himalayan kingdom of Nepal, it was announced today.

Mayer, Ministers Fly To U.S. Seeking More Aid

PARIS (AP) — Premier Rene Mayer and a large delegation of top French officials flew to Washington today seeking more military and economic aid. The government chief carried with him the prestige of victory in a parliamentary money battle and a six-country compromise on French conditions for approving the proposed European Army.

Accompanied by Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and Finance Minister Maurice Bourges-Maunoury, the suave, 57-year-old Mayer was scheduled to arrive in New York at noon EST and to transfer to President Eisenhower's personal plane, the Colombine, for the trip to Washington.

After their visit to Washington, the French officials plan to fly to Canada for a brief stay before returning to New York and home.

The French hope to arrange for at least $125,000,000 in immediate cash aid. This sum was included provisionally in the 1953 French military budget.

They also want to know how much U. S. aid they can count on for building up their armed forces in Europe and to step up their war efforts against the Communist-led Vietminh rebels in Indo-China.

The French government hopes that some kind of long-range program can be worked out for U. S. military aid. Such an arrangement would enable European countries to plan farther ahead than is possible with the present year-to-year uncertainty at what Congress will do.

Mayer's take-off was delayed several hours by a stiff parliamentary fight for approval of a loan of 80,000,000,000 francs ($230,000,000) from the Bank of France.

The Assembly finally approved it 260 to 221 after Mayer threatened to call off his Washington trip and resign. The premier told the Assembly bluntly:

"If there is no convention (loan agreement), there will be no plane, because there will be no government."

County Court Pays Tribute

Two minutes of silence were observed in county court today in tribute to 85-year-old Queen Mary who died Tuesday night at her home in Marlborough House.

While the flag outside the county court building flew at half mast Judge John de N. Kennedy paid a brief tribute to the late Queen. County court then resumed.

Flags were also flying half mast on the city hall and other public buildings in the city.

County Council, meeting today in their March session, were expected to also observe a two-minute silence when they resumed at 2 p.m.

Ontario Farmers Tour Farms Of Scotland

TORONTO (CP)—Four young Ontario farmers will shortly leave Canada for a tour of English and Scottish farms under auspices of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The four were selected from 26 nominees by a committee following interviews at the Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph.

They are: Helen Nesbitt, 27, Caledon, Peel county; Katherine Ferguson, 26, RR. No. 6, St. Thomas, Elgin county; Fred Fancher, 27, Florence, Lambton county; Charles Griffiths, Oxdrift, Kenora district.

The group will arrive in Britain May 29 and attend the Royal Highland show in Scotland and the Royal Dairy show in England.

Employer Ordered To Pay Back Wages

Ordered to pay back wages totalling $26.40 to the complainant Linder Burville of 509 Chamberlain, Ferne Berry of North Monaghan Rd. was fined $5.50 in costs today when she pleaded guilty to a charge under the Master and Servants Act in Magistrate's Court.

E. German Mutinies

BERLIN (AP) — The United States high commission newspaper Neue Zeitung said Tuesday that mutinies had occurred recently in several units of East German police because of a food shortage. The newspaper quoted Albert Schaefer, head of the agricultural department of the ruling Socialist Unity (Communist) party, as saying at a recent conference that the government had to issue food from state reserves to overcome the shortage and prevent further incidents.

Five Pounds of Flesh

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Butcher Irving Orling has agreed to send his former wife five pounds of meat weekly for their two children. Judge Wayne Allen wrote the meat order into an agreement of $15 a week for support of Toby and Anita Orling. The judge didn't stipulate the kind of meat to be delivered, but observed: "They are your children and I assume you wouldn't send them gristle."

Woman Dies

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A beggar woman died Tuesday of burns suffered when a fire swallower blew flames at her. The fire-eater said she had been following him around, asking alms from the crowd which gathered to see his act. He was arrested and held.

4 Anglers Fined Total Of $1,000

PARRY SOUND (CP) — Judge Walter Little dismissed appeals by four fishermen Tuesday and imposed fines totalling $1,000 for violations of the 10-trout limit in the Ontario fisheries regulations.

Dr. James Thomas of Caledon, William Stubbs of Caledon and Lockwood Stubbs of Alton were each fined $200 and George Laver of Cooksville was fined $300.

Laver, an honorary deputy game warden, was fined an additional $100 for failing to enforce the Game and Fisheries Act.

The men were found with their excess catch May 5, 1952, in Proudfoot township and originally convicted Oct. 19 by Magistrate F. C. Powell.

Urges Unification

BONN (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer called on the Soviet Union Tuesday to agree to unification of Germany and release about 300,000 German war prisoners he says are still being held in Russia. Such moves, the West German chancellor said, would prove Russia's expressed desire for peace.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL — (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 1 29-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today. Tuesday's noon rate was 98 15-16. Pound sterling $2.76¼, against $2.75¾.

Ban Fascist Candidates

ROME (AP)—The Italian Parliament Tuesday renewed for another five years the law banning former Fascist leaders from election to Parliament.

Hotel Manager's Case Ends At Committee

OTTAWA (CP) — The controversy-laden case of the demoted hotel manager apparently is ended so far as the Commons railway committee is concerned, after four sessions of debate that sometimes set the rafters rattling.

Charges, counter-charges and denials revolving around a transfer of Robert Pitt, Canadian National Railways hotel man, had kept the committee in an intermittent uproar since Monday night.

But the running furore concerning charges of "political interference" in Mr. Pitt's transfer seemed to have died down following a final Progressive Conservative claim Tuesday night that Donald Gordon, CNR president, appeared to have been "leading this committee around by the nose."

DEMOTED

Mr. Pitt was moved last fall from the managership of the Fort Garry Hotel at Winnipeg to the CNR's Prince Edward Hotel at Brandon, Man. Progressive Conservatives suggested — and Mr. Gordon and Transport Minister Chevrier denied — there had been "pressure" resulting from complaints following a visit to the Fort Garry last summer by a Liberal group including Prime Minister St. Laurent.

The committee wound up taking no action on the issue. It rejected Progressive Conservative attempts to call CNR hotel officials—including Mr. Pitt—and have correspondence concerning his transfer produced.

The Pitt case flurry blew up during the committee's annual examination of CNR affairs, during which Mr. Gordon said the CNR should have a surplus of a "few millions" in 1953. It had a surplus of $142,000 last year and has budgeted nominally for a $400,000 profit this year.

Mr. Gordon said Tuesday night the recent seven-per-cent increase in freight rates effective March 16 should yield the "few millions" surplus after taking into account some $4,500,000 in retroactive pay to employees from a recent wage settlement. He did not give a definite figure for the prospective profit.

Sets Plane Height Mark

LONDON (AP)—The Bristol Aeroplane Co. said Tuesday night that its twin-jet Canberra bomber on an unofficial flight has reached an altitude of 60,000 feet (11.36 miles). This is 554 feet higher than the accepted aircraft altitude record of 59,446 feet.

DO YOU OWN A CAR?

When the man who developed Bardahl Rad Conditioner brought his car to a garage for repairs, the garage owner phoned to ask him what on earth had he put in his radiator. He said that when they drained his radiator the water was so thick with dirt it would hardly pour. The Bardahl Rad Conditioner had removed rust, scale and dirt untouched by a popular brand chemical cleaner. The garage owner immediately placed an order for their own use. Since then hundreds of thousands of car owners in Canada and the United States have used Bardahl Rad Conditioner. If you own a car you should try it too . . . if your car is new it will keep your radiator in permanently new condition . . . if you have been running your car for a few years you'll be amazed at the dirt, rust and scale it will remove. Bardahl Rad Conditioner keeps radiators clean . . . eliminates rust formation which can insulate a motor, causing harmful overheating . . . and it also lubricates and stops squeaky water pumps. Bardahl Rad Conditioner costs only 89c. Ask for it at your Service Station.

A Meeting will be held on Friday, March 27, at 8 p.m., in the Town Hall, Norwood, to discuss the possibility of forming a Township Federation of Agriculture.

Mr. Hergott, of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, will be present to give us information and answer questions about the subject.

All interested please attend.

Winter Wheat, Pastures Show Up Green

Rural stocktaking of the effects of winter in wheat fields and pastures has so far been reassuring, particularly in western Ontario counties reporting this week to the Department of Agriculture.

"Wheat is showng up green" in Perth, and Peel says: "Farmers are reporting that wheat fields in general have come through the winter well."

Snowfall was so light across the province all winter that farmers were wondering about the fall-sown crop and its unusually scant protection.

SAP RUN LIGHT

Maple sap run is light and prices range from $5 to $5.75 a gallon for syrup. Perth county says weanling pigs are back to $10 and up.

Seed cleaning plants are busy. Northumberland reports plowing begun on light well-drained land towards the end of last week. U.S. demand for dairy cows has hardly affected prices, "but in Dundas county sales have been reducing some of the congestion on local farms."

Grenville says veterinarians are busy testing cattle for export, but in Norfolk "U.S. buyers are looking for bargains, and farmers are inclined to hold their good cattle for better prices."

Huron: "There is increasing interest in applying nitrogen to poor stands of fall wheat." Haldimand: "A a good deal of clover seed has been sown in the last week. Fall wheat and meadows have come through the winter better than expected. There will be a strong demand for ammonium nitrate to apply to these fields this spring."

Agriculture throughout in Ontario is getting ready for a new season, and many activities are reflected in the weekly rural review.

Nine-Year-Old Boy Saved From Drowning

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Billie Bertrand, 9, was dramatically rescued from the cold waters of the aqueduct which channels Trout Creek into the Trent River Sunday afternoon.

Billie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bertrand, Birdge St. W., was playing on the cement wall of the aqueduct near it's entrance to the river when he tripped on a stick he was carrying and rolled off into the water. Doug Seymour, who was nearby, handed the drowning boy the end of a willow branch to hang onto.

Hearing the boy's cries for help, Alex Seymour, Don Guerin and Raymond Reid, all of whom live nearby, rushed to the rescue. Holding the elder Seymour by the feet while he bent over the high wall they were able to pull the Bertrand lad from the fast moving water.

He was none the worse for his experience after being taken home and given dry clothes.

Bermuda Taxes Low Visitor Tells Club

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — Wesley R. Sweet was guest speaker at the Kinsmen Club luncheon Monday. Introduced by Forrest Dennis, Mr. Sweet gave an illustrated talk on his recent holiday in Bermuda.

The coral island is the holiday Mecca of thousands. Although its best hotels are lavish and costly, taxes are practically non-existent. The water supply for humans must be conserved very carefully. The coral lies only six inches below the topsoil all over the island and the roofs of the houses are cut from this rock.

Mr. Sweet and his wife spent five weeks in Bermuda, where there is no frost in the winter and the island is kept at a constant though not oppressive warmth by the Gulf Stream. A vote of thanks was moved by Stan Macy to Mr. Sweet.

It was decided to hold the annual Ladies' Night at Edgewater Park, Wednesday evening, April 8. President Ray Hall will be in charge of the committee for this event.

A committee to make plans for the annual street carnival and dance, July 3, was formed. Discussion on the club's proposed contribution to the Coronation Day celebration resulted in the decision to enter a float in the local parade.

President Ray Hall revealed that the club, in co-operation with the Rotary Club, has been supplying milk to junior classes at the local schools since Christmas.

Farm Union Asks All-Out Farm Production

ORANGEVILLE (CP) — The Ontario Farmers' Union, organized last December on the lines of similar groups in the Prairie provinces and now claiming a membership of 2,500, came out Tuesday in favor of all-out farm production.

The OFU at its first annual meeting announced that Communists were barred from its ranks; asked a delegation to seek a public inquiry by the provincial government into the effect of imitation dairy products; left for further executive action resolution on the subject of gasoline tax rebates for farmers; called for all-out production to feed the hungry; named its first complete slate of officers and echoed many of the views of other farm organizations.

Chrysler Makes $100 Car Price Cut

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. announced Tuesday night an across-the-board price cut averaging $100 on all its passengers cars. The cuts were effective as of midnight Tuesday night.

In Windsor, President E. C. Row of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada said he had no comment when asked if the Canadian company planned a similar price cut.

No More Celebrations

NEW YORK (AP) — Maestro Arturo Toscanini planned to spend his 86th birthday today rehearsing the NBC symphony orchestra and trying to keep a pledge he made six years ago. The conductor, on his 80th birthday, said he did not want to hear any more about special celebrations until he was 90.

Easter Story Theme Of YPU Meeting

SPRINGVILLE (ENS)—George Bedford, culture convener, arranged the program for the Sunday evening meeting of the YPU at the home of Miss Eleanore, Marilyn and Doreen Bowles, featuring the Easter Story.

The stories behind the writing of two hymns, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Make Me a Captive, Lord," were told and excerpts from "Christ in the Fine Arts" effectively portrayed the story of the crucifixion and resurrection.

Bryce Larke arranged the worship service. Gordon Clifford read the scripture and Eleanore Bowles conducted Bible study, a discussion of "The Judgment of the Nations and Our Accountability to God."

The recreation period included a hymn tune recognition contest. Eleanor Bowles, president, announced the Presbytery spring convention at Keene, April 11 and 12, and the YPPU bowling club banquet at Mark St. Church, April 18.

Lunch was served by the hostess and her daughters.

Lord's Supper Theme Of WMS Meeting

HASTINGS (ENS)—The United Church WMS met at the home of Mrs. B. Preston with a good attendance.

Mrs. Metcalfe presided and conducted the worship period. The theme for March was "Sacrament of the Lord's Supper." The story of the Passover was read by Mrs. Fleming.

The mission bale, which was shipped, was valued at $37. Rev. Cole kindly paid charges.

Mrs. Cole gave the chapter in the study book, assisted by Mrs. Fox, Mrs. Runnel and Mrs. Oliver. Readings were: "Great and Little Things," by Mrs. H. Oliver; "Happiness Street," by Mrs. Way, and "Road Blocks to Peace," by Mrs. Metcalfe. A piano solo, "The Bells of St. Marys," was rendered by Mrs. M. Baker.

The meeting closed with a hymn and benediction by Rev. Cole.

The hostess was assisted by her two daughters.

U.K. Official To Inspect Plowing Site

COBOURG (ENS). — Alfred Hall of England, secretary of the World Plowing Match Association, will visit the site of the international and world plowing match north of Cobourg Thursday morning, it has been announced by Ralph Banbury, secretary of the plowing match committee.

Mr. Hall will confer with J. A. Carroll, assistant deputy minister of agriculture for Ontario and president of the World Plowing Association, on the details in connection with the world match which will be held during the international meet on October 6, 7 and 8.

Mr. Hall, who will meet the Canadian committee, will inspect the site with them and complete arrangements for the contest, including details of the prize list.

Mr. Hall and his party will arrive at the plowing site about 11 a.m. Thursday. He will be accompanied by F. A. Lashley, secretary-manager of the association; Hubert Avery of Brockville, president; Clarke Young, treasurer; Alex McKenney, landsman, and J. D. Thomas of Imperial Oil Ltd. Later, Mr. Hall will be guest at a luncheon to be held in Cobough with Mayor Jack Burnet in attendance.

Fewer Rare Cranes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States fish and wildlife service Tuesday reported that it found only 21 whooping cranes in aerial surveys made at the Arkansas national wildlife refuge this winter. This was a decline of two from last year. The whooping crane, North America's largest migratory bird, is seriously threatened with extinction.

Return Last Nazis

BAD REIRHENHALL (AP)—The last 11 German prisoners of war held in Communist Yugoslavia returned to their home country today. They included two former generals whom Yugoslav authorities pardoned from death sentences for war crimes.

Never Had It So Good Home Builders Told

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian house builders "never had it so good," D. B. Mansur, president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, said Tuesday.

In an address to the National House Builders' Association, Mr. Mansur said the demand for houses is stronger than it has been since 1948 and there is no immediate indication of a lessening of that demand.

The number of houses started in the first two months of this year is 80 per cent greater than the number for the same period in 1952, he said.

L. S. Hallman, Kitchener, was elected Ontario vice-president. Directors included W. Ridgley, Oshawa, and W. M. McCance, Sarnia.

Lake Seamen Ask Wage Increases

TORONTO (CP) — Great Lakes seamen are asking for a wage increase of $50 a month and a 40-hour week for this year's navigation season which opens in two weeks, officials of the AFL Seafarers Union said Tuesday.

The union, which represents about 5,000 sailors, held contracts last season with most of the Great Lakes shipping companies. This year, for the first time, the companies are negotiating jointly through a new association, with meetings being held in Montreal.

Wages in 1952 were $190 a month for deckhands, $220 a month for watchmen and $230 a month for wheelsmen.

M. L. Shaughnessy

The funeral for Michael Leo Shaughnessy of Toronto, and formerly of Hastings and Peterborough, who died in Toronto Sunday, was held Tuesday from the Duffus funeral home to Immaculate Conception Church.

Requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. Leo Cleary.

Pallbearers were Thomas Daley, Charles Coughlin, Fred Cleary, Thomas Garvey, Leo Whibbs, Leo Shaughnessy. Graveside prayers at Mount Carmel Cemetery, Hastings, were also said by Father Cleary.

Mumps Decreasing

COBOURG (ENS) — Sixty-six new cases of communicable disease were recorded for the week ending March 21 by the Northumberland and Durham counties health unit. Mumps are on a definite decline with only 15 new cases but red measles jumped to 38 cases, of which 29 are in Bowmanville. There were also nine cases of chickenpox, one of German measles and four of infectious jaundice. Cobourg had only one case, a red measles patient.

Parents Of Pupils Attend Open House

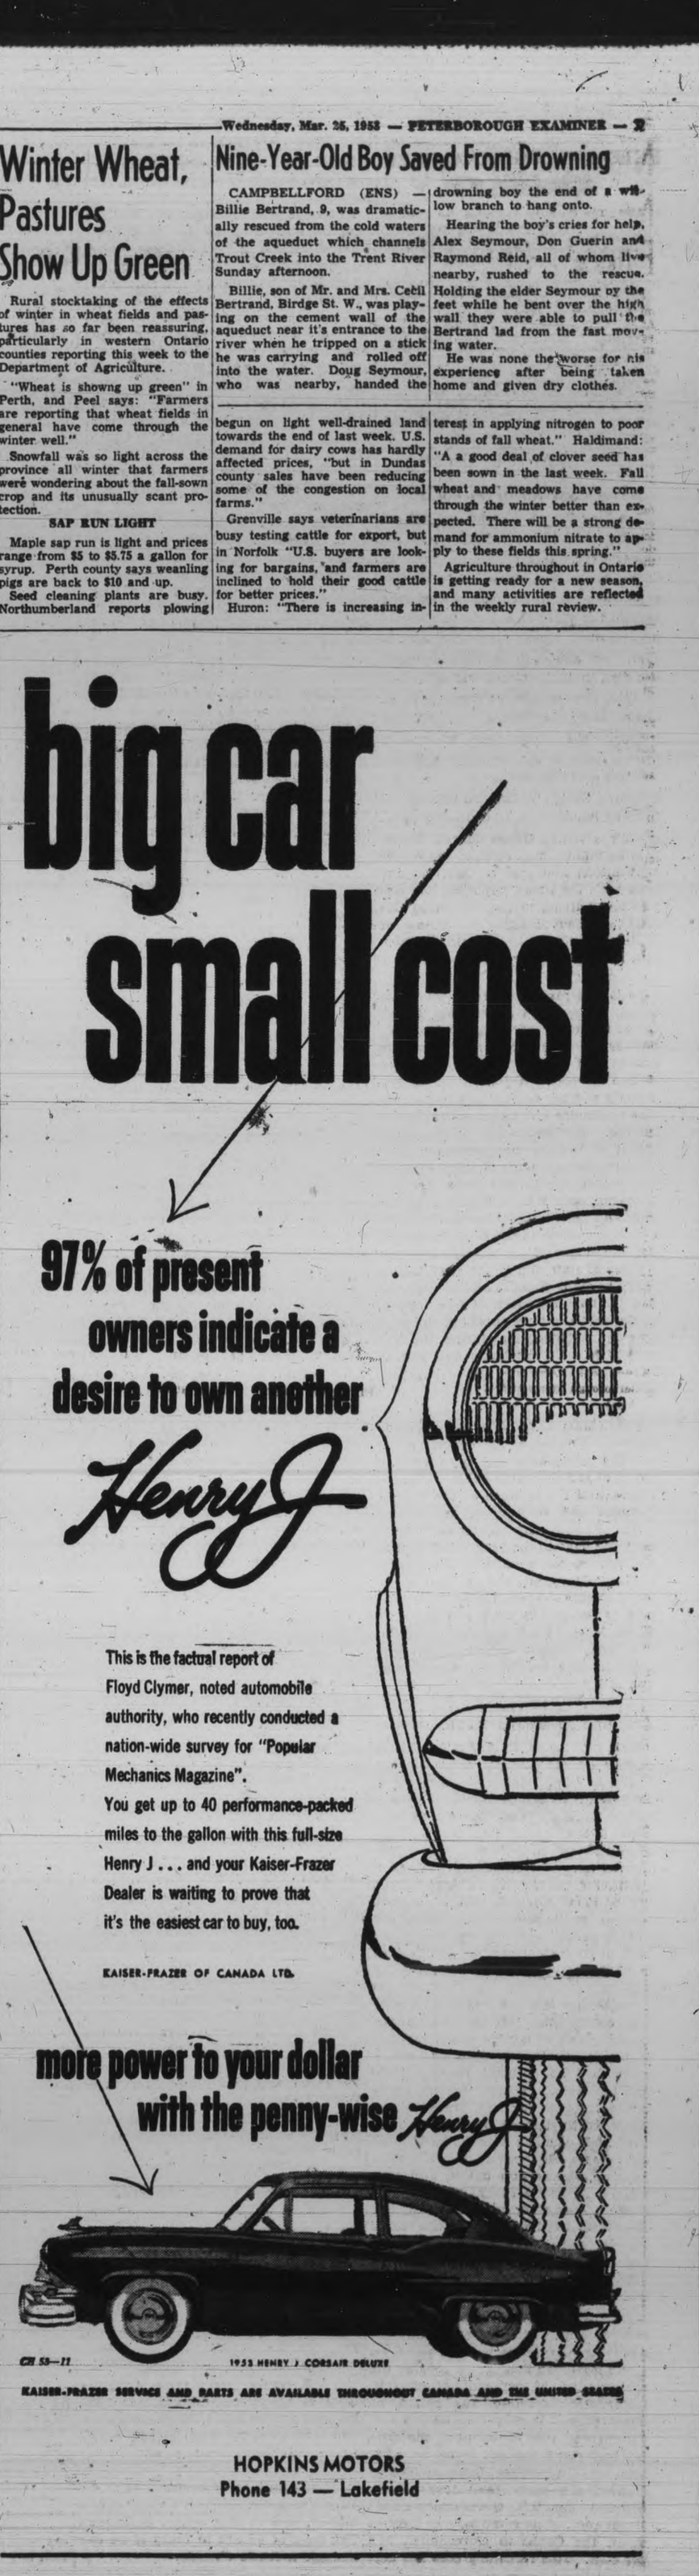
NORWOOD — (ENS) — The president, Mrs. J. J. Stewart chaired the meeting of the Home and School Association which opened with the singing of "O Canada" with Mrs. Jack Cronin at the piano.

The typewriter purchased by the association was on display an was presented to the principal, Mr. Duncan Sinclair, by the president on behalf of the association.

Mrs. Kenneth Pakenham read the minutes and Mr. Edgar Clarke gave the treasurer's report. The attendance banner was won by Miss Ruth Avery's room.

Conveners of the school fair to be held April 24 gave their reports. Miss Ruth Avery, publications convener, gave her report on literature on hand. Mrs. Stewart thanked the ladies who had helped the teachers at the rink during the winter. Mrs. Donald Audas and her committee were in charge of the nomination forms.

Mr. Sinclair gave a report on the public meeting held recently in regard to Coronation Day. The president will represent the association at the next meeting.



Mrs. George Richardson, program convener, took charge of the program. Mrs. Allan Dunk gave a reading "School Days". Mrs. William Garden jr. and Mrs. Max Scott sang a duet, "School Days" with Mrs. Stanley Fife at the piano.

The parents were given half an hour to visit their children's room, look over their work and discuss problems with the teachers. On their return they were divided into seven groups and took part in a musical Irish contest under the direction of Mrs. Eldon Preston with Mrs. William Garden at the piano. Group 1 were the winners. Mrs. H. W. Hudson thanked the teachers for having open night for the parents.

Hostesses were Mrs. Donald Paxton, Mrs. Neil Rogers, Mrs. Mrs. Eldon Preston, Mrs. Charles Puffer, Mrs. Richard Patterson, Mrs. George Peoples, Mrs. Joshua Osborne, Mrs. Harry Wilford, Mrs. Larry Obee, Mrs. Marvyn Preston, Mrs. Kenneth Pakenham, Mrs. Reta Pakenham, Mrs. Melville Patton, Mrs. Thomas Ranson, Mrs. Jeff Reneson, Mrs. Milford Parker and Mrs. Melvin Andrews.

OIL TANKER "Imperial Windsor" docked at Cobourg Tuesday afternoon to open the navigation season at the lakeport town. It was also the first trip of the year for the tanker, which brought a cargo of 20,000 barrels of fuel oil out of Toronto that morning. Skipper was A. G. Knight, of Sarnia. The navigation season opened in Cobourg three weeks earlier than last year.

The Last Royal Victorian

The long life of a great and gallant lady has quietly ended. The very length of her days was a reason for pride in Queen Mary. She was a figure of state as well as a stately figure, and lived even beyond the years of her two immediate predecessors. Queen Alexandra, born in 1844, lived almost to her 81st birthday; she died in 1925. Queen Victoria, born in 1819, died in 1901 at the age of 81. Queen Mary was linked in spirit and manner with them. She seemed to belong more to the Victorian and Edwardian eras than to the Georgian. (Her husband, George V, likewise seemed not to be on his own era, to which his name is now given.) Queen Mary's tastes, bearing and conduct recalled the earlier conventions and graces. And yet she grew with the times, adjusting her service and outlook to the succeeding decades, without bending to whims of fashion and thought. She mirrored herself, not a brasher world about her.

* * *

So it was really herself, and not the length of her days as Princess, Queen Consort, mother of Kings and grandmother of a Queen, which won the esteem and affectionate veneration of British peoples. Her devotion to her country and her London and to the service of Empire and Commonwealth was intense. Her dedication to the institution of Royalty was profound. Her courage, her discipline of spirit through very trying epochs, her poise, her unwavering, even stern acceptance of her duty and her position, were an inspiration and a guide to the Commonwealth, her Kingdom and her family. She was a pillar of state and at the same time a friend to man. Erect in all her ways, she had the common touch of true royalty, as Canadian soldiers to whom she gave lifts in her limousine during the war delight to tell. Her hats and parasol were apart from the commonalty but she was an ardent movie fan.

* * *

Queen Mary was truly and wonderfully a queen. The last of the Victorians, she was the exemplar of queenly dignity, a model of self-discipline in the service of others, and the epitome of the virtues, strength and stability of the British Royal Family. An historical figure reaching back to the year when Canada was formed has gone with the passing of Queen Mary, and the pedestal of the Royal Family has been removed. British peoples everywhere were very proud of Queen Mary. Their personal feeling of loss today cannot restrain their fond pride in this indomitable Queen who was both symbol and institution.

Are British Taxes Really High?

Next month Mr. R. A. Butler, British Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Churchill Government, will bring down his budget. In that country with a reputation for high taxes, there is always hope of tax relief. This is not likely to be substantial, if there is any reduction at all. The social services are a continuing and mounting charge against the national revenues, but even more onerous are the defence costs. Last year British people were paying twelve per cent. of their total national incomes for defence, and ten per cent. for the social services.

Are British taxes so very much higher than ours? Everybody has heard of the shocking rate of income taxes, but that is not the whole story. Canada gets a great deal of national revenue from indirect taxes. Perhaps Britons, hard-pressed by income taxes, are comparatively lightly treated by their indirect taxes? Is the big bite in Britain on direct taxes like income and corporation taxes and succession duties, and conversely, the heaviest taxation Canadians have to bear their indirect taxes, like sales taxes, customs duties, excise taxes? No. In both Canada and Britain direct taxes are the heavier, indirect taxes the lighter. In fact, the proportions are much the same in both countries.

For the fiscal year ending last March 55.3 per cent. of the Canadian Government's total revenue was derived from direct taxes. In Britain, for roughly the same period, 56 per cent. of all U.K. Government revenue was raised by direct taxes. It may surprise some of our readers, very conscious of the sales tax and other indirect levies on what they buy, that indirect taxes, applied by Ottawa, are lower than they are in Britain. The U.K. Government raised 39 per cent. of its revenue from indirect taxes, the Canadian Government 36.6 per cent. This reckoning does not take into account taxes imposed by Provincial Governments—the gasoline tax, for instance.

As for the general comparison, British taxes are notably higher than Canadian, whatever way you look at them. The best way, for purposes of comparison, is by considering them as a percentage of the gross national product. The gross national product in Canada last year was about $22,500,000,000. Canadian Government revenue derived from taxes of all kinds was $3,657,800,000. This was about sixteen per cent. of the g.n.p. The British gross national product—that is, the total value of all goods and services during the year—was worth £12,254,000,000. U.K. taxes amounted to £4,622,000,000. This was 38 per cent. of the g.n.p. Taxation at such a rate is very high taxation indeed.

Here are some specific samples of it at work. The U.K. Government takes as Death Duty 75 per cent. of all estates valued at a million or more pounds. There is a purchase tax of 66 2/3 per cent. on automobiles, radios, many articles of electrical equipment. This tax is a hundred per cent. on cosmetics, furs and electric fires. The yearly license fee on most automobiles is a flat £12.10s.6d. Half the cost of a bottle of beer goes to the government—a pint costs on the average 1s.4d., of which 8½d. is tax. More than half the cost of a gallon of gasoline is tax.

Having established that indirect taxes are higher in the U.K. than in Canada, we itemize here the sort of income taxes Britons pay, compared with ours.

Annual Income		Single Person
£	$	U.K.	Canadian
		%	%
300	840	6	Nil
400	1,120	10	2
500	1,400	13	5
600	1,680	16	7
800	2,240	20	10
1,000	2,800	24	13
2,000	5,600	30	18
5,000	12,000	51	26
10,000	28,000	66	40
100,000	280,000	94	74

Can it be doubted that U.K. taxes are high, and that Britons wish Mr. Butler's budget on April 14th would reduce them?

Spring Tra-La

Spring is here. The calendar proves it and so do blizzards on the prairies. A Canadian airman stationed in Washington has been accidentally shot by a lad playing with a rusty rifle (the airman is recovering). An Ontario tourist association approves dropping stars—the government's grading system. Sweet sounds are coming from the Kremlin. A man's skull is found in Quebec and some unfair play is suspected. Western oils stay firm. A barrister dies at ninety-one. UN Command in Korea admits that two shells went wild. Clerks at the Lakehead elevators decide to strike. A boy weights his kite with silver dollars. American senators, critical of the likely appointment of Charles Bohlen as new U.S. Ambassador to Moscow, having failed to find enough un-American about his views on Russia, try digging up some dirt about his character. A Czech plane flees over the Iron Curtain. Some people are trying to prevent Queen's Park from not only removing colour from margarine—it has already done it—but removing margarine itself.

Well, it is yesterday's news. Today's news you have in your hands. Tomorrow's is on the way. Birds are on the wing, and their twitter is as good news as the best overture from Moscow. It's spring. And the difference between now and then is not the news but the air, coolish today, but veritably spring.

A Matter Of Local Principle

As former mayor M. J. Swanston has said, a community principle is involved. Mayor and Mrs. Waddell will go to London as the city's official representatives at the Coronation in the Abbey. Is Peterborough not large enough and graceful enough to acknowledge some financial responsibility in this representation? Many citizens will echo Mr. Swanston's sincere hope that the Council will insist on providing travel tickets. It is a matter of principle, not of expedience; a duty to the office not the person. Even so, civic regard for their persons cannot be put aside; the city has good reason to be grateful for Mayor Waddell's assiduous leadership and glad that its representation at the Coronation will be so fittingly and graciously made by Mayor and Mrs. Waddell.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A health bulletin says that people weigh more in winter than in summer. Especially those with heavy colds.

A Kentucky man who had been mute for several years had his speech restored when he was kicked by a horse. The report neglects to say what his first word was.

A U.S. census report shows that the town of Effingham, Illinois, has 1,728 married women and 1,735 married men, and if that doesn't mean bigamy somewhere, just what does it mean?

"If you want to be healthy, laugh for all you're worth" advises a medical columnist, and in this season of Income Tax most of us will be lucky if we can manage a feeble chuckle.

THE AMERICAN SCENE

Air Trips Over North Pole

By KENNETH HARRIS

COMMERCIAL airlines may start using the North Pole route between Europe and America this year as a result of a meeting held recently in New York between American and Scandinavian airlines officials and representatives.

There is now no physical reason why cargo and passengers should not be flown across the area. An American Military Air Transport squadron has been making hundreds of experimental flights over the Pole since 1947 with no mishap or discomfort. Navigation maps of the Arctic Area are now available in quantity, weather conditions have been investigated, and a more precise system of polar navigation is being developed in order to take into account the deviations in magnetic compasses and calculations which result from the aircraft's greater proximity to the magnetic influence of the Pole.

* * *

FROM the point of view of the commercial airlines, the North Pole route has many attractions. If it is used instead of the present Great Circle route, aircraft could fly from Northern Europe to the West coast of the United States in an almost dead straight line. This would make the journey much shorter, and, because less fuel and other services would be required, make it correspondingly cheaper. Weather conditions are better and steadier at the Pole than they are in the North Atlantic, so that the trip would be on the average a good deal more comfortable.

* * *

FROM the point of view of defence, the opening up of this route in a big way would have several advantages. Realizing that if another world war should break out, the North Pole, being the shortest route between the heartlands of America and Russia might become an important strategic area, the Americans have already developed an excellent airbase along the California-Denmark route at Thule, Greenland. The flying experience which trans-polar commercial airlines would give American pilots might come in very useful. Until recently, opinion in the United States was that the Russian Air Force was doing nothing about trans-polar flying. This week, however, reports have reached Washington of vapour trails laid by unidentified aircraft high over Alaska, over North-West Canada, and over the airbase at Thule.

NEW YORK'S most popular newspaper, the Daily News, has just published an editorial which illustrates very well how Henry Cabot Lodge, the leader of the American delegation to the United Nations, has made himself very popular on account of the pugnacious undiplomatic language with which he answers the propaganda speeches of Vyshinsky and Gromyko.

The title of the editorial is "Keep Carving 'Em, Cabot" and the piece opens by saying that "Since the opening of the current General Assembly talkfest, Lodge has three times rammed a verbal dagger into the Soviet delegation where it would hurt most, and has twisted the stiletto with a skilled and merciless hand."

"Up to now," concludes the editorial, "Lodge has phrased his attacks and counter-attacks in plain, hard-punching language that anybody can understand . . . if he keeps on as promisingly as he has begun, he may drive Gromy or Vyshy or both nuts,—which would be wonderful."

In three years, this is the only editorial dealing with the United Nations I have seen in this newspaper which did not throw mud at that institution. In making himself popular with newspapers like the "News", Lodge is also making the United Nations more popular—or at least less unpopular.

JAMES A. HARD is dead. He was the oldest surviving veteran of the American Civil War, dying at the age of 111 (one hundred and eleven.)

Hard was a remarkable fellow. He started smoking cigars at the age of fifteen. On his 106th birthday, he decided to give them up because, he said, the doctor warned him that "they were bad for my health." After a few days, however, he decided to go back to smoking because "being without them made me restless."

At the age of 105 he decided he would like to take up flying, and for the next few years flew by helicopter to the annual meeting of the Veterans of the Civil War. Some of his younger colleagues did not like this. "They thought I'd got soft and that I should have gone by train like they did."

Now that old Hard has gone, there is only one man surviving from the Grand Army of the Republic—Albert Woolson, 106. Though they lost the war and were much fewer in number, the Southerners, or Confederates, now outnumber and look like outlasting the Northerners. There are four of them, aged 104, 105, 106 and 110.

WASHINGTON, the experts say, consumes more alcohol proportionately to its population than any other city in the United States. Average consumption per head was calculated last year at four large whiskies a day, though last year, being election year, might have been exceptional.

Since whole belts of the American population, especially in some of the highly Presbyterian areas of the South and Midwest, do not approve of drinking, even in moderation, a poll has just been taken in all parts of the country on answers to the question: "Should cocktails be served at parties in the White House?"—procedure at the President's official residence being taken presumably as the test of what should and should not be done by less morally sensitive mortals.

Fifty-six per cent. said it was all right to serve drinks at the White House, thirty-eight per cent. said it was all wrong. Six per cent. were undecided.

MRS. ANNA COX, aged seventy-three, a life-long resident of Chicago, was taken to hospital with a broken leg which she had sustained in a traffic accident. Doctors asked her for her home address. She replied that she had none—hotels she finds "unclean, cold, lonely, and dangerous"—but spent her nights sleeping on street-cars (tram-cars), her night's lodging consisting of three return trips on a twenty-one-mile route, each one lasting four hours and costing here a total of a dollar (or 7s.1d), which, by European costs of living, would mean about 3s.6d.

In the daytime Mrs. Cox was still making a living going from door to door selling hairnets and that kind of thing, keeping a complete change of clothes in the warehouse of the firm which employed her and performing her toilette in public bathrooms. Somewhat incensed at a suggestion that she used street-cars as bedrooms because she was "poor", Mrs. Cox produced her bankbook showing that she had nearly £3,000 in her account.

Queen Mary 1867-1953

By ROGER FULFORD

(Ed. Note: Roger Fulford is the author of "Royal Dukes" (1933), "George IV" (1935), "The Right Honourable Gentleman" (1945); edited, with the late Lytton Strachey, "The Greville Memoirs" (1937).)

ALTHOUGH Queen Mary was not strictly speaking a Victorian, she carried into the tempestuous twentieth century something of the tranquil confidence of the age of Queen Victoria. And so far as the Royal Family of England was concerned she was the heir of a tradition which went back beyond the days of Queen Victoria.

Her mother, Princess Mary Duchess of Teck, was descended through her mother from King George II, and her father was the youngest son of King George III. The Duchess of Teck was always proud of being the representative of the Royal Family of Georgian days.

A large, ebullient Princess, with a delightful sense of humour, she was greatly beloved, and, at the Jubilee of Queen Victoria, the cheers were hardly less loud for her than for the Queen. She turned to the lady in the carriage with her and said: "Ah, yes, they still remember the old Royal Family." This proud recollection of old days helps to explain why Queen Mary had a knowledge of George III and his family which was not only matchless but in its attention to detail was almost superhuman.

Queen Mary's mother was born a few years before the accession of Queen Victoria. She was nurtured in England and was, perhaps, unlucky in living in an epoch when it was not possible for a Princess to marry a commoner. Many people sought her hand, including the first King of Italy, and Napoleon III, but she did not, in fact, marry till she was in the middle-thirties, choosing a prince of Teck—a grandson of a King of Wurtemberg by a morganatic marriage. Queen Mary was the first child of the Duke and Duchess of Teck, and her wealth of christian names reflected the old monarchical tradition of Europe in which she was born. She was christened Victoria Mary Augusta Louise Olga Pauline Claudine Agnes. She was born in 1867 in the same room in Kensington Palace which had seen the birth of Queen Victoria. Subsequently three brothers were born—the youngest of whom, now the Earl of Athlone, is still alive.

* * *

TILL she was in her middle teens Queen Mary had a delightful upbringing in Kensington and at White Lodge in Richmond Park, mixing easily with the children of her mother's friends—especially the family of Lord Brownlow, of Lord Headfoot and Lord Hardwicke—and going for agreeable visits in the country houses of the aristocracy. One shadow darkened this fair picture. Her father was virtually penniless, and her mother was both poor and fantastically generous. In consequence, at the beginning of the 1880s the Teck family had to leave England—not precisely a flight from creditors but a serious effort at retrenchment. They spent most of the time in Italy—much of it in Florence, and it was here—as an impressionable girl in her late teens—that Queen Mary laid the foundations of her knowledge of the arts.

On their return, at the end of the 1880s, Queen Mary came out and went through the strenuous life of a conventional London season. She had the lovely golden hair of the English Royal Family and a beautiful complexion. Perhaps in contrast to the expensive temperament of her mother she was shy and quiet, but, as Queen Victoria was quick to note, "She is most distingue."

There had always been a close family connection between the Duke and Duchess of Teck and the Prince and Princess of Wales—there being a close relationship between the Princess and the Duchess of Teck's mother—daughter-in-law of George III, who survived in her rooms in St. James's Palace until 1889. The children of the Duchess of Teck were much the same age as what they called "the litle Wales's"; they spent a great deal of time together and it was therefore natural that the Duke of Clarence, the eldest of the Prince of Wales's children, should wish to marry Princess May—as she was then known. This project gave the deepest pleasure to the whole family—especially to Queen Victoria, who had from earliest days the greatest admiration for her. When the Duke died on the eve of marriage as a result of influenza, Queen Victoria's great hope was that the Princess should marry his brother, Prince George. This hope was fulfilled. The marriage took place in 1893, and the eldest child—now the Duke of Windsor—was born in 1894. Subsequently the Princess Royal and four other sons were born.

* * *

THOUGH Queen Mary's married life was extremely happy, it is not always appreciated that she had considerable difficulties in early days. She had married into a family which was completely self-contained, something of a mutual admiration society, and which expected the newcomer to conform. King George V was an extremely dutiful son, and his wife had, in these early days, little chance to express her own individuality. As Duchess of York during Queen Victoria's reign and as Princess of Wales in King Edward VII's reign she was the minor co[illegible]llation attached to her mother-in-law. At Sandringham, where she lived in York Cottage, she was not allowed to plant the flowers without Queen Alexandra's sanction.

But in these frictions—perhaps inevitable in most families—she showed her restraint and wisdom. Nor did the conventional pursuits followed by King Edward's family greatly appeal to her: shooting parties were not congenial, racing bored her and yachting she frankly loathed. For these and other reasons the myth grew up that King George and his family were strait-laced old-fashioned and the reverse of smart. These whispers grew audible when King George came to the Throne in 1910. But Queen Mary quickly showed that if she was not entirely in tune with the gay brilliance of King Edward and some of his social following, she brought certain gifts of taste and intellect to the Court—of which it stood sadly in need.

AS THE French were quick to notice when she and King George went on a State visit to Paris in 1913, "she has a chic of her own." More slowly than the French, the British began to realize this. Her good taste quickly made itself felt and showed itself in her mastery of the Royal Collections and her wish that everything should be displayed to the best advantage and that they should be available for all who were genuinely interested. She, for example, encouraged the publication in the 1920s of an authoritative account of the furnishings of Buckingham Palace. Although it was sometimes said—and it was possibly true—that Queen Mary had knowledge rather than natural taste, her interest in the Regency period, exemplified by her appreciation of the Pavilion at Brighton at a time when such things commanded scant respect, coincided with a general admiration for the late-eighteenth and nineteenth centuries.

Consequently, it is no exaggeration to say that Queen Mary's influence on national taste can fairly rank with those of her predecessors—King George IV and King Charles I. As consort to King George V she carefully eschewed any part in the business or political side of her husband's duties and was content to play a distinguished part on all State occasions, to encourage a great variety of beneficent organizations, and to spend her leisure in publicly supporting the theatre, the cinema, Wimbledon, art exhibitions, and in excursions to antique shops. But her own private enjoyments were entirely subordinated to the companionship of King George, to smoothing his path, and to conducting her life and that of her family in accordance with his somewhat Victorian and defiantly expressed point of view. Beneath the reserve and dignity of the Queen there lay a temperament which had all the zest and gaiety of her mother. When she was asked how she would like to celebrate her seventieth birthday, she answered in a flash, with her delightful, elusive smile, "Oh, with a Court Ball, please!"

* * *

SHE loved London. Here, as a widow and with all the sadness which shadowed her closing years, she found solace in the bustle and excitement of the town with its memories of the brilliance of the London she had first grown to love in the 1870s. Driving out from Marlborough House, sitting bolt upright and bowing with that peculiar deferential grace which she had learned from the great Queen Victoria herself, she seemed as an old lady to embody the tenacity which lies among the most fundamental of English qualities. This spirit, this patient eagerness to keep abreast of life—to swim, in what Johnson once happily called in reference to London, "the full-tide of human existence," caught the fancy of the public. Above all, her courage, and her determination to cling to her own standards and to make no compromise with what she regarded as fundamental, won the deep affection of the nation. In trivial matters like her toques, her sunshades, her refusal to use the telephone, the public liked to think of her, like some Forsyte of old, unchanging and unchanged. But it was the realization that the heavy misfortunes of her closing years—the misery of the war years, the abdication, and the death of two sons—revealed the depth and the fineness of her character which explains the sense of public loss uppermost in the minds of all of us to-day. 1923 The city council appoints Joseph Wearing as city solicitor.

Peterborough is chosen for next year's meeting for the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East.

Miss Jessie K. Munro, for many years a missionary in Japan, dies here.

1933 Peterborough Madrigal Singers are engaged to take part in a program at Massey Hall.

Jewish citizens here plan a meeting to protest against atrocities inflicted on German Jews.

Lloyd Williamson, a former Peterborough resident, dies in Los Angeles.

1943 G. S. Taylor of Keene is appointed temporary municipal clerk of Otonabee.

The Piccadilly Dance Club here is closed by police until alterations suiting the fire chief are made.

The certificates of Percy Nicholls and Hub Macey, of the local OHA team, are suspended, as these players are not allowed to perform in a lower category than that of a year ago.

Letter To The Editor

COSTS NOT ALL LAWYER'S PROFIT

Sir: I refer to your editorial headed "Greedy Lawyers" and desire to point out to you that in fairness to the legal profession generally your editorial writer omitted to comment on the fact that of obviously the great number of actions wherein application is made to the Unsatisfied Judgement Fund, the conditions complained of by Mr. Nickle and the Legislature did not arise and that the statements made by Mr. Nickle cited only several cases.

In reference to the question of costs, your editorial writer, either intentionally or in ignorance, left the impression that these costs were pocketed by the lawyers and that it was all clear profit to them, whereas the fact is that in nearly all of these motor accident cases the solicitor is obliged to pay out disbursements in conducting his client's case to judgement and that in addition the Highway Traffic Act requires that in meeting all of the conditions to succeed in obtaining payment out of the Unsatisfied Judgement Fund, evidence must be clearly shown to the Court that the defendant against whom judgement was obtained is completely without funds or assets and that this evidence can only be readily adduced by examining the defendant or defendants as judgement debtors, the disbursements for which are sometimes out of all proportion to the amount of monies sought to be recovered.

Nonetheless such procedure must be adopted in order to meet the provisions of the Act as passed by the Legislature of Ontario.

These disbursements are not for the benefit of the lawyer but are paid out by him as required and hence only a fair proportion of the amount that you have termed as costs would go to the lawyer as his remuneration and fee.

Your short editorial again commenting on the subject the following evening, I feel, had little effect in disabusing the minds of the general and sweeping statements that were made in the first editorial above referred to.

As I understood the second editorial, it tended to infer that the sweeping statements contained in the editorial headed up "Greedy Lawyers" did not or were not intended to apply to most members of the profession. I think that that inference is, in fairness to the Peterborough Bar Association, a fair inference to take and in fact the comments contained in your first editorial without doubt are not applicable to any local members of the legal profession.

The suggestion that these costs be fixed by the Attorney General would be highly undesirable since the Taxing Officer, who is an official of the Court and who has had long experience as a Taxing Officer and is able to readily assess the amount of time, effort, capability and responsibility of the solicitor involved in any particular action, would appear to me to be the proper official to hold an even hand and to properly tax the solicitor's costs in such actions as he does in all other actions. To leave the matter of taxation of costs to the discretion of a Cabinet Minister or his Department official would leave the procedure wide open to inquitous practice which all of us wish to avoid in the Courts of Law of this Province.

Yours truly,
W. B. GORDON.

Queen Mary Plenty Of Excuses For Tears, Saved Them For Others

Life Spanned Reigns Of 6 Monarchs

By RICHARD KLEINER

In her 85 years, Queen Mary w[illegible] many women. She was a gay golden-haired princess. She was a proud, regal queen. She was a beloved queen mother. But, most of all, she was a family woman.

For her, the path to the throne, the years she sat on it and the years after she left it were often marked by personal sadness. But she triumphed over tragedy because she had her family to share her grief. Mary always regarded the duties and privileges of a wife and mother as important as those of a queen.

QUEEN MARY in 1952: "Every inch a Queen . . ."

In spite of that—or, perhaps, because of that—she became one of the most universally revered queens Britain ever had. Her lifetime spanned the reigns of six monarchs, from Queen Victoria to Queen Elizabeth. It spanned British history, as she saw England at its most powerful, saw it fight two world wars, saw pieces of the Empire break off, saw it in glory and in austerity.

Through the decades of transition, Mary remained the same. She was haughty when a queen should be haughty, but she could weep with the wives of trapped miners. When she sat on a throne, she looked like she was cast for the part by Mother Nature herself, but she could tramp through bomb-blasted cities for hours without growing tired.

EVERY INCH A QUEEN

She was, as a Cockney woman in Mile End Road, a poor section of Stepney, once told her, "Every inch a queen!" Even at 85, she was as straight as a sceptre and as royal as a crown.

Princess Mary of Teck was born in Kensington Palace, London, on May 26, 1867. There was royal blood of many nations in her veins. Her great-grandfather was George III of England. She numbered among her ancestors, rulers of Scotland, Hungary and many German states.

DURING TOUR of London's Dockland in May, 1939, Queen Mary was accompanied by Princess Elizabeth (now Queen) and sister Margaret Rose.—(Fednews).

Tragedy Stalked Life Of Britain's Mary

By RICHARD KLEINER

Tragedy was an uninvited member of Queen Mary's retinue. In her lifetime, she attended the funerals of her parents, her fiance, her husband and three of her children. There was plenty of excuse for tears, but Queen Mary saved her tears for others.

One of the few times she was ever seen to cry was once when she went to the scene of a mining disaster. As she watched the women wait weeping for news of their husbands, the Queen stood with tears streaming down her cheeks.

Her proud bearing and regal manner sometimes made her look somewhat forbidding, but she was dominated by a far gentler nature than appeared on the surface. The royal servants always found her the easiest person in the castle to get on with, providing they did their jobs.

Once she learned that a servant girl was in some deep trouble. Queen Mary listened to her story, said, "Poor girl, poor girl," and characteristically set about doing something for her. No one else had even listened.

TRIBUTE TO HER NATURE

The fact that she didn't go through her life feeling sorry for herself is a tribute to her nature. She had ample excuse for self-pity, beginning with her first engagement. There was joy in England in 1891, when she was affianced to Albert Edward, Duke of Clarence, eldest son of Edward VII.

But the young prince died in a flu epidemic. For a year, Princess May went into seclusion and was the object of an empire's sympathy. But she survived that blow, as she survived all those still to come, and married her fiance's brother, who was to become George V.

Her marriage, and her family, were the bright spots in her life. But even there, tragedy often brushed her. After 42 years together, George died. The marriage of her son, Edward VIII, to Mrs. Wallis Simpson, made him leave the throne. Worse, from her view as a mother, it made him leave the country. Three other sons, including King George VI, died.

The two world wars she lived through, taking the lives of millions of young men, also were tragic events to the Queen. The second in particular, which made death and bloodshed familiar sights in London, tore at her heart.

She was a remarkable woman, who could take such blows in her regal stride. But she was remarkable in other ways, too. Many who knew her said she would have made her mark in the world, no matter where and what she was born.

She had great talent in many directions. Her mind was keen—even as a girl she would relax by reading heavy governmental volumes full of industrial statistics. Her memory was phenomenal—she was able to recognize a clergyman she had heard deliver a sermon 30 years before. She was quick to learn new things—her husband's favorite game was billiards, so she mastered it so well that she usually beat him.

EXPERT IN HANDICRAFTS

She was recognized as an expert in homecrafts, antiques and gardening.

Her preoccupation with such pastimes reflects what some called her love of the past. She seemed to prefer the clothes and the way of life of her childhood. Most modern devices frightened her. For one, the telephone. As far as anyone knows, she never used it. She was supposed to be "sort of scared" of it.

The exception was the movies. She became an avid fan. If she missed a picture she particularly wanted to see, she would follow it to the second-run suburban theatres.

She was, someone has said, a composite of all that is good in Britain—its pride and dignity, its courage and compassion, its love of both the past and the present.

QUEEN MARY AS PRINCESS MAY of Teck. She was daughter of Francis, Duke of Teck, and Princess Mary Adelaide of Cambridge.—(Fednews).

ALREADY SYMBOLS of ideal British family life in 1906 were Queen Mary (then Princess of Wales) and the Prince of Wales, later King George V. Tragic deaths took three of their six children within the Queen's lifetime—Prince John, Prince George (Duke of Kent) and Albert (King George VI.)

MAJESTIC QUEEN MARY'S beauty thrilled thousands in 1910 when she and her husband, George V, appeared in their coronation robes. The King was 45 years old when he succeeded his father, King Edward VII, she was 43.

ONLY FOUR YEARS of peace were granted them before World War I set Europe aflame. Queen Mary worked arduously, day and night in the cause. Here she inspects American troops at a London Y.M.C.A. hut.

ILL FORTUNE for England followed the war when the Great Depression of the '30's struck. Again she served, aiding the impoverished victims.

"EVERY INCH A QUEEN" perfectly described Queen Mary. Her regal bearing in this picture, taken on her 69th birthday, May 26, 1936, is especially poignant. Her husband had died on Jan. 20th. She went into seclusion, but emerged to become, as Queen Mother, one of the busiest women in the realm.

TRAGEDY STRUCK AGAIN when, in less than a year, King Edward VIII, her favorite son, abdicated to marry Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, American divorcee. Her pleas to him were in vain.

MATRIARCHAL DIGNITY marked Queen Mary's bearing as she appeared at Buckingham Palace when her son Albert, became King George VI and his wife, Elizabeth became Queen-Consort. Queen Mary guided and coached them for the roles they never expected to have to fill.

WORLD WAR II was another heavy blow to the now-aging Queen Mother. She "did her bit" and refused to seek safety abroad. "The old girl really stuck it" said the Cockneys. There is no higher tribute.

DEATH STRUCK AGAIN when King George VI passed away on Feb. 2, 1952. Dowager Queen Mary is pictured, center, with the new sovereign, Queen Elizabeth II, left, and the Queen Mother Elizabeth at Westminster Hall, where her son's body lay in state. It was, perhaps, a tragedy from whose heartbreak she never fully recovered.

ONE OF THE PROUDEST moments for Queen Mary was when she nursed Prince Charles, son of the present Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, after his christening December 15, 1948, at the State Apartments.—(Fednews).

Campbellford Wins, 8-4 To Begin TVL Finals

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—In a wide-open game in Belleville Arena Tuesday night, Campbellford defeated Wellington 8-4 to take the first game of the best-of-seven series, to decide the TVL championship. Campbellford's fast-skating crew under coach Wib Blake piled up a four-goal lead in the first period and at times in this period and also the third, held almost complete control of the play. The Dukes, who won the TVL southern division honors, had their inning in the second frame, when goals by Cousins, Goyer and Greer brought the Wellington squad within two goals of the lead piled up by Campbellford. Free picked up Campbellford's only goal in the second, with a beautiful solo effort.

ADDED THREE

In the final period Campbellford piled up three more with Blake, Wilson and Eady each tallying while Scott got Wellington's lone goal of this frame.

Eady was high scorer for the evening, getting three, while Blake and Free showed great skill on their solo goal-getting efforts. Nelson in the Campbellford goal thwarted the Dukes' efforts time after time with his brilliant net-minding

The next game of this series will be played in Belleville on Thursday night.

Campbellford: Goal, Nelson; defence, Baker, Free; centre, Eady; wings, Payne, Craig; alternates, Taylor, Pace, Simpson, Jeffs, Cole, Wilson.

Rah-Rah Circuit Sticks With CRU

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union (Central) has decided to remain in the Canadian Rugby Union for another year, it was disclosed Tuesday.

A statement issued by the union, which includes college football teams in Quebec and Ontario, said the question of withdrawing from the CRU was discussed last Saturday at the union's annual meeting at Queen's University in Kingston, Ont. The question of adopting different playing rules also was studied.

A "considerable" body of opinion favored withdrawal from the CRU but the meeting finally decided to maintain the CRU affiliation, abide by the playing rules for the 1953-54 season and give further consideration to both questions next year.

A major change in the union's financial structure was made.

Up to now, McGill, Queen's, University of Toronto and University of Western Ontario have been responsible for paying any deficits on each year's operations. Any future deficits will be borne by all members, in proportion to the union fees paid by each.

O. A. Carson of Queen's was elected a member of the executive committee.

HI-ACES WIN CAGE SERIES

HALIFAX (CP)—Montreal Hi-Aces won the Eastern Canada junior basketball title Tuesday night as they downed a hard-fighting team from St. Mary's University 53-42 to take the best-of-three series in straight games. Aces were paced by captain Ray Watkins, who sank 14 points.

Dog Watch, Roman Fire, Caesars Wife and Solo Two are doubtful runners.

Jack Wedley To Coach Oshawa Red Raiders

TORONTO (CP)—Jack Wedley, defensive outside wing who played in seven Grey Cup finals, is coming out of retirement to coach Oshawa Red Raiders of the Ontario Rugby Football Union intermediate series.

Wedley, 36, played on Grey Cup winners with Toronto Argonauts in 1938-45-46-47-50, and with Montreal Navy when they won the Grey Cup in 1944. He was with Saskatchewan Roughriders in 1951 when they lost to Ottawa in the final. After a season with the Roughriders Wedley retired.

Australia's duck-billed platypus and spiny anteater are the only animals that lay eggs.

Falls Within Ace Of Allan Cup

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Smiths Falls Rideaus were within one game of capturing the Allan Cup eastern semi-finals after defeating Saint John Beavers 9-3 Tuesday night. The Rideaus lead the best-of-seven series 3-0.

The fourth game in the best-of-seven series will be played here Thursday.

More than 4,000 fans packed the Forum as the Rideaus continued the domination they gained in the first two games at Smiths Falls.

Orval Gravelle and Eddie Mulligan led the goal-getters with three each. Other scorers for Smiths Falls were Stu Smith, Archie Richardson and Johnny Muretich Saint John marksmen were Charlie Knox Jack Hamilton and Buck Rogers.

The game was unusually rough and produced 19 minor penalties. Lou Kiley, Saint John playing coach, led the parade in this department with four.

The visitors proved themselves sharper and smoother. Most of their goals followed nice passing near the cage. Poor ice slowed the pace as the game progressed and the surface became watery in spots in the last period.

Saint John opened the scoring when Knox counted while two Rideaus served penalties. Then Gravelle and Mulligan shot braces. The session ended 4-2 after Hamilton scored for Saint John.

Smiths Falls made it 7-3 during the second stanza. Gravelle and Mulligan ended the scoring.

They'll soon be grooming the big golf course just west of the city—and indeed the city is growing closer to it each year. We mean the fine links of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club where genial and capable Lex Robson reigns as pro. This outstanding Canadian professional has been teaching members the game for some years since giving up tournament play and settling down here. Tom Glover was re-elected club president this year, with Howard McLean and A. V. Sanderson vice-prexies, and G. F. White the secretary-treasurer. Other executive members are: S. R. Adamson, R. T. Bogle, Lionel Browne, Franch Buckland and A. R. MacGregor. The club has a hefty membership.

Bob Bailey, Harold Dormer and John McPhee will represent the Peterborough men's city softball loop at the OASA annual session in Hamilton on April 2-3. That's next week, around Good Friday. In fact, Secretary John McPhee of the local league is running for an executive spot on the provincial body. This city, always a good softball centre, should have representation on the OASA. Last chap we had on the executive was Bert Bailey, but before that for years we had Dave Leether, who rose to the rank of first vice-president before he dropped out. Peterborough has been affiliated with the Ontario association since its early days back in the 20s.

For The Ontario Crown

Last organized hockey game of the season here will be staged at Civic Arena this Thursday night at 8.30 when Guelph Biltmores tangle with our Shamrocks. Return game of their home-and-home, goals to count, OMHA bantam "A" finals. Yes, it's for the provincial bantam "A" championship, and they're starting it even after a 4-all tie in the opener at Guelph on Monday. Pat Doherty's scrappy young Shamrocks have a good chance of bringing this city its first Ontario sports' title in 1953, and perhaps its only one—who knows? We hope the place is jammed as the kids can use a lot of vocal support in the big one. These boys play mighty exciting hockey, and these final frays usually have one or two NHL scouts on deck looking over the better prospects.

With spring comes Stanley Cup playoffs, and four NHL clubs are in the throes of semi-finals now. Lord Stanley's historic hockey trophy has been competed for from 1893 on throughout Canada. By amateurs and pros back in the old days. It was supposed to be a challenge cup but has been taken over completely since the end of the first world war by the National Hockey League. They even refused a token challenge this spring from Cleveland Barons, AHL champs. But 'twas not always thus. CAHA teams have won it, and various OHA and other provincial winners have competed for the high-collared mug. A Yukon team and Rat Portage have been finalists. Ah, yes, it has quite a history during its 60 years.

They Proved Too Good

The betting gentry yesterday were quoting odds up to 8-2 on Wings over Bruins and on Canadiens against Hawks. Results of last night's opening playoff games backed 'em up pretty well, at that. Montrealers didn't have too much trouble downing Chicago by a 3-1 count, while the Detroiters thumped Boston 7-0. We fear that's the way it'll go the rest of these semi-final sets. Second games are also at the Forum and Olympia tomorrow night, the scene then shifting to Chicago and Boston for two tilts each. The final between Canadiens and Red Wings should prove much more interesting. Meantime, Leafian fans generally are tickled to hear that King Clancy will coach Toronto next season, the colorful Irishman being a popular fellow.

Ed Olson of Cleveland Barons won the AHL scoring title with 86 points, the first U.S.A.-born player to accomplish this feat. Ike Hildebrand, of the same club, finished fifth but actually led the loop in goals scored with 38. Don Ashbee of Syracuse—another local lacrosser in the summer months—racked up 27 points in the 42 games he played for Ed Shore. Leading in penalties were Bob Bailey and Bill Ezinicki, with 115 minutes each. Calder Cup semi-finals put Syracuse in against Cleveland in one bracket, with Hershey meeting Pittsburgh in the other. These sets are best-of-five with finals four-in-seven, and Cleveland (as league champs) are favored to capture the cup. They've won the trophy five times previously.

Queen's Football Coach Resigns

KINGSTON (CP)—The familiar face of Frank Tindall, for six years the popular coach of athletics at Queen's University, will be missing from the intercollegiate sports scene this coming season.

Tindall, who coached the Golden Gaels in both senior football and basketball, submitted a letter of resignation to University officials Jan. 26. However, the athletic board of control made the fact known only Tuesday.

A native of Syracuse, N.Y., and a former all-star lineman and line coach with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union, Tindall came to Queen's in 1939.

He went back to the U.S. early the following year when Canadian college athletics were suspended because of the war, but returned to coach the Tricolor in 1948.

There is speculation that Frank Gnup, a New York product who coached Brantford Indians in the Ontario Rugby Football Union last season, may be Tindall's successor.

Tindall gave no specific reason for his resignation. However, his teams have never won an intercollegiate title.

Sacred Heart Wins Two Loop Crowns

Sacred Heart won both the senior and junior championships of the Catholic Hockey League. The seniors defeated Immaculate Conception by the lopsided round score of 34-4. Bill Mahoney, Frank Daly, Dan Johnston, Anthony Longo and Floyd Woodcock played fine hockey for the winners. Brian Fitzgerald and Carl Anthony were best for the losers in the final series.

For the third year in a row, Sacred Heart boys took the junior cup, defeating Immaculate Conception by 18-7 on the round. Jerry Crough counted a dozen goals to be the outstanding player. Gerard DeNoble, Aubrey Theobald and John Radey also went well for the victors. McCable, Clement and Panter proved the pick of the losers.

Hundreds Seek Tickets For OHA-NOHA Series

KITCHENER (CP)—Hundreds of hockey fans lined up Tuesday for ticket sales for the all-Ontario senior hockey finals Thursday and Friday between Sudbury Wolves and Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Sudbury won the Northern Ontario Hockey Association title from Rouyn Flashes in four straight games. The Dutchmen needed six games to eliminate Owen Sound Mercurys from the best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association Senior A finals.

This is the first time Kitchener senior hockey fans have had an OHA Senior A champion in 25 years. The ticket-seekers came equipped with camp chairs and blankets.

Oilers Defeat The Marines To Open City Cage Playoffs

Hugh Dibben paced the Oilmen to an 83-60 victory over Marines Tuesday night in the first game of the city league finals. Meanwhile in the YMCA house league the Penguins, led by Neiw Thompson, won a sudden-death 34-31 semi-final over Normals. The Penguins will now play a two-game points-to-count series with the Trojans, beginning tonight at the Y gym. The winner of this series will meet the winner of the city league for the all-city title.

Doug Galvin went on a 10-point scoring spree in the first quarter to give the Oilmen a 21-11 lead, Gord Burns and Dibben, for nine points accounted for the others. Ryan led Marines.

The Oilmen, with Doug McPherson joining Dibben, Galvin and Burns, ran the score to 40-22 at the half. Only Bill Edger and Ryan were effective for Marines.

Content with that lead, the Oilmen kept point-for-point with Marines who, with Edger and Ryan still hitting the hoop, started rolling in the third. But the Oilmen still led 59-42 at three-quarters.

GOT THE RANGE

Dibben really began to find the range in the fourth quarter, scoring 12 of the Oilmen's 24 as they built up the margin.

Dibben easily led the scoring with a total of 31 points, followed closely by teammates Galvin and Burns with 21. Edger was the Marines' best with 21 while Ryan had 20.

E. MacDonald, J. Edwards, and W. Gregorick led the Normals to first a 9-5 quarter score and then a 22-13 half-time score in their house league game with Penguins. Then Neil Thompson started his second half drive. He sank 14 of the Penguins' 21 in that half for the win.

Thompson led the scoring with 18 points. MacDonald was the Normals' top scorer with 13.

Accept £2 Million Olympics Loan

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The way was cleared today for Melbourne to keep the 1956 Olympic Games after settlement of a thorny housing issue.

Premier John Cain of Victoria announced his government has accepted the offer of the federal government for a loan of £2,000,000 approximately $5,714,000) for erection of an Olympic village. The loan is interest-free. The houses later will be used for residential developments.

This was just one in a series of obstacles which faced the Olympic organizing committee and which for a while threatened Melbourne's hold on the games.

The chairman of the games control committee, A. W. Coles, said he is confident now his report of Australia's preparations will be accepted by the international Olympic Committee in Mexico City April 17.

Detroit Wallops Boston 7-0, Canadiens Win 3-1 Over Hawks To Open Series

By ED SIMON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

The trouble with the fable of the hare and the tortoise is that the hare doesn't always lose. Two hockey clubs went a long way Tuesday night toward proving that while the race may not always be to the fleet, it helps to get home and cooled out early when you have a tough playoff game ahead. In the last few games of the National Hockey League schedule, Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens definitely were not killing themselves. With their playoff positions assured, they allowed the opposition to kick them around while they saved their best licks for Stanley Cup play.

On the other hand, Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks, in the thick of a three-way battle with Toronto Maple Leafs for the last two playoff spots, played their best hockey of the season as they bowled over the opposition in the last few weeks to nail down third and fourth place respectively.

SLEEPERS AWAKE

But the sleeping giants awoke Tuesday night. The Red Wings looked like the NHL champions they are in crushing Boston 7-0 in the opening game of their Stanley Cup semi-final. The second-place Canadiens had trouble with Hawk goalie Al Rollins, but were much the better team as they whipped Chicago 3-1.

Quite a few votes remain to be counted before either best-of-seven series ends, but the opening-night performances offered little comfort to the underdogs, who will try their luck again Thursday.

The Bruins' whose announced pre-series tactics were to check the Wings to a standstill, found themselves three goals down before the first period was halfway finished. The Hawks, masters at coming from behind, scored the first goal and couldn't find the range again.

HOWE GOAL-LESS

Boston's main claim to fame was that they kept high-scoring Gordie Howe off the score sheet, a worthy achievement which was marred only by the fact that line-mates Marty Pavelich and Ted Lindsay were scoring two goals apiece at the time.

Alex Delvecchio, Metro Prystai and Johnny Wilson were the other Detroit marksmen as the Wings fired 43 shots at Bruin goalie Jim Henry while Terry Sawchuk was called on to handle only 27 Boston drives, few of which were dangerous.

The same discrepancy was evident at Montreal as canadiens' Gerry McNeil blocked 23 shots to 31 for Rollins, with the Hawks unable to do much damage in close.

After a scoreless first period in which Chicago got away only two shots on goal, Gerry Couture snagged a rebound to put the Hawks one up in the second frame. But Bernie Geoffrion tied the score barely a minute later.

Defenceman Emile (Butch) Bouchard sank a screened shot for the winning goal in the third period and Paul Meger completed the scoring on a play that the Hawks disputed, claiming the puck hadn't entered the net.

Grand National Seen Toughest In 15 Years

LONDON (AP) — Unless there is some relief in the meantime, Saturday's running of the Grand National steeplechase at historic Aintree may be the toughest in at least 15 years.

That is the judgment of veteran horsemen who have seen the course grow hard as concrete and hazardous under a steady sun with no rain in the last five weeks.

The race will be run over a four-mile, 856-yard distance, twice around the bell-shaped course which produces the toughest test in the sport.

The ground has never been harder, old-timers say. It's hard enough to split a horse's hoof, jar loose his shoes and rock the rider loose from his stirrups after every jump.

Forty-two horses remain in the field. At least four are expected to be scratched, however, leaving a field of 38.

Early Mist remains the slight favorite at 100 to 9 with another callover in odds due tomorrow night. Little Dome is listed at 100 to 8.

Rumor Bentley To Quit Hockey

TORONTO (CP)—Max Bentley the ailing centre ice star with Toronto Maple Leafs, left suddenly Tuesday for his home in Delisle, Sask., and Leaf officials figure he has quit big-time hockey.

Bentley, bothered with a sore back during most of this National Hockey League season, left by plane shortly before the Leaf club gave a "farewell" dinner for the players. The Leafs were shunted out of the Stanley Cup playoffs at the end of the regular schedule Sunday night.

Managing director Conn Smythe of the Leafs said at a press conference that the 33-year-old Bentley "just took up and left."

Smythe added:

"Max didn't say anything to me. He didn't say goodbye to anyone. It doesn't look as if we are going to have Bentley back next year."

Smythe said that defencemen Jim Thompson, Leo Boivin, Fernie Flaman and Tim Horton, and forwards Ted Kennedy, Bobbie Hassard, George Armstrong and Gordie Hannigan all inked contracts Tuesday.

He added that there were two holdouts—rightwingers Ron Stewart and Eric Nesterenko.

See Norm Perry As CRU Prexy

SARNIA (CP)—Norm Perry, a former mayor of this southwestern Ontario industrial city and a one-time football great, is slated to become president of the Canadian Rugby Union in Edmonton next Saturday.

An outstanding halfback with Sarnia Imperials from 1928 to 1935, he became known through his exploits as the "Galloping Ghost of the Canadian Gridiron."

Prominent in civic as well as athletic affairs here, he came a member of the city council in 1936 and was elected mayor in 1939.

He began his football career with junior teams here in 1918 and came to Sarnia Imperials in 1928, the team's first year in the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union, from the intermediate Wanderers.

While with the Imperials he was named to two all-Canadian all-star teams and to several Eastern Canadian and ORFU teams. He helped guide the Imperials in 1934 when he was voted the ORFU's most valuable player and the first winner of the Imperial Oil Trophy.

His playing career ended in 1935 when he broke a leg in an exhibition game with the Imperials in Calgary.

Barons Win 2-0 Over Syracuse

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—Goaltender Johnny Bower recorded his first playoff shutout Tuesday night as Cleveland Barons defeated Syracuse Warriors 2-0 in the first game of a first-round series leading to the American Hockey League's Calder Cup.

Bower had appeared in 30 previous play-off games without a whitewash job.

After two scoreless periods, Ray Ceresino darted in on goalie Gordon Bell to put Cleveland ahead at 0:53 of the last period.

In the final minute, with the Syracuse goalie out of the game, defenceman Fred Shero lobbed a long shot from in front of the Cleveland net all the way for a bullseye.

Distance of the shot was around 150 feet.

Bower made 35 saves and Bell made 40.

The second game of the best-of-five series will be here Saturday, and the third at Syracuse Sunday night. Date of the third game was changed Tuesday at a conference of Cleveland, Syracuse and league officials.

Hawks, St. Mikes Play 2-2 Draw

GALT (CP)—Galt Black Hawks Tuesday night fought to a 2-2 overtime draw with Toronto St. Michael's in the fourth game of their best-of-seven semi-finals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series. St. Michael's lead the semi-finals 2-1, one game tied.

A 40-foot backhand screened shot by Long John Sleaver at 17:55 of the third period gave the Hawks the tie.

The teams will meet tonight at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto and will be back here Friday night.

Galt scored first after five minutes of play, when Minnie Menard made no mistake on his breakaway.

Eight minutes later St. Mikes tied it up, Mike Ratchford beating Binkley on a beautiful play.

The Irish went one up in the second session, Bill Lee flashing the light on assists from Paul Knox and Murray Costello.

Then came Sleaver's tieing goal in the third.

It was typical clean playoff hockey, with only seven penalties. Galt had a great chance in the second with three Irish players in the sin-bin but couldn't capitalize.

Admirer Sends Teeder $200 For 200 Goals

TORONTO (CP)—Ted Kennedy, captain of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, received 200 silver dollars Tuesday from an anonymous admirer.

They came in a box with an inscription on the cover depicting the 200th goal of Kennedy's NHL career which he scored in Montreal last Thursday.

A note with the gift said the "accompanying souvenirs" are intended to mark the occasion of the 200th goal mark and "the sincere admiration of your splendid leadership—your gentlemanly conduct on or off the ice."

Veteran Milt Schmidt Picked As N.H.L.'s Craftiest

This story is one of a Canadian Press series on outstanding players and teams in the National Hockey League. Selections were made in a poll of sports writers and sportscasters in NHL cities.

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Milt Schmidt, pushed into hockey when his mother wouldn't allow him to play football because it was too rough, is the craftiest veteran in the National Hockey League. He edged out Elmer Lach, another smoothie, for the accolade.

Sports writers and sportscasters of the six NHL cities gave the nod to the Boston Bruin centre today as a belated birthday gift. He was 35 on March 5, second oldest player in the league.

The oldest is the much cut-up Lach of Montreal Canadiens, whose birth certificate shows he was born in Nokomis, Sask., Jan. 22, 1918.

OTHER SMOOTHIES

Six others were named—the ailing Max Bentley of Toronto Maple Leafs; the Bruins' Bill Quackenbush and Joe Klukay; Bob Goldham of Detroit Red Wings; playing-coach Sid Abel, Chicago Black Hawks, and Paul Ronty of New York Rangers, who didn't make the big time until 1947.

It was a two-way race between Schmidt, who has played all his big-league hockey with Bruins—from 1936 and interrupted [illegible] years by war duty—and Lach, with Canadiens since 1940. Schmidt ended with a one-vote margin.

Both "Miltie" and Elmer are great competitors and playmakers. Both are handy to have around when trouble starts on the ice and practically in any given situation—when their team is shorthanded, when the opposition is short-handed and when the heat is on for sorely-needed scoring punch.

A couple of selectors said that Schmidt was better than the ice cuties of years ago—Frank Nighbor, one of the greatest defensive centres of all time with the old Ottawa Senators; Nels (Old Poison) Stewart of Montreal Maroons fame, and Newsy Lalonde, firebrand Montreal Maroons oldtimer.

ALL-ROUND PLAYER

Lou Walter of the Detroit Times said that Schmidt's "great all-round ability, coupled with smartness" made him "superior" to the three old-timers.

Bobby Hewitson, Toronto Telegram sports editor and former NHL referee, said that Schmidt "has all the answers in a pinch" and is "as good" as Lalonde, Stewart and Nighbor. Baz O'Meara, veteran sports editor of the Montreal Star, gave the nod to Lach "on the say so of opposing players" and added that he "belongs" with the one-time cuties.

Here's what others had to say about the Kitchener, Ont.-born Schmidt:

Sportscaster Joe Crysdale, CKEY Toronto: "He's just like old man river: just keeps rolling."

Sid Abel, Chicago Hawk coach: "Wonderful player with the rookies."

Sportscaster Ward Wilson of WMGM, New York: "Without him the Bruins are nothing." He added, however, that he would "take Nels."

Joe Falls, The Associated Press, Detroit: "He's a great shot maker and looks greater this year than ever as a puck snagger."

MORE SUPPORTERS

Other Schmidt supporters included Andy O'Brien of Weekend Magazine; sportscaster Wes McKnight of CFRB, Toronto; Stan Saplin, New York Journal-American, and sportscaster Phil Stone of CHUM, Toronto.

Dan Desmond, Chicago Herald-American picked Lach because he "knows all the tricks of the game, does everything well, is a good play maker and certainly is a stabilizing influence on Montreal's youngsters."

Marcel Desjardins of La Presse, Montreal, said that Lach "is an inspiration to the team and to (Maurice) Richard; he has fed the Rocket consistently." Desjardins thought Lach compared "favorably" with Lalonde, Stewart and Nighbor.

Vince Lunny, Montreal Herald sports editor, called Lach and added: "He's the best veteran in the league, too." Other Lach supporters were Red Burnett of the Toronto Daily Star and Dana Mozley, New York Daily News.

HEWITT LIKES MAX

Bentley caught the eye of sportscaster Foster Hewitt of CKFH, Toronto. "Max is small (five feet, 8½ inches and 145 pounds) and a guy who has gone as long as he has must be crafty," Hewitt said. He figured the Delisle, Sask., dandy was better than Stewart and Lalonde.

Sportscaster Frank Starr of CJAD, Montreal, sided with Hewitt, saying that "because of Bentley's size he must rely on skillcraft to score."

Ben Olan of The Associated Press New York, picked Quackenbush. "He's the solid man of a young Bruin team and knows all there is to know" about the game, Olan said.

Sportscaster Frank Fallon of WMEX, Boston, chose Abel and John Gillooly of the Boston Daily Record put the finger on Ronty. He described him as an "escape artist."

NHL'S CRAFTIEST—Milt Schmidt, 35-year-old Boston Bruin centre, is rated the craftiest veteran in the National Hockey League. He received a one-vote margin over Elmer Lach, of Montreal Canadiens, in a poll of coaches, sports writers and sportscasters of the six NHL cities. Schmidt and Lach are also the two oldest players in the league.

Art of being yourself

Books and rules on the "right" way to dress, to eat, to speak, to get ahead are teaching us to be standardized nobodies, says Eric Manners in April Reader's Digest.

This noted authority tells how famous people like Edison, Darwin profited by ignoring conventions — shows how you can make your life richer (and more fun!) by just learning to be yourself.

Life Spanned

But her own family was not wealthy, by regal standards. In her childhood, she was frail and her mother nursed her herself. Princess May, as she was called—her baptismal name was Victoria Mary Augusta Louise Olga Pauline Claudine Agnes—grew into a tall, blue-eyed beauty. She was the most striking beauty of the season at her "coming out" in 1886.

She was married in 1893 to George, then Duke of York. As Duchess of York, and later Princess of Wales, she spent what she often called the happiest years of her life. They lived in a small cottage on the royal Sandringham estate in Norfolk. It was so small, she liked to recall, that it had no spare bedroom.

It was a happy home. And it was there that five of her six children were born. The smallness of the house gave the family an intimacy many royal families lack. She had many state duties, but she was able to run her home in as close an approximation of housewifery as any princess has ever done.

That changed in 1911, when the Prince and Princess of Wales became Prince George V and Queen Mary, and their little cottage was swapped for a royal castle. There were more rituals and ceremonies and appearances to be made.

And there was a war to go through. As Queen, she became a symbol of a way of life. She won the admiration of her people without reservation. The love of her subjects was demonstrated in 1935, when the Royal Jubilee, marking 25 years on the throne, found millions hailing her warmly.

NEW SET OF TASKS

But a few months later, she became a widow. And a new set of tasks opened up for her. As Queen Mother—and, unofficially, Queen Grandmother—she became a kind of elder stateswoman to the royal family. She was always standing close by, ramrod-straight, on the balcony at state functions. She gave her sons and her grandchildren advice and comfort and love.

During the 18 years after her husband died, she and England went through much together. There was, first, the romantic but trying episode involving her eldest son, Edward VIII, and Mrs. Wallis Simpson. And there was another, even more terrible, war. There was the post-war period of austerity and the decline of Great Britain from its former power.

Yet, outwardly, Queen Mary remained the same, a link with past glory. She always rose at 7.15 in the morning, and worked hard at her job. She never forgot for an instant that she was royalty.

Whatever she felt, in her heart, on the surface she was still a queen.

OBITUARIES

ELAINE ANNE LEAHY

Elaine Anne Leahy, 18-month-old daughter of Emmett Leahy and the former Helen O'Brien, 742 Snelgrove Road, died at home on Tuesday following one month's illness.

Born in Peterborough, the baby girl was Mr. and Mrs. Leahy's only child.

Besides her parents, she leaves her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William G. O'Brien of Douro, and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Leahy of Peterborough.

A short funeral will be held on Thursday at 10 a.m. at the parents' home. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Douro.

CHARLES C. DAVIDSON

HAVELOCK (ENS).—Charles C. Davidson, 65, died early Tuesday morning at his home in Belmont township. His death followed an illness of two weeks.

Born in Seymour township, he was a son of the late John M. Davidson and Eliza Deline. He followed farming as an occupation and had lived in Belmont township for more than 50 years.

Surviving, besides his widow, are three sisters, Mrs. Amos Althouse of Belmont township, Mrs. B. Johnson of Marmora and Mrs. Robert Robinson of Campbellford and a brother Walter of Belmont township.

The funeral will take place Thursday under the auspices of Havelock LOL 326. The service at 2 p.m. in the Curtis funeral parlors will be conducted by the Rev. R. G. Newman of Havelock United Church. Burial will be in Pine Grove cemetery.

Pallbearers will be George Newton, Robert Wrightly, Frank Wrightly, James Toms, Archie Zufelt and Earl Toms.

GEORGE F. BOTHWELL

MILLBROOK (ENS). — The death occurred in hospital in Peterborough on Saturday of George Frederick Bothwell. Mr. Bothwell, who was in his 85th year, had been ill for about 10 days. He was born on the family homestead near Springville, the son of the late John Bothwell, and Elizabeth Madill. All Mr. Bothwell's life was spent in Cavan township, for the last 12 years in the village of Millbrook, and before than on a farm. As a farmer Mr. Bothwell specialized in the raising of Clydesdale horses. His horses won many prizes at fairs in the surrounding countryside. He served for many years as trustee and secretary-treasurer of Cedar Valley school. He was a member of Grace Presbyterian church.

Mr. Bothwell is survived by his wife, the former Joanna Seabrook, and by six daughters and a son and by 10 grandchildren. The names of his children are: Mrs. Aubrey Hunter (Violet), Millbrook; Mrs. William Begley (Mildred), Toronto; Laird George, Port Credit; Mrs. William Todd (Jean), Mrs. Thomas Busby (Gladys), Mrs. Gordon Duncan (Roberta), all of Peterborough, and Mrs. Frank Hall (Flossie) of Streetsville. Two sisters, Mrs. W. L. White (Jessie), Peterborough, and Mrs. Size (Maud) of Toronto and a brother, Harry Bothwell of Cavan township, also survive.

The funeral service took place from the residence of G. T. MacPherson, funeral director, at 2.30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. The service was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Heustin of Grace Presbyterian church. Six sons-in-law, Aubrey Hunter, William Begley, William Todd, Thoma Busby, Gordon Duncan and Frank Hall, acted as pallbearers.

Interment was in Millbrook Presbyterian cemetery.

90 Delegates Attend CWL Region Meeting

MARMORA (ENS)—More than 90 women attended the regional meeting of the Catholic Women's League in Sacred Heart parish hall Sunday afternoon.

Representatives were present from the sub-divisions of Stoco, Tweed, Madoc, Stirling, Belleville, Campbellford, Deseronto, Havelock and Marmora.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. J. A. O'Neill, director of Marmora sub-division, followed by the league's hymn, "Come, Holy Ghost." A cordial welcome was extended the visiting ladies by the president, Mrs. W. A. Shannon.

Mrs. Charles Cook, regional convener, who occupied the chair, extended greetings and gave a brief historical outline of the Marmora church.

Mrs. Wilfred LeSage, Tweed, convener for Our Lady's missionaries, requested support for missions. Mrs. J. A. Paquet contributed a piano solo. Mrs. C. J. Brennan, Deseronto, convener of finance, appealed for funds for the national committee. Mrs. Boyd, Belleville, magazine convener, spoke for an increase of subscribers to the league's magazine.

Little Cathie Jones presented corsage of roses to Mrs. Cook and the visiting ladies, after which Misses Patricia and Anne Clairmont played a piano duet.

As guest of honor from Peterborough diocese, Mrs. Smith extended greetings and expressed thanks for being invited.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS

The diocesan president, Mrs. B. P. McGrory, Prescott, outlined business procedure and mentioned that the brief prepared for Ottawa regarding undesirable literature had received some consideration. Miss Mary Hughes moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. McGrory.

The Rev. J. A. O'Neill introduced Monsignor S. J. Byrne, diocesan director, who briefly commended the CWL for their work and paid a tribute to Father O'Neill for his supervision whereby so excellent a parish hall had been provided the parish.

Monsignor Byrnes then showed pictures taken by himself on a trip which he made to Rome and other parts of Europe. He was thanked by Mrs. Charles Brady of Marmora sub-division.

Mrs. C. J. Brennan, on behalf of the guest sub-divisions, thanked the Marmora ladies. On behalf of the latter, Miss Bernadette Warren presented Monsignor Byrne with a gift.

The tables were attractively decorated with multi-colored tulips and mauve and yellow tapers. With Mrs. John Crawford pouring tea, delicious refreshments were served.

Harwood News

Mr. and Mrs. Schural and family have returned from Hamilton where they have spent the winter and are opening their hotel, "The Lakeview".

Mrs. R. S. Johnson spent a few days in Warsaw visiting her mother, Mrs. Luther Payne.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Kelly have purchased the farm east of Harwood from Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Isaac and have moved there.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Staples have moved into Harwood. Mr. Staples is opening a radio store.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cunningham, Cobourg, visited Mrs. Hugh Thomson and family, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Shearer have been visiting relatives in Cobourg this week.

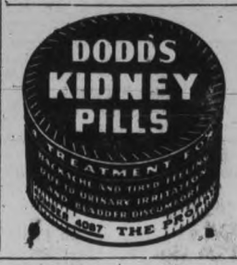
FAIR PRESIDENT — Stuart G. Bennett, Toronto industrialist and one of Canada's leading Scotch shorthorn cattle breeders, has been elected president of Toronto's Royal Agricultural Winter Fair. He was educated at the University of Toronto and at Oxford and served in the First World War.

Hand Badly Injured

TRENT RIVER (ENS). — William Preston, Trent River Road, suffered a severe scalping to the back of his left hand on Monday morning at his barn while he was in the act of administering a dose of medicine to a sick cow.

The cow, refusing the medicine, threw up her head and caught Mr. Preston's hand between her head and the staunchions. Mr. Preston was taken to the office of Dr. W. M. Judd, Havelock, for treatment. A number of stitches were required to repair the injured hand.

Owner Quits OAHA Would Enter Cup Finals



QUEBEC (CP) — Frank Byrne, owner of Quebec Citadelles, announced today he has withdrawn his junior hockey club from the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association which imposed $500 "peace bond" on coach Phil Watson.

In a lon distance telephone call from Montreal, Byrne told The Canadian Press he sent the following telegram to George Dudley of Midland, Ont., secretary manateur Hockey Association:

"Have withdrawn my team from the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association. Request permission to compete for Memorial Cup playdowns."

Stop Leaflet Issue

TORONTO (CP)—An Ontario provincial police squad was sent to Queen's Park Tuesday night when a small group, believed to be Communist sympathizers began handing out leaflets in the hall outside the legislative chamber. The group stopped distributing the pamphlets when the officers appeared and no police action was taken.

Block Traffic Bill In House

TORONTO (CP) — A legislature committee Tuesday blocked a bill which might have opened the way to different traffic laws for every municipality in the province.

The bill, submitted by the city of Toronto, would have given the city the right to set speed limits, even though they may be much different from provincial regulations.

The committee, excepting the Toronto members, was unanimously against the measure. However, they agreed to discuss it with Highways Minister Doucett.

At present, the speed limit in all cities is 30 miles an hour. Toronto wishes to raise this on through highways and lower it in congested areas.

Members said the bill would only make the traffic situation more confusing and approval would be followed by a flood of similar requests from other cities with traffic problems.

C. Harry Lyons (PC-Sault Ste. Marie) said there are so many signs on Toronto streets now it is impossible to drive out of low gear.

Show Pictures Of Mexico At Recital

GORE'S LANDING (ENS). — The Public Library was filled to capacity on Saturday evening when the pupils of Mrs. R. J. Meggs gave a recital. Assisting soloist was Glenn Hogg of Harwood.

The guest speaker, who showed colored pictures of Mexico, was Miss Lindy MacIntosh, formerly of this village and later teacher in Peterborough public schools. She is now teaching in Ottawa.

The chairman, Mrs. D. L. MacDonald, librarian, announced the following program: Piano duet by Nancy and Pamella Harris; piano solo "The Star," by Laramie MacFarland; "The Lollypop Parade" by Evelyn Pratt; "The Rose's Dream" by Ruth Wastington; Easter Song by Beverley, Sherry and Laramie MacFarland; piano solo, "Apple Blossoms" by Jean Herriott; "The Pet Shop" by Edwin Cole; "Cornish Maypole" by Sherry MacFarland; "Valse Christine" by Phyllis Isaacs; "Fireflies" by Lucille Harris; "A Curious Story" by June Lander; sailor tune by Patricia Zufelt; "On the Deck" and "An Evening Prayer" by Beverley Sherwin.

Mrs. R. J. Meggs introduced Miss MacIntosh, who gave an interesting account of her Christmas journey to Mexico City, where she was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Gore at Hotel Geneve, owned by Mr. Gore, who retains an interest in the village of Gore's Landing, named for his grandfather, and for many years has contributed towards St. George's Church asd the public library.

Miss MacIntosh showed pictures of Mr. Gore's beautiful home outside Mexico City and illustrated her talk with several examples of Mexican handiwork, including a large green shawl, a sombrero, two lovely handbags, and jewellery.

Mr. Wallace Pratt, president of the public library, moved a vote of thanks to Miss MacIntosh.

Gore's Landing News

A sale of household furniture and other articles was held on the lawn of "Terrace Hill"' this week by Mrs. J. D. Fowlie who formerly owned this house when it was "Hastings Lodge." Many years ago this property was owned by Miss May Waddingham of Peterborough. The sale was well attended and the house is now ready for the new owner who expects to arrive shortly from Toronto.

Two new families have recently arrived in the village. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis and son are occupying the apartment above the store in William Babb's home. Mr. and Mrs. A. Harper and two small daughters are living in the bungalow formerly owned by the late Mrs. W. Blakely. Both these families came from Toronto and the men are working in Cobourg.

Roads are drying up around this vicinity and considerable road work is being done on the 8th concession through the bush near Highway 28 at Bewdley. Many cars passed through Sunday afternoon taking advantage of the bright sunshine.

HOW much have automobile insurance rates increased?

- In relation to other car costs they've gone down.
  Each $100 of insurance carried takes a smaller portion of the motorist's dollar than ever before.
- But cars are more expensive.
  You can't insure the $2,400 car of today as cheaply as the $850 car of 1939.
- So, in dollars, how much have auto rates gone up?
  An average of 30% for Public Liability and Property Damage. An average of 60% for full coverage.

WHAT affects the cost of automobile insurance?

- The number of accidents
- The average cost of accidents
- The costs of doing business
- The profit or loss of the insurance company

WHY have rates gone up in dollar cost?

- Because accident rates have been soaring.
  Today one person is killed every four hours in Canada — one person is injured every fifteen minutes — a fender is smashed every two minutes.
- Because accident costs have been soaring.
  A wrecked car costs two to three times as much to replace as in 1939 — a damaged car costs twice as much to repair — those fenders every two minutes cost three times as much.
- Because medical and hospital costs have increased an estimated 165%.
  The bill for injuries is the highest in history.
- Because average Canadian earning power is up 150%.
  That means higher payments to settle "lost time" claims.

THEN HOW have insurance companies kept rates from going much higher?

- By cutting operating costs.
  Overhead is higher but operating costs per vehicle have been slashed.
- By losing money.
  Auto insurance companies paid out $65,000,000 in claims last year. They lost $6,3000,00 doing it.

THE REMEDY

- Reduce accidents.
  When the accident rate goes down — unless the cost of each accident goes 'way up — insurance rates will go down too. Competition makes that certain.

REMEMBER —
The accident that doesn't happen never costs anybody a dime.

Hung Jury Gives Man New Trial

DETROIT (CP)—Judge John A. Ricca dismissed a jury of 11 women and one man Tuesday and ordered a new trial for Arthur F. Gietzen, 26, charged with the Sept. 1 murder of his father.

Jury foreman Oscar Moss, 44, said Monday after 18½ hours deliberation the jury was no closer to a decision than it was when it first retired Saturday.

He said all jurors except one were in favor of a verdict of innocent by reason of insanity. Mrs Ann Halloway held out for a verdict of guilty of second-degree murder. One juror said she stuffed cotton wool into her ears because she "couldn't stand the screeching" of the lone woman holdout.

Another juror, Mrs. Wanda Minor said Mrs. Halloway "wouldn't listen to the arguments of the others and said as far as she was concerned he (Gietzen) was not insane because he didn't act insane in court."

Mechanical Mayor

WINNIPEG (CP)—A miniature duplicate of Mayor Garnet Coulter is aiding the Red Cross here. The puppet, which delivers a short recorded speech, was built by Eric Bennett, an accountant who makes a hobby of building models.

AWAITING AID—A family of villagers gather near a small stove in a makeshift hut in Gonen, Turkey, after losing all their belongings in a severe earthquake. Aid for the thousands made homeless by the earthquake began to arrivee from abroad as four U.S. Air Force Flying Boxcars arrived at Instanbul from Switzerland with medical supplies and blankets. The supplies were made available by the U.S. and Canadian Red Cross as the death toll neared 300.

Take War Slides Of Hasty-Pees

MARMORA (ENS)—Sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Branch 237 Canadian Legion, Major Rev Fred Goforth, M. C., padre of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment showed colored slides at Marmora town hall Monday evening of places in France and Italy occupied by the regiment during the Second World War and a short series of English scenes.

He prefaced his talk with references to the regiment and his gratitude for having shared its experiences.

Accompanying him was Capt. Farley (Squib) Mowat who is gathering data for his forthcoming book on the history of the regiment and was introduced to the audience. Also speaking a word of thanks to those present for attending was Capt. R. J. Scott of Belleville who went into service with the regiment from Marmora.

The slides were beautifully developed in natural color. Those of the cemeteries showed the great care taken of the graves. Comrade W. J. Cottrell of Marmora branch of the Canadian Legion acted as chairman.

Saunders Waits Power Permission

OTTAWA (CP)—Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario hydro-electric commission, said Tuesday he hopes to receive permission "in a few weeks" to go ahead with the power development of the St. Lawrence.

Speaking to students at Ottawa's Nepean high school, he added:

"I'm convinced that Canada will go ahead with the seaway project itself."

Canada had the engineers and was able to finincae the project, said Mr. Saunders.

"We are one country that doesn't ask for donations. We only ask for co-operation from the United States and nothing more. I hope the selfish interests of a few will not hold up the seaway project much longer."

Building Boom Reverses Trend

OTTAWA (CP)—Residential construction increased sharply in Canada during 1952, reversing the downward trend of the previous year.

Annual report of the Crown-owned Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, tabled Tuesday in the Commons by Resources Minister Winters, disclosed there were 83,246 houses started in 1952 compared with 68,579 in 1951. The 1952 rate was about par with that for 1950.

A total of 76,302 houses were completed in 1952 compared with 84,810 in 1951.

Greater availability of mortgage money, materials and labor were given as reasons for the increased construction activity last ear. Stable prices also were cited as a factor.

The corporation said "there is reason to believe that this high level of starts may continue into the year 1953." But it warned that availa bility of mortgage money and of serviced land "will become increasingly important as a brake upon house building at higher levels."

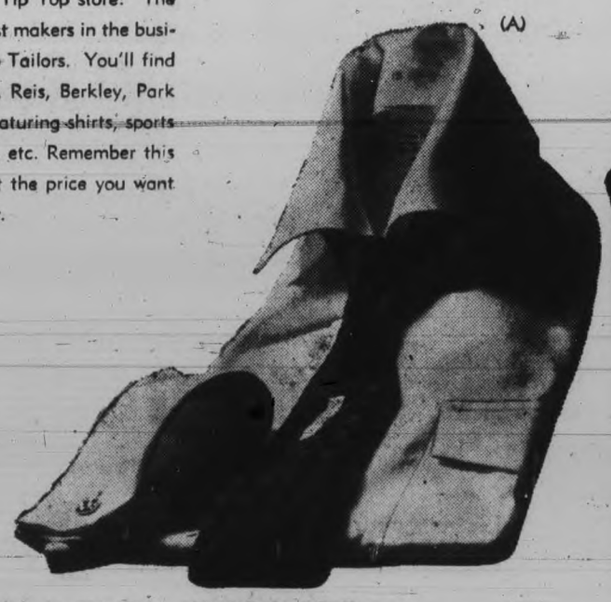
MPP Calls For Quotas On Sugar From Cuba

TORONTO (CP)—A private government member Tuesday called fo introduction of quotas on the import of Cuban sugar.

In an address during the budget debate, G. W. Parry (PC—Kent West) urged the provincial government to "impress on the federal government" the importance of protection of the Western Ontario sugar beet industry.

He said that if a flourishing domestic sugar industry had existed in Canada during the Second World War, it would have been unnecessary to introduce stringent rationing measures. Such an industry also would provide employment for large numbers of skilled workers.

Balance In Favor



LONDON (CP)—J. A. Boyd-Carpenter, financial secretary to the treasury, told the House of Commons that five members had not yet collected their full salaries for last year. These five had a total balance of $5,875 coming. Members receive about $2,800 a year.

Science Fiction Film Taken Out Of Wraps

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLWYOOD (AP) — Today the wraps were taken off a super-secret science fiction film, the first in three dimensions. The picture has an unusual switch:

The creatures who arrive on earth from another planet are not invaders, but visitors. They happen here by mistake and work like beavers to get back home.

The picture is called "It Came From Outer Space," and it features Richard Carlson and Barbara Rush. It was filmed in its entirety with a "no visitors" sign on the stage door. Even the studio's press agent was not allowed on the set.

Now that the Universal-International film is completed, the studio is willing to talk about it. I chatted with Ray Bradbury, one of the most successful science fiction writers. He was author of the original story.

"I started from the premise that there will be conflict if the inhabitants of two planets meet," he explained. "My reasoning is this: If there is any life on other planets, it is doubtful if it has developed into human form. Even if these creatures are intellectually developed beyond humans so that they have abolished war and conflict, there will be a shock when they meet earth people.

"The two races will be do dissimilar that conflict is bound to result. So I envisioned creatures landing here by mistake in a rocket ship. They work feverishly to keep out of sight of humans until they can repair their ship and continue on their way."

The "visitors" accomplish their missions by using humans. Certain citizens of an Arizona town are hypnotized and instructed to do the visitors' will by telepathy.

The visiting space travellers will be seen by the audience only in one brief, horrific flash. The shot is expected to draw a large response from movie goers, since the picture is in 3-D.

Salsberg Criticized For Talking Too Much

TORONTO (CP)—George Parry (PC—Kent west) criticized J.B. Salsberg (Lab-Prog.—Toronto St. Andrew) in the legislature Tuesday for talking too much and called for a return to the traditions of British parliamentary procedure.

He asked that action be taken to curtail speeches by back benchers "within the limits of reasonableness and prevent for all time a repetition of this house having to listen hour after hour to irrelevant, unnecessary and often incorrect drivel from those whose sole objective is to delay the business of the House and prevent as far as possible the proper and expeditious conduct of our business."

Bill Allows Redress On Expropriated Land

TORONTO (CP)—Land owners dissatisfied with payments for land expropriated for highways may get further redress under a bill introduced in the legislature Tuesday.

At present, there is no appeal from the ruling of the Ontario municipal board, which decides how much should be paid for land. The bill would allow property owners to appeal the decision to the Ontario Court of Appeal.

It also would give individuals the right to ask for payments when the value of their land is decreased by the construction of a highway nearby.

Softens Blow

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP)—A pamphlet explaining just how the tax dollar is expended will again be mailed with each tax bill to Waterloo taxpayers. Mayor D. A. Roberts said the city owes it to the people to give them a better idea of how their money is spent.

ARCTIC INDIAN PRIEST—The only full-blooded Indian to serve as a clergyman in the Canadian far north, Rev. James E. Sittichinli, 47 (right), visits Edmonton on the first trip "outside" in his life. He shows a pair of mukluks, standard northern footwear, to Archdeacon S. F. Tackaberry (centre) and Rev. Canon A. J. Vale, of Vancouver, Mr. Sittichinli's first school teacher in the north. The Indian minister broadcasts Indian-language services from the Anglican Cathedral at Aklavik, N.W.T. He is one of 600 Louchex Indians who live at Fort McPherson. He was ordained in 1943.

UWO Head Urges Canadians Do More Industrial Research

NEW YORK (CP) — More research work should be done by industry in Canada, Dr. Edward Hall, president and vice-chancellor of the University of Western Ontario, said Tuesday.

Speaking in the lecture series on Canada now being put on by Town Hall, New York study forum, Dr. Hall stated that relatively few industries in Canada have their own research and development laboratories; although some do, "and their laboratories have paid handsome returns." He added:

"Many other companies are associated with major organizations in the United States or the United Kingdom, where the research is carried on.

"This, I believe, in most cases is a mistake—not only from the point of view of creativeness, application and product development but also from the consumer and public-relations aspect.

"The people of a progressive country should not be denied by big industry the right to participate in the research, development, utilization and production of products made from the resources of that country and sold and used by the people of that country.

"We, in Canada, have the resources and the raw material, we produce the scientists (for export in too many cases) and we should have a realistic share of the industrial research laboratories where young Canadians, knowing Canada, loving Canada, thinking Canada, looking to a future in Canada, could use their scientific abilities in Canadian industrial laboratories."

What might be termed "classical experiments in applied research" resulted in such practical items as eliminating the black fly in a 100-mile area—the black flies which bite the people who hunt for uranium, build radar outposts, establish new farmlands and generally push back the frontiers of the north.

Norfolk county of Southwestern Ontario had been an unproductive area until a soil chemist noted a similarity in the chemistry of Norfolk soils with those of the best tobacco lands of Virginia. The result was a tobacco-growing industry which, in 1953, harvested tobacco with a farm value of more than $55,000,000.

Paper Spokesman Expresses Concern Over U.S. Attitude To Canadian Newsprint

NEW YORK (CP) — A spokesman for Canada's pulp and paper industry today expressed "concern "over the United States attitude towards Canadian newsprint.

Robert M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, said in an address prepared for delivery at a Town Hall meeting that Canada has proved a reliable source for 75 to 80 per cent of U. S. newsprint needs.

"We have met your demands with speed and efficiency," he said. "in face of these facts, it seems strange that in the last year or two there have been frequent statements by a number of your politicians, supported by some of your publishers, which protest against what they call the 'dependence' of the United States on a 'foreign' source of supply."

Fowler was one of four Canadians whose prepared addresses were delivered before the big forum of American business and industrial executives which this year is devoted to "Canada—Nation on the March."

The others were Dr. G. E. Hall, president of the University of Western Ontario, who spoke on Canada's scientific achievements; Nathan E. Tanner, president of Merrill Petroleums Limited of Calgary and former mines minister of Alberta, on petroleum; and E. J. Umphrey, vice-president and director of sales for General Motors of Canada at Oshawa, on Canada's markets.

New York—add townball-fowler

The pulp and paper industry, Canada's largest, does not fear wherever they may be built, Fowler said. But Canadians questioned the wisdom of proposals to stimulate the newsprint industry in the U.S. or Alaska by "forced draft" methods such as subsidies, loans and special tax concessions.

Umphrey gave the U. S. executives some pointers on merchandizing techniques in Canada. Canadians were skeptical of the "so-called bargain approach."

"We are inclined to be conservative, deliberate, realists, practical—judging things for their enduring merit rather than for their expediency. We tend to insist on quality, on stability, on goods that last longer. We pay a great deal of attention to product reputation, and our product loyalties are very strong."

Tanner said there has been a general feeling in the Canadian natural gas industry that export will be permitted this year and, "therefore, the necessary markets made available in the very near future."

Hospital's First Patients 29 Badly Burned Children

By JEAN E. STENTON

TAXCO. — Until four years ago, a hospital in Taxco was regarded as a place to die. Now every morning at the Adolfo Prieto Hospital there is a lineup of 25 or 30 Indians squatting in the waiting room waiting their turn for treatment of minor ailments while the rest of the hospital has the most modern equipment available to care for 18 or 20 patients. They have frequently looked after 60 in a day.

* * * *

This is another community project that is an exciting story of hopes, hard work and success. Prior to 1948 there was only a Red Cross station which operated in an old building opposite my hotel. often during operations there was dirt falling into the room. Mrs. Lucy Reyes, wife of the hotel owner, is a nurse and frequently was called on to assist with these operations. She realized what poor conditions the doctors had to work under and gradually here and there she got others to think about it, including the Rotary Club.

* * * *

It was decided to try and collect from the town and the tourists for a hospital. They did, and raised 10,000 pesos. They felt rich and were going to buy land and have one or two rooms. But they were fortunate in securing help from a wealthy Spaniard, Santiago Arias Prieto, who had inherited part of Adolfo Prieto's fortune. The latter had been a captain of industry in the Monterrey iron works, textile mills, etc. He had bought a Taxco mine and on visits there with his nephew Santiago he used to say that if he died before he did something for the people of Taxco, he wanted his nephew to give them something. Prieto did die suddenly and left as inheritors only nephews and nieces.

* * * *

NEPHEW CHOOSES HOSPITAL

When Don Santiago heard of the town's efforts to get a hospital he called Dr. Alberto Curiel of the Rotary Club and asked for suggestions as to possible projects which would aid Taxco. The doctor proposed: (1) a hospital; (2) schools; (3) a water system; and (4) a library.

* * * *

Don Santiago said the water was a political item which he didn't want to touch and he felt the schools were good but for a limited number of children. He said the library was even more limited with only a few using it. So he decided the hospital would be best for it would help everyone, rich and poor.

* * * *

Just at that time there was a mine closing and the committee was offered a building which had been used as a mine hospital. The doctor there tipped them off that if they bought it, he would leave all the fixtures. The original price was 55,000 pesos, but they got it down to 50,000. Then with taxes, etc., it came to nearly 52,000 pesos. Don Santiago offered them the money to buy it. Then before they could act they received notice they had only 72 hours to complete the deal. They couldn't locate Don Santiago.

* * * *

WOMEN ACT TO GET HOSPITAL

When the deadline was almost reached, some of the Rotary ladies went to see the manager of one of the plants. He wasn't there, but they talked to his wife. She agreed to lend the money and with her signature and backed by those of all the Rotary wives, they got a cheque for a loan from the bank and the deal was completed. A week later Don Santiago came to Taxco and gave them the money.

* * * *

The transaction was finished around August 1948 and it was decide to have the inauguration on October 12. But events refused to wait for their plans to be completed and there was a forced opening on September 15, the Mexican Independence Day. The hospital had not been furnished when it had to open its doors.

* * * *

In the village of San Juan de Dios there were special ceremonies being held in the schoolhouse. The students were presenting a play on the independence theme and since fireworks are always a part of a Mexican celebration, a man had put a big pile under the platform for safekeeping. In the middle of the performance someone was smoking and threw a cigarette under the stage.

* * * *

The firecrackers exploded and there were 29 cases of third degree burns, mostly children and the teacher Irene Castro Giles. They were brought down to Taxco to the parish priest, Father Ramos, after they had been treated in the villages with old remedies of ink and eggs. Father Ramos had stretchers piled in the Vera Cruz church and in the sacristy.

* * * *

DONATE BEDS, BANDAGES

The priest was the only one who knew there was a hospital and he called Mrs. Reyes at 6 p.m. and she immediately got hold of Dr. Curiel. They made the rounds of the town and got old beds, bedding and bandages from all the hotels and the people of Taxco. In 48 hours everyone had a bed. There was only one death.

* * * *

When Don Santiago came a month later and saw the benefits he was delighted and asked what it had cost to fix. They had already spent the 10,000 pesos which he had given them for equipment. So he brought his brothers and sisters to see the hospital and they donated 50,000 pesos more.

* * * *

At first the Red Cross operated with them, but they finally separated and the Red Cross closed out. The hospital is now the only means of help. They have received donations from many Mexican and U.S. Rotary clubs. In addition, middle class people pay something for their treatment, but the poor pay nothing and most of their cases are poor. It is an old building and it keeps them busy repairing it.

* * * *

TWO DOCTORS

There are two doctors who help, Dr. Juan Garces and Dr. Curiel, one of the founders of the Taxco Rotary Club. The doctors are there from 7-9 a.m. daily and will answer any emergency call.

* * * *

There is one permanent nurse on the staff, assisted by three or four girls. Mrs. Reyes helps when needed and there are a few others who serve as practical nurses when necessary. But it is getting to be too much for one nurse and they may ask a team of nuns to take over the nursing and housekeeping duties. The project has had the backing of Americans and Canadians in the mines here. They can always be counted on to back any such plan, officials say.

* * * *

The hospital is a white, Spanish-type building with a wonderful view of the town from the patio. The X-ray room and operating room have the best and latest equipment, some of it donated. All the rooms are clean, airy and bright. In the wards that I visited, some of them had two beds, some three and some four. All the patients' rooms open on to arched galleries that face the patio. In a large room off the waiting room the nurse gives injections and takes care of all minor cases and dressings.

Descendant Of Pioneer Family Dies

Margaret Hamilton Daughter of Early Industrialist

Last member of the family of the late William Hamilton, head of one of the sustaining industries in Peterborough years ago, Margaret Hamilton, 219 Barnardo Avenue, died early today in hospital after a lingering illness.

Miss Hamilton was born in Peterborough, daughter of William Hamilton and his wife, Ellen Crossen. She was a graduate of the University of Toronto, and had been a Collegiate Institute teacher. Perhaps the final act of her life was the sale to the Masonic fraternity of the Hamilton residence on the west side of Rubidge Street between Hunter and Brock Streets. Since then it has been enlarged and is now in use as the Masonic Temple in Peterborough.

NICHOLLS HOME

The house was the home long ago of Robert and Charlotte Nicholls, but in later years was owned by the Hamilton family, whose sons Frank, William and Percy carried on the grocery business on Simcoe Street, east of George Street, which retains today the Hamilton name. Her brothers predeceased her, and also her sister, Edith Hamilton, whose community service here was virtually the institution of public health nursing.

William Hamilton and his brother, Peter Hamilton, father of former Mayor James Hamilton, were industrialists in Peterborough in its expanding years as a town.

CONTRIBUTED TO CITY

Peter Hamilton owned the farm implement industry at the corner of George and King Streets. His brother William was head of the William Hamilton Co., Reid Street, manufacturers of sawmill machinery, steam boilers, and similar products. Their enterprise provided employment for many workmen, to whom they were familiarly known as Pete and Willie, and contributed largely to the growth of this city.

Miss Margaret Hamilton was a member of Trinity United Church. The funeral will be Thursday at 2 p.m. from the Comstock funeral home on Rubidge Street, to Little Lake Cemetery. The service will be conducted by Rev. G. S. Maxwell of Trinity Church.

Area Cleared Parking Cars

A large area has been cleared for parking cars in the Cedar Lakes park area it has been announced by Norman Gaynor, president of Kawartha Recreations, Incorporated.

Mr. Gaynor made the announcement at a meeting of the directors of the organization in the board room of the public library Tuesday evening.

The directors discussed a tentative date for the official opening of the park and the erection of a road sign at the entrance. Work will be begun immediately on tables and other picnic facilities to be placed in the park in time for the opening.

It was felt that the finance, grounds and program committees should work closely together to speed the opening of the park in time for the coming of fine weather.

Situated in Burleigh township, the park is a community project designed to provide a place for city-dwellers and others to spend the day in natural forest surroundings.

Failed To Wait Driver Fined

Entering a plea of guilty on a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident, James H. Lawson of 19 Ware St. was fined $30 and $2.50 costs in Magistrate's Court today.

Driving south on George St., March 19, Lawson ran into a parked car, knocking it into a second parked car. Total damages were set at $110. He continued on to his home where police found him later.

A second charge of careless driving was dismissed when Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, offered no evidence.

School Teacher Dies

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Florence Mary Ware, 42, a native of Welington and school teacher at nearby Harrow since last September, died in hospital here Tuesday. A daughter of Rev. F. O. Ware, rural dean of Tamworth, about 22 miles west of Kingston, Miss Ware was a graduate of the Peterborough Normal School.

A TWO-HEADED CALF was born Sunday on the farm of Elwood Bullock, Highway 28, just north of Young's Point. Except for the two heads which are joined at the back, the calf is normal. Although it can breathe with either nose and eat with either mouth, the calf has been gradually weakening. It was fairly strong at first, Dr. H. H. Hamilton of Peterborough, reported. Mr. Bullock's brother, Russell, of Peterborough (above), holds the calf.

Beggs Fails To Get Support On 3 Security Resolutions

Ald. W. J. Beggs moved endorsation of four incoming resolutions on proposals within the category of personal security at the meeting of the board of works Monday. Three of his motions lapsed for lack of seconding. One from the council of Sudbury advocated to the provincial government an increase in the allowance to disabled persons confined to institutions. Another clause requested that disabled heads of families on mothers' allowance be granted an increased scale of assistance to conform with the cost of living.

"I move that this resolution be endorsed," Ald. Beggs said, but there was no seconder."

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF

The other Sudbury resolution proposed that the Federal government accept full responsibility in unemployment relief "so as to relieve municipalities of this burden," that unemployment insurance benefits be increased in proportion to the cost of living, and that the Provincial and Federal governments institute public works to provide employment.

"I move the endorsation of this resolution," Ald. Beggs repeated.

The council of Toronto recommended an increase in old-age pensions to $50 a month.

GOT SUPPORT

London (Ont.) council urged that the means test be removed in cases of blindness, because it was a deterrent to the efforts of many blind Canadians to become self-supporting.

Ald. H. S. Longhurst seconded the Beggs motion to support the London resolution, but it was defeated.

A second motion by Aldermen Rehill and Black requested City Clerk Outram to obtain information for the council regarding "the need portrayed in this letter" for increased assistance to the blind for elimination of a means test. It carried.

Attitude of the board in these matters was that the members were asked to endorse proposals about which they lacked definite information.

Ald. J. A. Dewart voted for the Rehill-Black resolution, but said that he knew Edward Baker, for years a leader in obtaining aid for the blind. "If it was a request from him, I'd support it without hesitation because I know definitely of the quality of his work."

Mr. Baker lost his sight in the First World War.

Of his attitude, Ald. Beggs said: "I feel there is room for improvement in these various matters. Some places have evidently taken the time to study them before sending them out for the support of other councils."

Ald. Graham seconded the motion for increased aid to disabled persons, but no other support was shown.

Ald. Rehill remarked that the board had before it only the recommendations from the three other cities, and that was the extent of the information on which the members were asked to vote.

Outboard Marine Production Goal 553% Over 1939

With plans advanced for a substantial plant addition, 1953 output of the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. is projected at 553 per cent. higher than the 1939 prewar peak.

Addressing a dealers' luncheon in Toronto, Monday, marking the company's 25th anniversary in Canada, President C. B. Neal said production this year would be up 22.3 per cent. Indications are that the demand for outboard motors and other marine equipment will be better than ever.

Mr. Neal told dealers that his company had grown from 30 employees with annual sales of $300,000 in 1928 to more than 800 employees and $10 million sales. Much of this success he attributed to a strong dealer organization.

No matter how good the designer and manufacturer may make a product, it doesn't pay off until it is in the hands of the consumer, Mr. Neal said.

Bruce L. Payne, secretary-treasurer, advised the dealers to put special stress on servicing to keep customers satisfied. He urged them to keep adequate records and plan their budgets soundly.

"Know how much you are making and where you are making it," he advised. "Concentrate on the items which are the best earners and keep a watchful eye on your inventories. Money tied up in inventory isn't earning for you."

Give Consent To Bylaw For Causeway

County Now Ready To Sign Agreement With Federal Gov't

County Council today passed a bylaw permitting them to go ahead as soon as possible with the building of the $206,000 overhead bridge and causeway at Gannon's Narrows. Specifically, the bylaw approves an agreement between the county council and the Dominion Department of Transport in which the Federal Government hands over $99,000 which is their share of the project.

The $99,000 was already in the department's 1952 estimates and council had to reach an agreement on building plans before March 31; had they not done so the money would have had to be revoted in 1953 by the department. The end of the fiscal year is March 31, so the $99,000 will be handed over in a lump sum as soon as the agreement is signed.

READY TO START JUNE 1

Jack Kean, county engineer and road superintendent, said that by the time the project had been advertised, contracts signed for the work, and other matters attended to, it would probably be June 1 before actual construction begins.

Mr. Kean estimated that the causeway would not be ready until June 1, 1954. The $99,000 anticipated almost immediately from the Department of Transport should be sufficient to finance work this year, he said.

The building of the high-level 200-foot bridge with 70-foot approaches at each end, is the concern of that department because it has charge of Trent Canal interests. But once the $99,000 is paid over the upkeep of the bridge is the responsibility of the county. As there is a high-level bridge instead of a swing-span the department have an additional saving.

Cost of fill, topping and gravelling and putting guard rails along the sides of the 1,500-foot causeway will come to an estimated $104,000.

Highways Minister George Doucett has promised an 80 per cent subsidy on this expenditure. And, unexpectedly, he also offered to subsidize by 80 per cent anything over the $99,000 figure that was spent on the bridge section.

Legal fees, interest on borrowed money, and other incidentals will probably add up to another $3,000.

Here is how the $104,000 will be split up:

Department of Highways 80 per cent or $83,200.

Harvey Township (3/11 of remaining $20,800), or $5,673.

Peterborough County (8/11 plus $3,000 in fees), amounting in all to more than $18,000.

PAYING COUNTY'S SHARE

"Has council considered raising this money over a one or two year period, instead of by debentures?" asked Deputy-Reeve Dave McIntyre of Otonabee Township.

"I don't think it has been discussed," said Chairman Willard Waterman of the county roads committee.

Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore said that it was first necessary to decide whether the county council wanted to go ahead with the project.

First reading of the bylaw to sign the agreement was moved by Reeve Charles Flynn of Harvey Township who expressed appreciation with the work done by the roads committee since the January session. At that time agreement on how the causeway should be built and financed seemed far off. Reeve Flynn's motion was seconded by Reeve William C. Grant of Lakefield.

There were no objectors to the bylaw. However Reeve Rork Ferguson had one little aside:

"I can't help but remember how at the last session we wanted a

Boundary Line Confirmed By Legislation

An act was introduced in the Ontario Legislature Tuesday setting out the official boundary of Ontario and Manitoba. The extensive work of surveying was largely done under the direction of a Peterborough father and son—Messrs. John Pierce Sr. and Jr.

The re-surveying of the boundary was begun by Mr. Pierce Sr. and the last leg—stretching to Hudson Bay—was completed by John Jr. about five years ago. The following year the younger man went back for a spot check on the cement markers that line the boundary.

Similar acts to confirm the exact boundary for the first time will be introduced in the Manitoba House and in the House of Commons.

FIRST SURVEY IN 1850's

When the boundary was first surveyed in the mid 1850s it was carried only to a point about 375 miles south of Hudson Bay.

Since 1925, there have been important discoveries of minerals and the area is slated for greater development in future. Thus it now is to the advantage of both provinces to know exactly where the boundary falls.

The boundary is marked by 36-inch high cement markers. At some points they are a mile apart, but in other regions where it was difficult to find a good location they are as much as five miles apart.

Mr. Pierce Jr. is at present surveying the boundary between the districts of Cochrane and Thunder Bay in Northern Ontario.

Place Order For $1,800 Of Fireworks

Ont. Championships In Ski Jumping On Little Lake

Expenditure up to $1500 on fireworks for the public celebration of the coronation of Queen Elizabeth was authorized by the board of works in a motion by Aldermen Norman Graham and Arthur Burrows.

Ald. Syd Black is the general chairman of the committee in charge of the day's program.

A letter from the T. W. Hand Co., fireworks manufacturer, requested the council to make as early an order as possible of whatever night display material the city was considering.

SKI CHAMPIONSHIP

The board recommended that permission be granted Peterborough Water-Ski Association to hold the Ontario open championships in ski jumping, etc. at Little Lake on August 8 and 9.

Doug Vaisey, Alf Pink and Terry Hill appealed to the board for definite and official permission for the association to proceed with their plans including the Sunday afternoon events. The assenting motion by Ald. Beggs was seconded by Ald. Graham.

On their previous appearance Mr. Pink was told that there might be objections from the residents of the Little Lake vicinity, especially Crescent St. There was no rejection of the proposal but it was suggested that the Ministerial Association might be consulted.

"The council had the impression several weeks ago that this water ski-meet was going to run all day," Ald. Rehill said. "We didn't have then the information we should have had. I had the impression the program on the lake was going to start at 8 a.m. and naturally we were thinking of what the residents would have to say about it."

"I certainly had the impression that it would be all day," Ald. Burrows said.

START AT 1 P.M.

Mr. Pink said the jumps would start at 1 p.m., and there would be only two boats in action, one with an inboard motor towing the skiers and the other a crash or rather splash boat to pick up any of the contestants who might be dunked.

Mr. Vaisey said regatta control of the lake would apply with restricted lanes for boats. Mr. Pink told the committee that the question of Sunday was mentioned to Rev. H. G. Douglas, president of the Ministerial Association.

'As far as I know it seemed to be all right with him. He didn't see anything wrong with it." Mr. Pink said.

WATERMELLON - SHAPED TIRES ARE SOFT — Revolutionary new type of "Rolligon" tires allows this Navy jeep to run over inventor William Albee, of the Carmel, Calif., testing ground, without hurting him. Inventor Albee claims the tires will permit greater maneuvreability of military and farm equipment over all types of terrain including swamps and sandy beaches. The tires are driven by a series of rotating rollers on the under side of the vehicle. These rub against the top surface of the balloon-like structure and move the vehicle.

Farmer Better Off Than Ever: Gardiner

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner says the Canadian farmer is better off today than ever and no one knows it better than the farmer himself.

All the farmer has to do, Mr. Gardiner told the Commons Monday night, is to put his hand in his pocket—even after Finance Minister Abbott has taken his tax slice—and compare his position with earlier years.

The minister, in an hour-long speech in defence of government policies, offered the opposition parties a bit of advice. They should stop shouting, he said, that Canada is a bad farming country, that agriculture is going to wrack and ruin and that markets for agriculture have been lost. The farmer knew otherwise.

Mr. Gardiner said markets have not been lost. It was fair to say the cost of production had gone up, but so had farm prices. Canada had produced more food in the last three years than in the last three years of the Second World War.

And, Mr. Gardiner said, so long as the Liberal government is in power, prices will go down less than they would under any other party's policy.

Mr. Gardiner spoke after John Diefenbaker (PC - Lake Centre) moved a motion urging government consideration of a greater use of floor prices to bolster the farm industry. The motion asked floor prices that would ensure a "fair return" in relation to the cost of production.

The motion, technically one of non-confidence in the government, said floor prices should be set after consultation with farm organizations.

RULED OUT OF ORDER

Mr. Diefenbaker moved his motion after a similar one sponsored by H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) had been ruled out of order. Speaker Ross Macdonald said it could not be accepted on the ground that it directed the government to expend money. Opposition parties cannot initiate legislation which requires expenditure of public funds.

At the House opening, External Affairs Minister Pearson said there is no concrete evidence of any change in Russian foreign policy since Georgi Malenkov became premier. He said, however, that the attitude of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations has been more conciliatory.

The Commons spent more than an hour debating a procedural point as to whether debates on resolutions preceding money bills should take place with the Speaker in the chair or at a later stage. Speaker Macdonald promised a ruling later.

The government introduced a bill to give the Yukon council powers now exercised by the federal government. These will include such matters as jurisdiction over hospitals, agriculture, wills and inquests and the borrowing of money.

In the agricultural debate Mr. Diefenbaker said Canada's farmers are worried about the future. They wanted parliamentary action to halt falling prices, surpluses and lost markets.

RESTORE UK MARKET

The government should act to restore the United Kingdom market by buying defence needs in Britain. This would provide Britain with the necessary dollars to buy Canadian farm products. Canada depended on the U. S. market now, but the Americans always increased their tariffs and erected embargoes when necessary to protect their own farmers.

Mr. Herridge said no steps should be taken to restrict agricultural production. It would be "complete humbug and hypocrisy" to do that while there were people going hungry in the world.

Robert Fair (SC-Battle River) said there should be a system of "parity prices" for agriculture—a system under which farm prices are related to the cost of production. For the government to ask farmers to cut production of some products because there was no market was "criminal" while there were hungry people in other countries.

F. H. Larson (L-Kindersley) said Canadian farmers wanted to see a renewal of the international wheat agreement, but world wheat surplus conditions should be kept in mind. There should be no return to conditions of the 1930s when Canada's wheat stayed in the elevators.

J. A. Ross (PC-Souris) also said there should be a new international wheat agreement "but not at any price."

He could not agree with Mr. Gardiner's assertion that farmers were satisfied. Many of them were worried and he was one of them.

Peace Gardens Described To Selwyn WI

SELWYN —(ENS) — Mrs. William Elliott, convener of historical research and current events, and her assistant Mrs. Gordon Fitzgerald were in charge of the Women's Institute meeting which opened with the Institute Ode, followed by repeating the Mary Stewart Collect.

The business period was presided over by Mrs. Kenneth Sweeting. Cards of thanks were read by the secretary, Mrs. Bell, from Mrs. Elton Miles, Mrs. Walter Preston and Rodger Sweeting.

The ladies decided to enter an exhibit at the exhibtion under the heading, "When a Girl Marries," consisting of a few items for a living room, dining room, bed room and kitchen.

An invitation was received from Miss Jean Noble to the girls' Achievement Day on the project "Cottons Can Be Smart."

Mrs. Elliott presented the new Tweedsmuir history book to the meeting with information she had obtained from Toronto. The members are looking forward to getting this record of local history started.

A parcel post project is to get under way with all members sending at least three letters to their friends. The returns are to be in by June. All parcels received are to sell for 25 cents each.

The Current Events paper, with items collected by Mrs. Gordon Fitzgerald and written and compiled by Mrs. Clayton Fitzgerald, was read by Mrs. Clifford McIlmoyl. It includede items of interest from world, Dominion and local happenings from January to March inclusive.

Mrs. William Elliott told of her trip through the Western Provinces to Banff last fall. Of special interest to all WI members was her description of the Peace Gardens on the border between North Dakota and Manitoba. The Women's Institute has a plot of ground there. A beautiful cairn is erected there, as a symbol of enduring peace between the United States and Canada.

Mrs. C. Fitzgerald sang a solo accompanied at the piano by her daughter, Pauline.

Mrs. Evans Blewett paid tribute to Mrs. George Geisel who is leaving the community to reside near Little Britain. Mrs. Irvin Tully presented a china cup and saucer for which Mrs. Geisel sincerely thanked everyone.

A number of the ladies displayed the leather work they had made at the short course in Lakefield. Refreshments were served.

Lost 13 Hours, Man, 82, Found

TAVISTOCK (CP)—W. O. Alles, 82, who disappeared from his home here Monday night was found Tuesday about two miles away, suffering from exposure and minor cuts.

He had been missing for 13 hours, and 50 police officers and neighbors spent most of the night looking for him.

The retired tailor was taken to hospital for treatment. He was found by William Heinbuch near this village 10 miles from Stratford after Heinbuch's wife reported seeing an elderly man at the back end of the farm.

Mr. Alles, who had been in business here since before 1900 until his retirement, had recently been in poor health.

25 Attend Meeting Keene Mission Band

KEENE—(ENS) —Twenty-five members of the United Church Mission Band gathered in the Sunday school room Saturday afternoon, under the leadership of Mrs. H. B. Herrington, assisted by Miss Mary McFarlane. The president, Donna Short, was in the chair.

The first part of the meeting consisted of playing games, followed by the singing of Easter hymns. Mrs. Herrington told the story of Palm Sunday and Gail Anderson read the Scripture lesson. Betty Godfrey dedicated the offering and Peter Elmhirst gave the treasurer's report.

The secretary, Jean MsIntyre, read the minutes of the previous meeting. Plans were then made for the Thank-Offering Meeting to be held the first Sunday of April, to which the mothers are to be invited and refreshments will be served.

EMBARKATION PARADE—RSM Herb E. Fournier, 32, youngest regimental sergeant-major in the Canadian army, calls his men for their final parade before leaving Canada for Korea. His unit, the 81st Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery, left its training ground at Petawawa to join the 25th Infantry Brigade in Korea. RSM Fournier has been in uniform since he was nine, when he signed on as a bugler in a navy reserve unit in his native Kingston. He joined the permanent army artillery at 14.

Seek Hospital Funds

BANCROFT (ENS)—A campaign to raise funds in aid of the North Hastings Red Cross Hospital was initiated last week. Canvassers will cover the entire community and outlying townships in an effort to raise a substantial sum. Treasurer for the drive is Mr. Chet Wark.

The hospital was allocated a grant of $2,200 in the provincial budget. The board has found that much more will be needed to carry on the work of the hospital.

Province Acts To Turn Over Rent Controls, Ban All Oils But Margarine

TORONTO (CP)—The provincial government took steps Tuesday to turn over rent controls to the municipalities and ban the sale in Ontario of edible oils—except margarine — which resemble dairy products.

Travel Minister Cecile introduced a bill which would end provincial jurisdiction over rent controls March 2, 1954. The 217 municipalities affected—all the cities and most of the large towns—would be permitted to take over the controls themselves.

Highways Minister Doucett introduced a bill which would ban the sale of substitutes for whipping cream, sherbet, chocolate milk and similar dairy products.

He claimed the measure, the second bill introduced this session in connection with edible oils, would benefit the whole province.

"This bill is necessary for the welfare of the dairy industry. . . It is a protective measure not only of a great basic industry, but also of the welfare of all our people. If in part it protects our farm population, it likewise protects all those dependent on their sustained purchasing power."

The edible oils bill was the government's answer to critics of the earlier and less specific bill, which was termed at once too strong and too weak. The edible oils industry said it would prohibit the sale of peanut butter, shortening and mayonnaise.

The earlier bill was less specific in that it left power to fix edible oil sales regulations with the cabinet.

In a prepared speech, Mr Doucett said the government never intended to prohibit sale of peanut butter, shortening, mayonnaise and similar foods which have been sold freely for many years. The Edible Oils Institute, official voice of the industry, claimed the bill would have that effect.

Mr. Doucett said soybean farmers would not be hurt by the bill. He said dairy farmers buy a large portion of the soybean crop for livestock feed, and thus soya growers depended on the buying power of a dairyman for their welfare.

Mr. Cecile's bill would permit the municipalities to take over rent controls from the provincial government in much the same manner as did the province from the federal government in April, 1951.

Mr. Cecile noted that the transfer of jurisdiction from the provincial government was facilitated by "cordial co-operation." Federal records and personnel had been lent to the provincial government.

He said the province would extend the same co-operation to any municipal government which wished to enter the rent control field.

Three cabinet members—Attorney-General Porter, Planning Minister Warrender and Mr. Cecile—are members of the select committe on rent controls.

The committee's only opposition member, T. D. Thomas (CCF—Ontario) has called the decontrol bill "undemocratic and unfair."

The legislature adjourned an evening session after party leaders expressed sorrow at the death of Queen Mary.

Premier Frost moved that the legislature adjourn after he said the dowager Queen helped to make the British throne "stronger with its own people in the eyes of the world" than it has ever been before, he continued:

"The greatest thing about the Queen was her integrity of character, her devotion to duty and to the fundamentals of that which made our country, our Empire and Commonwealth great."

SHIPPING SEASON OPENS — Smoke belching and engines throbbing these freighters prepare to steam up the upper lakes as the navigation season gets under way on the Great Lakes. This spring promises to record the earliest resumption of shipping in the history of the lakes. By April 1, perhaps earlier, such freighters as these, anchored at Toronto, will be familiar sights again from Kingston to the Lakehead.

Canadian Spending Abroad Larger Than Tourist Income

OTTAWA (CP)—With all government financial barriers eliminated, the Canadian tourist dollar raced out of Canada in 1952 at the fastest pace in history, leaving the rate of foreign tourist spending in Canada far behind.

The result was a tenfold boost in an unusual deficit in Canada's international tourist account, leaping to $60,000,000 in 1952 from $6,000,000 in 1951, the bureau of statistics reports.

These were the first deficits in Canada's tourist history and compared with such surpluses as $49,000,000 in 1950, $92,000,000 in 1949 and a peak of $145,000,000 in 1948.

Big factors in the historical reversal were the high level of Canadian prosperity, the Canadian liking for American holiday spots, lifting of government travel restrictions in 1951, and the jump in the value of the Canadian dollar on foreign exchange markets.

For the first time, too, Canada with a population of less than 15,000,000 dropped more tourist dollars in the U.S. in 1952 than did visitors to Canada from her southern neighbor with a population of about 160,000,000.

Total Canadian tourist spending in the U.S. and other countries jumped to a record 336,000,000 last year, up $56,000,000 from $280,- quadrupled from the 1939 total of $81,000,000.

Spending in Canada by foreign visitors increased only $2,000,000 to $276,000,000 from $274,000,000 in 1951, but still below the peak of $285,000,000 in 1949.

Most of Canada's tourist dollars swept into American pockets, but spending overseas was up, too. Canadians dropped a record $294,000,000 in the U.S., a jump from $246,000,000 in 1951, but the total American spending in Canada remained unchanged at the 1951 level of $258,000,000.

Boy Granted Damages

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Gerald McGuire, 14, a London schoolboy severely injured 15 months ago when struck by a car on Hamilton road was awarded $5,000 damages Tuesday by Mr. Justice J. Maurice King who found the car driver solely to blame. Gerald suffered a fractured left ankle, fractured left hip and damaged kidney. The car was driven by Robert E. Warren.

400-Pound Stones Fall

QUEBEC (CP)—Two 400-pound stones slipped from the clock tower of the Quebec legislature building early Tuesday and fell 75 feet to the street below. No one was injured. An official said the break was caused by water and ice action during the thawing period.

Two Families Homeless

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two families with six small children were forced out of their two-storey frame home on Waterloo street by fire Tuesday night. Firemen estimated damage at well over $1,000 to the house, owned by Richard Blatchford.

Verbal Duel On Powers Act Carries On; No End In Sight

OTTAWA (CP) — The verbal duel concerning the government's Emergency Powers Act and whether it should be renewed for another year was refought in the Commons Tuesday with the end not yet in sight.

The act, giving the government wide powers without reference to Parliament in event of an emergency, expires next May 31. The government seeks renewal until May 31, 1954.

Justice Minister Garson again outlined the government's side, denying that the act itself gives the right to make secret orders or interfere with the liberties of Canadians. These powers were contained in the dormant War Measures Act, but the government did not want such arbitrary powers in peacetime.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, M. J. Coldwell, CCF, and Solon Low, Social Credit all have lined up their parties against any extension of the act. They argue it gives the government powers that rightly belong to Parliament.

The debate, going off and on for a month, probably will continue today.

At the House opening Fisheries Minister Sinclair announced that Britain will buy $4,250,000 worth of British Columbia canned salmon. The Purchase probably will absorb about half of the 500,000-case carryover from the 1952 pack when Britain did not purchase salmon.

Labor Minister Gregg reported hi department is making a new effort to settle a five-week-old Vancouver grain elevator strike. Government action also is planned to settle a dispute between elevator operators and employees at the Lakehead.

Resources Minister Winters presented the 1952 annual report of the government-operated Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. It showed housing starts totalled 86,246 last year compared with 68,579 in 1951.

At the start of the night sitting, Prime Minister St. Laurent announced to a hushed House the death of Queen Mary in London. The Commons adjourned the regular night sitting as a mark of respect.

In the emergency powers debate, Mr. Garson took issue with a March 17 editorial appearing in the Toronto weekly, Saturday Night.

He said the editorial erred when it said the Emergency Powers Act conveyed the right to make secret orders and gave the impression there could be interference with personal liberties. The trouble with the editor of Saturday Night and others like him was they didn't have enough time to study such matters and had to rely too much on statements by members of the opposition.

Mr. Garson said he has no objection to attacks on the government by publications or opposition members. But no member of Parliament and no editor "should recklessly, carelessly or deliberately slander the laws of his own country."

Only one secret order-in-council had been passed, but the law pertaining to secret orders was not in the Emergency Powers Act The power to make an order secret was contained in the Regulations Act and the exempting order must be published.

Mr. Drew described Mr. Garson's statements as "remarkable" and an attempt to prevent free discussion. The minister wanted no criticism, but the press had been doing its job and would continue to do so. Saturday Night was correct when it said the government was seeking permission to make secret orders.

Appeal Court Cuts Sentences Of Four

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Appeal Court Tuesday cut to six months a two-year penitentiary term imposed on Norman Coe and Robert Marshall for escaping from Guelph reformatory.

The court also reduced Gordon Hottinger's rape sentence of 10 years in penitentiary to three years and 10 strokes of the whip.

Pte. Louis Gauthier, who was sent to reformatory for two years for throwing a brick through a window at Alexandria, so he could get out of the army, had his term cut to six months. In a written appeal, he said he threw the brick because he thought he would get from three to six months in jail.

French Ministers Visit Canadian Capital For Minor Discussions

OTTAWA (CP)—The prime minister, foreign minister and finance minister of France will visit Ottawa next Sunday and Monday at the invitation of the Canadian government.

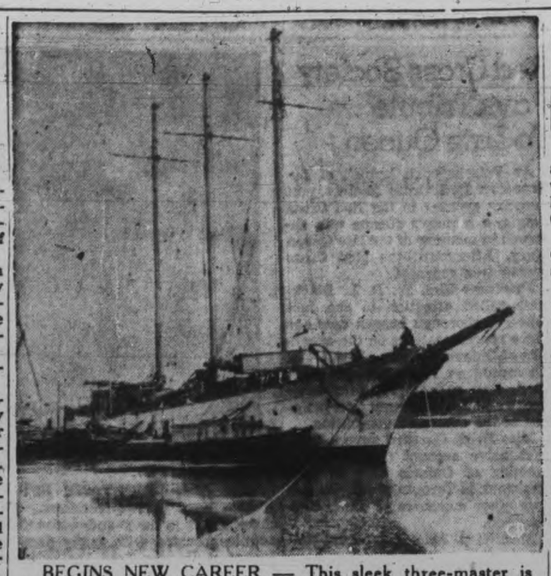
Prime Minister Rene Mayer, accompanied by Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and Finance Minister Maurice Bourges-Maunoury, will come here after talks in Washington with President Eisenhower and officials of the United States government.

It is believed the visit will largely be in the nature of a courtesy call that will allow the representatives of the two countries to renew acquaintance and discuss problems of mutual interest.

It is not known here whether the visitors will have any particular matter to raise. In the absence of such information, arrangements have been made for them to meet with Prime Minister St. Laurent, External Affairs Minister Pearson, Finance Minister Abbott and Production Minister Howe.

Mr. Mayer, then defence minister, and Mr. Bidault, finance minister at the time, both attended a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty organization in Ottawa about two years ago. They have met Canadian cabinet ministers at other NATO meetings.

Reference possibly will be made during talks to existing world conditions, particularly those in Europe, and to relations between Canada and France as members of NATO.



The visitors will arrive from Washington at noon Sunday. They will be welcomed by Prime Minister St. Laurent, members of the cabinet and senior government officials.

They will be guests at an informal reception there.

The first item on the agenda Monday is the placing of a wreath by Mr. Mayer at the National War Memorial. Discussions with Canadian government officials will follow.

Mr. Mayer and his party will be luncheon guests of Governor General Vincent Massey at Government House. Later, the visitors will give a press conference at the French embassy and be dinner guests of the Canadian government.

They will fly to New York early Tuesday.

BEGINS NEW CAREER — This sleek three-master is being made ready for a new career as a hydrographic survey vessel for the Canadian government. Built in Denmark in 1923, the 535-ton steel-hulled yacht Vema went into service for the United States government in 1941. She now has been purchased by Capt. Louis Kennedy to replace the City of New York, Admiral Byrd's old exploration ship, which was lost off the Nova Scotia coast this year. The Vema is shown tied up at Dayspring, N.S.

Dismiss Impaired Driving Charge

A charge of impaired driving against Allan Darling, of Warsaw, was dismissed by Magistrate J. R. Philp Tuesday in Magistrate's Court.

Testimony of Darling and two companions indicated he had consumed only "one beer" prior to the laying of the charge March 6, while police officers claimed his vehicle was driven erratically and the accused had bloodshot eyes, smelled of liquor, staggered and was unco-operative.

Darling was driving from Toronto, had consumed one beer in Newcastle and had continued on to Warsaw. A police officer following him on the slippery, snow-covered roads said in court the Darling vehicle had forced a bus and truck off the road during the two and one-half mile distance under observation.

Stopped at the intersection of Highways 28 and 7A, Darling was said to have been seemingly in a drunken condition.

In dismissing the charge, Magistrate Philp took into consideration the weather and road conditions at the time and the relatively short period between the time Darling had consumed the beer and when he was stopped.

Subpoena Ex-Convict In Shakedown Probe

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Cecil Smith was subpoenaed Tuesday to appear before the police commission Thursday to elaborate on charges he made last week that he was the victim of a "police shakedown."

Smith said Monday he would not appear voluntarily but would testify if subpoenaed and given protection of the court under the Canada Evidence Act. He said his police record shows 87 convictions during the last 30 years and he felt certain elements of his testimony would involve him in criminal charges.

Crown attorney Bruce J. S. Macdonald, a member of the commission, said Smith will be granted such protection.

CANADIAN POET — Edwin John (Ned) Pratt, professor emeritus of English at Victoria College, Toronto, is one of Canada's best-known poets. When his "Collected Poems" were published in the United States and Canada in 1944, Pratt had published a dozen volumes in 20 years from "Newfoundland Verse," in 1923, to "Dunkirk" and "Brebeuf and His Brethren," the story of the Jesuit martyrs. His reputation and his following were made on the sustained power of his story-poems. Born February 24, 1883, he was the son of John Pratt, a Methodist clergyman at Western Bay, Nfld., and Fanny Pratt, daughter of a sea captain. He was nearly 40 before he turned to poetry. In 1952, his epic narrative "Towards the Last Spike" was published.

Fashions For Little Girls Miniatures Of Adult Styles

Easter fashions for little girls are anything but "classic" this year. They are miniatures of adult styles, correctly trimmed down to the tender years and tiny size of your small daughter.

Practically anything that the big girls will be wearing, the small girls will have, too. Sole exception here is the mink coat, jacket or stole but these may come later.

As things are, they have jewelled touches on their coats, they have the silk coat, they have striped touches and gay linings in prints or stripes.

The silhouette is most often fitted since this is the line most flattering to the figure that's three feet—more or less. Fabrics include textured and smooth-surfaced woollens.

The perennial Spring combination of navy-and-white is in evidence for the small set again this year but the pastel shades—the blues and pinks and yellows—have been developed for the Easter parade and after. Houndstooth checks are shown in neutral colors for small girls whose tastes run to the tailored or casual types.

The boxy silhouette, worn by big sister, is the suit fashion for small fry. The skirt here may have one or two pleats or it may be widely or narrowly pleated all around. White touches are good here at both collars and cuffs. These are detachable, of course, to make laundering easy for mother.

Man-made fibers have come into these Spring fashions and made it possible for mother to find small coats, suits and dresses that can be laundered at home.

This makes the choice of pastels for children entirely practical for the first time in fashion history. A further argument in their favor is that they cut down on cleaning bills and make a smaller wardrobe quite feasible.

Too Much Candy And 'Pop' Lesson to Growing Children

OTTAWA (CP)—Five white mice in a laboratory here are the health department's answer to children who eat too much candy and soft drinks.

Three of them were healthy and full of bounce after a month's diet of cheese, carrots, bread and milk. On this balanced diet, two of them doubled in weight and one became three times as big.

Two others, skinny and lifeless, moped around a corner of their cage. They weighed about the same as they did a month earlier when they started eating bread and jam, candies and cookies.

There was a sixth, but he proved to be an even better example in the nutritional experiment staged by Dr. L. B. Pett, head of the health department's nutrition division. He died after 14 days of the sweet tooth diet. Diagnosis: Malnutrition.

Dr. Pett says that while white mice are used in the experiment, the findings are a lesson to growing children and their parents because they show the vital need for a properly balanced diet.

Sanctuary Guild Sponsors Lecture

"The beautifying of the worship of God in the church." was the theme of an illustrated lecture presented by Mr. H. D. Boundy of Toronto Tuesday evening to an appreciative audience in St. George's parish hall. The lecture was sponsored by the Sanctuary Guild in St. Gorge's Anglican Church Colored slides showed altars and vestments of many Anglican churches and chapels in Toronto and other parts of Canada. An outstanding group of pictures were those of the Anglican Cathedral at Aklavik where the altar frontals are made of perfectly matched skins and a beautiful painting of the "Virgin of the Snows" hangs above the altar. Other pictures of interest were of the high altar of Westminster Abbey as adorned for the wedding of Queen Elizabeth and of Archbishop Fisher in the cope and mitre he will wear at the forthcoming coronation of the Queen. Mrs. Norman Thomas, president of the Sanctuary Guild, introduced Mr. Boundy and Mrs Boundy who assisted her husband [illegible] J. Scuse offered prayer for the late Queen Mary and silent tribute was paid to her. Mr. and Mrs. Boundy were thanked by Miss Marion White and were later entertained by the Guild when refreshments were served by junior members Miss Noreen Morman was the pianist for the evening.

"Hot Flashes" Stopped

or strikingly relieved

in tests by doctors!

• If you're miserable from the "hot flashes," and accompanying irritable, restless feelings of "change of life"—you may be suffering unnecessarily!

For, in tests by doctors, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought relief from such functionally-caused suffering—in case after case! Complete or striking relief.

Yes! Research has proved Lydia Pinkham's thoroughly modern in action . . . has shown you where to look for relief from those distressing, nervous, "out of sorts" feelings of mid-life "change"!

So, get Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, or new, improved Tablets. Both are grand, too, for functional pains and "weak" feelings of monthly periods.

It acts through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to relieve distress of those useful "heat waves"!

ST. ANNE'S SCHOOL

The Parent Teacher Association of St. Anne's School met Monday evening in the school auditorium. President F. Whaley presided; Mrs. R. Harrison gave the secretary's report, and the treasurer's report was read by Mrs.. J. Paquette.

Constable Donald MacKay was guest speaker and was introduced by Mr. Joseph Collins. In his address on "Safety Patrol," Constable McKay outlined certain traffic hazards which he has observed, but which are not realized by many. He pointed out that a child who becomes safety conscious through his grade school years will become a cautious adult.

The greatest means of reducing child accidents has been found in the introduction of the "Safety Patrol System" in the schools. The procedure in organizing this system was explained to the parents and also the requisites and duties of the patrols.

The patrol pledge was recited by the patrol officers from St. Anne's school who were present for the address.

A vote of thanks was extended to Constable MacKay by principal Edgar Boland.

An enjoyable musical interlude was provided by Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Seidel of Bridgenorth. Attendance prizes were won by Miss Neville's room Grade 2, and Sister M. Borgia's room, Grades 4 and 5.

Lunch was served by Mrs. J. Russell, Mrs. F. Hickey and Mrs. J. Shaughnessy.

Red Cross Society Pays Tribute To Late Queen

As Peterborough branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society met Tuesday evening in the Red Cross rooms, a minute's silence was observed in memory of the late Queen Mary. Afterward, the Red Cross prayer was repeated.

President Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwell called attention to the fact that Peterborough branch now has three representatives on the executive of Ontario division—Mrs. G. H. Thompson as vice-president, Mrs. C. J. Ray as honorary vice-president and Mrs. Blackwell as a member of the executive committee.

Miss Helen Gerrard gave a comprehensive account of the annual meeting of Ontario division held last week in Toronto which she and four other members of the branch attended.

Mrs. S. O. Shields reported that three civil defence lectures have been given to the graduates of the home nursing courses, and that an average attendance of 38 was recorded.

The packing committee acknowledged receipt of several quilts from the Ladies' Aid of Knox Presbyterian Church at Lakehurst, George St. Church WMS, district 7, Fairmount WMS and Park St. Baptist ladies. These have all been shipped to Ontario division, and at the request of Ontario division any further donation of quilts of bedding will be forwarded immediately.

Mrs. Henry Rennie is in charge of wool and has received a quota. She would welcome volunteer knitters.

SGCA Compares Two City Budgets

The Study Group on Civic Affairs met Tuesday evening in the committee room at City Hall. President Mrs. T. J. Carley was in the chair and a good representation of the membership was present.

Reports on the March City Council meeting were given by Mrs. D. Rostocky and Miss M. Lees. Miss Kathleen McCarthy reported on the Board of Education meeting.

Miss Margaret McCulloch reviewed the history, aims and purposes of the organization.

Mrs. W. E. Fanning gave a most interesting and comprehensive talk on the 1953 tax rate. She compared the '52 and '53 budgets of the city and pointed out just how the Council was able, even with increased expenditures, to reduce the tax rate for this year. There was some discussion on this subject afterward.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT SPRING COSTUME is shown here in two versions. First, the two-piece check (left) in navy-and-white worsted wool. This is double-breasted with fairly deep collar and V neck. Jacket is lined. True costume (right) has narrow collarless cardigan coat in fleece over shag silk dress. Coat lining is matched to the dress; both are a beautiful Wedgwood blue here. Dress is a sheath worn with a narrow sash to cinch in and define waistline.

Spring Costume is Jacketed Dresses

Spring costume. That's the title for the big, new dress story of the season. It means this: a dress, with the added attraction of a jacket, coat or stole.

The formula for the dress is a sheath, straight and narrow. Over this goes some form of topping. If it's the so-called box jacket, it's really shaped in a rounded, tubular fashion. It may have a band at the hips or it may just taper at the hipline.

The coat that goes over the sheath is straight and usually, collarless. Buttons run from top to hem and if the dress underneath happens to be a silk print, the coat is likely to be lined in the same fabric.

A stole, this year, may be a stole in fact, or it may be a shawl. In any case, it's in the same fabric as the dress and the two make up another version of the costume.

For many of the new sheaths, there are wrapping belts or sashes to define the waistline. These are sometimes wound Empire style. In several collections, the loosely-cut sheath is straight up and down through the midriff.

The full and man-tailored dress with shirtwaist look keeps the full-skirt fashion alive while adhering to styling that's basically simple. It means that there's still something for the woman who prefers the full skirt to the narrow line. It's a clustered fullness, concentrated at sides, back or front.

More top width appears in many Spring dresses through blousing, wide collars, big bows, puff sleeves or draping.

Beige is big for Spring and so, of course, is navy. But gray, black and some red are in color focus, too.

Prints are important this year and there are many sheer woollens, shantungs, honans and linens.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Homemade Soup, Tasty Economical

The meat and potato boys might give this meal the dim view if they knew their precious meat and potatoes weren't ever going to show up, but when they are finished their happy stomachs will send up the okay message, and once more the overstrained budget will be relieved.

I'm proud of the soup, but busting out all over with enthusiasm for this custard pie. It is no ordinary pie you may be sure.

DIRECTIONS

GOOD NEWS: You may use 3 cups leftover liquid from boiling a ham or some corned beef OR a leftover ham bone as the meat ingredient in this soup if you wish.

✧ ✧ ✧

OLD-FASHIONED HOMEMADE VEGETABLE SOUP (serves 6 generously)

One-half cup each dried lima beans and dried peas, 2 tablespoons each barley, rice, kidney beans and lentils (lentils are optional), 8 cups cold water (OR 5 cups cold water and 3 cups ham or corned beef liquor) ½ cup finely cut outer celery stalks and leaves, 2 medium-sized potatoes finely diced, 2 small onions sliced, ½ cup finely chopped turnip, 1 cup stewed or canned tomatoes, 1 teaspoon (or more) of salt. ¼ teaspoon pepper (and if on hand 1 ham bone or 1 finely chopped weiner). Wash the beans, peas, barley, rice, kidney beans and lentils and soak overnight in the water. Bring to boiling point then add the celery, potatoes, onions, turnip, tomatoes, salt and pepper. Simmer, covered, very slowly for 2 hours. You may have to add a little water if it cooks away too much. If ham bone or wiener are used add them one-hour hour before serving. Taste to see if this needs more seasoning. Remove bone before serving. I add ½ cup finely chopped parsley about 1 minute before serving time. This soup is quite thick and a meal in itself. Some of you may want to add ½ cup carrot dice and a little sugar—about 1 teaspoon. Use your own native soup-making judgment.

The toasted buttered rye bread is improved if held in a warm oven for about 5 minutes before serving. This treatment makes it curl.

CHEF'S SALAD

For six good salad eaters you will need half of a large head of lettuce of 1 small one, cut into 1-inch cubes with silver knife, about 1 tomato sliced thin, about ¼ green pepper shredded, about ¼ scored but unpeeled cucumber sliced wafer thin, about ½ cup chopped parsley, and some shredded celery and radishes if you like. If the French Dressing has a slice of garlic in it you won't need to rub the bowl with garlic. Toss the works with about one-third to ½ cup of your own French Dressing. Make the salad at the last minute, of course, to preserve all of its precious vitamin-content.

OLD-FASHIONED CUSTARD PIE

THE FILLING: 5 whole large eggs (1¼ cups), ½ to two-thirds cup granulated sugar (don't be tempted to add more—custard might get watery), ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 to 3½ cups milk—not homogenized (better sill use 2 cups non-homogenized whole milk and 1 cup cream). With rotary beater beat eggs slightly, then add sugar and beat a few seconds. Add salt and vanilla. Add milk very slowly —it should be scalded to hasten baking time. Stir as you add the milk. Strain. Pour into pastry-lined pie plate with high fluted edges. The amount of milk depends on the size of your pie plate. Don't have it so full that you spill it when carrying it to the oven. Add any filling that is leftover after you have made the trip safely to the oven door. Now bake in a hot oven—450 deg. Fahr.—for about 25 minutes, then reduce heat to 375 deg. until custard is set —a silver knife inserted at centre will come out clean. The high heat during first part of baking bakes the crust quickly and prevents soaking. Add nutmeg or cinnamon to this pie filling, in or on it, if you like spices. This is sure a honey.

DOROTHY DIX:

Be In No Hurry To Neighbor Young Bride Is Advised

DEAR MISS DIX: I'd like to know just what it means to be a good neighbor. I am starting out in a new neighborhood and don't know whether to get friendly with my neighbors, or not to have anything to do with them. My mother was a wonderful neighbor and helped everyone, but she never got any thanks for it. The rest of the people in my town never bothered with each other. I do want to make friends, but at the same time I don't want to be hurt.

NEW BRIDE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I am inclined to suggest that you follow your mother's example; be friendly with your new neighbors, helpful when you can be, and sincerely interested in them. However, I receive so many letters complaining about neighbors that I wonder if the old concept of neighborliness, given to us in both the Old and New Testaments, "Love thy neighbor as thyself," has been entirely forgotten. Today's attitude apparently leans more to the somewhat cynical, but perhaps sensible, words of Robert Frost, "Good fences make good neighbors."

CHOOSE FRIENDS CAUTIOUSLY

The best thing for you to do is feel your way carefully. The pattern of your new neighborhood has already been set, and it's up to you to follow it. Be pleasant to the people you meet, but don't make overtures. Don't rush into their houses, or grab every opportunity for a long backfence confab; above all, be very wary about discussing you own affairs. Take your time making new friends, and you can be sure that those you make will be good friends. Take part in any neighborhood activities to which you are invited, or that are open to all, but again, restrain any impulse to leap to the front. Old settlers are apt to resent intrusive new ones, and you'll build a far more substantial popularity by working gradually into the limelight.

If your new surroundings are in a section occupied mostly by young people like yourself, your problems will be greatly lessened. A community of young folks lacks the tension that exists in an established section where the residents may look askance upon newcomers.

Let moderation be your watchword and you'll soon learn to know the worthy neighbor from the troublemaker.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a 16-year-old girl with a boy friend my own age. We went visiting one Saturday night and I had permission to take the last bus home. However, we missed that bus and, as we were waiting for a taxi, his parents came along in their car, and picked him up. He asked them to take me home, but they refused, saying I knew my way

Queen Mary Outlived All Of Britain's Kings, Queens

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Queen Mary outlived all the queens and kings of English history.

She was born as midnight struck in Kensington Palace May 26, 1867, the year of Canada's Confederation. She died in her 86th year, having lived four years longer than both Queen Victoria and George III.

Queen Eleanor of Aquitaine, wife of Henry III, was her nearest rival. She died at 82.

Queen Mary's lifetime spanned six reigns, two world wars and three "epochs" each with a special quality—the Victorian, Edwardian and Georgian periods. She saw vast social changes and the transformation of monarchy from a small aristocracy with a direct influence on the nation's affairs to its present more symbolic role, as an image of national character and family life.

As early as 1893, as bride of the heir presumptive to the throne, she became associated with monarchy at a time when Britain was at the height of her power. Canada, along with Australia and New Zealand, was a colony.

Through all the changes Victoria Mary Augusta Louise Olga Pauline Claudine Agnes, as Queen Mary was christened in what was then the fashionable way for royalty, remained steadfast and immutable, an embodiment of old-fashioned Victorian virtues.

It was perhaps this changelessness, this clinging to her own standards and fashions in a changing world, which was Queen Mary's greatest appeal to her people. In her inevitable flowered toque, wing-sleeved cape coats and long umbrella or parasol, she became a symbol: "Grandmother England."

Her conservatism in the flapper days of the 1920s was illuminated in a phrase she used to describe the present Queen Mother Elizabeth: "Thank God," she said, "Elizabeth is not one of these modern girls."

Though her stiff-backed dignity and devotion to duty made her stern-seeming and formidable to some, she had at the same time a gentleness and gravity of character. The Duke of Windsor records in his memoirs that his mother was always a less severe parent than his father, George V.

"Although she backed up my father in all matters of discipline, she never failed to take our side whenever in her judgment he was being harsh," writes the Duke.

Countless stories were told of her sense of duty and awareness of social conditions. Once she inspected a slum property owned by a committee of prominent persons, who wished her to see only the model flats. Queen Mary insisted on seeing them all, called the meaner ones a disgrace to the country and threatened to withdraw her patronage unless they were rebuilt. They were—in two months.

During the First World War she worked with Mary MacArthur, pioneer labor woman, on a committee which found employment for wives and daughters of fighting men.

It was in this period that she introduced austerity to the court, carrying economy to the point that the Royal residences were permitted water for only one hot bath a week.

She showed the same touching quality in the Second World War. She was refused her dearest wish, to "sit out" the war in London, but in the country house at Badminton, Gloucestershire, where she stayed with the Duke and Duchess of Beaufort, she insisted on doing her bit.

"There was nobody in the whole of England," writes Marion Crawford in a book on royalty, "who went in for austerity to such a degree as Queen Mary.

"She kept everybody busy from morning to night with knitting-parties, or rolling bandages, and she in person would go out into the woods and assist with the felling of trees. . ."

In a word she was, to use the cliche that appears in nearly all her biographies, indomitable swing bridge," he said. "Now we don't hear anything about it . . . It just shows that people can change their minds."

"This is better than a swing bridge," said Warden Ernest Leeson of Havelock.

REQUIRE TWO BRIDGES

Mr. Gifford said that a swing bridge would have been built over on the Harvey shore and two bridges would have had to be built elsewhere in the causeway to let through the heavy rush of water.

The present plans call for a 200-foot high-level bridge with one end on the Ennismore shoreline, secured on steel H-piles. The other end will be on a heavy concrete pier built on the rock-fill. At both ends the approach will be on a 70-foot beam span anchored to a concrete abutment.

It will replace the present floating wooden bridge which is considered dangerous for traffic. Mr. Kean reported two years ago that the wooden bridge was too badly damaged to be repaired.

Stratford Moves To Settle Strike

STRATFORD (CP) — City council Monday night made a third move to settle a 20-dayold strike at the Swift Canadian Company plant here.

A sub-committee, headed by Mayor Lawrence Feick, was chosen to get in touch with A. E. Mellard, president of the Company at Toronto, Ontario Labor Minister Daley and Louis Fine, chief conciliation officer, in an attempt to settle the strike.

About 60 workers, members of the United Packinghouse Workers (CCL), went on strike March 6 for higher wages. On Monday, an injunction was granted the company to stop strikers from picketing a hatchery, staffed by non-union employees.

Council earlier made unsuccessful moves to end the strike when Mayor Feick phoned Mr. Mellard at Toronto, and council met with the management and union.

The mayor quoted Mr. Mellard as saying the strike could be settled locally.

Second Offender Given One Month

Harry Jones of RR 4, Peterborough, was sentenced to one month on a liquor charge and took an additional 12 days on an assault count in Magistrate's Court today.

For the second offence of consuming liquor while on the interdicted list, Magistrate W. R. Philp handed out the one-month sentence. The charge was laid March 24.

Complainant in the assault case was 12-year-old Frederick Bye of RR 4, Peterborough. According to Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw,

Obituary

MRS. JOHN ARTHUR DARLING

DARTFORD (ENS)—The death occurred in Peterborough hospital today of Mrs. John Arthur Darling, a lifelong resident of Percy Township. Mrs. Darling has been in poor health for some time and has been confined to her bed since last fall. She was the daughter of the late Andrews Marks and Ellen Johnston and was in her 71st year.

Mr. Darling was a member of the Dartford United Church and was a regular attendant as long as her health permitted.

There are left her husband, two sons, Eric of Sudbury and Donald of Peterborough, and four daughters, Mrs. Harold Coffee (Velma) of Hilton, Mrs. Hayden Atkinson (Helen) of Roseneath, Mrs. Frank Madill (Marion) of Oshawa and Mrs. William Timmins (Amy) of Toronto. There also survive nine grandchildren and one brother, John Marks of Norwood.

The funeral will be held on Friday at 2.30 at the family residence, with the Rev. A. L. Sisco officiating. Interment will be in Warkworth Cemetery.

CAHA Reinstates Citadelles For Memorial Cup

MIDLAND (CP)—George Dudley, secretary-manager of the Canadian Aamateur Hockey Association, today announced that the Quebec Citadelles have been reinstated by the CAHA and are eligible for Memorial cup competition.

He said the Quebec City junior club made application to the CAHA "some days ago" and its action was not the result of a Quebec Amateur Hockey Association fine imposed on the Citadelles following a fracas Sunday during a play-off game at the Montreal forum.

The QAHA ordered Frank Byrne, owner of the Citadelles, to post a $500 "peace bond" following a post-game free-for-all and suspended Quebec coach Phil Watson for one game.

Byrne announced the withdrawal of his club from the QAHA today and said he had applied to the CAHA for permission to compete in the Memorial Cup playoffs.

His request for permission to enter the Dominion junior championships was made because the QAHA and all its teams were suspended by the CAHA two weeks ago.

The suspension came after the Quebec group granted player Ron Att

AN ILL WIND—An alert cameraman in Kansas City, Mo., out on a weekend assignment to get pictures of wind damage, came back with this spectacular photo of an unidentified woman—picked up like a leaf in a breeze and blown into the path of this oncoming car. Miraculously the woman escaped serious injury but was taken to hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises around the ankles.

Raise $536 For Blind

MARMORA (ENS)—The canvass recently undertaken in this district under the supervision of Reeve Ritchie Wells of Marmora village and Reeve Irwin McCoy of Marmora and Lake township resulted in $536.66 being turned in to the treasurer, Mrs. F. R. Wells for remittance to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Participating in the canvass were representatives of the various organizations of the village and others.

Jail-Breaker, Bank Robber Arrested In B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Harry Duguid, Toronto's most - wanted criminal, sought for bank robbery and breaking jail, has been arrested here, police said here Tuesday.

Duguid, a 38-year-old former plastics manufacturer, was picked up in a suburban theatre early Sunday when the theatre manager discovered him in the lobby, police said. They said he was also known as Harry Digald and Harry Thompson.

Duguid is wanted for the $14,500 robbery of a Dominion Bank branch in Toronto in 1942, the $19,400 holdup of the Imperial Bank branch at Stamford, Ont., in 1947 and for escaping from the Welland county jail.

Police said Duguid escaped briefly Monday when RCMP officers were escorting him to Okalla prison, in suburban Burnaby, and was recaptured when police fired several warning shots over his head.

Duguid appeared in court Monday and was remanded for a week. Police said he made his bid for freedom as the police car approached the prison.

Duguid wrenched the steering wheel away from one of the officers and sent the car careening into a cement post at the prison entrance. He was caught in bush near the prison and escorted on foot through Okalla's gates.

HISTORY DEBUNKED—This piece of real estate in Quebec city is called the Plains of Abraham in history books but historians now say the name is wrong. They say the site of the battle between Wolfe and Montcalm in 1759 did not belong to settler Abraham Martin after whom it is named. Historians say the "Battle of the Plains of Abraham" did not take place on the "Plains" (left foreground) but on "Neveu's Knolls," or Covefields (upper centre). A true, historical name for the area, now the property of the federal government, which calls it Battle Fields park, is a controversial subject among some Quebecers.

History Books Said Wrong About Site Of "Battle Of Plains Of Abraham"

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec historians agree about the misnaming of the Plains of Abraham, described in history books as the place where France lost Quebec to British forces in 1759. But they differ on what the Plains should be called.

The Plains, they say, did not belong to settler Abraham Martin, after whom they are named.

Any change would have to be made by the federal government, which bought the 1½-square-mile area from the Ursuline nuns in 1908 and calls it Battlefields Park.

The name, however, does not satisfy historians because it does not refer exclusively to the plains. It takes in an area ½ mile away from the spot where Murray and Levis fought the battle of Ste. Foy in 1760 and confirmed Britain's hold on New France.

DIFFERENT SITE

There's another angle: The fateful battle between Wolfe and Montcalm did not take place on the "Plains" after all. It occurred on rolling terrain listed in eye-witness accounts as "Buttes a Neveu" (Knolls) and now called the Covefields. The Covefields cover roughly the eastern half of the Plains.

The odds are that the name Plains of Abraham will stay.

This business of debunking Quebec history started when Georges Morisset, a Quebec writer, described the term Plains of Abraham as "an historical hoax" in an article for Concorde, a magazine published by the city.

It seems Abraham's farm was at least ¼ mile from the battle site. His heirs sold the property to the Ursuline nuns almost a century before Wolfe sneaked up a gully from the St. Lawrence river shore and captured the town.

Origin of the name Plains of Abraham is unknown, but it is believed the area was known by that name long before the battle.

Mr. Morisset suggested the Plains might be called "The Plains of the Ursulines" or "The Fields of the Canadian destiny."

POSSIBLE OBJECTION

Abbe Arthur Maheux, Laval University archivist, said the Ursulines might object to having their name associated with the Plains. However, mountains north of Quebec City and formerly their property are called "The Mothers' Mountains" and the park might be called the "Mothers' Plains."

Better still, he suggested, the Plains might be called "the Montcalm-Wolfe Plains" or "Wolfe-Montcalm Plains," depending on whether you consider the fact that the French were here first more important than Wolfe's victory.

Another historian who asked not to be identified said a change would be "ridiculous and unnecessary" since the name had gone down in history 200 years ago and was a "tradition" in Quebec.

"History," he said, "speaks of the Battle of Hastings in William the Conqueror's time, but nobody wants to change the name, although the battle did not really occur at Hastings."

Charge Reduced Man Fined $75

In Magistrate's court Tuesday on a charge of drunk driving, Bernard J. Condon of RR 10, Peterborough, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of impaired driving and was fined $75 and $2.50 costs.

Two provincial police officers, PC John Gray and Corporal Fred Rawlings, testified on the charge laid February 28. Constable Gray was driving on No. 7 Highway, a short distance from the city when he observed a car which, he said, appeared to be travelling partially on the highway shoulder.

Stopping the car, the officer found the driver, Condon, to smell strongly of liquor while seeming unsteady on his feet. After being taken to police headquarters, the accused was seen by Corporal Rawlings who verified Constable Gray's observations.

At this point of the testimony, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, asked the charge be reduced to impaired to which the defendant was willing to plead guilty.

Beat Elderly Man With Hose, Jailed 2 Months

A youthful, almost blind man was sentenced to two months in jail Tuesday for attacking his elderly companion with a rubber hose.

In court on a charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm, Albert Hopkins of RR 4, Lakefield, pleaded guilty to the count. The complainant, Wheeler Windsor, also appeared in court, badly marked, bruised and cut about the face. A three-foot piece of rubber hose was entered as evidence.

FOUGHT OVER PAYMENT

OPP Constable John Haywood said he investigated an incident on March 19 at a service station south of Lakefield on Highway No. 28. He found Windsor and Hopkins in the garage. Windsor was bleeding badly from facial wounds and subsequently, spent three days in the hospital.

According to the constable, the pair had fought over payment for gasoline. In court, the defendant disclosed he was almost blind in answer to a question by the magistrate: "Didn't you see what you did to this man?"

Sentenced to two months on the assault charge, Hopkins will serve a month concurrent as the result of pleading guilty to a charge of having liquor in an illegal place.

U.S. Ready To Increase Aid For Forces In Indo-China

UN Troops Handed Worst Beating In Five Months

SEOUL (AP)—American planes and artillery turned Old Baldy into a smoking mess of blasts and death today after U.S. troops abandoned it to victorious Chinese. All day long the western front hill rocked under intense fire as the Americans tried to root out the stubborn Reds who handed UN troops their worst beating since they were thrown off the Kumhwa ridges five months ago. The U.S. 7th division pulled out in today's early darkness, dynamiting their trenches and bunkers.

The strategic fortress guarding the Imjin valley route to Seoul was left to the Reds and death.

But even as the Chinese on Baldy squirmed under the U. S. guns, another Red force struck four Allied outposts about 25 miles to the southwest in the Munsan-Panmunjom area.

FIGHTING HOT

An officer there said one attack reached the Allied trenches after heavy artillery fire. The Chinese jumped off just after sundown and the fighting was still hot three hours later.

There was no immediate report on the size of the attack.

On Old Baldy, the Chinese held tightly to the land they had swept over Monday night. U. S. counter-attacks Tuesday and Wednesday got nowhere.

U. S. big guns chopped up 300 Chinese trying to get to the peak.

Both sides have taken bitter losses in the slugging match for the red-dirt peak overlooking the Imjin valley gateway to Seoul.

The 8th army said the Reds lost 1,859 men—including 143 counted dead and 434 believed killed—in the first two days. U. S. casualties were not announced.

As dawn broke today U. S. planes began battering Baldy with 1,000-pound bombs. Artillery made the hill a smoking mess.

AP photographer George Sweers, watching from a nearby hill, said: "It didn't look as if anything could live above the ground."

STICK IT OUT

But the Chinese were up there on the bare peak, some dead and wounded, others probably deep inside bunkers and trenches that had sheltered American and Colombian soldiers when the Red wave struck.

A Colombian officer, whose men held the first Chinese attack until they ran out of ammunition, said the Reds acted as if they had been doped. He said he found brown pills on some of the Chinese dead.

At dawn today the Americans were gone from the knob they held on the southeast quarter of Old Baldy.

They had dynamited their trenches and bunkers into rubble.

Then came the U. S. fighter-bombers — Thunderjets, Panther jets and propeller-driven Corsairs.

By midday, Baldy had shuddered under 100,000 pounds of explosives.

The planes and roaring U. S. artillery goaded the Reds into a big gun duel that was still raging in mid-afternoon. American tanks joined the fight.

Sterling Bloc Pressing Gold Increase

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Britain was speaking for "all the sterling area countries" when she proposed a nigher world price for gold in talks with the United States, deputy prime minister N.C. Havenga announced tonight.

Leaders of the new American Republican administration were told that members of the British-led money bloc "attach the greatest importance to this question of readjusting the gold price," Havenga said. In his address to a Nationalist party election rally, he did not indicate what the U. S. reaction to the proposal was.

Havenga said that Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, R. A. Butler, made the request for a higher gold price in the course of talks with U. S. leaders in Washington earlier this month.

OTHER SUPPORT

Not only the sterling area countries, but also some of "the most important" countries in Europe, want the gold price raised from its present level of $35 per ounce, Havenga said.

Havenga, who also is finance minister, added:

"There is a growing conviction that this is no longer a selfish South African question, but that it is one with which the financial and economic interests of a very large area of the world is closely concerned."

Action, he claimed, would help the sterling area to pay its way in trade with the dollar world.

Oshawa Airport Will Expand

OSHAWA (CP)—Oshawa airport may soon be a base for international flights.

Airport officials Wednesday quoted federal authorities as saying that as soon as the city provides accommodation at the airport for a customs man, Oshawa will be made a customs port of entry.

George Slocum, airport manager, described the airport weather record as near-perfect. He said that Oshawa often is open for flying when fog has grounded flights at Toronto's Malton airport, 35 miles west of here.

At Ottawa, a customs department official confirmed that Oshawa will be made a customs port of entry when it provides office accommodation at the airport for a customs official. The airport—relatively small—would probably serve tourists and freight shipments, rather than scheduled passenger operations.

Price Deadlock Nearing End

WASHINGTON (AP) — Talks on renewing the international wheat agreement today were adjourned until Monday amid reports that a break is nearing in the deadlock over prices.

The 46 - country international wheat council has been meeting in Washington since the end of January. All the sessions are behind closed doors and reporters have been unable to get strictly reliable information.

The exporters—largely the U.S., Canada and Australia—are naturally interested in getting as high a price as possible. The importers, with Britain playing a top role, naturally want wheat as cheap as they can get it.

Both sides have retreated somewhat from their original positions in nearly eight weeks of bargaining.

Eggs Taken Off Ration In U.K. After 12 Years

LONDON (AP)—Eggs came off the ration in Britain today for the first time in 12 years.

The Poultry Association celebrated by sending a dozen new-laid eggs to Prime Minister Churchill and the food and agriculture ministers.

Prices no longer will be controlled. The egg price now ranges between the equivalent of five and seven cents apiece.

Meat, bacon, sugar, butter, fats are still rationed in Britain.

40-Gun Salute Homage To Dowager Queen

LONDON (CP) — Forty-gun salutes boomed out across Britain at noon today as military posts and ships in port joined the nation in paying homage to Queen Mary.

The King's Troop of the Royal Horse Artillery, wearing full-dress uniform, fired the London salute in Hyde Park, close to Marlborough House where the 85-year-old grandmother of the Queen died Tuesday night.

Others were fired at Edinburgh and Stirling castles in Scotland. All ships of the navy and army and naval shore stations at home and abroad simultaneously gave the 40-gun tribute, firing each shot at one-minute intervals.

As the body of the Queen was moved from her home to the little chapel on the grounds, officials were completing plans for the lying-in-state Sunday and the burial at Windsor Castle Tuesday.

Expect Mayer To Outline Latest Plans

Expect Eisenhower Aides To Give Enthusiastic Support

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower begins cold war strategy talks with top French leaders today amid reports the United States is ready to transfer available funds to rush military aid to Indo-China.

Plans for such stepped-up military shipments were reported taking shape behind the scenes as the president arranged to meet French Premier Rene Mayer aboard the yacht Williamsburg.

The visiting French leader, assisted by a 35-man delegation which includes three cabinet officers, was expected to outline Indo-China war plans for the next year at the opening talks.

These plans, already made known to key American agencies, call for mobilization of 57 new commando battalions of Indo-Chinese. However, bigger and faster military cargoes must be sent from the U.S. to make this possible.

FAVORING PLANS

American officials, who sometimes have criticized French operations in Indo-China, said they are enthusiastic about the new French plans. They said the Eisenhower administration is ready to back them although this would mean diverting foreign aid funds from other areas.

Sharing importance with Indo-China in today's opening talks were France's plans for approving the long-delayed European Army treaty.

President Eisenhower and State Secretary John Foster Dulles, anxious to translate the plan into action, were reported eager to hear from Mayer personally about prospects for its ratification by the French Parliament.

Scientist Dies Under Guard

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The strange story of a trusted young atomic scientist, who died under close security guard lest he talk incoherently and reveal secret information, was disclosed Wednesday.

He was William C. Twitchell, 36, a native of Minnesota and project engineer in charge of the University of California radiation laboratory mechanical equipment.

Twitchell died at Letterman Army Hospital Monday of a malignant disease which had no connection with his work.

His presence at the hospital was a secret. His treatment at the hospital was itself unusual as he was a civilian without army service.

A security guard was maintained for several days, it was learned, because Twitchell knew top secret information. The guard was present in case the scientist should talk in his semi-conscious state.

Snow In Niagara Area

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Heavy wet snow fell over most of the Niagara district during the night. It melted rapidly and rain fell this morning, making driving treacherous in the area above the Niagara escarpment.

Blame Furnace Fumes For Death Of Two Men

SUDBURY (CP) — Coal gas fumes from a defective furnace today were blamed for the deaths of two men found on a sand-covered bathroom floor in a house four miles east of here.

The two men, Mervyn William Frederick Zinkie, 38, and Richard Morgan Llewellyn, 44, were found Wednesday night. They were believed to have died Sunday night.

A sand-filled toilet bowl and a layer of sand on the floor, which puzzled police at first, apparently resulted when the septic tank backed up and spewed sand out of the toilet onto the floor. Neighbors said there was similar trouble with the tank last year.

Coroner Dr. H. C. Nash, who conducted autopsies today, said condition of the bodies indicated death resulted from coal gas fumes. The newly-installed furnace was filled with coal, but the fire was out.

Both men were in crouched positions on the bathroom floor, dressed in their underwear. Dr. Nash suggested the men probably got out of bed Sunday night to investigate the septic tank trouble when they were stricken by the fumes.

The bodies were found by Zinkie's brother-in-law, Ian McLay, who visited the house when Zinkie did not return from a week-end visit. McLay found the one-storey stucco house locked, but he looked through a window and saw Zinkie's body on the floor. He reported the incident to police.

The house belonged to Llewellyn. His wife, in Mmontreal for the last three weeks, is flying home today.

Zinkie left home in Copper Cliff Saturday night to visit Llewellyn. He phoned home the next morning, but telephone calls to the house later in the day were unanswered.

Russia Aids Chinese Industry

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviets today charted a new aid program for Communist China to boost their ally's heavy industry. In return, the Peiping government will send raw materials to Russia. Moscow papers announced that a new agreement and two protocols concerning the program were signed here recently in the presence of the Chinese premier-foreign minister, Chou En-lai. He came to Moscow early this month as head of the Chinese delegation to the funeral of the late Joseph Stalin. Russia promised to help increase China's electric power capacity by expanding existing power plants and building new ones. Other assistance will be provided in equipping Chinese metallurgical, mining, machinery, chemical, transport and other industries.

The Soviet Union also will supply China with agricultural machinery, pedigreed cattle and seeds.

CHINA'S PART

As her part of the bargain, China will ship here light metals rice, vegetable oils, meat, oil seeds, tobacco, tea, fruit, wool, jute, raw silk, silk textiles, leather and other goods.

The documents—first such under the new regime of Prime Minister Georgi Malenkov — appeared to Western diplomatic observers here as an indication that the new Kremlin administration aims to do everything possible to assist Communist China. These sources noted also that Malenkov's first act after he became premier three weeks ago was to appoint one of the country's ranking diplomats, Vasili Kuznetsov, as new ambassador to Peiping.

Negotiations resulting in the new Soviet aid program for China were begun last August, when Chou arrived in Moscow with a big government delegation for talks with Stalin and other top leaders. The first resulting agreement, signed in September, prolonged Russia's expiring lease on Port Arthur in Manchuria until the two countries sign peace treaties with Japan.

Moscow papers reported that the two protocols provide for the exchange of goods between Russia and China this year and further implement a 1950 agreement, by which Russia granted Red China credits totaling $300,000,000.

The third document, a new agreement, provides for Soviet assistance in expanding present electric power plants and building new ones.

Funeral For Queen Mary Tuesday; Will Lie In State

LONDON (AP)—As Britain prepared to bury beloved Queen Mary, Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express said today the death of the regal matriarch is a cue for her eldest son, the Duke of Windsor, to return to England to live. "Let the mourning end his exile," declared the heading over an Express editorial. The Duke is in England, having cut short a Florida vacation to rush to his mother's bedside when her fatal illness was first announced. The Duchess remained in New York.

She has never been received at court since the Duke gave up the throne 16 years ago to marry her. Most observers consider Queen Mary—a stickler for conventions—at the bottom of the boycott. The editorial did not mention the Duchess, the former Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore.

In a moving tribute to the Queen grandmother, who died Tuesday night at 85, Prime Minister Churchill declared she "was loved and revered far and wide, as perhaps nobody has been since Queen Victoria."

LIVE IN MEMORIES

"Queen Mary will long live mellow and gracious in all our memories and in the annals of these tumultuous times," the 78-year-old government chief said in a broadcast Wednesday night to the Commonwealth. The address, heard also in the United States, termed her "this last great link with Queen Victoria's reign."

Messages of condolence flowed into the royal court from throughout the world as preparations for Queen Mary's funeral Tuesday and the June 2 Coronation of her granddaughter, Queen Elizabeth went forward.

The old Queen will be buried at a private service in beautiful St. George's Chapel at Windsor Castle, the final resting place of English Kings and Queens since Tudor times. Her body will be placed in a tomb on the south aisle of the

Prices Cut On Cars, Trucks

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Ltd., announced Wednesday price cuts ranging from $17 to $62 on "certain" of its passenger cars and trucks.

A. J. Shaw, vice-president in charge of sales, said the new price scale will become effective March 26.

Reductions on the four-door passenger car models will be: Plymouth Cambridge $24; Plymouth Cranbrook $41.60; Dodge Crusader $26; Dodge Regent $29.30; Chrysler Windsor Deluxe $40; Chrysler New Yorker Deluxe $62; Desoto Firedome $50.

Workers Flee Plant Explosion

WILHELMSHAVEN, Germany (AP)—One hundred and fifty workers fled to safety today seconds before an explosion ripped through Germany's biggest ammunition disposal plant near here.

Police said "it was a miracle that no one was killed." Two were reported injured.

The explosion, which shattered windows for miles around, was heard and felt as far as Cuxhaven, 35 miles away.

Police said that some powder became ignited and spread to live ammunition before the workers could extinguish the blaze.

When it became evident the fire was out of control and an explosion imminent, the workers fled for their lives. They beat the explosion by seconds.

Damage was heavy. Firemen were still fighting the blaze late today. It was reported under control.

More Miners Join Walkout

NEW WATERFORD, N. S (CP) Coal miners stayed away from another mine today as a crippling wildcat strike, which has already affected nearly a third of Nova Scotia's 10,000 miners, threatened to spread across Cape Breton's coal fields.

Rejecting their union chief's "return to work" order at a meeting Wednesday night, strikers travelled to other locals and asked for support of their protest against suspension of 13 miners for refusing to follow company orders.

The top-producing No. 12 colliery of Dominion Coal and Steel Corporation closed Monday when the pit's working force of 1,200 stayed home. Maintenance men pulled out Wednesday, leaving company officials to operate the pumps to keep water from damaging machinery deep underground.

The No. 16 colliery's 1,200 miners joined the walkout Wednesday, and the single-shift No. 18, employing about 550 men, became idle today.

The 13 miners were suspended for refusing to work further down the coal face. Since they are paid on a tonnage basis, they claimed it was unfair to be ordered to another section where loading and other conditions might not be as favorable.

Canadian Uranium Urgently Needed By United States

OTTAWA (CP)—The United States is in urgent need of more Canadian uranium for atomic bomb production, the Commons atomic energy committee was told Wednesday. W. J. Bennett, head of the publicly-owned Eldorado Mining and Refining Company, told the committee bluntly that the "prime objective" of Canadian uranium development is to feed more of the fissionable material into American atomic bomb production and added:

"It is in the national interest that every possible effort should be made to speed up and increase the deliveries of uranium.

Mr. Bennett told the difficulties of mining uranium ore in the subzero temperatures of Canada's north but announced that new production opening next month in the northern tip of Saskatchewan will more than double current ore output and that eventually developments of other nearby claims may triple the mining rate.

FIGURES SECRET

Actual uranium production figures are secret. Eldorado's mining activities centre at Port Radium in the Northwest Territories and at Beaverlodge lake just north of Lake Athabaska in Saskatchewan.

Port Radium mills about 180 tons of ore a day. Ace Mine in the Beaverlodge lake development will open production in April with about 500 tons a day. The entire area is expected to be in full production by next July, and Mr Bennett said that while milling will start at the rate of 500 tons a day, "the mining plant is designed to handle an ultimate capacity of 2,000 tons per day."

THOROUGH EXPLORATION

"Production of uranium from the Ace Mine will be approximately 40 per cent greater than the present rate of production at Port Radium," said Mr. Bennett

In addition, Eldorado this year will make a thorough exploration by land and air of a new block of claims staked out in Saskatchewan's Lake Foster area about 150 miles south of the Beaverlodge developments.

The Belgian Congo still was the world's leading source of radium and uranium. Now there was "every indication," said Mr. Bennett, that production "elsewhere" would equal and perhaps surpass that of the Congo.

Prince's Driving To Be Curbed

COPENHAGEN (Reuters) — A traffic cop can't pinch a member of the Royal Family in Denmark, but police got orders Wednesday to keep Prince Rene off the road for 12 months anyhow.

The order had to come direct from King Frederick because royal personalities are exempt from ordinary law.

Prince Rene de Bourbon Parma, the King's cousin by marriage, had a few too many cherry brandies recently, police said, and:

1. Backed his car into another on a crowded Copenhagen street,
2. Drove off in the other direction and crashed into the side of a second car,
3. Swung round and zoomed down the street into a third pile-up.

Police rushed up to untangle the jam, collared the driver, then stepped back smartly when they found he was the prince.

A police complaint to the King brought the ban.

Citizens Leaning Too Much On Gov't, Pearson Says

TORONTO (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said Wednesday night "the combination of reliance on the all-powerful state and a passion for material progress may become as great a menace to our future as Russia's 175 divisions."

He spoke out against the tendency to "become more and more accustomed to lean on" the government, and called on the churches to emphasize the moral worth and value of the individual as a counter-balance.

In a speech prepared for a ceremony marking the 25th anniversary of the present Yorkminster Baptist Church, he also asked Russian leaders to do more than talk about peaceful co-existence—to "give solid proof of peaceful intentions."

One solid proof would be acceptance of the Indian proposal for a truce in Korea which a United Nations majority has backed

Earlier in the day, he said he expects the new regime in the Kremlin to start making peace overtures to the Western world "within the next few days."

However, he called on Canadians and all the free world to be wary of such overtures.

Speaking to the Liberal Business Men's Club of Toronto, Mr. Pearson said the overtures should not be rejected out-of-hand, for they might be sincere bids. But as long as Communist words do not match Communist actions, the free world has a right and a duty to be careful before accepting them.

Ship Ignores Coast Guard Orders On River

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Something of an international incident was created here today when the freighter Sir Thomas Shaughnessy ignored United States Coast Guard orders and sailed up the St. Mary's river three days before the waterway was officially opened to navigation.

News that Capt. A. R. Irvine, skipper of the Shaughnessy, had ignored coast guard orders that no ships enter the river before Saturday, spread rapidly as marine radio operators monitored exchanges between him and Cmdr A. Dahlberg of the coast guard shore station at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Cmdr. Dahlberg ordered Capt. Irvine to dock for what he called "private conversations," but the freighter tied up at a Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., coal dock.

Col. G. N. Phillips, superintendent of the Canadian section of the Sault Ste. Marie canals, said the ship was short of coal and came up the river to get some.

It is not known whether the vessel, out of winter berth at Owen Sound, will lock through into Lake Superior or not. Earlier reports said the ship would use the Canadian canal.

Meanwhile, the freighter Mohawk Deer, stuck all morning in ice in the lower St. Mary's river, 25 miles east of here, is reported to have freed herself and is headed for De Tour, Mich.

Tank Explodes Kills 1, Injures 5

TORONTO (CP)—An ammonia tank explosion apparently touched off by a welder's torch today killed one man and injured five.

Dead is George Lazarou. The injured were listed as Joseph Gill, Kenneth Jameson, William King, Walter Radkowitch and Stan Bennett.

The men, all from Toronto, were employed on a welding job on the tank in eastern Toronto. The blast came at about 11:15 a. m.

Lee Geary, six-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Geary, was knocked unconscious by the blast while in the Geary home about a block away from the tank. Windows in the Geary house were shattered. The mother took the child outside and revived her.

Evacuate 20 Families As River In Flood

QUEBEC (CP) — Twenty families today evacuated their homes in the town of St. Raymond, 30 miles northwest of Quebec, when more than six feet of water flooded houses along the Ste. Anne river.

Driving rain and high winds which started Wednesday showed no sign today of letting up as volunteer workers set up sandbag barriers. The town has a population of about 3,000.

Low lying farm lands and roads along the Ste. Anne river and its tributaries were also flooded.

Meanwhile, at Beauceville, about 60 miles south of Quebec, the Chaudiere river flooded parts of the town and low-lying areas after an ice-jam formed downstream.

Second Bad Fire In Business Block

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP) — A $200,000 fire ripped through a fire-blackened business block in this west coast Newfoundland paper town Wednesday night, destroying a restaurant and shoe store. There were no injuries.

The fire was in the same block where 17 buildings were destroyed by a December fire which caused $1,000,000 damage.

Only a jewelry store now stands on the long block. The block, called Broadway, was the town's chief shopping centre.

Legislature Rejects Colored Oleo

Measure Defeated By Standing Vote; Frost, Oliver Opposed

TORONTO (CP)—The legislature Wednesday voted down a private member's bill to legalize the sale of colored margarine after Premier Frost and Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver had opposed it.

Members did not have to show how they felt about the measure when it was defeated by a standing vote. Four members stood up to vote for the bill but it takes five to require a recorded vote.

The four members supporting the measure which would have repealed the section of the Oleomargarine Act which states the product must be sold in a colorless form: Albert Wren (Lib.-Lab—Kenora) who sponsored the bill; G. T. Gordon, (L—Brantford); T. D. Thomas, (CCF—Ontario) and J.B. Salsberg, (Lab.-Prog.—Toronto St. Andrew).

In 1949 when two Labor Progressive (Communist) members—Mr. Salsberg and A. A. McLeod—introduced a similar bill a recorded vote was taken. Several members spoke in favor of coloring margarine but voted against the motion because of its sponsors.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

Opposition parties in the House expressed satisfaction at the government's bill forbidding the sale of edible oils, except margarine, which resemble dairy products.

Mr. Frost said the municipal grant bill would benefit Ontario municipalities more or less equally.

The legislature's legal bills committee approved an amendment to the Highway Traffic Act which may save the unsatisfied judgments fund an estimated $60,000 a year.

Attorney-General Porter upheld the benchers of the Law Society of Upper Canada for their requirement of a two-year training under articles for law students. Proponents of the University of Toronto's law school claim one year would be enough. Mr. Porter said he saw no reason to interfere in the controversy. He was replying to a question by Mr. Oliver.

RESEARCH PROGRAM

Mr. Wren, in introducing the margarine measure, urged a government-sponsored research program to find more uses for dairy products.

He said legislation affecting dairy products "does not seem to relate to the needs of the dairy industry or the oleomargarine interests, but rather as to how it (the legislation) will affect the urban and rural vote."

Mr. Frost said if the dairy industry were to slump the 500,000 persons supported by the industry would no longer be able to buy the products of the town and city and the standard of living in the province would decline.

Mr. Oliver, a farmer until a year ago, said the farmer buys all he has in protected markets and sells most of his produce in open markets.

REASONABLE PROTECTION

He said the edible oils bill, which received second reading, would give "reasonable" protection to the dairy industry and would give the edible oils industries "a chance to come out in the open and compete with dairy products."

The bill permits the sale of similar products but bans the sale of any product resembling a dairy product which contains any fat or oil other than that of milk.

W. J. Grummett, CCF house leader who represents Cochrane South, said he supports the measure "wholeheartedly."

The municipal grants bill, given second reading Wednesday, would provide unconditional grants to all Ontario municipalities starting at $1.50 per capita for villages and townships with less than 2,000 population and running up to $4 for larger cities.

"In the case of the cities, the ratio of the unconditional grant to the municipal levy is 7.18 per cent; in the case of towns it is 7.44 per cent; in the case of the villages it is 8.07 per cent and with the townships it is highest at 10.41 per cent.

WILL MEAN MORE

"In consequence of their comparatively low per capita expenditures, the basic grant of $1.50 per capita to the communities with populations under 2,000 will mean more to them than $3 or $4 to the largest cities and metropolitan areas."

A government amendment to the Highway Traffic Act which would have limited costs to 20 per cent in judgments of more than $500 was tossed out. The new amendment would authorize that in cases defended by the minister of highways the minister be authorized to settle any such cases where the circumstances warrant settlement. At present all cases must go to trial involving payment of costs, including counsel fees at all trials.

The proposal by Attorney-General Porter would reduce the overall amount of costs paid out of the fund by permitting the minister to negotiate settlement in the same manner as an ordinary litigant or an insurance company.

The minister's position would be safeguarded by the establishment of an informal committee of experts to approve proposed settlements.

Jury Decides Death Accident

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) — A coroner's jury Wednesday decided that John Metsala, 53-year-old farmer found dead on a highway near here March 17, was "unavoidably struck by a motor vehicle."

Two motorists, Gilles Menard of Hearst and Charles Wetmore of Kirkland Lake, testified they saw Metsala's body on the road Wetmore said he thought it was a pulp log and was on top of the man before he realized it was a body.

Wetmore said he felt an "awful thump" but was afraid to stop because the car ahead, driven by Menard, looked suspicious. The witness said he didn't know if Metsala had been thrown out or struck by the car.

Menard said he saw the body on the road, swerved to avoid hitting it, and drove to the nearest provincial police office.

Nilo Saari of Kenogami said he drove Metsala to the gate of his farm. He said the man had been drinking, but was not drunk.

Man In Custody Denies He's Duguid

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 38-year-old man in custody here said Wednesday he is not Harry Duguid, No. 8 on the RCMP's list of most-wanted criminals.

The man, captured when he attempted to break into a theatre and then re-captured after a dive from a moving police car at Oakalla prison gates, says he is Harry Thompson.

He made the claim in a prison interview.

RCMP officers claim Thompson's fingerprints match gazetted copies of Duguid's prints.

Fingerprints taken after his arrest Sunday were sent to Ottawa Monday. They will be compared with the prints for Duguid on file for the final decision.

Vending Gadgets Convenience To Public, Stay

Members of County Council today labelled the soft drink and similar vending machines in the county building as "a convenience to the public." And by unanimous vote they indicated they were in favor of the idea and had no intention of abandoning it.

After hearing a report from Mrs. J. A. Spurway, county clerk and treasurer, that more than 25 cases of soft drinks had been consumed in about a month, and a profit of $10 shown, they voted to put in a small chocolate bar machine as well.

"It's a convenience to the public," said Reeve Dick Stewart of Otonabee Township. "They seem to like it. The bit of profit we make is not worth discussing."

Deputy-Reeve Dave McIntyre, chairman of the property committee, said he had found the county emoloyees in the building "100 per cent in favor of it."

ANONYMOUS REQUEST

Warden Ernest Leeson said he had received a letter and a telephone call from somebody whom he didn't name "requesting" that the soft drink machine be taken out before the last sittings of the Supreme Court. He didn't do it.

"I can't see that the machine has justified any objection to it," said Reeve William C. Grant of Lakefield. "No objection . . . outside of the fact that it's not as socially acceptable as—say, tea."

At the same time Mr. Grant warned against getting a lineup of vending machines in the hall. It would look like "a penny arcade," he said.

Indications were that if a third one—a cigarette machine—was added, that would be about the limit.

Funeral For Queen

chapel beside that of her husband, King George V.

TO LIE IN STATE

Before the service the body will lie in state in historic Westminster Hall adjoining the Houses of Parliament. It will be placed on the same purple catafalque that only 13 months ago held the coffin of her son, King George VI.

Queen Mary will be the first royal consort of modern times to lie in state at the hall. For hundreds of years, the aged building—famous for its 700-year-old hand-carved, hammer-beam oak roof—has been reserved for such homage to reigning monarchs only.

Her body will be taken to the hall Sunday in procession from the chapel in the grounds of her London home, Marlborough House.

Plans for the funeral were announced Wednesday night by the Earl of Scarborough, the lord chamberlain. At the same time, he disclosed that the Queen ordered court mourning only until April 25. No order was issued for public mourning.

CORONATION GOES AHEAD

Thus the mourning period will be over well in advance of Coronation Day and arrangements for that ceremony will remain unchanged—in accordance with the Queen grandmother's wishes.

In his broadcast tribute, Churchill said that the old Queen "died in the knowledge that the crown of these realms worn so gloriously by her husband and by her son and so soon to be set with all solemnity on the head of her granddaughter, is far more securely based on the people's love and the nation's will than in the sedate years of her youth when rank and privilege ruled society."

VIEW WIDELY HELD

The view that Queen Mary, steadfast in her opposition to royal divorce, was largely responsible for the court ban on the twice-divorced Duchess of Windsor was widely held. However, she was known to be specially fond of her oldest son, who frequently visited her in London.

The Express, whose Canadian-born publisher is an old friend of the Duke's, long has urged a relaxation of the barrier and the return of Windsor. It noted that during the years since his abdication, "it was always his mother he came to London to see."

"Now that the last link with earlier days is gone," the editorial adds, "the Duke may feel he has less need than ever to visit London. Perhaps he may wonder whether he is wanted by the people. Let the Duke's doubts, if he has them, be dispelled. Politicians may have shown bitterness toward him but the people never did and do not now. Their affection for him is abiding.

"It is the deep, earnest desire of the nation that he should not only continue to visit Britain but that he should make his home in this land that gave him birth."

POSE FOR PICTURE

One recent happening has been construed in some circles as a sign the barrier to the Duchess may be coming down. Almost three weeks ago, the Princess Royal, Queen Mary's daughter and the Duke of Windsor's sister, posed with him and the Duchess for photographers in New York. The Princess and the Duke then were en route to their ailing mother's bedside.

Another London morning newspaper, the mass-circulating Daily Mirror, launched a savage editorial attack on the BBC for cancelling Wednesday's scheduled broadcasts of horse races, light music and variety numbers.

Accusing the BBC of being "overwhelmed by a great event," the Mirror declared it would never have occurred to Queen Mary "that our respect and affection and our grief at her passing would be put in any doubt if the BBC acted on the assumption that life, and even sport, goes on."

Car Hits Train

BELLEVILLE (CP)—A car containing three soldiers from the nearby Picton army base crashed into the side of a moving passenger train near here early Wednesday. All three were unhurt. Gordon Haskins, 19, of suburban Hillcrest, the driver, told police the brakes on the car failed to hold.

Cheese, Produce And Livestock

TORONTO FRUIT

TORONTO (CP) — Wholesale fruit and vegetable prices were unchanged here today.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains opened a little lower in slow dealings today.

Losses were limited to small fractions. Once again the market's main feature was the lack of aggressive demand.

Wheat started ⅛-⅜ cent lower, May $2.27⅞; corn was unchanged to ⅜ lower, May $1.59⅛-59, and oats were ¼-½ lower, May 73½-⅝. Soybeans were unchanged to ¾ cent lower, May $3.00¼-3.00.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO (CP — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

Trade was quiet at the egg market and prices unchanged. Quotations for graded eggs in fibre cases were: A large 52; A medium 51; A small 49; grade B 47; grade C 42. Wholesale to retail: A large 57; A medium 56; A small 54; grade B 52; grade C 47.

Butter solids: First grade 60½; no other prices established.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trading continued along dull lines early today on the Winnipeg grain exchange. As a result, prices again were moving narrowly and slightly easier.

Limited commercial demand included a few domestic shipper orders in oats. Small export buying was noted in barley, Flax and rye trade was local and light.

11 a. m. grain prices:

Oats: May ⅜ lower 75⅛; Jly ⅜ lower 73⅛B; Oct. ⅜ lower 73B.

Barley: May ⅛ lower 1.23¾; Jly unch 1.18¾; Oct. unch 1.17¾B.

Hogs 600; demand good, market steady with Wednesday's advance; good to choice 180-240 lb. state hogs 20-20.75.

Sheep and lambs 100; market not established. Indications steady.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — Cattle sales were too few to establish a trend today at the Ontario stockyards. No calves, sheep or lambs were received. Receipts: cattle 70; hogs 490; holdover from Wednesday, 300 cattle.

Good weighty steers 21-22; good heifers 20-20.60; good cows 14-15.

Grade A hogs 27; dressed sows 20.

Ask Taxes Upheld Against Utilities

BELLEVILLE (CP)—The city of Belleville will ask the Ontario Supreme Court to uphold taxes levied against the public utilities commission.

The case, to be heard next October, has been described as a "test case" which may have bearing on future disputes of this kind elsewhere in the province.

The city levied taxes against the commission following provincial legislation which authorized taxation of lands and buildings owned by public utilities. The commission questioned the amount of the assessment, claiming exemption for pumping equipment, filters and settling basins.

Air Rifle Pellett Hits Youngster Below Eye

Fifteen-months-old Carol Merton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Merton, R.R. 4, Peterborough, was admitted to Civic Hospital Wednesday when she was wounded just beneath the left eye by a pellet from an air rifle.

Carol was playing at her home with a five-year-old cousin when the accident occurred. The wound was not serious and she was released from hospital today.

Canada Plans New Protests On Dairy Squeeze

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government Wednesday showed sharp annoyance at the latest United States squeeze on dairy imports and prepared to fire another round of protests at Washington.

But there still was hope among some officials that President Eisenhower will take action within the next few months to lift the trade-hampering curbs. The curbs will be eliminated automatically unless the legislation under which they are kept alive—the U.S. Defence Production Act—is renewed before next June.

Meanwhile, Trade Minister Howe told the Commons in reply to Hazen Argue (CCF—Assiniboia) that the government already has forwarded three "strongly-worded" protests on the restrictions, the latest within the last four weeks.

CONTINUE TO PROTEST

"The government will continue to protest as effectively as diplomatic procedure will permit," he added.

The American dairy restrictions have been under the government's eye for many months. What brought the latest annoyance was the U.S. agriculture department announcement Tuesday, banning all imports of dried milk products effective April 1.

Canada, other dairy exporting countries in Europe and New England have taken the stand that all of the U.S. dairy import restrictions contravene the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Canada has reserved the right to take retaliatory tariff action against American products, but so far hasn't done so.

UAW Resolution Used As Club

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers convention stood ready today to pass President Walter P. Reuther some ammunition to use in his current unofficial negotiations with the auto industry.

The ammunition is in the form of a resolution which would threaten the industry with no more long-term contracts after 1955 unless it agreed promptly to some revisions in the five-year agreements now in force. Future contracts would be for no more than two years.

Reuther has contended that the pacts have become outdated because of inflation brought on by the Korean war, which was unforeseen when they were signed in 1950.

General Motors already has agreed to make some changes, but not enough to suit the union. The other big companies have indicated they would prefer to delay action on the matter until they see what GM does.

All Sections Weaken In Market Trading

TORONTO (CP) — All sections weakened in early afternoon stock market trading today.

Western oils led the decline while base metals, golds and industrials followed. Volume for the first three hours totalled 2,191,000 shares.

Uraniums slipped and New Brunswick base metals turned mixed after an opening gain.

Fargo, North Canadian and Banff led western oil losses.

Industrials weakened on losses in papers, utilities and steels.

Senior golds, juniors and holding companies slipped.

Higher-priced base metals traded lower, led by Con. Smelters. Ancon and Quemont were two of the few gains.

Investigate 2 Deaths On Sudbury Highway

SUDBURY (CP) — Ontario provincial police today continued an investigation into the deaths of two men Wednesday night in a house on the Sudbury-North Bay highway near Coniston, four miles east of here. Officers declined comment on the case.

There was no information available as to cause of the deaths.

Nine Drug Charges Are Withdrawn

TORONTO (CP) — Nine drug charges against Betty Torrence, 21, of Peterborough, were withdrawn today and she was held as a material witness in charges against Peter Max, 21. She was later released on $500 bail.

Max faces six charges of illegal possession of drugs and charges of possessing an unregistered revolver, theft of more than $25, receiving stolen goods, and breaches of the Customs Act.

Queen Thanks Parliament

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen said today she knew all her people "share my grief for a great Queen" on the passing of her grandmother, Queen Mary.

She was thanking the Houses of Parliament for messages of sympathy.

She told them her "beloved grandmother" was happy in the knowledge of the people's "warm regard and affection."

The text of her reply to Parliament, read in both houses by a court official, was:

"I thank you sincerely for your loyal and dutiful address expressing sympathy with me in the great loss which I and my family have sustained by the death of my beloved grandmother, Queen Mary.

"I know all my people share my grief for a great Queen who throughout a lifetime of devoted service was happy in the knowledge of their warm regard and affection.

"It is a consolation and comfort to me at this time of sorrow to have this further assurance of the devotion and sympathy of your House.

"(Signed) Elizabeth Regina."

20 Million Maple Trees Will Be Tapped In Quebec

By KEN STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—Spring on Quebec farms is the time for thousands of farmers throughout the province to busy themselves turning the sap from 20,000,000 maple trees into sugar and syrup for sale at Easter.

Quebec, the country's top maple sugar and syrup producer, has built up a tremendous business from its many maple groves, scattered through every county—except Abitibi and Saguenay—from the Ottawa valley to Gaspe.

Last year their yield was more than 2,750,000 gallons, valued at more than $10,000,000.

This year, however, experts are not sure that the crop will be as good. They say the winter's scanty snowfall and poor tapping weather are signs the crop may be poor. Warmer days and colder nights are needed to bring about a good run of sap.

Some trees in the western part of Quebec have already started producing—but in small amounts—and officials are hoping that a late snowfall, such as the one in April 1947, might occur and provide ideal tapping conditions.

The 1947 crop yielded 3,157,000 gallons of syrup valued at more than $11,000,000.

With spring and the maple season comes something which has been a tradition for almost 300 years—sugaring parties — when whole families go into the woods to the sugar camps to stuff themselves with sweet, sticky sugar and taffy.

But unlike past years, sugar parties now are considerably harder on the pocketbook. Farmers charge from $2 to $3.50 a head to city-dwellers who want to go to a party.

Besides the 20,000,000 producing maple trees there are another 20,000,000 trees which have remained untapped in the province.

Tapping of all 40,000,000 trees might have a strong effect on the local market, knocking prices down to almost rock-bottom, but more maple products could probably be exported.

Biggest sap-producing area is in Beauce county, on the St. Lawrence river south shore, where more than 2,500,000 trees are tapped each year.

Today, with the help of modern equipment, the maple sugar industry in Quebec has become big business.

Deer Season To Start Nov. 3 In Haliburton

TORONTO (CP) — The deer season in the districts of Muskoka and Parry Sound and in Haliburton and Renfrew counties this year will run two weeks from Nov. 3, the Ontario legislature's fish and game committee decided today.

The area designated includes parts of adjoining counties south of the French and Mattawa rivers.

The Chinese picked their time for the attack—the rainy season that bogs down U. S. vehicles and men, and gives the huge Red manpower its greatest opportunity.

However, frontline officers say they do not think the Baldy fight is the start of a big attack.

Former Administrator James Moffett Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — James A. Moffett, 66, former U. S. federal housing administrator and oil man, died Wednesday after a lengthy illness.

Moffett was widely known both in U. S. and international oil circles. He had been a senior vice-president of Standard Oil Company (New Jersey), a vice-president of the Standard Oil Company of California and chairman of the board of the California-Texas Oil Company.

In 1934, President Roosevelt named him as the first federal housing administrator.

New Inland Sea Threatens Aussie Farmland

By GRAEME JENKINS

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — A newly-formed inland sea, nicknamed the "creeping terror," is threatening some of Australia's best farmland and has already smothered 100 of western Victoria state's richest dairy farms.

While local authorities and state and federal governments seek agreement on measures to be taken to fight it, it is encroaching on 80 other farms.

This new "sea," near Colac, only 40 miles from the industrial port of Geelong and 100 miles from the markets of Melbourne, has already swallowed up some 15,000 acres of land which, a year ago, was described as "the dairy farm garden of Victoria."

Farm output from the whole basin then was $2,250,000 a year. Now it has been reduced by at least one third and is diminishing further as the lake rises.

CREEPING TERROR

"The creeping terror" began with a flood from heavy winter rains in the inland mountain ranges. The water banked up too fast to be cleared by normal drainage and evaporation, and, rising up to an inch a day at times, it slowly crippled the highway system, isolated homesteads and drowned pastures, in some places to a depth of 12 feet.

The problem facing engineers now is whether to cut a canal to the lake system to link the area with the Barwon river, which has a disastrous flood record itself, or whether to hope for the best and do nothing.

Finance is another obstacle.

The minimum cost of building a channel, according to engineers, would be around $125,000. Colac asked the Victoria state government to help. The state government asked the federal government. The federal government declined on the grounds it was a state liability.

Victoria's premier, John Cain, suggested a jointly financed subsidy for the work.

Colac civic authorities refused and a deadlock resulted.

Meanwhile, the "terror" is still costing money, whether prevention methods begin or not.

Making Of Steel Shown In Film To Engineers

The manufacture of steel was illustrated by a film called, Steel for Canadians, shown Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada by D. C. McGrady, electrical superintendent for the Steel Company of Canada in the Public Library.

The Steel Company of Canada's biggest plant is situated on Hamilton Bay where the film was taken. It is also one of the biggest steel producing plants in Canada.

One of the main reasons for the mills being located adjacent to the water, aside from the advantage of receiving raw materials by ship, is the fact that water itself is another basic material used. It is used as a coolant for furnace linings, for sludging operations and high pressure descaling.

USE COAL

Coal is one of the main factors in the production of steel. The blast furnaces are charged with coke, which is a by-product of coal. It is produced by heating the coal to a red hot temperature and then cooled before being added to the blast furnaces. Limstone and raw iron ore are also added to the furnace and air is forced up through the bottom of the furnace.

The coke removes the oxygen from the ore and the limestone is used to take off the impurities and forms an protective covering over the molten iron. This phase is one of the most important in the whole processing of the ore.

When the iron ore is reduced to iron, it is tapped to see if it is cooked to the right temperature. Then the molten iron is poured into a ladle and from there poured into a hearth furnace and comes out steel. Cooked in the open hearth furnace, carbon, silicon and sulphur are driven off and steel is produced.

Iron is a pure element and is too soft to have much commercial value and the same with pig iron which is too brittle. After it has been cooked in the open hearth furnace, it is poured into ingot molds and when it is hardened, put into the soaking pit. The soaking pit, which is kept at a temperature of 2,000 degrees fahrenheit, brings the steel up to a uniform temperature. The steel then enters the rolling phase, where it is reduced to different sizes for commercial uses.

The price level of steel governs the whole price system of our economy, said Mr. McGrady.

Chairman Garth Wade, opened the meeting and Donald Lamont introduced the guest speaker who was thanked by John Lucas. Following the film there was a question and answer period.

Kangaroos are almost entirely confined to Australia and neighboring islands.

Albert (Arthur) Guppy

The funeral for Albert (Arthur) Guppy, 203 Simcoe St., who died Sunday, was held Tuesday from the Comstock funeral home.

Archdeacon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Anglican Church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Albert, Thomas and Neil Stanley, George Self, Thomas Hall and Thomas Chapman. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Flee Red Zone As Funeral Cortege

BERLIN (AP) — A group of East Germans fled to West Berlin recently disguised as a funeral cortege, dressed in black and carrying huge wreaths, it was disclosed today.

The group, residents of a Russian zone village near Magdeburg, rode into West Berlin on an elevated train without arousing the suspicion of Communist police. After crossing the border, they reported to refugee headquarters and asked for asylum.

Textile Workers Get Port Hope Firm

PORT HOPE (CP)—The Textile Workers Union of America (CCL) announced today it has been certified as bargaining agents for employees at Charis Limited, a textile company recently established here.

TWA was granted bargaining rights following an Ontario labor relations board card check which showed more than 85 per cent of the workers were members of the textile group.

The local expects to open negotiations for a contract in the near future.

Refuse To Play Show For Left-Wingers

NEW YORK (AP)—The Broadway hit musical, "Wonderful Town," has cancelled its April 8 performance rather than play for an alleged left-wing group.

Producer Robert Fryer confirmed reports that he had called off the performance, a move that costs the show management about $4,000.

"No comment," he said when asked the reason.

However, the cancellation followed the suggestion of Ed Sullivan, columnist for the Daily News, who wrote March 9 that "a leftist sheet, forever raising money to trumpet the party line," had bought tickets for the April 8 show.

Sullivan suggested that Rosalind Russell, the musical's star, "step out" of the show for the night.

The publication in question, the National Guardian, had bought a block of 300 of the Winter Garden theatre's 1,423 seats for a benefit.

A spokesman for the publication, which describes itself as an independent progressive news weekly with a circulation of 90,000 commented:

"Things have come to a pretty pass in this wonderful town of ours when a tabloid tattler, with a few blows on his typewriter, can close a Broadway theatre to an audience of 1,500 people because of political pique against a handful of theatre-goers."

Social Credit Defeated

The Social Credit Government of British Columbia has been defeated in the Legislature after a very short life. It came to office as a minority government following provincial elections last June. The CCF first had eighteen seats, Social Credit only seventeen, but by recount, the support of other parties and the machinations of the new proportional system of counting votes, Premier Bennett—then named head of the new B.C. party—was able to take and hold office. The standing now is 19 SC, 18 CCF, 6 Liberals, 2 Conservatives, 1 Labour, and 2 seats vacant. The B.C. Government was defeated on an educational costs bill which, Mr. Bennett said before the vote, he would consider a vote of confidence. This seemed to be enough to set off a big demonstration of no confidence. The bill was defeated 28-17.

* * *

The demise of the government was certain from the beginning; the only question was how long it could be artificially kept alive. Even now, Premier Bennett may find some respirator. Any government which does not have a clear majority of seats is always in a precarious position. When it hardly holds even plurality over another party, its position is untenable. This does not work well for the machinery of government; little that is decisive can be done. We do not blame the voters of B.C. for creating the teeter-totter of B.C. administration; we blame the adoption of the new system of counting votes. The old, straight, one vote, majority method may be rough, but it is ready. Sometimes by it the government elected does not have a majority of the total votes cast, but it usually has a simple majority of the seats, and with that majority, work can be done. Before B.C. holds another election, it should revert to the simpler and common Canadian-British practice. Only thus is a clear majority likely to be obtained by one party.

Goaded Beyond Endurance

We are interested in the case of Laszlo Szilvassy, a Hungarian who is soon to stand trial in London for having broken an object of art in the famous Tate Gallery. The piece was the winning sculpture in a contest for the production of a work on the theme of The Unknown Political Prisoner; it was made chiefly of bent wire; Szilvassy, who is an artist, seized it, crumpled it and threw it on the ground.

That is no way to behave, of course. But we have seen photographs of this particular piece, and we can imagine that a man who felt strongly about sculpture might feel moved to muss it up. We are warmly disposed toward modern artists of all kinds, and we are anxious that their work should be as widely seen and as widely understood, as possible. But we are often plagued by a feeling that modern artists have forgotten the public, and that much of what they do is meant to baffle and dismay the critics and other artists.

One of the functions of art (not the only one, but an important one) is to give delight, and to gladden the heart of the beholder. We decline to be classed as a clod or an oaf, and great areas of modern art give us no delight at all, try as we will. Sometimes we feel like poor Szilvassy, and we only hope that we shall be granted strength not to sin as he has done.

The Old Floats Away

A few years ago a causeway replaced the famous mile-long Floating Bridge across Chemong Lake. Other floating bridges in the district (for instance, one at the southwest end of Chemong) had long since been abandoned. The only remaining floating bridge is at Gannon's Narrows, between Pigeon and Buckhorn Lakes. Now this is to go, to be replaced by a causeway and a high-level bridge. Work is expected to begin on it this June and a year later it may be ready for use.

We cannot look at the passing of the floating bridge without nostalgia. The one at Gannon's has been a hazard, an expense and a trepidation to tourists for many years. It is actually harder to keep in repair, for its shorter length than the floating bridge across Chemong had been. Undoubtedly the county officials are justified by economics and practicality in doing away with the floating bridge. Yet they cut a link with old days and old ways which served well.

Floating bridges used to be not uncommon. Now they are rare. In New England and New Brunswick covered bridges were common crossings of rivers. These were gradually replaced, leaving only a few. Now the covered bridge is a tourist attraction, a historical memento, and down there what covered bridges remain are being treasured. They have romance and they attract tourist dollars. May be that before the new causeways in this district are many years old there will be repentance that the floating bridges have been banished?

Already there is a sense of lost excitement in springtime when we no longer are beguiled about reports that the floating bridge is holding, no she isn't, now she's curving; and now she has floated away right down the lake! That sort of romantic thrill is now denied us. The only thing that can happen to the causeway is that it develops holes or sinks. And that's no thrill—just a bump and a bog.

The High Price Of Houses In Rome

The Canadian Embassy in Rome is housed in a rented building. The rent for it is $22,000 a year.

We can understand that in the eternal and marble city a suitable building to house the Ambassador and Canadian diplomatic offices would cost rather a lot. Canada has to keep up appearances in a country with which she does some $75 million of business a year and the offices have to be convenient and large enough. But we think that a yearly rental of $22,000 is too high, especially considering the depreciated currency of Italy, where a dollar goes twice as far as in Canada, wisely spent. If there is a scarcity of suitable buildings for rent, at proper prices, the remedy seems to be to build. The Department of External Affairs is therefore proposing to build.

Technical skills and building materials are not cheap in Italy, but labour is. Therefore one might expect that a really good building could be put up at an annual carrying cost of much less than the $22,000 rent now paid. But what does the Department say? Its estimates, now before a Commons committee, are about a million dollars to build and furnish the place. A million dollars.

What sort of palace is the Department of External Affairs proposing to build for the Ambassador and his staff? It is trying to equal in spaciousness and splendour the Palazzo Barberini or to emulate Gibbons' description of Roman palaces: "The most costly monuments of elegance and servitude, the perfect arts of architecture, painting and sculpture have been prostituted in their services, and their galleries and gardens decorated with the most precious works of antiquity which taste and vanity have prompted them to collect"? If the vain and ambitious Department of External Affairs proposes to have a building for Canadian tourists in Rome to gawk at, putting in servitude for it a million dollars of Canadian taxpayers' money, why not look for something really out of this world—say a sixteenth century palace like the Palazzo Farnese, which the French own for their ambassador? Surely there are some bargain palaces for sale in that city of palaces? And if not, we know where a few Nissen huts can be had, cheap.

"Tobacco Road" Vindicated

Not long ago a theatrical company which presented Tobacco Road in Vancouver was visited by the police, and seven members were fined for staging "a lewd and filthy" play. The magistrate's decision was appealed, and Judge J. A. McGeer of the county court reversed the magistrate's decision, saying: "It is not the kind of play I would want to see or a novel I would want to read; but if we are to have freedom of speech, literature of this nature and plays of this kind must be given a hearing; if it is then found that such works are arousing man's baser passions, than the law can be invoked against them". An eminently sensible statement, and one in which the British Columbia judiciary may take pride.

The sting lies in the tail of what Judge McGeer said. Several witnesses were called by the Crown to testify that Tobacco Road was an obscene play. But the law says that if a thing is obscene it may be known for what it is because it arouses the baser passions of those exposed to it. Not one of the outraged, good-doing witnesses would admit that his or her baser passions had been aroused; indeed, they seemed affronted by the suggestion that they had any such passions. Their concern was all for the baser passions of other, and presumably weaker, people.

It is on this stumbling-block that so much agitation against supposedly obscene literature and amusement breaks its shins. The people who complain of it will never admit that it has affected them; they are above such weakness. They are only afraid for others. In other words, they are moral busybodies, engaged in minding other people's business. Judge McGeer proposes the only practical method of meeting such cases; when someone can be found whose baser passions have been aroused by a work against which a complaint is laid, then it is time to judge whether it is, according to law, obscene.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A tribe have been found on the Upper Amazon who have been completely out of touch with civilization for 25 years—which puts them right on a par with the rest of us.

SOUTH AFRICAN ELECTIONS

Political Arithmetic

By HUGH LATIMER (in Capetown)

THE GENERAL ELECTION which will be held on April 15 in South Africa is the climax of five years of aggressive apartheid legislation by the Nationalist Party in power and of aggressive opposition by the English-language Press, churches, municipalities, trade unions, liberals and a political ginger-group of ex-servicemen, the Torch Commando.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE OPPOSITION United Party rarely took the initiative in this opposition, but supported it when it appeared public feeling was roused. Then, about four months ago, the United Party began to temporise and has accepted the greater part of the apartheid laws in principle. The party caucus estimates that the marginal voter, who is Afrikaans-speaking, supports apartheid. While the Government tried to make apartheid the major issue at this election as in 1948, the opposition tried to prevent it; so far the Government has been the most successful.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHAT IS APARTHEID? Nationalists define it as "separate development" of Whites and non-Whites in South Africa. The real obstacle to its fair implementation is that the Whites are the haves and the non-Whites the have-nots of the Continent, but the Government has not yet come squarely to face with this difficulty. Indeed, the visitor who had not seen South Africa for five years would find very little difference except the notices at railway stations and post-offices "For Europeans only." He would find inter-marriage between Europeans and people of mixed race prohibited and a tendency on the part of the Government to withdraw financial support from cultural or charity organization up which Europeans and non-Europeans work alongside as equals. On the positive side he would see more non-White policemen and nurses, and greater unity among the non-Whites than before, as a result of resistance to the new laws.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT THE MAIN BODY of apartheid legislation has yet to be put into effect; the Government is asking for a mandate to do so. The Group Areas Act will involve the removal of a third of a million non-White people in Cape Town and Durban alone from the areas where they have been living for generations; there is nowhere to house them and there are already seventy thousand needing houses in Cape Town alone. The Government's labour policy requires the reversal of the present flow of Africans into the towns; it has not yet been started. Its native policy requires the abolition of elective bodies and their replacement by obsolescent tribal institutions, as well as the building of factories in the native reserves to absorb surplus labour. Finally, the Separate Representation Act, taking Coloured (mixed blood) voters off the common roll in the Cape and giving them separate (European) representation, has been passed by Parliament but declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court—the Government promises, if returned, to put it into effect nevertheless.

✧ ✧ ✧

THUS the Government does not need a detailed election programme; it promises merely to administer its own laws in the spirit in which they were intended. The United Party is also committed to the implementation of most of this apartheid legislation (except the Separate Representation Act) but in a spirit, both its friends and enemies feel, the reverse of the National Party's.

✧ ✧ ✧

AN UNDERSTANDING of the arithmetical background is essential for the understanding of South Africa, for it is at the basis of all political thought. Of the population of twelve and a half million, eight and a half million will not be represented at this election, for they are African natives. Africans with property qualifications who live in the Cape are entitled to elect three Europeans, but their election takes place next November.

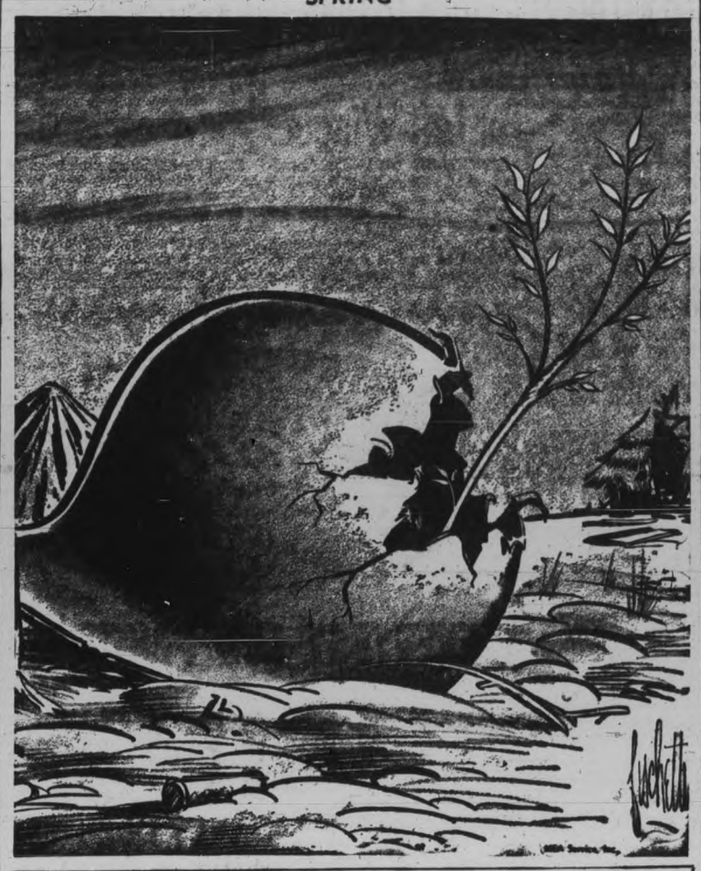
✧ ✧ ✧

THERE ARE one million Cape people — "Malays" and Coloureds of mixed blood —of whom 47,000 men with the requisite property qualifications have the vote alongside Europeans. If the Government is returned, this will be their last election under these conditions.

✧ ✧ ✧

INDIANS (population 330,000) have no vote at all, except for a handful who live in the Cape. They are by far the most self-reliant of the non-Whites, and accordingly the most disliked.

✧ ✧ ✧



THE Europeans total 2,640,000; that is to say, are outnumbered by three and a half to one. At the last count fifty-seven per cent of them spoke Afrikaans as their home language, thirty-nine per cent English, and four per cent other languages, chiefly German. This is the fulcrum of Union parliamentary politics, for the Nationalists are one hundred per cent Afrikaners and regard Africaners who do not support them as traitors. Not all do, as is clear from the fact that in 1948 the Opposition actually polled 140,000 more votes than the Government. The United Party is hybrid and believes in full bilingualism and a common South African nationality.

✧ ✧ ✧

ADHERENTS of both the major parties believe that this is a crossroads election. Opposition supporters feel that South Africa is moving away from the civilised world, and especially from the British Commonwealth which for many of them is its symbol. Nationalists are often republicans, (not necessarily anti-Commonwealth) but they do not regard those issues as the most important nowadays. They feel the election may decide the future of "white civilisation" in southern Africa, that the policy of the United Party in power would be one of drift, leading to increased integration. Now, they say, is the last opportunity to establish the Whites in separate islands of population so that they are not submerged by the advancing tide of colour. Many English-speaking people also believe this, but there is a difference of opinion about methods. Most Nationalists believe that it does not pay to be soft with the native; that the one argument he understands is force. The other side think that the Government's force is clumsily used and is causing unnecessary friction, which, they say, did not exist before 1948.

Atomic Defences Of The U.S.

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN

THE DETONATION of a nuclear explosion last week, at Yuca Flats in Nevada, the thirty-fifth American atomic detonation, illustrates the fact that American research in atomic weapons has moved a stage further ahead.

The bi-yearly series of tests which the Atomic Energy Commission conducts, and which now occur with the regularity of a grim sporting event, have each been concerned with a particular aspect of atomic weapons, and the purpose of the present series is to examine the effects of atomic artillery shells. The last in the series of ten tests will be made with an actual shell fired from the 280-millimetre gun designed for the purpose.

The first test was made with a bomb of about four-fifths of the power of that dropped on Hiroshima and detonated from a three-hundred-foot tower to simulate a shell detonated above the ground. It underlined the obvious, that the atomic shell is a weapon that can be used only with considerable care and preparation. The eighteen hundred troops who were in deep slit trenches some two miles away from "ground zero" were totally unharmed, and their commander has estimated that at that distance they would probably have suffered no casualties even lying face-down in ordinary shallow "fox-holes." But clearly they could not have been much closer, so that the use of atomic artillery in an infantry battle where the troops of both sides are in close contact seems to be ruled out. And not only infantry, for a heavily-armoured amphibious vehicle that had been stationed two hundred yards from the explosion was ripped to pieces.

BUT THIS first test was also used for another purpose—to demonstrate the effects of even a relatively modest atomic explosion on houses and cars, and, by so doing, to try and arouse greater American public interest in civil defence. Two standard small houses had been built at about eleven hundred and twenty-five hundred yards from the explosion. The closer was totally demolished, the further one was badly cracked and damaged, and the dummy inhabitants above the level of the cellar were sufficiently scarred as to leave no doubt as to what would happen to real people.

Despite a great deal of hard work and enthusiasm from private groups the American civil defence programme is still a very modest affair. The Federal Government has been unable to persuade Congress to authorize more than a fraction of the money spent on military defence, and the various States and cities have not done much better. Air-raid drills and warnings exist, but no deep-shelter programme. The strength of the fighter and anti-aircraft defences is no higher than the absolute minimum, and although a radar chain is being constructed to cover the coast line of Canada and the United States, it is only in skeleton form. These shortcomings have been underlined not only by the effects of the explosion in Nevada, but by the revelation that an effective defence of the United States against atomic attack would require colossal expenditure. According to the Alsop brothers, the well-known columnists of the New York Herald Tribune, who are always well-informed on defence questions, a report has been submitted to President Eisenhower which estimates that it would cost between sixteen and twenty thousand million dollars to provide the United States with an effective air defence programme, and that the development of Russian air strength and atomic weapons makes it imperative that such a programme should be undertaken within the next two years.

THIS REPORT, which has been two years in preparation, was undertaken at the Government's request by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and is the work of a number of eminent American scientists. While nothing is known in detail about its recommendations, it appears that they are based on the premise that defence against the atom bomb requires at least seventy to eighty per cent effectiveness, that is to say that nothing less than an air defence system which could eliminate or repel seven or eight out of every ten enemy bombers is acceptable. To protect completely the important industrial targets which would be vital to the survival of the free world in time of war would cost another six or seven thousand million dollars.

If this is true, it poses a very serious problem for President Eisenhower, for it means an end to hopes of reducing the budget even if the expense were spread over more than a two-year period, the end of any hope of reducing taxation, and the continued distortion of the American economy which the rearmament programme has imposed. Civil defence may well become a subject of national controversy and anxious debate within the next few months.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God. (Heb. 12: 1, 2.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed .... And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David:) to be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child .... And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn ...

And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom: and the grace of God was upon him. (Luke 2: 1, 4, 5, 7, 40).

Letters To The Editor

A WATER STREET SITE

Sir: I wonder if Joe Jebson and his committee have overlooked the very desirable piece of property owned by the city, on the north-west side of Water Street in front of the Isolation Hospital? I understand that the city is keeping this for a park. What would be more fitting than a Memorial Park with our Memorial Centre in it?

I inquired from Mr. Peirson of Timber Structure the amount of space needed to erect the Arena. The proposed building measure 170 x 290 ft. I measured the property and it has a frontage of 390 ft. x 350 ft. depth. This gives ample room for the Arena plus parking space for 250 or more cars.

Let the city landscape the rest of the field to the Isolation Hospital plus some fill along the river front, and we would have a nice park, a nice arena and right on the main highway where everyone can see it. I wonder what the excuses will be against this place?

Come on, you hockey fans, let's hear from you, let's get some action on the Arena; we have to keep driving. If the present committee can't give us action, let them resign and form a new committee; a committee of younger and more active fellows that are interested in getting this Arena built.

Sincerely yours,
JOHN A. RUSSELLE, SR.

COMMENDATION FOR SOUTH END LIBRARIAN

Sir: Orchids to Mrs. J. R. Henderson for the very fine job she is doing at the South End Library. She is never too busy to help children or grown-ups with their book selections.

May she continue to be a guide to us, our children, and our children's children.

Yours very truly,
FREDA O. AINSLIE.

CORRECTION

In Mr. W. B. Gordon's letter yesterday about lawyers' expenses and the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund, the phrase "of the public" was inadvertently omitted. The sentence should have read: "Your short editorial again commenting on the subject the following evening, I feel, had little effect in disabusing the minds of the public of the general and sweeping statements" etc.

A New Canadian

(Financial Post)

The House of Commons banking committee has approved the use of the word "Canadian" in the title of an insurance firm, backed by Swiss capital, which will be doing business here.

There was some hesitation in the committee. And probably some private citizens may think it odd that a foreign-backed firm can be called "Canadian."

But if the name of a company had to be tied to its source of capital there could never have been an East India Co., Hudson's Bay Co. or a Brazilian Traction. Indeed, with the over 2,000 U.S. branch plants and subsidiaries in this country, think how much of Canadian business would be denied the use of the popular and dignified title.

We are hr[illegible] when new settlers ask to be called "C[illegible]an" without any hyphens. Why shouldn't [illegible] be just as happy when our new businesses request the same privilege?

The yaps about letting the Swiss use the word Canadian were totally unjustified and time-wasting.

Un-American Activities

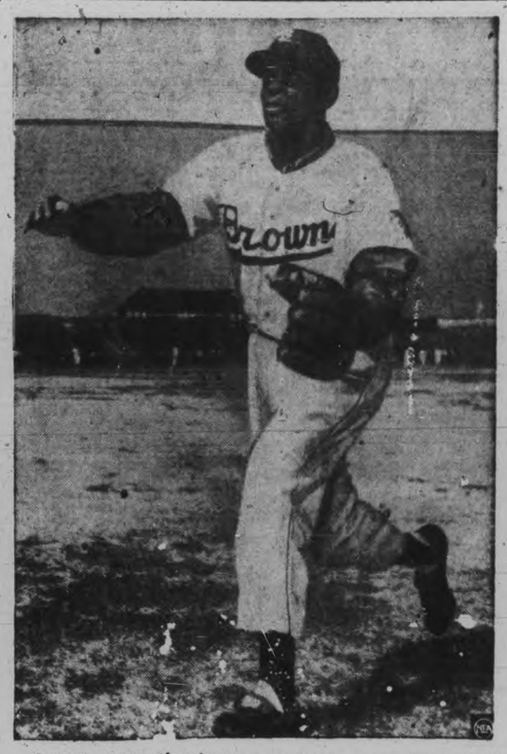
Judge Declines To Rule AgainstRobinson

CHICAGO (AP)—A federal judge refused Wednesday to enter a default judgment against Sugar Ray Robinson, former middleweight boxing champion, in a $300,000 anti-trust suit.

Judge Phillip L. Sullivan declined to rule against Robinson on learning the boxer had made a deposition sought for several weeks.



The suit against Robinson and 11 other defendants, including the International Boxing Club, Inc., was brought by Barney Peller of Cincinnati.

In addition to damages Peller seeks an injunction to prevent the defendants from what he alleged to be monopolization of the presentation of title boxing bouts and contracts for televising the bouts.

Peller's suit stated that he had been hired by the Foundation for Boys, Inc., a Cincinnati civic organization, to promote a benefit fight in September, 1951, between Robinson and Rocky Graziano, another defendant. Peller alleged the IBC halted the match.

DOUGH FOR GAMES

VANCOUVER (CP)—The provincial government has given a big boost to the British Empire Games to be held here in 1954. Before the government fell in a House vote Tuesday, the cabinet approved two extra days racing for Vancouver this year—Coronation Day June 2 and Aug. 4—with all profits to go into the general games fund.

Marlies Bow To Flyers, Lose Semi-Finals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It would have to be seen to be believed.

The final buzzer sounded in the Barrie Arena Wednesday. Toronto Marlboros lost the game 6-3 and their best-of-nine semi-finals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series with Barrie Flyers. Then out on the ice strode Staff Smythe, Marlies' manager, grinning from ear to ear, to shake the hand of Flyer coach Hap Emms.

It was an awful site; two bitter hockey enemies giving each other the glad hand. But it was the sporting thing to do, and the partisan Barrie fans were pleased that the feud ended that way.

The two ice warriors crossed swords as soon as the 1952-53 season began and the tempo of the battle increased as the schedule ran its course. Marlborps appeared to have the edge for most of the season but in the late stages the Flyers hustled up the point ladder and finally booted the Toronto juniors off the top perch in the final standings.

SERIES EXTENDED

The semi-final series, originally set at a best-of-seven, but later extended to a best-of-nine, opened March 4 with a 2-1 victory for Barrie. Marlies won the second 2-1 in overtime, then the Flyers blanked the Toronto lads 4-0 The Marlboros tied the series 2-2 in the fourth game with a 6-3 win and then the Flyers took over, scoring three straight triumphs, 1-0, 6-2 and finally 6-3.

Emms can give his boys a rest until the best-of-seven semi-finals between Toronto St. Michael's and Galt Black Hawks is decided. The Collegians downed the Hawks 9-3 Wednesday night to take a 3-1 lead in the series, with one game tied.

Barrie scorers Wednesday night were Orv Tessier, second leading scorer in the league, Tony Poeta, Don McKenny, Johnny Martan, Doug Mohns and Skip Teal. Bill McCreary, Charlie Burns and Louis Bendo counted for the Marlies.

Jack Caffery, St. Mikes centre, paced the Irish with three goals and two assists. Les and Dick Duff each picked up a pair and the others went to Paul Knox and Butch Ratchford. Frank Bonello, Hec Lalonde and Pete Kawalchuk scored for Galt.

St. Mikes travel to Galt Friday for the sixth game Saturday they return to Toronto.

Evening Auxiliary Of WMS Meets

NORWOOD (ENS)—The Evening Auxiliary of the United Church WMS met at the home of Mrs. George Peoples with a good attendance.

The president, Mrs. Pauline Weir, conducted the business meeting after which Mr. Gerald LaBrash's group took charge of the program.

In the absence of Mrs. La Brash, Mrs. Armar Weir took the worship service with the theme, "Community of Grace." The scripture lesson was read by Miss Doreen Simpson followed by prayer by Mrs. Armar Weir.

Further chapters on the study of Angola were read by Miss Pauline Weir with responses by Mrs. Everett Waters, Miss Clara Jenkins, Mrs. William Roberts, Mrs. Gerald Baker, Mrs. Harry Gyde and Miss Ruth Avery.

The meeting closed with the hymn, "Thy Kingdom Come O Lord" and the benediction by Miss Pauline Weir. Lunch was served by Mrs. La Brash's group.

ROME (AP)—Meuccio Ruini was elected president of the Italian Senate Wednesday, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of 76-year-old Giuseppe Paratore. Ruini, who is also 76 and a member of a mixed group in the Senate, received 169 votes. Enrico Mole, leftist Democrat, received 109 votes and Communist Umberto Terracini five votes.

Gordie Howe Acclaimed Greatest Player In N.H.L,

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Gordie Howe conceivably is the most valuable chunk of playing material that hockey has known.

That was evident today when sports writers and sportcasters in National Hockey League cities voted him in a Canadian Press poll as the greatest player in the league, the most valuable player to his team and the most improved player over the last five years in the NHL.

The 24-year-old phenomenon from Floral, Sask., a strapping right-winger with Detroit Red Wings, won in a breeze. In the opinion of many selectors he is greater than Howie Morenz, the Montreal Canadiens centre who three years ago was voted the greatest of the half century.

ALMOST UNANIMOUS

In selections for the greatest player in the league, only two others were mentioned. They were Montreal's Maurice Richard and Boston Bruins' Milt Schmidt—but it was Howe by almost unanimous decision.

Richard received four votes and Schmidt one, against 21 for Howe.

The powerful 190-pound Howe has surpassed the expectations of his supporters since he joined the Wing in 1946. He was just another player in his rookie year with only seven goals in 58 games but since then he has taken over from such established stars as Richard and Montreal's Elmer Lach, Ted Kennedy of Toronto Maple Leafs, Schmidt and many others.

Howe was a bashful kid of 18 when he joined the Red Wings. That season was hardly good enough to draw rave notices but Howe, who started playing as a goalkeeper in Western Canada when he was 12, had the makings of a star. The Wings rode with him.

RECORD TOTAL

In 1950-51 he became the highest scorer for any one NHL season with 86 points on 43 goals and 43 assists. He had 47 goals and 39 assists the following year and this season became the 25th NHL player, and the youngest, to score 200 goals. Barring injuries, he may become big-time hockey's most prolific scorer.

"He can do everything in superstar fashion," said Red Burnett of the Toronto Daily Star. "He is a better all-round player than Morenz."

Baz O'Meara, veteran sports editor of the Montreal Star, picked Howe but wouldn't go along with the idea he's greater than Morenz.

"He's not as colorful and not as fast," O'Meara said.

Here's what some other selectors said about him:

Dana Mozley of the New York Daily News: "He does everything well; most things better than anyone. He is as good as Morenz."

Bobby Hewitson, Toronto Telegram sports editor and one-time NHL referee: "He can do anything. He is as good as Morenz."

Lou Walter, Detroit Times: "He can do more things, and magnificently, than any other player in the game, perhaps in history. Morenz was a thrilling offensive star, but Howe is great both ways."

ONE FOR SCHMIDT

Schmidt's lone vote was sent in by sportcaster Frank Fallon of Boston. "Milt has lasted as a top-flight player longer than anyone in the league and is the equal of Morenz," he said.

Marcel Desjardins of Montreal La Presse, a Richard supporter, said he considered the Rocket, who broke Nels Stewart's record of 324 goals this season, better than Morenz. "Morenz never fired the crowds and stimulated interest outside Montreal the way Richard has done."

Besides Howe's scoring feats, the Detroit whiz replaced Richard on the right wing on the NHL's all-star team in 1950-51 and last season after two years as alternate to the Montreal firebrand.

Just as in the balloting for the "greatest player" tag, Howe made it a runaway race in the "most valuable" and "most improved" voting. Richard, voted earlier as the most colorful player in the circuit, wasn't mentioned in these ballots.

HIGHLY REGARDED

Closest to Howe in the most-improved category was Bert Olmstead of Canadiens, linemate of Lach and Richard. Others mentioned:

Nick Mickoski, Paul Ronty and Don (Bones) Raleigh of New York Rangers; Doc Couture, Chicago Black Hawks Gerry McNeil and Doug Harvey, Canadiens Red Kelly, Red Wings Fleming Mackell and Sugar Jim Henry, Boston.

Here's what some had to say on the question of the most improved player:

"Look at the (scoring) figures," was the way Dan Desmond of the Chicago Herald American pointed out Howe's value to his club. Andy O'Brien of weekend magazine said: "Look at Howe's steady progress in scoring. He's getting foxier around the nets every season."

On balloting for the most valuable player to the team, McNeil received votes from O'Brien and Marshall Dann of the Detroit Free Press for keeping Canadiens in the title race. "Canadiens have been weak on scoring—too many old-timers, injuries and so on and McNeil has kept them up 1-2 in the league race all season," said O'Brien.

Desmond voted for netminder Al Rollins of Chicago. "take him away from the Hawks and that porous defence would sink them," he said. "Take other stars from other teams and it's doubtful they'd be missed too much."

MOST VALUABLE—Gordie Howe, 24, right-wing powerhouse for the Detroit Red Wings, has been voted the greatest player and the most valuable player in the National Hockey League. The Floral, Sask., sharpshooter was chosen in a Canadian Press poll conducted among sports writers and sportcasters in six NHL cities. Howe was considered by many experts greater than the late Howie Morenz, the Montreal Canadiens' centre who two years ago was voted the greatest player of the first half-century. Howe joined the Wings in 1946 and already has broken into the select 200-goal circle.

SUSPEND TRAINER

LINCOLN, R.I. (AP)—Fritz H. Becker of Phoenix, Ariz., trainer of the three-year-old colt, Who Knows, which won the fourth race at Lincoln Downs Monday, was suspended Wednesday. A report of the state chemist said thiamine was found in the horse. Who Knows won the five-furlong race by a nose over Bright Kitchen and paid $31.80, $14.80 and $7.60.

Here And There In Sports

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

SAYS RUSSIANS BEST

OSLO (CP)—Some fans and sports writers here think the Russians may be the best hockey players in the world. The Canadians, they say, run a good second.

The question of whether the Russians are better players than Canadians is being strongly debated here since a Russian all-star team twice trounced Norway's national team, 10-2 and 8-0.

The Russians defeated Norway 7-0 and 5-1 in Moscow earlier this month.

The sports writers agree the Russians are playing a game totally different from most West European and North American teams.

They are technically skilled players but don't go much for body blocking. Their passes are always accurate.

Hockey has been played in Russia for only six years. The Russians stick close to the rules.

While the general practice in western countries is to rely on physical strength as well as technical skill, the Russians don't go in much for the rougher tactics.

As to their chances of beating the Canadians in a world championship match, opinions here differ.

Some writers feel the rougher Canadians would break up the Russians' game and crush them by sheer force. But there are others who think the Russians might be too smart.

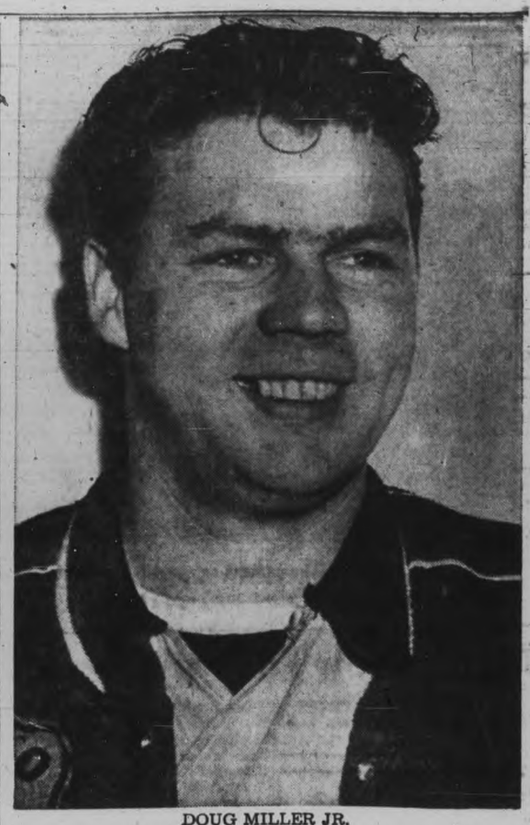
Quebec Team Returns To CAHA Fold

MONTREAL (CP)—The running fight between the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and its suspended Quebec branch — simmering for some time—flared anew with the announcement of the withdrawal of Quebec Citadelles junior hockey team from the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association.

Frank Byrne, Citadelles' owner, announced Wednesday the Citadelles have returned to the CAHA fold and been given a berth in the Memorial Cup sectional playoffs.

George Dudley, secretary-manager of the CAHA, said at Midland, Ont., the Quebec team had been reinstated and will meet the winner of the current Memorial Cup playdown between Timmins-Porcupine Combines and Northside Franklins. They are champions of the Northern Ontario and Maritime districts respectively.



The withdrawal by the Citadelles came in the midst of their Quebec junior amateur series with Montreal Canadiens. Quebec leads the best-of-nine series 2-1.

NOT ADVISED

President Martin Conway of the QAHA says he has not been officially advised of the withdrawal. Byrne said he made the application for reinstatement Wednesday. Dudley said it had been made "some days ago." Conway says he will suspend the Citadelles from the QAHA when he is notified of the withdrawal of the team.

The Quebec decision to withdraw followed closely a one-game suspension and $500 fine levied on Citadelles' coach Phil Watson by the QAHA following a ruckus in the last game of the junior series last Sunday.

Byrne said he is not interested in junior hockey after this season, and said he thought Conway was "unfair" in suspending Watson and calling for a "peace bond."

DOUG MILLER JR.

Douglas Miller Jr. To Coach Petes' Junior OLA Entry

Doug Miller Jr., former Canadian-American lacrosse league player and last year coach of the juvenile all-stars, has been named coach of the Peterborough entry in the junior OLA. He succeeds Lou Vitarelli who has coached the juniors for the past several years; Vitarelli retired from coaching this year.

Hoping to capture the Ontario championship this year and then the Minto Cup for the first time, the junior club, sponsored by F. H. Patterson, is strengthening. Its first step was the election of a strong executive, then coach and finally importing several experienced players.

Dr. John R. Epping again heads the executive as president, with Al Lockington, last year's team manager, and Harley Carr, as vice-presidents. Howard Doolittle is treasurer and Jack Sackville, secretary. Others elected were: Clare Galvin, publicity, and Walter Murphy, George Tully and Mr. Patterson, directors.

The club is giving some consideration before appointing a team manager to succeed Mr. Lockington who has moved into the executive. An appointment is expected within the next week.

Coach Miller comes from a lacrosse family; his father, Doug. Sr., playing some years for Peterborough teams. Mr. Miller, Sr. helped reorganize lacrosse in Peterborough after the Second World War.

Doug. Jr. began playing lacrosse after the war when a four-team juvenile league was organized. Later he jumped into the Canadian - American league in Western Ontario, playing for Toledo in 1948 and then coaching in 1949.

His playing career was cut short in 1950 when playing with Windsor. During a game in Chatham he suffered a fractured skull.

After a year's absence from lacrosse circles during 1951, Miller took over the juvenile all stars last year. During the season he developed a strong juvenile team which went on to win the Ontario juvenile "B" championship.

Wins Pee Wee Award

COBOURG (ENS) — Gordon Ewart, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ewart, has been awarded the cup for the most valuable player in the Pee Wee division of the church league hockey group. The presentation was made on the ice Wednesday night by Mrs. Isobel Spaulding, league secretary.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

This coming month will see the senior lacrossers working out at Miller Bowl, just as soon as the ground is dry and the weather suitable. Coach Bob Thorpe wants to have his squad in first-class shape right at the start of the rugged OLA schedule early in May. After all, a game won at the opening of the schedule counts just as much as one on the final day — as Leafs and Petes ruefully realized in the recent puck campaigns. The Timbermen's executive are working away quietly in preparation for a big season, and not saying much yet of player prospects. Lots of info in this respect a bit later. Executive in '53 consist of: President, Bob Peirson; vice-prexies, Paul Irwin and Gord Dobbin; secretary, Mick Magee; treasurer, Howard McLean; co-managers, Bob Curtin and Mick Magee; committee, Dave Kerr, Jim Goldie, Pete King, Ken Kingston, Dr. Herb Young, Jack Gainey and Gar Braund.

* * * * * * *

Just one of the champion Petes made the first OLA team last year, Goalie Moon Wootton. Defence picked was Merv McKenzie of Hamilton and Chuck Simpson of Mimico. Centre was Leo Teatro of Toronto, with Jack Dorney of Hamilton and Bob Dobbie of Fergus on the wings. The second all-star squad had George Johnston of Toronto Yorks in goal. On defence were Harry Wipper and Nip O'Hearn of Peterborough. Don McPhail of Yorks was rover, while two locals, Bob Thorpe and Curly Mason, tied for the centre spot. Wingmen chosen were Denny Peterson of Mimico and Max Woolley of St. Catharines. But this is is another year.

For The Ontario Title

Our bantam Shamrocks tackle Guelph Biltmores at eight tonight in Civic Arena. Return and final contest of their home-and-home OMHA bantam "A" finals, the teams drawing 4-4 in the opener at Guelph last Monday. So this is the big one for Pat Doherty and his gallant young Shamrocks. Should be a grand game and it rates a full house as the provincial title is at stake. Boys on the local team are: Larry Lonsberry, Gary Darling, Pat Baker, Frank Daly, Bill Mahoney, Ricky Pace, Peter Stewart, Wayne Haig, John McFadden, Val Armstrong, Cyril Coombes, Ron Jay, Bob Shaw, Gerald Kimball, Doug Lustic, Gerard DeNoble, Jimmy Riel and Norman Tetlock. A real classy crew championship-bent.

More than 70 boys will be strutting their hockey stuff in Olympia Stadium on Easter weekend as Detroit Red Wings hold a three-day tryout school for young prospects. Five from here will attend. It is quite possible that none of the local lads will impress the brass — Manager Jack Adams, Coach Tommy Ivan and Scout Johnny Mitchell — but perhaps some will show enough promise for future consideration. Or they might even get an offer to start as juniors in the Detroit organization. Who knows? Even if they fail this time, there's another year in which to earn another chance at a pro school. All a boy can do is his best, shooting the works and not being bashful. The competition will be tough with 70 or more good prospects trying to catch the official eye.

Wings And Canadiens

George (Red) Sullivan is a good example of what a Peterborough hockeyist can do if he shows the old hustle and fight on his way up. The Ashburnham redhead was a junior "B" player here not so many seasons ago, and tonight he'll be in the Bruins' lineup as they face Wings in Detroit in the second Stanley Cup semi-final playoff. But it looks like the power-packed Detroiters should take that series in rather handy fashion, and go into cup finals against Montreal Canadiens. We don't think Chicago will oust the Habs in their semi-final bracket. The finals should be highly exciting, as Canadiens this season gave the Wings more trouble than any other club in the NHL.

* * * * * * *

Manager Jim Laidlaw of the Brock Arena is thinking of having all his chairs nailed to the floor. The fans, and the wrestlers in self-defence, were tossing 'em about freely at the windup of the wild main bout last eve. No casualties, we understand, apart from some chairs. The main tilt was awarded to villainous Red Mask and Man Mountain Dean over popular Yukon Eric and Tim Geohagen. On account of a couple of semi-final grapplers, Larry Moquin and Firpo Szybsko, jumped into the ring to upset proceedings. 'Twas a ripe rhubarb for sure, then. Joe Gollob, the referee who used to be a pro boxer, acted pretty punchy throughout and had to scramble to save his skin later as angry fans swarmed around. The semi-final went to a lively draw, and the prelim—between Ovila Asselin and Frank Taylor —also finished a draw.

Trojans Capture First Of Finals

Building a lengthy margin during the first half, Trojans moved one step closer to the YMCA house league basketball championship Wednesday with a 35-26 victory over the Penguins. That game was the first in a best of three series for the championship, the second game being played next Tuesday, and the third, if necessary, Wednesday night.

On the strength of field baskets by Scott Pearton and foul shots by Roininen, Groves and Noble, the Trojans jumped to a 12-5 lead in the first quarter. The best the Penquins could do was three points by Reg Fowler and a field basket by Gandy.

Roininen whipped in four baskets and a foul shot in the second quarter, those nine points pretty well decided the game. Bak, Groves and Noble added five more to give the Trojans a 26-10 half-time score.

The scoring dwindled in the second half and was mostly confined to foul shots. The Trojans kept their lead 31-14 at three-quarters and then held on throughout the fourth as the Penguins rallied, Neil Thompson scoring eight points out of the Penguins' 12 in the fourth.

Roininen led the scoring with 16, closely followed by Thompson with 12. Lineups:

Trojans (35).—Pearson, Bak, Wood, Roininen, Groves, Noble.

Penguins (26) — Fowler, O'Connor, Hurrle, Gandy, Wyatt, Outram, Thompson.

Three Rookies Threat In Hockey Cup Race

By AL VICKERY

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP)—Three kids playing their first season of junior hockey may be the difference in St. Boniface Canadiens being a threat for the Memorial Cup or just also-rans.

The line, centre Cece Hoekstra and wingers Leo Konyk and Ab McDonald, provided the spark which gave Canadiens their first Manitoba junior championship since 1938.

Canadiens open their best-of-seven Western semi-finals at the Lakehead tonight against Fort William Canadiens, Thunder Bay champions. Both clubs are farm teams of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

The Manitoba champions are packed with three and four-year juniors, who have taken a new lease on life while playing with the kid line.

Araujo Takes Davis In 10-Round Bout

CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—George Araujo kept himself in line for a promised lightweight title shot by winning a unanimous 10-round decision over outclassed and bleeding Teddy Davis in a nationally-televised bout Wednesday night.

Araujo, a methodical worker with a pair of lightning hands, weighed 133½ to 133 for the Hartford, Conn., battler.

Referee Tony La Branch scored it 7-2-1, Judge Herb Williams 8-2 and judge Charlie Bill 7-3, all in favor of Araujo.

Red Mask And Mountain Awarded The Main Bout Over Eric And The Irishman

Confusion reigned in the ring as the main pro mat bout at the Brock Arena last night ended up with the wrong wrestlers taking over and a bewildered Referee Joe Gollob of Montreal awarding the deciding fall to the villainous Red Mask and Man Mountain Dean. They won it in 14 minutes over Yukon Eric and Tim Geohagen. The villains and the ref had to brave a barrage of thrown chairs from angry fans as they fled toward the dressing rooms afterward.

Tim first and later Eric were having the best of the final round when the Mask and Dean teamed up to offset this, and the pair then belabored Yukon unmercifully until Larry Moquin jumped in from outside to help the Alaskan. Firpo Szybsko followed in to aid the Mountain and it was a donnybrook for minutes then with four and five slugging it out until peace was finally restored, and the ref awarded the duke to the villainous duo.

A FAST FALL

Timothy, scaling just 226 pounds, to Dean's 350 flabby weight, made quick work of the Mountain in the second and equalizing fall. He hit him fast with two flying tackles before Dean knew the action had started and then applied his "Irish Sleeper"—an unconscious neck hold. The ref stopped the show, and then Tim demonstrated his special grip effectively on the protesting Mask, who was calling it a choke hold. The fans cheered heartily. This fall came in just over a minute.

The 251-pound Mask won the opening fall in 23 minutes over Yukon Eric, scaling 274, when the big, barefoot lumberjack had to concede from a punishing leglock. The leg was hurt earlier by Dean in the corner when the pair teamed up on Yukon and the referee missed much of their rough stuff. Their illegal tactics offset the great strength of Eric and the speed of the scrappy Irishman, but it was a lively go while it lasted. Four were in the ring at times, arguing or interfering in a mad scramble.

GOES TO DRAW

Larry Moquin, at 220, and the 241-pound Firpo Szybsko battled to a 30-minute semi-final draw. The popular Larry had the speed and he threw some fast punches at times, as well as applying a punishing head scissors on the mat several times. However, the bald and bigger Firpo combined hair yanks and choke holds to give Moquin plenty of trouble. Referee Gollob — a former high-ranking professional boxer—squared off on two or three occasions with the angry Moquin who threatened to punch him for breaking grips, and it looked like the wrestling match might turn out to be a boxing go instead. But nothing came of it, and the fans saw a good bout go to the time limit.

The prelim also wound up in a draw between Ovila Asselin, 231, and Frank Taylor, who bumps the beam at 235. Asselin persisted in using a choke and Gollob was kept busy breaking it up. The boys mixed it a lot on the mat the first half with a variety of grips displayed in pretty even going. Taylor, who featured a leglock, began making it rugged in the latter stages, and Asselin fought right back. The crowd liked the action the final 12 or 15 minutes as they opened it up wide. Ovila tossed Taylor out of the ring and later slugged the referee, getting a sharp warning from the ex-fighter. They were going at it hot and heavy when the gong closed it off.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

The last open bonspiel to be sponsored by the Peterborough Curling Club for the 1952-1953 season was won by Thomas Doughty's local rink yesterday. They not only win the Ostrander Trophy but each member receives a gold wrist watch. Rev. Pereyma of Oshawa came second, with the veteran Jim Curtis of Fenelon Falls being the third three-game winner.

So evenly was the distribution of the prizes that three remained home and three went to the visitors.

It was just another good bonspiel—one of the many that have been held here this season.

The club appreciates the support it has had all season both from the local curlers and curlers from clubs all around the district.

The bonspiel committee has devoted a lot of time to these bonspiels and they are grateful to all for their support.

W. A. Davern, on behalf of Ostranders, in a brief and neat speech presented the trophy and watches to Thomas Doughty's rink. The remaining prizes were presented to the winners by different club members. The bonspiel began around 9 a.m., and was concluded by 11 p.m.

And so for another season, as far as our club is converned, the open bonspiels have had it.

WINNERS

First—Ostrander Trophy, and each a gold wrist watch donated by Ostrander Co.—Peterborough: J. Baker, W. Moorhead, D. Kerr, T. Doughty, skip.

Finalists Lose 2 Home Games

LONDON (Reuters)—Blackpool and Bolton Wanderers, who will meet in the finals for the Football Association Cup in May, both lost home games in the league schedule Wednesday.

After a hard-fought win in the Cup semi-finals Saturday, Blackpool went down by the only goal of the game, scored by Cardiff City. Bolton, lacking its international centre-forward, Nat Lofthouse, suffered a 3-0 trouncing from Preston North End.

Preston's win boosts the team to the top of the first division table. They are level on points with Wolverhampton Wanders, but have a better goal average.

Tottenham Hotspurs and Everton, defeated Cup semi-finalists, also failed to win. Manchester United polished off Tottenham 3-2 and Everton fought Fulham to a 3-3 draw.

Toronto Maple Leafs scored one of the most sensational comebacks in Stanley Cup playoff history 17 years ago tonight to win a quarter-final series from Boston by 8-6 in two games. Leafs were trailing by four goals on the round when they scored six goals in less than 12 minutes. In the Stanley Cup final however Leafs lost to Detroit Red Wings by three games to one.

CAPE BRETON SERIES SITE

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—The Eastern Canada Memorial Cup semi-finals between Timmins-Porcupine Combines and Northside Franklins will be completed in Cape Breton. Combines won the first game of the best-of-seven series. The second is to be played tonight and the third Saturday. The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association agreed to the games being played in Cape Breton, rather than switching to a Combines site as first planned.

ings Back At Old Habit eking To Set anley Cup Play Records

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Stanley Cup playoffs have barely started, but Detroit Wings are back at their old habit of rewriting the onal Hockey League record book. The Wings entertain on Bruins tonight in the second game of a best-of-seven final, with a 7-0 victory under their belts and two NHL marks within their grasp. At Montreal, the Canadiens will take on Chicago Black Hawks, whom they edged 3-1 in the opener of their best-of-seven set Tuesday, but both clubs will settle for a victory in that series.

For Detroit, a shutout over the Bruins would establish two records—a 10-game playoff winning streak and a string of four playoff shutouts for goalie Terry Sawchuk.

The Wings started both streaks last spring, when they waltzed to the title with a minimum eight-game effort against Toronto Maple Leafs and the Canadiens. Sawchuk blanked the Montrealers in the last two games and added the third whitewash at the Bruins' expense Tuesday.

That leaves Terry tied with Frank McCool, now a Calgary sports writer, who blanked the Wings three times in a row in 1945 to spark the Leafs to a Stanley Cup victory. The Wings already have wrested the record for consecutive playoff victories from the 1946 Canadiens, who ran up eight straight.

The Bruins, with a record of just two wins in 15 meetings with Detroit this season, hope to stage a comeback similar to the scare they threw into the Canadiens last season when they forced the favored Montrealers to seven games after dropping the first two.

At Montreal both clubs took things easy Wednesday. Canadien coach Dick Irvin gave his regulars the day off while Sid Abel put the Hawks through a light skating drill. Both clubs reported themselves free of injuries for the second game.

Pittsburgh Hornets Trip Bears In 2-1 Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A third-period goal by Bob Sabourin gave Pittsburgh Hornets a 2-1 victory over Hershey Bears Wednesday night as the Hornets opened defence of their Calder Cup championship of the American Hockey League.

Pittsburgh tallied first as Chuck Blair slipped a 25-foot shot into the net while Hershey's Lorne Ferguson was in the penalty box.

Hershey's lone goal came as rookie Gordie Wilson fired a 20-foot shot past goalie Gil Mayer.

The winner of the Pittsburgh-Hershey series will play a best-of-seven series with the victor of the series between Cleveland and Syracuse.

Early Mist Remains Aintree Favorite

LONDON (AP)—Early Mist, an eight-year-old to be ridden by one of England's top jockeys, remained a slight favorite Wednesday for Saturday's running of the Grand National steeplechase at Aintree.

The jumper is a 100-9 shot in a field expected to number 37. He will carry 156 pounds and will be ridden by Bryan Marshall.

Little Dome is listed right behind the favorite at 100-8. The final call-over of odds is scheduled for today.

Meanwhile, owners and trainers continued to show concern over the condition of the famous two-mile course, baked hard by five weeks of dry weather. Trainers fear it will split a horse's hoof or jar loose his shoes after a jump.

New Plexiglass

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp. reported today it has developed a plexiglass for airplanes which is shatter-resistant even when hit by flak or direct gunfire. Already laboratory-tested and ready for flight tests, the triple-laminated glass is made up of two layers of plexiglass with a vinyl core similar to that used in safety glass.

TIP TOP TAILORS' new store for men's clothing opened today in the Clapper Building, on George St., just below King St. For the past two years Tip Tops have been located on Water St., near Charlotte St. That location was only temporary after the old store was gutted during the Zacks' building fire in May 1951. Ultra-modern from front to back (the interior is shown above), Tip Tops will carry a complete line of men's furnishings and ready-to-wear suits. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Ex-Canadian Doctor Joins Order

LONDON (CP)—Dr. Philip Magonet, Canadian doctor who has become a recognized specialist in medical hypnosis in Britain, has been admitted to the 63-year-old Order of Water Rats—a vaudeville organization with charitable aims.

Dr. Magonet, formerly of Glace Bay, N.S., came to London in 1939, is a familiar figure as "ring doctor" in local boxing arenas and has conducted experiments in hypnosis among Canadian hockey players here.

For a man outside vaudeville to be invited to join the Order of Water Rats is considered an honor as only 12 outsiders are admitted. Among them are Sir Alan Herbert, the playwright, and Gwilym Lloyd George, Britain's food minister.

Pre-Historic Mammoth

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Two farmers plowed up part of the skeleton of a pre-historic mammoth. It had ivory tusks more than seven feet long—the biggest ever found in Italy, archaeologists said today.

WA Presents Gift To Member

ROSENEATH (ENS)—The presentation of a crystal sandwich plate to Mrs. Ivan Thackeray, as a parting gift and in recognition of her years of active service in the WA, was the highlight of the March meeting of the United Church WA.

Mrs. Charles Sandercock voiced the appreciation of the members to Mrs. Thackeray for her help and co-operation as an officer and member and expressed their regret at losing a valued worker. Mrs. Thackeray invited the members to visit them at their new home at Plainville.

The meeting was held in the township hall Tuesday, with Mrs. C. W. Varcoe as hostess. The president, Mrs. Earl Waldie, presided, with Mrs. Ella Brown as pianist.

"A Working Christian" was the topic of the worship service in charge of the Rev. J. R. Wheeler.

A brief memorial service was conducted by the president, in tribute to the late Mrs. Herman Blodgett, an active member, and charter member of the society, who died since the last meeting.

Mrs. Fred Norris, treasurer, reported blinds and stair-treads had been purchased for the parsonage, leaving a balance on hand of $515.25.

Mrs. Ivan Thackeray, good cheer convener, reported eleven persons remembered during the month.

Mrs. Clarke Sandercock offered to fill the vacancy as good cheer convener owing to the resignation of Mrs. Ivan Thackeray.

On motion, it was decided that this WA society will join the Dominion Council of Women's Association of the United Church.

It was decided that the WA would enter the competition for applique embroidered quilt to be shown at Roseneath Fair. This is a new group project started by the ladies' division of the Fair Board. Twenty dollars in prize money is being offered.

Mrs. Arthur Braithwaite and Mrs. Earl Waldie were appointed delegates from the WA to attend a community meeting in the township hall, March 30.

The April meeting will be in the form of an evening meeting with Mrs. Earl Waldie as hostess.

An interesting letter was read from Mrs. Donald Stegink (nee Clarice Atkinson), relating her experiences coming by plane from French West Africa to the U.S.A.

Mrs. Alfred Pringle, convener of the program, announced the following numbers:

Reading, "Kitchen Work," by Mrs. Bart Thackeray; a quiz, "Famous People," by Mrs. Archie Mouncey, won by Mrs. Ella Brown's and Mrs. Clarence Parker's groups; Mrs. Douglas Coyle sang "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," with Mrs. C. W. Varcoe accompanist; Mrs. Frank Brown's group carried off the prize in the Biblical quiz. Misses Carole McMillan and Mary Halstead played a piano duet.

Mrs. Frank George, president of Fenella WA, was present and on invitation spoke briefly.

The hostess served afternoon tea.

New Store Opened In City

The new ultra-modern Tip Top store opened today at its new location on George St.

The store has been temporarily located at 328 Water St. for the past two years, when they were burned out of the Zack's building in 1951 when fire completely gutted the building.

The store was originally opened in 1927 by Ken Sloane and has been operated by him and William H. Saunders for the past 24 years. It was one of the first stores in Peterborough to have a Neon sign.

One of the many features of their new store is for the first time in the store's history a complete line of men's furnishings and ready-to-wear suits will be carried on the rack.

The interior of the store is done in green and wineburg shades and has fluorescent lighting and spotlights. The store is 90 feet long and 20 feet wide and the stock and fitting room are located at the rear. The men's furnishing department is situated on the south side and the ready-to-wear suits are located at the rear. Samples and bolts of cloth line the wall on the north side of the store.

The exterior part is done in a very modern design, and there is ample space allotted for display purposes.

Preparing Cribwork For $100,000 Pier

COBOURG (ENS)—Timbers are being made into cribwork at Port Hope for the reconstruction of the cement pier adjacent to the old ferry dock in Cobourg. They will be towed down the lake to Cobourg and installed.

The cost of putting the pier back into shape will be well over $100,000.

Port Hope piers are laid out in such a manner that the cribwork, when made, can be launched into the water sideways, eliminating the strain on the structure that would result if the cribs were slid into the water lengthwise. If the cribs were built in Cobourg they would have to be put into the lake lengthwise and this might weaken or break the network of timbers, it was pointed out.

Not Interested In Buying Detroit Tunnel

DETROIT (CP)—The port of Detroit commission announced Wednesday it is not interested in buying the 22-year-old tunnel which runs under the Detroit river to join this city and Windsor, Ont.

The commission said it would not consider buying the mile-long tunnel, now up for sale for $18,000,000, unless Wayne county auditors and legal experts show the purchase would be a sound investment. Previously the commission was prominently mentioned as a possible buyer.

The commission, however, approved proposed state legislation which would give it power to buy the tunnel, the Ambassador bridge or undertake waterfront development.

GIVEN AUTHORITY

Chairman Troy Browning said the legislation is not offered to the legislature for authority to buy the tunnel, but to put the commission in a position "where it could do something if it wanted."

The tunnel, now owned by the Detroit and Canada Tunnel Corporation, will become the property of Windsor and Detroit in 1990 no matter who buys it in the meantime.

Britain Faces Lack Of Hospital Space

LONDON (CP)—Britain faces a serious shortage of hospital accommodation for patients suffering from mental illness.

The disclosure was made by Iain Macleod, minister of health, who told the national association of health that although 42 per cent of hospital beds in England and Wales were devoted to mental cases, the problem of overcrowding remained grave.

"There is a waiting list for beds of some 8,000 people, of whom half are children," he said.

The problem of overcrowding in mental hospitals was not generally realized, Mr. Macleod added, but it was one above all others that must be brought home to the public and for which a solution must be found.

Autopsy Orders

TORONTO (CP)—An autopsy was ordered Wednesday in the death of Mrs. Jean Gallagher, 45-year-old Toronto housewife. She died Wednesday from injuries suffered during what police said was a drinking party seven months ago. Police said she was believed to have been stabbed with a broken beer bottle at the Aug. 28 party.

New Leader To Take Power In South Africa Regardless Of Vote Result

By ASTLEY HAWKINS

PRETORIA (Reuters) — South Africa expects to see a new prime minister come to power soon whichever way the general elections go April 15.

Dr. Daniel Francois Malan, 78, leader of the ruling Nationalist party, is considered likely to retire from office before the end of another five-year term if the country re-elects his government.

If the Nationalists are defeated at the polls, the new prime minister would be Jacobus Gideon Nel Strauss, 55, chief of the United Party.

Nationalist followers are confident of returning Malan to office. But they are not so sure that he could be expected to carry the administrative and political burdens of the country another five years.

Their guess is that Malan, with his party and policies safely returned to authority, would step down in favor of either his finance minister, Nicholas Christiaan Havenga, 70, or the Nationalists' "strong man," Johannes Gerhardus Strydom, 59, minister of lands.

Havenga, as leader of the now defunct Africaner party, helped the Nationalist party put Malan into power in the 1948 elections and could reasonably inherit the government leadership.

Strydom, leader of the Nationalist party in the important Transvaal province, would be the choice of supporters who already talk of him as "the first president" of their proposed South African republic.

Some observers here feel Strydom's supporters could not long remain patient with the leadership of Havenga whose political career is based on firm respect for the South African constitution.

Extreme Nationalists cast doubt on the legality of parts of the constitution.

Dr. Theophilus Ebenhaezer Donges, 52, Malan's interior minister, was once considered heir presumptive to the prime minister But his chances were dimmed by the failure of the Nationalists' plan to turn Parliament into a "high court" to override "test case" decisions invalidating their legislation.

Precedence might now be given to the key figure of the last pre-election parliamentary session, the 6-foot, 7-inch justice minister, Charles Robberts Swart who has piloted through some of the most controversial legislation ever debated in the South African Parliament.

Two new bills aimed at combatting native defiance of segregation laws wrote Swart's name across the world's newspapers early this year.

Strauss, one-time private secretary of Field Marshal Jan Smuts who promoted his political career, has for the last five years, been criticizing the Nationalists for their "unconstitutional" methods.

Under him, his followers say, South Africa might find a less explosive compromise in the racial crisis and regain some of its lost prestige abroad. But some doubt his powers as a rallying figure against the Nationalists.

One name often mentioned with the future of the United party is Sir De Villiers Graaff, 39-year-old lawyer and farmer who spent most of the Second World War in an Italian prison camp after being captured at Tobruk. An Oxford university graduate, he has quickly cut a promising political figure since entering Parliament in 1948.

Also supporting the United party is Group Capt. A. G. Malan, ace fighter pilot of the Second World War, who now leads the Torch commando, an independent organization founded by ex-servicemen to get the Nationalists out of office.

Plan Parley In Swift Strike

STRATFORD (CP) — A conference among Ontario labor minister Daley, chief conciliation officer Louis Fine and city council representatives may be held Friday or Saturday to negotiate Swift Canadian Company strike problems.

At a meeting of Stratford labor organizations Wednesday night, Ald. A. G. Skidmore announced an effort had been made to arrange the conference. About 15 union locals were represented at the meeting which had been called to discuss the strike which started March 6.

Union representatives voted their full support of the strikers.

Canada Now In Third Position As A World Trading Country

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canada, which gave way to France as the world's third trading country in 1951, went back into third spot in 1952.

The ranking of the five top countries now is: United States, United Kingdom, Canada, France and German federal republic, Canada and France exchanging the places they held in 1951. The German republic, although behind France in total trade, is ahead of her in exports.

Here are the 1952 figures, as supplied by the international monetary fund, expressed in billions of dollars, with 1951 figures in brackets:

United States—exports 15,168 (15,041); imports 11,633 (11,945); total trade 26,801 (26,986).

United Kingdom—Expoerts 7,542 (7,580); imports 9,779 (10,954); total trade 17,321 (13,534).

Canada—Exports 4,714 (4,308); imports 4,458 (4,194); total trade 9,172 (8,232).

France—Exports 3,891 (4,161); imports 4,423 (4,523); total trade 8,314 (8,684).

German federal republic—exports 3,996 (3,463); imports 3,822 (3,491); total trade 7,818 (6,954).

CANADA'S EXPORTS

The greater part of Canada's sales to other countries goes to the United States, and concern is frequently expressed that Canada may be getting too dependent on the American market.

The current monthly review of the Bank of Nova Scotia, however, thinks that the proportion of Canadian goods going to the United States is likely to remain high. It bases this opinion on a study of the so-called Paley report, the much-discussed report to the president last year which examined United States' needs and resources. The bank review concludes:

"There can be little doubt that growing U.S. requirements will promote and facilitate Canadian resources development and that, in an unsettled world, strategic considerations will place special emphasis on Canada as a source of supply.

LOOK TOWARD U.S.

"In these circumstances, Canada is bound to look toward the U.S. market, and it seems highly probable that the proportion of Canadian exports going to the U.S. will remain at more than half and perhaps rise as high as two-thirds.

"From one point of view, this means increasing Canadian dependence on the U.S. market. But it also means increasing U.S. dependence on Canadian sources of supply.

"Though there will in the future undoubtedly be periods of declining U.S. demand for Canadian products, it is most improbable that the United States will ever again, as she did in the early 1930s, find it possible almost to do without Canadian supplies of many basic commodities."

The mission, touring Columbo Plan countries, includes left to right: Rev. M. J. McKinnon, director of extension at St. Francis Xavier university, Antigonish, N.S.; Howard L. Trueman, director of administrative services, agriculture departmest, Ottawa; J. E. O'Meara, chief of the co-operatives branch of the federal agriculture department and R. H. Tremblay, chief inspector for credit unions in Quebec.

B.C. Election Seen In June

VICTORIA (CP)—Election banners are expected to be unfurled following a temporary flag of truce raised today over the British Columbia legislature.

The minority Social Credit government and the opposition which defeated it on the floor of the House Tuesday night will troop back into the legislature to vote money needed to carry on government and to pass bills which are free of controversy.

The House is expected to be busy with this legislation until Friday night. After that Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace must announce his decision on the courses which appear open to him.

Conceivably, he can ask CCF leader Harold Winch to form a government.

The other choice, and the one political observers feel is most likely, is for the lieutenant governor to grant Premier Bennett's wish that the legislature be dissolved and a new provincial election called. It probably would take place early in June.

Musical Ride Kept Winter Fair Feature

TORONTO (CP) — The Royal Agricultural Winter Fair this year will continue with such popular features as the RCMP musical ride, the national scholarship for young farmers and the auction sales of breeding stocks and will include a dog show for the first time since 1947.

The Royal, which held its annual meeting Wednesday, will open Nov. 13. The musical ride performance will be given by the same men who will escort Prime Minister St. Laurent in the Coronation parade and will later give another performance for Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Stewart G. Bennett of Georgetown was elected president and Stuart C. Bate vice - president. Thomas L. Kennedy, former Ontario minister of agriculture, was named a life director.

Presbytery Gives Approval To Organize Congregation

A new Presbyterian Congregation came automatically into existence Wednesday afternoon, March 25, by a "resolving motion" of the Presbytery of Peterborough. The people now meeting in the Confederation School and planning to build on Park Street South have the standing of a congregation. They will choose a name for their church and submit it to the Presbytery for approval. The "assessor session" already appointed by the Presbytery has been instructed to proceed to form a Communicants' Roll and an Adherents' Roll, its own session of elders, and to direct a canvass of the people interested in the new church.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's is Interim-Moderator of the new Session, pending the arrival of the Rev. Gilbert Smith from Ireland. Mr. Smith will conduct Easter Service in the new Peterborough Church and in Knox Presbyterian Church, Keene, as his first services in Canada and will assume full charge of the work upon arrival.

ASSEMBLY COMMISSIONERS

The Presbytery named commissioners to the General Assembly which will meet in Riverdale Presbyterian Church, Toronto, the first part of June. The Rev. Walter Patterson of Millbrook and the Rev. C. G. Boyd of Peterborough are the ministerial commissioners, and Mr. James Dutton of Peterborough and Mr. E. A. Hircock of Cobourg the elder commissioners, Mr. Hircock being an alternate should another elder qualify. If Mr. Boyd is not able to go, the Rev. Louis H. Fowler of Port Hope, Clerk of Presbytery, will take his commission.

The Rev. Harold Heustin of Millbrook is being sent by Presbytery to a meeting of Christian youth leaders and educational experts which will be held in Toronto on April 22. This meeting will be under the ausnices of the Assembly's Board of Christain Education.

Some mirth was provoked in Presbytery by a suggested overture from the Rev. L. H. Fowler that the Church change the word "Budget" for its missionary and other world-wide work to "The Family Fund" or "The Shepherd's Purse". Mr. Fowler was unable to get any supporter for his overture so it will not go to Assembly for the judgment of Canadian Presbyterians. Said he, "Budget is a cold, colourless word, reminiscent at its lowest level of high-pressure commercialism, at its highest of Mr. Abbott and his parliamentary budget, and has no place in the Church's appeal"—but the fathers and brethren of the Presbytery are leaving it stand.

Alberta Gives Liquor Laws Rough Handling

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Proposed liquor legislation for Alberta came in for some rough handling in the legislature Wednesday.

During a two-hour debate on the bill, members from all sides described it as driving drink underground, unenforceable, discriminatory, monopolistic, silly and tending to cause disrespect for laws.

The bill would extend the hours for drinking beer from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. and also compel parlors to have food for sale. It involves no major change in present laws, but is a revision of an act first passed nearly 30 years ago.

The Liberal and CCF opposition moved amendments to have the bill delayed.

PREPARE FOR ELECTION

Party leaders in British Columbia seem to be preparing for a provincial election, but the decision on whether to hold one still rests with Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace.

He can grant Premier Bennett's request for dissolution of the legislature and for a general election or ask CCF leader Harold Winch to form a government.

The premier's Social Credit government fell Tuesday after losing a 27 to 18 vote on a bill to change the system of financing education costs. The minority Social Credit party has 19 seats, CCF 18, Liberals six, Progressive Conservatives two and labor one. Two are vacant in the 48-seat legislature.

The Labor member said he will support a CCF administration, which would in that case have a voting strength of 19—the same as the Social Credit government. The lieutenant - governor's problem arises from this balance of strength.

Denial Of Free Speech Charged In Rail Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP)—A Progressive Conservative member accused the government majority on the Commons railway committee Wednesday of a "denial of free speech" in blocking full inquiry into the case of the Canadian National Railways' demoted hotel manager.

In a final thrust before the committee ended its annual study of CNR operations, J. M. Macdonnell (PC — Toronto Greenwood) said there had been "arbitrary and unfair use" of the party majority which violated "the simplest principle of justice."

For the previous two days, Mr. Macdonnell had led a losing fight to have the committee dig into the case of Robert Pitt, transferred by the CNR last fall from the managership of the Fort Garry Hotel in Winnipeg to the smaller Prince Edward in Brandon, Man.

SUGGESTED INTERFERENCE

Progressive Conservatives had suggested the demotion resulted from "political interference" following a visit to the Fort Garry last summer by a Liberal group headed by Prime Minister St. Laurent. This was denied by Donald Gordon, CNR president, and Transport Minister Chevrier.

Before Mr. Macdonnell threw in his parting jab Mr. Gordon in a general discussion on the relation of politics to CNR affairs said he has never seen political pressure exerted on the CNR.

"In my experience," he said, "I have had no example I could call political interference with the railway."

Urge Salsberg To Join Party

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost practically suggested Wednesday night that the Ontario legislature's one Communist member join one of three major parties in the legislature.

"A man with your talents and ability," he told J. B. Salsberg (Lab.-Prog.—Toronto St. Andrew) would be well employed in constructive effort in one of the three parties here."

He said Mr. Salsberg devoted his time to destructive criticism.

Mr. Salsberg said he appreciated the compliment but felt that continual criticism of government measures was necessary.

Magazine Names Winners In Annual Fishing Contest

NEW YORK (CP)—Field and Stream magazine today announced prize winners in the second section of its 1952 fishing contest.

One Canadian was named among the total of 160 prize winners and those getting honorable mention in 16 classes.

Frank Vie of (1618 8th ave.) Vancouver, won honorable mention with sixth place in the rainbow trout—western fly-casting division. His catch of 15 pounds one ounce was made Dec. 14 in the Allouette river, B.C., on a lioness wet fly.

The Allouette river was the only Canadian stream to offer a winner. The Atlantic off Wedgeport, N.S. provided most of the winners in the bluefin tuna class.

The magazine will announce next month winners of the third and last section of the annual contest.

The year's record catch in classes announced today:

Rainbow trout-fly-casting—16 lb. 10 oz., caught Jan. 12 by J. H. Whitesel, Skagit river, Wash., on a home-tied bucktail.

Rainbow trout open-western division—30 lb. 8 ox., caught Oct. 22 by Ken I. Evjen, in Lake Pond Oreille, Idaho, on an FST No. 3 spoon.

Bass, largemouth and spotted-northern division—11 lb. 1 oz., caught May 27 by Frank Bare, Germantown, O., in Dale Hollow reservoir, Ky., on a barracuda.

Bass, largemouth and spotted-southern division—14 lb. 4 oz., caught Nov. 27 by Lamar B. Josey, Ramey air force base, Puerto Rico, on a Paul Bunyan 66.

Bass, Florida, suwanee and spotter—17 lb., caught Oct. 8 by M. F. Joiner, Jacksonville, Fla., in Big Pee Gee lake, Fla., on a creek chub No. 2019.

Channel bass—60 lb., caught Nov. 11 by E. P. White, Buxton, N.C., at Cape Hatteras, N.C., on a cut mullet.

Striped bass—62 lb., caught Aug. 31 by Edward Myerson, Long Island, N.Y., in Vineyard Sound, Mass., on an eel skin.

Bonefish—13 lb. 13 oz., caught Feb. 5 by H. B. Powell, Jr., Devon, Pa., in Islamorada, Fla., on a live shrimp.

Blue marlin—559 lb. 8 oz., caught June 14 by Aksel Wichfeld, Palm Beach, Fla., at Bimini, Bahamas, on a bonefish.

White marlin—115 lb., caught July 26 by William R. Ellis, Chevy Chase, Md., at Ocean City, Md., on a bait.

Atlantic sailfish—98 lb. 4 oz., caught April 14, by Frank D. McCally, Wilmette, Ill., at Alligator Light, Fla., on a mullet.

Snook—43 lb., caught May 18 by Lee K. Spencer, West Palm Beach, Fla., in Lake Worth, Fla., on a live shrimp.

Tarpon—189 lb. 12 oz., caught Oct. 13 by A. D. Stenger, Austin, Tex., at Wedgeport, N.S., on a herring.

Weakfish—14 lb. 5 oz., caught May 10 by James de Tora, Camden, N.J., at Graveling Point, N.J., on an upperman and squid.

Spotted weakfish—12 lb. 2 oz., caught April 7 by David D. Miller, Eau Gallie, Fla., in Eau Gallie harbor, on a Shakespeare sea witch.

Declines Call To Big Church

LONDON, Ont.—The Rev. H. S. Rodney Wednesday declined a call to the largest Presbyterian church in Canada, to stay with his St. Thomas congregation.

When the call to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Windsor, was placed in his hands, Mr. Rodney covered his face momentarily to hide his sobs. Then in a voice broken with emotion he said:

"It is a great honor but. . . I can't leave the people of St. Thomas. I decline it."

Applause started spontaneously from the 50 members of Knox Church congregation present at the special London presbytery meeting in New St. James Presbyterian Church.

The call to the Windsor church bore the names of 1,582 members of the congregation, and 30 adherents.

TWICE-WEEKLY ATOMIC ENERGY —Less than a week after a test atom bomb was exploded at Yucca Flats, Nev., another familiar fir ball rises over the same proving ground. The Atomic Energy Commission was trying out fission again. The 1,300 troops huddled in foxholes in the area were reported uninjured.

New President Reorganizes Czech Cabinet

VIENNA (AP)—Czechoslovakia's new president Antonin Zapotocky reorganized the Communist cabinet Wednesday and appointed a new minister to run the country's slipping foundry and iron mining industries.

Radio Prague said the reorganization—not a major one — was made on the proposal of Premier Vilem Siroky, who took over office last week.

Zapotocky's main action was to appoint two new vice-premiers.

HAS POOR HEALTH

They are Oldrich Beran, a Communist leader from Prague and Rudolf Barak, a party chieftain from Brno.

Possibly more significant, however, was the announcement that Jan Bilek, minister of foundries and iron ore mining has been "relieved on his own request for reasons of health."

He was replaced by Josef Rejtmayer, former vice-chairman of the state planning office.

End 3-Hour Strike

NAPANEE (CP)—A three-hour strike by employees of the Napanee Iron Works plant here, members of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) ended Wednesday when the company agreed to union demands. The new contract provides the 45 employees with a five-cent-an-hour wage increase, six statutory holidays with pay and seniority rights.

Navigation Opens

OWEN SOUND (CP)—The Sir Thomas Shaughnessy opened the 1953 navigation season here Wednesday when she cleared for the Lakehead. The Shaughnessy, always one of the first lake freighters to clear from this harbor, is commanded by Capt. A. R. Irvine. The vessel is owned by the Mohawk Navigation Company Limited.

Legislature Passes Motion Of Regret

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature Wednesday passed a formal motion of sorrow and regret at the death of Queen Mary.

Addressed to Queen Elizabeth, the legislature resolved that "Your Majesty's most loyal and devoted subjects of the province of Ontario hereby express their regret to you" on the death of the Dowager Queen.

Premier Frost instructed that the address be suitably inscribed and forwarded to Queen Elizabeth.

Explain Brazil Engine

TORONTO (CP)—Note to persons living along the Toronto-London Canadian National Railways line: The Brazilian Railway hasn't taken over the CNR. That chocolate-colored diesel engine with "Brazilian Railways" painted on it you've seen lately is a new one being tested for export to Brazil.

Ask Commission Handle Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Irvin Ives (Rep. — N.Y.) introduced a resolution Wednesday whereby the Senate would urge President Eisenhower to refer the problem of abnormally high levels of boundary waters between the United States and Canada to the international joint commission.

Ives said the treaty between the United States and Great Britain relating to boundary waters (signed January, 1909) requested this commission to conduct investigations necessary to determine levels of the waters which will most equitably serve the rights, obligations and interests of the U.S. and Canada, particularly with respect to commerce, industry, navigation, and power development, agriculture, natural resources and residential use.

Also, he commented on his resolution that the treaty would submit to the governments of both countries plans for establishment of an international Great Lakes board of control to co-ordinate the actions and decisions of all boards of control so the water levels may be maintained at the most equitable levels.

New Ignition Experiment Tried

TORONTO (CP)—Experiments that may lead to a new ignition system for internal combustion engines were reported here Wednesday.

Dr. Gordon Patterson, director of the institute of aerophysics, University of Toronto, said that basically it is the use of shock waves instead of a spark to ignite fuel in combustion chambers. The university is co-operating with the Ford Motor Company of Detroit in experiments.

Dr. Patterson said if successful it would enable a car to run farther on a gallon of gasoline and might easily make it possible for cars to use fuels other than gasoline. It might also be adapted to plane turbo jet engines as well as to orthodox piston engines.

Magistrates Perform 3,051 Marriages

TORONTO (CP)—A total of 3,051 marriages have been performed in Ontario by magistrates and judges since the passage in 1950 of an amendment to the Marriage Act to permit civil marriages, Attorney-General Porter told the legislature Wednesday night). He was replying to a question by W. L. Houck (L—Niagara Falls).

This represents 3.3 per cent of the total of 102,724 marriages performed during that period. Percentages for the other provinces where civil marriages are permitted are: British Columbia 8.1 per cent; Alberta 6; Saskatchewan 4 and Manitoba 1.9.

Local Protests Ban

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Local 880, Teamsters, Mechanics, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers Union passed a resolution Wednesday protesting the ban against colored margarine. The resolution, which was forwarded to Donald Brown, Liberal member of Parliament for Essex West, said the law barring yellow coloring in margarine was "unfair and unnecessary" and asked for its repeal. The local has 2,000 members.

In Army Contingent

SARNIA (CP)—A Sarnia man, RQMS Robert C. Scott, has been selected to accompany the Canadian contingent representing the Canadian Army at the Coronation June 2, it was disclosed Wednesday. A member of the 31st Field Regiment RCA (reserve), he will be one of the 604 officers and men from active and reserve units across Canada to make the trip.

Charge Roomer With Arson

KITCHENER (CP) — Laverne Ouillette, formerly a roomer in a Queen St. South house here, was charged Wednesday with arson in three fires that occurred in the house earlier this month, police said.

Already in custody on a public mischief charge, Ouillette was an unwilling witness in an earlier trial when a fellow roomer, Lucie Leclerc, was freed on charges of setting two of the fires.

The two occurred March 4 in the room occupied by Leclerc and a third followed a few days later. Leclerc was in custody waiting trial at that time.

Gas Well Struck In Aylmer District

PORT BURWELL (CP)—A gas well with a flow estimated at 25,000 cubic feet a day has been struck on the farm of W. Royden Cathers, five miles west of here.

Drilling for water in the back yard of the farm home, Elmo Hoover, Aylmer district driller, struck the gas pocket at 300 feet. Flames shot six feet in the air in a night test.

Mr. Cathers, an Aylmer insurance agent, does not intend to make commercial use of the well and has had it capped.

INCREASE USE OF SCRAP

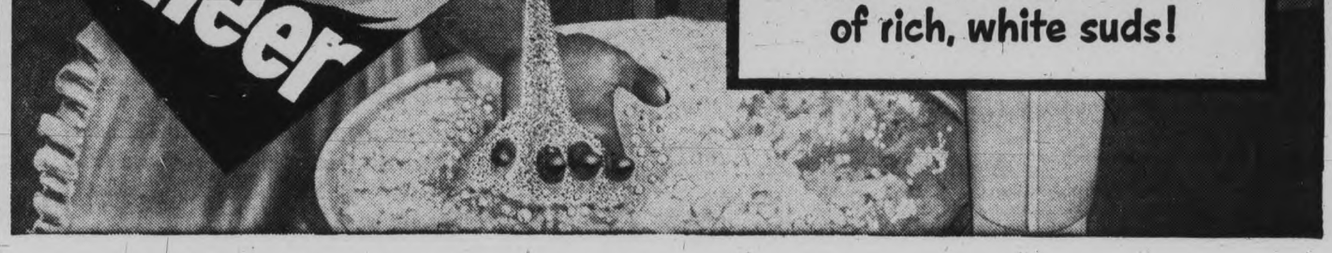
Canadian industry used 2,913,101 tons of scrap iron and steel in 1951, or nearly 200,000 tons more than in 1950.

Reuther, Aides Re-elected

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Walter P. Reuther and his three top aides in the CIO United Auto Workers were re-elected without opposition Wednesday—a far cry from the union's faction-battling early days.

Back into office with President Reuther went secretary-treasurer Emil Mazey and vice-presidents Richard T. Gosser and John W. Livingston.

Reuther's nomination to his fifth term touched off a 30-minute demonstration marked by parades and dancing in the aisles.



Plan School Broadcasts

TORONTO (CP)—Education Minister Dunlop announced Wednesday that a special series of pre-Coronation school broadcasts has been arranged for late April and May. Subject matter varies according to grades but will include a four-part series on past Queens and four programs on the meaning of the monarchy. There will also be two national network shows, one on Westminster abbey and another on the crowning of a Queen.

FLYING BOAT TO STRESS SPEED—Fastest flying boat in the 40-year history of water-based aviation is expected to be the Convair R3Y-1 "Tradewind", shown in artist's sketch above. Its top speed will be more than 350 miles per hour. The 80-ton transport, equipped with air conditioning and high altitude pressurizing systems, is the first water-based transport fitted with rearward-facing passenger seats. The plane is being tested at San Diego, Cal., and will be ready for trans-Pacific Navy service early in 1954.

House Expresses Sorrow At Dowager Queen's Death

OTTAWA (CP)—A solemn House of Commons Wednesday approved a formal expression of "deep and heartfelt sorrow" to Queen Elizabeth in the loss of her grandmother Dowager Queen Mary.

The leaders of the four political parties in the House paid oral tribute to the beloved Queen and then stood in silence for a moment with other members.

The "humble address" was passed with hushed unanimity and then sent to the Senate so it could become a joint message of condolence.

The Senate approved a similar message shortly after and stood a minute in silence.

At an earlier morning meeting, cabinet discussed the death of Queen Mary and is expected to declare a month-long period of mourning.

Mr. St. Laurent told members the loss of Queen Mary was "a personal loss to all Canadians and to all the Commonwealth. . . she won all our hearts. Her great charity and dignity will never be forgotten."

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Queen Mary "was very dear to the Royal Family and to all of us."

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said the death cuts the last royal tie with the Victorian era. The Queen had been revered as "a great lady, a wife, mother and Queen."

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, recalled meeting Queen Mary briefly in 1948 and being impressed with her warm humanity, the keenness of mind and regal bearing of a woman then 80 years old.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, March 26th — What a handsome couple you'll make in the Easter Parade this year! . . . You in your gay spring bonnet and hubby in a B.V.D. NYLON TRICOT SHIRT. Yes, B.V.D. Nylon Shirts always look neat and trim. Made of comfortable, good-looking nylon tricot—with fused nylon collars and cuffs that never wilt—B.V.D. Nylon Shirts stay handsome without ironing. Laundering's no problem at all—just a quick rinse—wait a while—and the shirt is ready to wear. You save the price of the shirt in laundry bills alone. Take my tip—get your husband a handsome, long-wearing B.V.D. Nylon Tricot Shirt for Easter ($12.95 in blue, tan, grey or white).

I've Often Wondered What Happened to that excellent poster—"Out of the Blue Comes the Whitest Wash". It may be out of use, but its message is still good. Yes, it's a simple matter to get sparkling white sheets, towels, pillow cases and table linen when you use Blue. When you're rinsing your wash to get the clothes clean, simply put a dash of Blue in the water—to get them really white. Blue is kind to your finest fabrics—you're not taking chances when you use it to get your washings snowy white. And the cost? . . . A few pennies a month, that's all. Yes, for the whitest wash, use RECKITT'S BLUE.

The Young Man in the high chair loves hot "Cream of Wheat" for breakfast. Specially when it's topped with tender, meaty raisins making a jolly raisin-face. Delicious! And hot CREAM OF WHEAT is so good for baby and the whole family. It contains iron for good red blood and calcium and phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. So give them all — toddlers and grownups — a quick start for the day. Treat them to hot "Cream of Wheat"! Be sure to ask for the package with the familiar trademark "Cream of Wheat" and the smiling chef — both trademarks of Cream of Wheat (Canada) Ltd. and Reg. Canadian and U.S.Pat.Off.

Here's Wonderful News for busy mothers and homemakers. After a day of vacuuming, dusting and keeping baby out of mischief, don't you often feel that dinner-to-get is just too much? Well, here's good news from Heinz famous kitchens. Heinz have a wonderful variety of thrifty, delicious; easy-to-prepare main-course dishes for you. In addition to their five kinds of Oven-Baked Beans, there are two kinds of HEINZ COOKED SPAGHETTI and two kinds of HEINZ COOKED MACARONI. Yes, there's a special, fast-cooking, good-tasting Heinz treat for any and every night of the week. Stock up now!

I'm Ready And Eager To Leave winter behind . . . and that includes heavy winter clothes. Don't you feel the same way? I'll wager you're busy right now, remodelling and making lovely, light-as-air dresses for spring and summer wear. So here's a tip — be sure to use LIGHTNING FASTENERS. They give the professional "finishing touch" to all the clothes you make. They fit so neatly, smoothly into dress seams. And you'll find just the size, length and colour of Lightning Fastener you want for every fashion-wise costume you make. Style No. 702 is just right for dresses and lightweight skirts. And remember, every Lightning you buy has Lightning's exclusive automatic lock. It never slips down.

It's A Pleasure! Dishes done, wink-quick, with those new detergents. . . . and hands soft and smooth, too, if you use JERGENS LOTION. It smooths and soothes hands roughened and dried by these new soaps. Because it's liquid, it quickly penetrates to supply the softening moisture that dry, thirsty skin needs. Keep a bottle of Jergens Lotion handy in both kitchen and bathroom. Make a hand-care habit of it — to keep your hands always soft, smooth and lovely, with that cared-for look that only Jergens can give them. Remember Jergens Lotion because you care for your hands. It's not expensive —just 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.15.

Wake Up to something new—and thrillingly good —in coffee! It's the NEW INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE... and, believe me, it's wonderful. First of all, it's 100% REAL COFFEE. You see, it's made by a new "Natural Flavour" process that keeps the flavour and aroma —yes, the very colour and texture of freshly ground coffee. And New Instant Chase & Sanborn is so convenient. It dissolves in a jiffy in hot or cold water . . . you'll hardly believe your eyes! M-mmm! Once you've tasted it, you'll make it your every-meal, every-occasion coffee. Incidentally, it's wonderfully economical. Saves me up to 40c a pound compared with regular coffee!

I Could Hardly Believe My Ears when I first heard about FRENCH'S INSTANT POTATO . . . but it's true—it takes just one minute to prepare creamy-smooth, delicious mashed potatoes with French's Instant Potato. There's no washing — no peeling — no cooking — no mashing. All you do is follow the directions on the package. Every package contains ten servings—the last as sweet and fresh-tasting as the first. And so economical!—there's no waste when you measure out the servings according to directions. You'll really have to try this "miracle" food for yourself. Ask your grocer for French's Instant Potato next time you're shopping.

Did You Know that you can buy bathroom tissue in dainty pastel tints to harmonize with the color scheme of your bathroom? Where I buy it, I'm told that many women buy NANCY tissue the first time because they like the idea of a colored tissue . . . but what brings them back time after time is Nancy quality. Though quite modestly priced it really is a deluxe tissue. The label tells you that it is made from the same fine quality tissue as Face-Elle and I can believe that, because Nancy is far softer than any ordinary tissue. It is a 3-ply tissue well-perforated for tearing easily with no straggly ends. A good many drug and some grocery stores carry Nancy, but if you have difficulty getting it in your neighborhood, just write me for where-to-buy information. Address—Barbara Brent, 1481 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

Begin New Debate Round On Gov't Emergency Power

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons today will start another round of debate on renewal for another year of the emergency power the government can use without reference to Parliament.

A government move to renew the Emergency Powers Act for another year—from next May 31 to May 31, 1954—has been before the House for more than a month. Wednesday the opposition withheld further delay at this time on the resolution stage and the extending bill was introduced and given first reading.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, indicated, however, that his party is still opposed and will have more to say on second reading of the bill. The CCF and Social Credit parties also are opposed to extending the act, claiming it usurps powers that belong to Parliament and is not necessary in peacetime.

SUING CROWN

The Commons spent most of Wednesday's half-day session discussing a government measure to extend the right of citizens to sue the Crown beyond the present limitations of bringing an action in the exchequer court on the grounds of negligence.

The measure would place the Crown in the same position as private persons concerning liability for breaches committed by servants of the Crown; for cases involving breach of duty with respect to ownership, possession, occupation or control of property; for damages caused by federal motor cars and for civil salvage.

John Diefenbaker, Progressive member for Lake Centre and a Saskatchewan lawyer, urged that federal liability be extended to include victims of miscarriages of justice in provincial courts.

Justice Minister Garson said the federal government could not be responsible in such cases. The provinces had jurisdiction over their own courts and any provision for recourse must be made by the provinces themselves.

Mr. Diefenbaker welcomed the extension of federal liability but said it should allow claimants to take all their cases to the provincial courts. The bill provides that only those cases where claims are under $1,000 shall be heard in provincial courts. Others go to the Exchequer Court of Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker mentioned two Northern Ontario men sentenced to death for murder and later freed by the Ontario Appeal Court on the ground there was no case against them. Persons such as these, who suffered the agony of coming close to the gallows, should have recourse to the Crown.

The federal government should be responsible. It appointed the judges who tried such cases Parliament should make a provision that there could be recourse to the federal government.

John Dickey, parliamentary assistant to Defence Production Minister Howe, said Mr. Diefenbaker was asking the federal government to underwrite provincial liability in administration of justice. In the case of the two Northern Ontario men they had been convicted by a jury, not a judge.

NO REFLECTION

Mr. Diefenbaker interjected that "the judge didn't realize there was no case and left a non-existent case to the jury." That was no reflection on the judge because judges were only human and sometimes erred like everyone else.

Mr. Garson said provincial courts were under provincial jurisdiction. Cases in those courts were generally launched by provincial or municipal officers, though in cases where the RCMP launched prosecution on behalf of the Dominion there would be no question of federal liability in case of a miscarriage of justice.

But, said the minister, it would not make for federal-provincial harmony if the federal government investigated the handling of a particular case with a view to reimbursing a wronged person. That was a provincial responsibility.

Hospital At Kingston Gets $16,000 Grant

KINGSTON (CP) — A $16,100 grant from the Atkinson Charitable Foundation was announced today by Arthur L. Davies, chairman of the board of governors of Kingston General Hospital.

The grant will be used to establish a social service unit at the hospital. Spread over a two-year period, the grant will enable a start on rehabilitation of many indigent and public ward patients.

The unit will provide home care for invalid housewives, arrange for education of crippled children, and provide vocational training for disabled persons.

It will also act as a link with voluntary service organizations, and medical specialists such as psychiatrists and physical and occupational therapists.

Canadians At Taxco Mine Prove Hospitable Hosts

By JEAN E. STENTON

TAXCO. — Two Northern Ontario men who attended the same school in Timmins and worked in the Hollinger mines in 1939, are in Taxco with the American Smelting and Refining Company.

• • • •

Walter Kenty, son of Mrs. Aurelia Kenty of Mattagime Heights, Timmins, and George Percival of Schumacher, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Townsend, 587 Chamberlain St., Peterborough, and a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, met in Mexico again about two years ago. Kenty is a mine foreman in charge of 210 men and Percival is a mine shift boss. The latter replaces mine foremen and superintendents in different units.

• • • •

While in Ontario, Kenty worked 11½ years for McIntyre Mines and 2½ years for Hollinger. He and his wife had their things all packed ready to move to a new job when they got a wire from Mexico ordering them to report for work at the mine there immediately. So they came to Mexico. Kenty has a brother at another mine in this country and his mother is visiting him.

• • • •

Percival graduated from Queen's in engineering, did military service in the war and then spent 13/4 years in Peru. He and his wife couldn't stand the altitude there, which is 15,000 feet. But he had learned the language and they decided to stay in Latin America. It was only after he arrived in Taxco and met the other Canadians that he found Kenty.

• • • •

SMALL CANADIAN COLONY

There is a small Canadian colony associated with the mines there. Included are: William Snow, geologist from Vancouver; Keith Croteau, master mechanic from London, Ont. He married the local school teacher, an English girl. Then there is Lou Manning from British Columbia. He is a shift boss at Minas de Guerrero and his uncle is the manager of the Bralorne mines in B.C.; Tom Osborne is from Winnipeg, a graduate of the University of Manitoba and a geologist. His 65-year-old parents are coming by bus to see him. He used to work in Sudbury at International Nickel. There is also a North Bay girl, who married a Mexican artist, Janet Domingos.

• • • •

During his time at Hollinger, Mr. Kenty instituted industrial relations with DP workers in the mine—i.e., instead of firing them, shifting them from one job to another to try and develop their talents. In Taxco there are four mines and he visits them every day. Some days he tours everything thoroughly, others he just checks certain points.

• • • •

Mexicans nickname their bosses very quickly and Mr. Kenty is called "the grasshopper," quite a compliment because they say he is "the little man who is popping up all over." One of the foremen is called "the baboon," and it was only after Kenty had watched him for some time that he realized it was because of the way the man walked. No one has found out Percival's name yet.

• • • •

Kenty's job is working on a tunnel to Jesus mine which will cut costs by two-thirds. This tunnel will be 1,900 metres long.

• • • •

There are four mines in operation at Taxco under this company. They are Pedregal, Jesus, Cenicero and Minas de Guerrero. There are three shifts in three workings and one shift in one. The men are fair workers, the Canadians say. They are paid 10 pesos a day for seven days though they only work six. An average Mexican construction worker earns 7 pesos. There is a lot of absenteeism and it is a rare thing to have more than 65 percent of a crew on the job.

• • • •

SAVE VERY LITTLE

"Money doesn't mean too much to the miners," the two men said.. "They like a good time and getting drunk. There is little day-by-day incentive and they love fiestas. Out of 1,000 miners there are only 15 who have more than 1,500 pesos in the compulsory savings after an average of six years. The men are permitted to draw it out at any time. When they lose a day through sickness they receive 75 percent of their pay and for accidents, 100 percent.

• • • •

The company has a most up-to-date hospital at the mines. There are three doctors and they do 24-hour duty. Of two nurses, one is always on call. The company also gives the miners so much money for sports and donates lumber for fiestas. They have a sports field, 1,500 feet square. The men are paid weekly and their bonus is on a weekly system, too.

• • • •

There is a closed shop at the mine and they can't fire a man until there is an investigation. When there is an accident the steward, the union president and the union safety committee (3) sit in on an inquiry.

• • • •

DON'T VALUE EQUIPMENT

"The American Smelting Company provides safety equipment but we have an awful time making the men use it," Mr. Kenty told me. "Most of the miners wear huaraches and it is not compulsory to buy shoes although there is a 10 percent discount. About 50 percent of the men take advantage of the offer. But they are not for mining. They either save them for Sunday or sell them at a fat profit. The company provides carbide lamps, but these are mostly sold and the men can't have another one for a year and they must turn in the old one. Gloves are also supplied on special jobs."

PETERBOROUGH'S OLDEST HOUSE, made of materials other than timber or logs, "Cordach" is being torn down to make way for a new housing development on Park St., north of McDonnel St.
—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Sen. Duffus Says Tourist Industry To Double Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator J. J. Duffus, Peterborough, said in the Senate Wednesday that he believes Canada's multi-million-dollar tourist industry will double in the next two or three years.

Senator Duffus, honorary president of the Ontario Tourist Association, said during a continuing debate of the tourist trade that Ontario's tourist facilities soon will be taxed to the limit.

"It is my conviction that with the improvement of highways, the unprecedented expansion in our Canadian economy and prosperity generally in both Canada and the United States, Ontario will be crowded with tourists to an extent which will tax our accommodation to the limit.

"In my belief, our tourist trade will double in the next two or three years."

Campaign Starts To Rebuild Norwood Church

Campaign for funds to rebuild Norwood United Church has started.

For 60 years a landmark in the village, the limestone church was almost totally destroyed by fire March 15. Church board members estimate that $70,000 will be needed to rebuild it, and that amount is the target of the campaign.

Already, said the Rev. Harold K. Wright, cash donations have been received from former members of the congregation now living as far off as Toronto and as close as Havelock.

Two Peterborough church groups will stage plays in Norwood in the near future. Proceeds from this entertainment are pledged to the rebuilding fund. Grace United and George St. United Churches are the two city organizations concerned.

ROUGH PLAN

Within a week, a rough plan of the new church will be placed before the board for approval, and construction will start as soon as possible.

At present volunteer workers are working on demolition and clearing up of the ruins. Parts of all four walls still stand, but three—both sides and the front—will be taken down altogether, and the stone cleaned for use in the rebuilding.

The rear wall—once the back wall of the Sunday school—will be used as a starting point for the reconstruction. The church will be rebuilt along Gothic lines.

This Saturday the demolition crew will begin tearing down the tower, a distinctive feature of the old church.

Plans at present are to reverse the seating of the congregation and to hold Sunday school in the basement. Formerly the pulpit was at the front of the church and the members faced the street entrances. In the new church the pulpit will be at the rear and the congregation will face away from the street.

First House Of Stone In City Torn Down For Subdivision

Although an historic link with Peterborough's past is disappearing, its name will be perpetuated in the street which will be built to give access to 29 new houses on the site of one of the city's best-known landmarks. "Cordach," said to have been the first house in Peterborough constructed of materials other than logs or lumber, is being torn down to make room for a new housing development to meet the needs of the city's expanding population.

The property known as the G. Walter Green estate on the west side of Park St. north of McDonnel St. was recently purchased by Schneider-Alexander Ltd., one of the city's most extensive property owners. It is planned to subdivide the land into 29 good-sized building lots.

The development has necessitated the purchase of adjoining property on the north and south sides so that a street may be put through from Park St. to Bonaccord St. The new thoroughfare will be named Cordach St. after the old stone house which is now being dismantled.

READY IN SUMMER

New-type bungalows and modern 1½-storey houses are planned and it is expected that between 20 and 25 reasonably-priced homes will be available this summer. The real estate firm of Mason and Rishor is handling the project.

Cordach, known to many residents as "the old Presbyterian manse," was built almost 120 years ago as a dwelling for the Rev. John Morrice Roger, MA, a young missionary from Scotland who became the first Presbyterian minister in Peterborough.

His forbears were ministers in Kincardine-O'Neil, 30 miles up the river Dee from Aberdeen. Eight years before he arrived in Peterborough there were fewer than 500 settlers living in the area north of Rice Lake.

In 1825 the population was largely increased by the Peter Robinson immigration and soon Peterborough was developing from a hamlet to a promising town on the Otonabee River. In 1835 an order-in-council was passed granting to the Church of Scotland in Peterborough certain lots now occupied by St. Andrew's Church.

Before leaving Scotland, Mr. Roger had become engaged to his cousin, Elizabeth Morris of Aberdeen. Probably in 1834, he bought the block of land in what is now the west end of the city. When the house was completed in the following year he sent for his fiancee and the couple were married in New York.

BOUGHT LARGE BLOCK

Mr. Roger had purchased the entire block of woods long since defined by Monaghan Rd., McDonnel and Park Sts. and Parkhill Rd. The creek from Jackson Park flowed through it and the land rose from the stream to the east in a long gentle slope at the top of which the house was built and named "Cordach" after a favorite wood in the vicinity of Aberdeen.

Set well back on the lot, the house was framed with limestone from the nearby quarry alongside Parkhill Rd. at Jackson Park. For almost a century it was a local showplace with a beautiful orchard and flower beds in front.

The front door opened on to the second floor of the house which was a few steps above the level

CGE Sales Hit Record Level Of $154 Million

The CGE reported in their annual statement for the year 1952 that annual sales amounted to $154.4 million, a record level for the seventh consecutive year.

H. M. Turner, president of the company, commented on the fact that this trend has continued since 1933, almost without interruption. But net earnings have not been so consistent In 1952 they slipped to $7.1 million compared to the 1951 record of $7.8 millions.

Sales in 1952 were highlighted by a bigger demand for home appliances and by the stiffening of competition from abroad in the heavy apparatus field. Lower labor rates in European countries made their goods cheaper and caused further competition.

CONTINUE EXPANSION

The increase in competition has pointed out the necessity for the continuation of the expansion program that was started before the war. Last year's taxes totalled $17.4 million and the company spent $7.4 million on new equipment and other facilities.

Continued expansion is necessary said Mr. Turner if the CGE is to fulfill its primary function as one of the major electrical houses to supply the Canadian industrial and consumers markets. Over the period of the next ten years Canadian utilities will double their present installed generating capacity.

CARS COLLIDE IN KEENE

The right rear fender of a car driven by the Rev. H. B. Herrington, Keene, was badly crumpled when it was in collision with a car driven by M. Maloney, RR 3, Keene, as the Maloney car backed out from a parking spot on Keene's main street Wednesday afternoon.

County Needs $310,541, Highest Yet

Requires Tax Rate Of 18.914 Mills Surplus Reported

Peterborough County Council must raise $310,541.43 to meet their commitments during 1953, an all-time high for the county but only $724.15 more than last year. The levy will be 18.914 mills, an increase of .729 mills.

A bright spot in this year's budget is that county council had a current surplus of $3,470.13. At the beginning of 1952 they were budgeting to retire a $19,000 deficit—$12,100 on roads and bridges and $6,900 on the current account.

Mounting costs however have prevented the budget from being lowered. In the administration o- justice and jail accounts alone the increased estimated expenditure this year is $7,850.

Another blow to the ratepayers is the annexation by the City of Peterborough of 1,200 acres of rich Smith Township farmland, reducing the equalized assessment for the county by $435,120.

Here is a summary of the rates during the past two years:

1952—18.185 mills on an equalized assessment of $13,930,459.

1953—18.914 mills on an equalized assessment of $14,203,018 (this includes the loss of $435,120 in equalized assessment caused by the annexation).

NOT IN ROADS SYSTEM

For general purposes a mill raises $14,203 this year, but as the four northern townships of Burleigh - Anstruther, Chandos, Harvey and Galway-Cavendish are not in the county roads system, a mill for county roads purposes raises $12,988. These four townships, however, do contribute toward the upkeep of county bridges.

On county roads the estimated expenditure is $271,930.28 and the estimated revenue $172,100. This leaves a total of $99,830.28 to be raised by levy on the county ratepayers.

This year county council raised their appropriation for county roads from $225,000 to $235,000, an increase of $10,000. At the same time they reduced the rate by half a mill. When the appropriation was decided on in January, County Road Engineer Jack Kean said he had hoped to cut the rate another quarter of a mill but the loss of $435,120 in equalized assessment in Smith prevented this further reduction.

The total expenditure of $235,000 includes money raised by levy (the $99,830.28 in this year's estimates), by debentures and by Department of Highways subsidy. The department gives a 50 percent subsidy on approved expenditures on county roads and 80 percent on county bridges.

A summary of the estimates approved Wednesday follows:

		mills
Roads	$ 94,149.10	7.500
Bridges	4,681.27	.400
Debentures—
Civic Hospital	10,051.99	.707
Chemong Causeway	7,493.25
Norwood High School	29,981.70	.527
Lakefield High School	25,369.30
Education	12.282.35
Hospital Deficits	22,846.34	1.608
General	102,585.39	8.172
	$310,541.43	18.914

In 1952 the levy was $309,817 and the rate was 18.185 mills.

$100,000 Sewers

City Engineer Chalmers outlined to the board of works this week detail of the route of the proposed main sewer on the west side of the city, particularly in its course south of Lansdowne St. Cost north of Clonsilla Ave. is estimated at $30,740 and to the south, including Western Ave., Erskine Ave., Lansdowne and other streets, $68,954. Estimated cost of the entire project on that basis is approximately $100,000.

Pensions Help At County Home, Costs Cut $3

The average weekly cost of keeping a resident at the County Old People's Home, Lakefield, has been cut by $3. Extra revenue from residents who are now able to get the Old Age Pension without the means test made the big difference during the past year.

In 1951 the weekly cost of keeping a person at the county home was $9.52; last year this was cut to $6.52.

The cost per resident is computed by dividing the difference between receipts and disbursements by the total number of inmate days. Receipts during 1952 were $8,356 ($2,356.32 more than was estimated) and disbursements were $15,157.56 ($657.56 more than was estimated..

Nineteen were living in the home at the end of 1951 and there were also 19 at the end of 1952. During the 12 months two had been admitted; one was discharged or left; one was re-admitted; and one died.

Receipts were: sale of produce $1,617.39, old age pensions $4,480, war veterans' allowances $954.82, private boarding inmates $1,242.20, and miscellaneous $61.91. In 1951 pensions totalled $3,516.51 as compared with $5,434 in 1952.

PROVISIONS

Disbursements during the year at the county home were: meat $719.99, groceries and provisions $2,408.78, bread and flour $553.76, drugs $73.35, fuel $955.20, shoes 29.64, clothing $284.66, house furnishings $348.91, insurance $298, light and power $414.04, tobacco $116.15, farm stock and feed etc. $1,571.19, ordinary repairs $2,326.87, inmates old age pensions—returned $691.10; salaries: superintendent and matron and car allowance $2,146, physician's salary $250, house staff $1,122.94, miscellaneous $846.98.

Deputy-Reeve Dave McIntyre of Otonabee Township said that a major project during the year was putting a roof on the home at a cost of $1,600.

The report of the last grand jury was read and referred to the various committees. County Clerk Mrs. J. A. Spurway said that the home had a wheel chair and a stretcher. The grand jury didn't even ask to see the stretcher while making their inspection, she said, and the wheel chair is not much use because it cannot be brought up and down stairs.

McGinness Buys Land For New Plant

Expect To Build In May On 40 Acres In Otonabee Twp.

H. B. McGinness confirmed today reports of his purchase of the Hugh Stewart property on No. 7 Highway opposite Club Aragon, for expansion of his industry in the manufacture of cabins and commercial trailers.

This site comprises 40 acres on the south side of the highway, immediately east of the Belleville line of the CNR.

"We expect to break ground early in May," Mr. McGinness said. "We haven't yet completed plans for our new plant. At present we are assembling ideas that have been adopted elsewhere, particularly in the United States, and will incorporate some of them with our own in the final layout."

"We have a staff of 50 now, and in the new location we expect to employ between 70 and 100."

The McGinness industry is acquiring ample room for its future in its new property which is likely to be annexed from Otonabee Township.

NEED ROOM

The business has developed in production to the point where more room became a necessity. Prospective sites in the vicinity of Peterborough were considered during the winter. Purchase of the Stewart acres on the highway east of Downer's Corners was decided on account of satisfactory soil conditions, its level surface, proximity to the CNR and provincial highway frontage. It is also close to the city and the expanding community at the south east entrance.

Details of the plans of the plant that is to be erected are not yet available.

RICE LAKE ICE OUT

The ice went out of Rice Lake early Wednesday evening. Older residents of the district say it is the earliest breakup in many years.

The Movie Column

Marlon Brando's Sister Comes To Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) Another Brando has come to Hollywood. This one is neat, articulate, and pretty, too.

Her name is Jocelyn Brando, and she's the sister of the much-publicized Marlon. Here for her first movie role, as Glenn Ford's murdered wife in "The Big Heat," she has firm words in defence of her brother.

"Marlon is a fine actor and a very interesting person," she remarked between movie scenes. "I would like him as a good friend, even if he weren't my brother. As a matter of fact, we are good friends.

"That's why I get so mad at some of the things I read about him. His clothes, for example. He's not as sloppy as he is made out to be.

DRESSES BETTER

"Since he has become a star, he dresses much better."

After a shaky start, Miss Brando is beginning to like the experience of making movies. She was the first in the family to go on the stage, Marlon following her example when his attempts at schooling and other work failed. Her first job was in a show called "The Crosus," which lasted all of a week on Broadway.

Her first lengthy run was in "Claudia," but the engagement had its drawbacks. She was understudy to Dorothy McGuire, and the star was blessed with unfailing health.

Jocelyn finally got a chance to go onstage, but not to replace Miss McGuire. Frances Starr, playing the mother role, fell ill. The actress playing the sister took over, and Jocelyn portrayed the sister. Jocelyn was about a foot shorter than the actress she replaced, and Miss McGuire giggled because of it all through the performance.

Miss Brando's next big part was as the nurse, the only woman in "Mister Roberts." She said she didn't seem too out of place, since the stage manager and the goat in the show were also female.

Woman 100 Sets Record At Hospital

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Marie Nault has set something of a record at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Last Saturday she fell and broke her hip.

Sunday she underwent an operation for the placement of a metal plate and nail to hold the ends of the fracture together.

Wednesday she was reported making a good recovery from the operation. Doctors said they believe she has a good chance of walking again.

Mrs. Nault is 100 years old.

Mrs. Charles Crandall Dies In Florida

MONTREAL (CP)—Word was received here of the death Wednesday at Sarasota, Fla., of Mrs. Maude Crandall, wife of Charles F. Crandall, Canadian newspaper man. She was in her 77th year.

Mr. Crandall retired some years ago as president of British United Press and now lives in Florida.

Mrs. Crandall, long a resident of Montreal, became ill a few weeks ago.

Reject Liquor Outlets

RODNEY, Ont. (CP)—Residents of this village went to the polls Wednesday and defeated, by a narrow margin, a liquor plebiscite which would have authorized establishment of either or both a government liquor store and a brewers' retail warehouse outlet.

Former Bursar Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Elliot Grassett Strathy, 66, former secretary and bursar of Trinity College, died Wednesday night a few hours after suffering a stroke. A native of Barrie, he was appointed secretary and bursar of the institution in 1937 after spending many years in the business field.

Noted Farmer P. Porter Dies

BRANTFORD (CP)—One of Brant county's best-known citizens, Peter Porter, died here Wednesday, aged 77. One of the original members of the United Farmers of Ontario, he was one of the group who first interested Harry C. Nixon in seeking election as MLA for Brant in 1919.

Born in Townsend township, Norfolk county, Mr. Porter came to the Burford district of Brant county as a young man, and farmed there most of his life. He moved to Brantford eight years ago.

He organized the Burford Bluebirds girls' softball team and led it to many championships.

Leger Sends Regrets

MONTREAL (CP) — Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger has sent to Queen Elizabeth a cable of "cordial sympathy and sincere condolence" in the death of Queen Mary. He extended "prayerful thoughts in your great loss and deep sorrow."

Price Discrimination Inquiries Conducted

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Garson said Wednesday the combines commissioner is conducting inquiries into possible discrimination in prices with respect to the marketing of a number of products, including cigarettes.

The minister told the Commons that these investigations include situations which have developed in Winnipeg and Vancouver concerning the sale of cigarettes.

But as to whether the combines commissioner is investigating any particular industry, Mr. Garson said he could not disclose that information in advance of any combines report that may be made.

THE SUIT YOU WEAR this spring may be boxy, fitted or tapered. Shown here is a golden-rod tweed cardigan (left) suit with yellow striped scarf. Unwaisted, the jacket fits snugly at the hipline and buttons closely down the front. The fitted suit (right) is in grey haze tweed and with vanishing collar. Sleeves are a new and becoming length. It's worn with blue puckered silk blouse and scarf. Both suits are soft and feminine in feeling.

Spring's Suit Collarless But It Is Not Extreme

The collarless suit, most often with a cardigan neckline, is the big suit for Spring. It's a suit that's both different and feminine, bearing out the softness that characterizes all Spring ready-to-wear.

The suit, be it fitted, tapered or boxy, is not extreme. Newness and freshness spring from detailing rather than startling silhouette.

The boxy suit jacket suggests the ensemble and many designers team this jacket with its own blouse or weskit.

Collarless, understated suits make proper backgrounds for whopipng big stoles. These are often worn looped about the neck, one or both ends trailing down the back.

Silhouette-wise, the semi-fitted suit is important this Spring. It stands away from the body and takes form despite the fact that it is not waisted. Far more form-fitting than the boxy jacket but quite unlike the fitted jacket, it takes a line that's somewhere between.

The belted suit has been with us for many seasons in some form but usually, in the minority. This Spring, there are more of these to add variety to suit fashions. The belt may go entirely around or it may simply nip in a jacket at the sides, briefly but effectively. This creates a very soft blousing.

The tapered suit is significant because it's likely to have wide appeal. It's snug at the hip and easy above. It teams most often with a collarless neckline and is shown, like nearly all other Spring suits, with the straight and skinny skirt. These narrow skirts are eased for walking by a single back kick pleat or box pleating in a cluster.

There's color emphasis on the blue tones and natural beiges. Navy, of course, gets a big play and so do the soft, pale grays, pinks and the creamy whites.

Fashions Follow Straight Path In Slim Variations

Fashion will follow the straight and narrow path this spring with countless variations of the "slim look" carried out in coats, suits, dresses, ensembles and even evening wear. Elegant and new-looking, the elongated line of Fashion calls for a new approach to the woman's wardrobe, as well as her accessories.

The very excitement of fashion is to be found in "change." Just as everything else in the woman's world changes constantly in evolution, so is the conception of taste and design.

The natural changes in fashion have always been centred around the triangle, the basis of all style. Just as the years have brought the narrow-topped triangle, or pyramid, into the fashion news, the latest and most exciting change is now that same triangle with the narrowness at the bottom.

Emphasis is on the wider shoulder line, narrowing to a confined hemline, such as in the newest coats and suits. The shoulder accent is achieved softly and subtly, with details such as the stole effect and easy draping rather than the bulky padded look. The wrap coat often has a suggestion of a cape at the shoulders, or dropped sleeves, while the skirt is very slim with not a trace of width.

The box suit, an extremely important fashion for spring, also carries out the new line, with emphasis on the jacket rather than the skirt. While the new jackets are narrow and styled with a minimum of fitting at the waist, they offer a slightly wider and looser effect to offset the reed-slim skirt.

SUITS IN VARIETY

Suit jackets will be found in a multitude of styles, from the long and straight "walking suit" jacket to the abbreviated style that halts abruptly just above the waistline. Cut-aways and tuxedo styles offer a softer approach to the slim fashions, and make a pretty display of the new decorative weskits.

Frothy, feminine blouses also will star as light touches under these suit fashions, especially with the cardigan-styled jackets.

The stole emerges as top fashion this spring, either as a separate accessory, incorporated into the ensemble, or suggested by means of draping and stitching at the shoulder. Seaming provides the bulk of fashion detail, criss-crossing or winding round the front and back of coats and suits.

An linings often are co-ordinated in prints to match blouses, or in solid colors to pick up the predominant matching print dress or blouse.

Dresses are soft and fluid, in rich fabrics that drape well. The empire waistline still figures as an important influence, but skirts are generally on the slim side. Often a skirt will look narrow, but in motion will disclose floating panels or concealed pleating, to give a decidedly feminine effect.

ENSEMBLES POPULAR

The ensemble idea will be most popular this season, in the guise of either suits or dresses. Practical as well as wearable, the ensemble offers a multi-purpose wardrobe for day into evening wear.

Fabrics stand out as an important and very individual approach to fashion. Textured surfaces are lighter and airier looking for spring, including the bubble-light poodle cloths, whisper-weight fleeces, and frosty-hued zibellines. Hard-surface fabrics such as gabardines are making a successful play for recignition in coats, suits and ensembles, and silks and linens take the honors for casual as well as dress-up wear.

In colors, the white-frosted tones will be seen everywhere, as well as spring pastels. The big news is the strong emergence of beige as a go-with-everything neutral. The beige family is seen in shades from pale ivory to golden caramel to dull bark tones. Navy is, as always, a definite fashion color for spring, basic and flattering.

ACCESSORIES IMPORTANT

The accessories a woman wears this spring will be a main feature in her wardrobe plans.

Pretty gloves in varying lengths will take over where the sleeves leave off, and neat but feminine hats will top her every costume.

Large hankies, oversized roses, and smooth leather handbags complete the fashion picture for spring 1953.

Great Variety Of Color Found In Shoe Styles

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — London previews of summer shoe styles make Cinderella's glass slipper seem dull.

British manufacturers, usually conservative in production of colored footwear, have let loose with a riot of color, sparkling trimmings and interesting innovations.

Maybe the provincial housewives won't be too eager to buy black suede sandals with bird-cage heels, but this style should be popular with overseas visitors and smart women for restaurant wear. Comprised of slim black straps, the sandal has a heel of vertical gold or silver bars.

SMART SANDALS

Evening and daytime sandals both show a trend to finer straps, and backless mules are popular for evening wear. One number in gilt and royal red velvet with "wide-open" toe—at least two inches of toe is uncovered by the shoes—would look well under Coronation robes. It is doubtful whether this backless shoe would be comfortable for long wear in Westminster Abbey.

But these and other gold and velvet shoes are expected to be popular for wear at the balls and parties to which many Coronation dresses will later be worn.

Designers have also catered for women who will not be present in the abbey, but still want something special for wear at stances along the route the Queen will follow in her drive from and to Buckingham Palace.

For comfort there are calf street sandals in sharp colors such as "Glamis purple" and "Sandringham tangerine." Rayon fabric sandals with white broderie Anglaise decoration come in soft pastels with matching handbags. Italian influence can be seen in smart little "flatties," such as a pink suede design with two straps across the toes and one strap circling the ankle in eastern style.

These also come in cardinal-red kid and both sandals are decorated in white rhinestones. Simple velvet ballet pumps dazzle the eye with hand-sewn rainbow jewels. In white decorated with pearls and diamante, these pumps are an up-to-date choice for Easter brides.

Summer styles this year are slender, gay and light in color. The least that can hold the shoe to the foot seems to be the aim. This trend, however, is not popular with Alice Buxton, British footwear expert. If Mrs. Buxton had her way, shops selling such shoes to 'teen-agers would be fined.

Choral Club Anniversary

MARMORA (ENS) — The Glee Club of St. Andrew's United Church held its seventh anniversary meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. R. Wells.

A solo was sung by Mrs. E. C. Prentice. Mrs. Charles Sopha gave a reading, followed by two short readings by Mrs. T. E. Potts, Mrs. F. R. Wells and Mrs. E. C. Prentice sang a duet. Mrs. Wells also gave a reading.

The election of officers resulted in the re-election of Mrs. A. Lowery as president and Mrs. C. Sopha as secretary-treasurer.

Ensemble Theme Followed For Every Age And Size

One of the most important ideas in spring fashion is the practical and wearable ensemble theme, ideal for every age and size group, and equally suited to day or evening wear. For unlimited wardrobe variety the ensemble takes the honors this season.

The suit with matching blouse is one example, often combining a wool or linen skirt and jacket with a print or solid silk, cotton or jersey blouse. The lining of the jacket is color-co-ordinated to match the blouse and gives a "made to order" look to the costume.

The stole makes an ensemble too, combined with a suit or dress. Fashioned in matching or contrasting fabrics, often heavily trimmed with fringe, or lined in a luxurious fabric, the stole doubles as a cool weather shrug jacket with other dresses. In poncho, toga or capelet versions, the stole provides an elegant addition to every woman's Spring wardrobe.

Matching coats and dresses team up for the costume look usually featuring a solid coat with print lining and print dress, or a tweed coat with solid lining and matching dress. Long, boxy jackets top their own dresses too, and a great many dress-suits will be seen with little fitted jackets covering a ready-for-evening camisole or halter top.

For cocktail wear, the jeweled suit shows up with its own matching blouse, often with a gracefully pleated skirt. Rayons and slubbed silks are prominent in these dressmaker styles. And the nubby tweed walking suit shows an unexpectedly feminine side when its watercolor-hued silk blouse is displayed.

THIS SPRING, the scarf is an accessory that may range in size from a tiny tie to an ell-enfolding stole. We show here a series designed by Vera to spice suits and dresses or to act as daytime and evening wraps. Star-studded silk tie. (left) is collar-and-tie in one. We used two of them for color contrast. Neat little dew-drop tie (left centre), used double here, is weighted with pearl drops. Pale mauve silk pull-through tie (upper right centre) is jewelled, is worn with matching wing-tip scarf, clips to head. Another gauzy wing-tip (lower right centre) has gold etched border and trim in form of giant gold sequins. Gigantic stole (right) is pale pink jersey bordered in thick black wool fringe. Arms slip through armslits for perfect fit. This is a stole that will not slip down.

Light Shades In Topcoats

In tune with the "lighter brighter" theme song for spring in men's clothing, lighter shades will dominate the topcoat picture, with tan, gray and light blue favored. Some tweeds have pastel nubs over tan or grayish-tan background colors. Others feature large box overplaids and overall houndstooth or step patterns.

Tweeds and shetlands will take the spotlight in the spring topcoat scene, as their rich new patterns take the eye and win the favor of smart dressers everywhere. Saxony and cheviot weaves are also expected to move up fast in the style sweepstakes.

Topcoats with set-in sleeves and balmacaan collar present "newest look" for spring. A close runner-up is the raglan sleeve cut, again with the balmacaan collar. Still the most favored of all cuts is the tubular-body coat, characterized by set-in sleeves.

Those long-time favorites, the chesterfield and the raglan, will continue to hold their places in spring style parade. The raglan is a loose-fitting coat, built around the sleeve for which it is named, while the chesterfield is fitted.

LOUD-COLORED VEST

Popular taste among vest wearers leans toward loud colors, stripes and small all-over prints. Decorated waistcoats, dormant since Edwardian days, are now seen more and more across the country.

Most Canadians buy WINDSOR

Scarves Are Tiny Ties In Imaginative Neckwear

A scarf this spring may be anything from a tiny string tie to a huge stole, cape-stole, or jacket stole.

The fabrics from which these scarves are cut are just as imaginative and varied as the shapes themselves. You may have your scarf in taffeta, raw silk, sheer silk organza, light wool jersey, straw cloth, chiffon, jewel-encrusted or sequin-spattered silk, gold-printed taffeta, or a white pigment print. It's a matter to be decided by your personal taste, needs and budget.

In these scarves, you'll find a ready means of injecting new life into your wardrobe. With them, you can give suits and dresses a change both of pace and color. This spring's neutrals—the whites and beiges—are as ideal as black in providing backgrounds for a dash of color.

One designer has done a giant cape stole that's the ideal wrap for wear out under the stars. It's cut from taffeta that's a solid color on one side and star-scattered on the other, making it reversible. It has a tiny collar weighted at corners with huge teardrop pearls.

This same cape-stole is shown in a soft, cloud-light wool jersey, in pale pastels. This is thickly trimmed with fringe.

A third stole, this for party evenings, is a full three yards long. It is made of ombre-printed silk in glowing stripes and has ends finished with giant-sized yarn fringe that sparkles with sequins.

There are lots of inexpensive little ties this year, some weighted with pearl drops and others glowing with big sequins. These are just right for suits and simple, classic dresses.

Spring Coat Styles Vary Lines Stress Slim Look

The coat story for Spring is a varied one, with styles running the fashion gamut from the reed-slim to the sweeping flare coat.

The slim line is one of the newest in coats, and stresses a columnar look that is as easy to wear as it is distinctive. A feminine effect is retained by use of flattering necklines, soft and luscious fabrics, and the all-important matching or contrasting stole.

As in the new Spring dresses, the fitted coat no longer relies on the cinch to attain a tiny waistline. Skirts are gently slimmed down, and the hipline may be emphasized with slight padding. The waistline and midriff are smooth, molded to give a high-rising Empire look. Collars provide a soft frame for the face, or are cut away deeply to flatter the neckline.

THE "LONG SHORTIES"

Of new importance too, this Spring, are the long shorties, or seven-eighths coats, often shown with companion skirts and dresses; the narrowly tapered coat, worn 'clutch style" rather than buttoned; the classic, tailored Chesterfield, dressed up with novel seaming and the shortie jacket, as versatile as ever.

Stoles cover just about everything, often braid-trimmed or fringed for glamour.

Surface interest continues strongly, with the poodle cloth possessing a light, frothy, more delicate look. Tweeds have a new

Short Hair Cuts Continue Set As Base Of Jewels

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—To grow or not to grow—this momentous problem in Coronation hair styles has been solved. Short cuts continue.

When the Queen allowed her soft curls to grow to nape-of-neck length, forming a perfect frame for the jewelled circlets and tiaras she now wears frequently, longer hair styles were predicted for wear in Westminster Abbey.

But the latest styles favored by London's best-known hair stylists and those worn by the mannequins showing the new spring fashions are unanimously short. New coiffures are cut and set as a base for the jewels that crown them, rather than as a frame that may detract from the qualities of heirloom jewelry.

At a special Park Lane preview of Coronation hair styles by top British hairdressers, styles were fundamentally the same—upswept sides, flat centre crown and nothing on the collar.

Not one hair style was more than three inches in length and the back was either brushed upwards in flat curls close to the head, or set in a semi-shingle that curled even closer to the scalp. Diamond tiaras stretched across a smooth centre crown to tuck into softly-waved side pieces that curled up and over the ends of the head-dress.

This is equally effective with a centre parting, a tiny kiss-curl breaking the severity, a side-parted style with short curled fringe, or an Elizabethan coiffure brushed severely back from the forehead and temples to form fat side rolls rising from the ears to "not quite meet" on the centre crown.

A Duchess of Kent style by Emile, hairdresser to the Queen, is parted at centre and combed smoothly down to slight bangs hiding the ears. This gives a short-cut version of a style worn by Queen Victoria.

"CORONATION GREY"

For those in the fashion swing who don't wear tiaras, curls can be brushed upwards to a soft crown that forms a frame for a doughnut ring of curls set low on the forehead. The ring is broken on the centre forehead and joined by a pendant of pearls supporting a forehead star.

At the hairdressing show, blondes outnumbered brunettes 10-1. Newest hair color is "Coronation grey," a whitish blonde with a blue tinge. Dressed upwards with curls that soften the forehead line, this shade gives a powdered pompadour effect, sometimes heightened by such trimmings as a rose ornament worn dead centre.

Spring Coat

"frosty effect, while zibelines and long-hair fabrics are lustrous and silky. And doeskin, suede, flannel, worsted jersey and gabardine give elegance to the smooth side of fashion.

Clear, cool pastels are forecast for Spring, with beige showing an even stronger lead than grey as the most popular of neutral tones. And in the neutral family, look for small-patterned tweeds in black and white, newly important as a good background color for the smart, high-color accessories of this season.

The coat with its own skirt is both practical and fashionable and often possesses a blouse and matching jacket lining in solid or printed silk, jersey or cotton.

rowed Look, Rich Use Of Fabric Enhance Coat And Suit Collections

te variety" is a term that ell have been coined for ng's coat and suit fash- for many a spring open- here been so much news ette and fabric as that this year's presentation. n love suits and they love to keep them interesting and refreshing from fashion's point of view. In this Spring's air of newness to the Easter parade of 1953.

To add even greater emphasis on the variety of the Spring suit showings are the softly tailored suit which resembles a dress, the silk suit for after-five wear, and the costume suit. The silk suit is often shown with a one-piece dress and separate jacket in silk bongees, foulards, tie silks, and small patterned brocades.

The costume suit rates high as a fashion success this Spring. Designers have done interesting treatments in the choice of fabrics used. This suit is usually in three pieces—jacket, skirt and blouse. The jacket is lined in a wide range of fabrics from jerseys to printed silks and cottons with blouses in the same fabric.

The slim skirt lends itself beautifully to the fabric contrast that is so fashion - important this Spring. The narrow boxy jacket, either tapered to the hips or shown with slits in the sides, is doubly smart in the fabrics that have texture interest. Thick tone-on-tone woolens, boucle weaves, nubby wool tweeds, and lacy poodle cloths are featured in the jackets while a blending smooth fabric is used in the slim skirt.

There are many formulas for creating the costume look. This is achieved by a blending of various fabrics that complement each other, such as a worsted crepe blouse, heavier weight skirt and a jacket of nubby tweed or surface-interested coating.

Colors in the suits at the showings leaned heavily toward the pale tones, from creamy white to sandy beiges. Pastels are important, too, with creamy yellows, pinks, blues, and some lavender. Navy holds a heavy lead over black and gray, and is very popular.

The exciting variety in the coat fashion picture is achieved through silhouettes that range from the column, or linear coat to the inverted V line.

The narrow, long-line coat is distinguished by its top interest; a new kind of bulk and width that is definitely 1953. The deep, easy armhole is much in the limelight with a new, softer width at the shoulderline. This new width is achieved without padding, but depends rather on the interesting suits, there is sure to be a silhouette that's ideal for every woman.

They are being shown with narrow boxy jackets, in oval shapes that hug the hipline, and in a compromise silhouette that's neither fitted nor straight, but is a very wearable and becoming newcomer.

There are straight cut jackets that may be worn boxy or cinched with a wide contour belt. There are suits with matching stoles . . . suits with sculptured lines that accent the waistline and curve over the hipline.

Each of these new suit silhouettes is destined to add an exciting placement of the shoulder seam. There is almost limitless choice in the length of the 1953 coats. The 30-inch topper is curved around the figure, the two-thirds length topper is smartest when narrow, and the seven-eighths length is a newcomer with its narrow, tapered look.

Other points of interest in the coat picture are: the lowered waistline, achieved with low-placed pockets or seaming . . . the clutch coat, devoid of buttons in narrow and tapering effects . . . the poncho coat, which hooks or buttons under the sleeves . . . and coats with separate capes or stoles.

Neclines add greatly to the infinite variety found in this Spring's coats. The collarless neckline is a fashion leader, usually with a cardigan effect. Build-up collars are worn high about the face for a very sophisticated air. Large collars, ranging from big rounded shapes to deep sailor styles, help to underscore the impression of shoulder width.

DOROTHY DIX:

Former Invalid Ponders Love Of Friend, Ailing Man

DEAR MISS DIX: For the past three years I have been a patient in a tuberculosis sanatorium. Before I came here, I was in love with Ralph, who was four years older than I. At that time, I was 21. Although he had often said he loved me, he hadn't gotten around to the $64 guestion when I became ill. For several months after I came to the hospital, he was very devoted, visiting me often. Soon, however, the attention ceased and I heard nothing further from him. A year later I became interested in another patient, whom I shall call Fred. We have lots in common, and became very good friends.

Now I am about to go home. Fred has asked me to marry him when he is discharged, which will be a few months. My problem is that Ralph has learned I am going home, and has written a long letter begging me to take up where we left off. I'm not sure of my feelings for him now. I loved him once, but the feeling seems to be gone.

I have heard that love comes only once in a lifetime. I think that's false, since I did love Ralph, and know I love Fred Now. I would have an easier life with Ralph, but I prefer a struggle with Fred. L. A.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You need a better perspective on the problem which you will get by going home, then taking a good look at the situation. Being away from both men for a while, especially in your home, will make things much clearer to you.

FAIR-WEATHER FRIEND

Ralph seems to be a fair-weather friend who isn't up to coping with ailing people. Since your health may never be robust again, this is a consideration you cannot ignore. If he failed you once, he'll do it again. Fred seems a much more congenial person for you, is in a better position to understand whatever restrictions you must observe in the future, and will certainly be more sympathetic. Life with an understanding husband is worth the loss of a few material things.

It's an absurd contention that one can love only once in a lifetime. Few people are married to the high-school sweethearts that once were the center around which the world pivoted. Most folks are in love three and four times before the one and only comes along.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Every week my two brothers and their girl friends come to our house to play cards. Last week I remarked, as the game was breaking up, that one of my brothers and his girl always quit when they are ahead. I meant it as a casual, kidding remark, and have said the same thing many time before. However, the girl took it as an affront and now my brother and I aren't talking. Should I accept an apology from her if she gives one, or just not bother with her?

MARY H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since you made the remark that caused the trouble, I think a note of apology is due from you. Whether you meant it as it was taken or not, an explanation is in order. If the girl gets over her huff and is willing to make up, forget the incident.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: For the past five years I have been going with a married man. He has been married 18 years, I have been married 20 years. He claims he loves me, not his wife. Although I put him before my husband, he always puts his wife first. I know it's wrong for us to go on seeing each other, but things like that happen. I just want to know if I shouldn't come before his wife?

✧ ✧ ✧

THERESA.

ANSWER: You don't say in just what way you expect to come first, but I can assure you your place is very far down the line. You have a very warped idea of love and marriage; the kind of love you give and expect puts you beyond the pale of consideration from husband, lover or friends.

Change Meeting Schedule

Meeting of the Mothers' Auxiliary of 1st St. Andrew's Brownies and Guides on Wednesday afternoon in the church parlor opened with a minute of silence in memory of the late Queen Mary. Mrs. Bob Hayes presided for the business. Starting with the next meeting, which is to be in May, the Auxiliary will meet every three months in future, it was decided, but in case of special business, extra meetings will be called. A mothers' auxiliary rally to be held in June was discussed. Three mothers offered to help with judging the games at a Cub, Scout, Guide and Brownie rally which will be held at the Exhibition Grounds May 16. Collection asked for on March 25 was taken. The funds are for Brownie work. Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Young and her committee.

Charter Members And Early Officers Guests At H&S Tea

An interesting sidelight to the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association's Daffodil Tea on Wednesday afternoon was a party for charter members and executive members of the early years. There were 30 of these ladies gathered on the second floor of the school to renew their acquaintance before going in to the tea room as guests of the Association.

Idea of this party was conceived by the present president, Mrs. Arthur Black. Thereupon early records were searched and invitations were mailed to all the charter members whose addresses were available, and similarly with the executives of the 15 years following.

The very first president was Mrs. Yenny who now lives in Arthur, Ontario, and was unable to come for this occasion. She became head of the Association when it was formed in 1921, just two years after the Federation was formed in Ontario. During the party those who had known and worked with Mrs. Yenny wrote sections of a letter which is to be mailed to her.

Earliest president attending was Mrs. H. G. Walker, who was the third. She was preceded by Mrs. C. Touchburn and succeeded by Mrs. R. Parnall, both of whom have died.

Fifth president was Mrs. Karl Simpson, followed by Mrs. H. Tremain, Mrs. H. H. Graham, Mrs. E. Telford, Mrs. L. M. Richardson, Mrs. V. R. Henry and Mrs. C. Doughty. The next president was Mrs. A. W. Nelson, who is now district chairman and organizer of Home and School.

Ontario Convener Gives Picture IODE Services

A clearer picture of the value of the IODE work under the heading of "services at home and abroad" is now in the mind of the 77 members of the local chapters who attended the annual dinner of Muncipal Chapter Wednesday evening. They heard from Mrs. A. H. Leckie of Dundas, convener of these services for all chapters of Ontario, of the extent and reach, and heard proof of appreciation expressed in letters returned.

Mrs. Leckie said, "I believe there is something for everyone to do" and urged that the convener be a person who knows the personnel of her chapter and can give each some task they are most fitted to do. Some people are good at canvassing, soliciting help, others at visiting, writing letters, and still others might be best able to look after the shrubbery or grass of a memorial plot.

Mrs. George Groombridge has been the Muncipal chapter's convener of services at home and abroad the past four years and she was complimented on the work accomplished. Mr. Groombridge too was mentioned for his assistance in packing the shipments forwarded to the provincial shipping depot at Fonthill.

This depot has been a hectic and crowded place since the floods in Britain and Europe. Mrs. Leckie advised that 99 cases of used clothing had been on hand in England and the continent at the time and were immediately converted to use of the flood victims. Replacements were then called for and very soon a great pile of clothing was outside the depot under tarpaulin while packing went on within as fast as possible. From February 12 to March 16 there were 28,000 articles recorded, valued and packed, she said.

Garments for older children, two to 10 years, are very much needed, Mrs. Leckie advised, particularly knee socks for these ages.

At home services include the hospital visiting, small gifts to shut-ins, assistance in community drives and canvassing, as well as supplying clothing, milk and medicine to needy persons. Mrs. Leckie urged the chapters to adopt a needy pensioner or family. Also, to continue with contributions to the cigarette fund for soldiers in Korea, and in this connections she distributed reply cards received from the soldiers and asked members to write these men and send parcels.

Mrs. Leckie was introduced by Mrs. W. Gordon Hall and was thanked by Mrs. Groombridge. Conveners of services at home and abroad present at the dinner conferred with her afterward.

Home Decorating Discussed In Short Course At Bethany

BETHANY (ENS). — Miss Jeanne Armour, home economist from the department of agriculture women's institute branch and home economics service in Toronto, conducted a short course in home decorating in the Bethany Orange hall on Thursday afternoon. "Brighten Your Home With Color" was the theme of her lecture.

"With the use of the many new easy-to-apply paints and wallpapers now available many women can economize by doing their own decorating. Give your home new glamour with new color. No one can decorate your house as well as you can. The careful selection and use of color and design will add much to the comfort and attractiveness of your home. Use what you have and combine old with new in your planning. Start with a basic object about which to build up your color scheme; perhaps a favorite picture, or some heirloom furniture may be just what is needed to start your imaginiation working. The ingenuity of the home decorator is constantly challenged. Make your rooms happy rooms. A good idea is to work out the plan of a room on paper first, choosing your colors carefully and shopping with the same care. Clip color patches from magazines, or from samples of fabrics whenever you see a color you think you will like; then start trying them out together. Your decorating may not all be completed at once. For economic reasons it is likely to be done in gradual stages . . . new draperies now, a new paint job next year, or maybe new furniture, but if you start with the right basic ingredient you will achieve the charm you desire. Draperies and rugs especially should be purchased with a long term view; as by changing various items of furniture or slip covering an odd chair, etc., a completely new color scheme could be worked out to give a room an entirely new look.

"The most important single thing in decorating is color; yet every individual sees color through his or her own eyes and our personalities "Color" our taste in color. The study of Color has been raised to a science with primary colors, secondary colors and tertiary colors, but if you use Color as nature does you cannot go wrong. In Spring nature's soft greens, yellows, pale blues and mauves, the flesh tones of apple blossoms are hopeful, alive colors that make you feel happy. These colors used in your home will give the same effect. Summer colors and those of Autumn are bright and warm. If you want to give summer rooms winter coolness, remember nature's way with ice and snow, the deep blue shades, stark whites, tans and greys. Nature works all sorts of color magic that we can borrow from. Just as a mountain seems further away on a grey day than on a clear one, so you can push your walls back by using greyish tones in your colors. Plan carefully. If the room has a northern exposure you will want the warm shades. If they have sunlight all day the cooler blues and greens give a more restful atmosphere. With the right choice of color you can make a room seem larger or smaller."

At the close of the lecture, the class was divided into seven groups with each one asked to plan a well-balanced room from samples provided of wallpaper, floor covering, drapery and slip cover material. The leader of each group was asked to explain their choice, giving an idea of the room plan. These were displayed and discussed by everyone.

The speaker was introduced and thanked by Mrs. R. Carr, president of the local Women's Institute branch. Forty-seven ladies attended the class.

Queen Alexandra Tea

Daffodils in a silver basket set on clouds of yellow tulle centred a pretty tea table set in the kindergarten room of Queen Alexandra school for the entertainment of about 200 Home and School Association guests Wednesday afternoon.

It was the annual Daffodil Tea and the daffodil colors were taken up in matching yellow tapers in silver holders and the leaf green lace tablecloth. Tables in the hallway for candy and home baking were decorated in the same color scheme.

Recorded music to keep the atmosphere cheery was being played throughout the tea by Mrs. W. Turner.

Tea assistants served dainty refreshments under direction of Mrs. George Gatfield. They were Mrs. C. E. Potts, Mrs. Chester Carson, Mrs. B. N. Cragg, Mrs. T. McKay, Mrs. Zimmel Levine, Mrs. Ivan Morgan, Mrs. Philip Turner, Mrs. O. C. Simmers, Mrs. C. Law, Mrs. B. Sayers, Mrs. Charles Levine, Mrs. J. Weir, Mrs. W. Steele, and the lady teachers, Misses Armstrong, Connolly, Curtis, Hart, Staples, Haddow and Bonnycastle.

Wives of the men teachers were pouring tea. The first hour they were Mrs. K. McKee, the principal's wife, and Mrs. Harvie Wilson and the second hour, Mrs. W. Dawson and Mrs. J. E. R. Munro, wife of the former principal.

Other assistants in the tea room were Mrs. F. Shaw, Mrs. W. B. Gordon, Mrs. O. Axford, Mrs. D. Way, Mrs. G. McKinnon and Margaret Lawrence, a grade 8 student. The table decorations were done by Mrs. E. Cragg.

President Mrs. Arthur Black received at the door throughout the tea, assisted at first by Mrs. E. Kingdon, first vice president, and then by Mrs. George Coleman, second vice president.

Mrs. G. Norris acted as hostess at the door and for much of the time was backed by a line-up of guests. Ticket convener Mrs. R. Sager and treasurer Mrs. R. Delahaye were waiting the receive the admissions.

Guests who brought small children were invited to take them to the nursery in charge of Mrs. G. Howden and Mrs. H. Ward who were assisted by grade 8 girls, J. Way, Blewett, C. Calhoun and C. Curtis.

The home baking table enjoyed a very early sell-out. It was convened by Mrs. P. Evans and her assistants were Mrs. C. Wray, Mrs. A. Beasley, Mrs. A. Clark, Mrs. J. Rawlins and Mrs. C Stemp.

Mrs. H. Tewsley had very attractive boxes for the candy which she was selling with the assistance of Mrs. A. Olmstead.

Co-conveners of this tea were Mrs. G. Cheatle and Mrs. R. Bell. The advertising of the event was in charge of Mrs. Howard Perry and assistance was given by pupils of Mr. McKee's room who made the artistic posters seen in downtown store windows.

Operate School For Children With Low IQs

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Parents' Council is operating a school in a three-storey house for "ineducables"—children with IQs of less than 50 who are not admitted to public schools.

Now 63 children from the city and suburbs are at the school for three hours daily. Some can't speak. Most can't read. The school's principal says many may never learn these things because the IQ is permanent.

But parents are enthusiastic. They first showed it two years ago by painting, scrubbing and hammering an old building that now is the bright, modern school in the city's west end.

Parents say the school is successful in helping the children and relieving tensions at home.

They pay $20 a month for each child, though it costs the parents' council almost $50 a month per child to operate the school. Teachers and transportation are big expenses. Children have to be driven to the school from a wide area, and a teacher can handle only seven at one time.

Springtime Is Expressed In Knox Tea Decorations

A very lovely afternoon tea convened by Mrs. Gordon James for the WA of Knox United Church Wednesday drew a crowd of nearly 400 guests. They were entertained in the basement of the church hall where decorations carried out the theme of springtime gardens and flowers.

Figures in the traditional Ann Hathaway bonnets and dresses in all the pretty pastel colors were made by Mrs. Albert Pearcy as the wall decorations and she placed them in colorful "flower gardens" and with watering cans in their hands.

Streamers on the pillars and over doorways were in the daffodil colors, and the quartette tables were centred with flower-like holders for candles, each having a contrasting color of holder and candle. Mrs. H. J. Charlton and Mrs. Gordon McGavin assisted with these decorations.

The tea table was done by Mrs. Clair Grainger and she used a very pretty lace cloth, a centrepiece of daffodils, narcissus, white tulips, a tall spray of white snapdragon and sweet smelling mimosa with ferns arranged in a small bowl and had green tapers in the crystal candelabrae.

Mrs. Charlie Ross played softly on the piano throughout the tea. It commenced this time at two thirty o'clock and very soon after the 18 small tables and two large round ones were filled with guests. The Rev. H. G. Douglas said prayer to officially open proceedings.

WA president Mrs. E. Pearse received at the door, assisted by Mrs. Douglas. Ticket convener Mrs. G. Hutchinson was at the treasurer's table.

Tea pourers were Mrs. F. Kidd, Mrs. W. Atchinson, Mrs. J. Lancashire, Mrs. H. Trotter, Mrs. H. Lewis and Mrs. E. Mesley.

The serving was directed by Mrs. W. McCracken and the assistants were Mrs. J. Waldron, Mrs. J. McNabb, Mrs. N. Thompson, Mrs. H. Knox, Mrs. J. Hooper, Mrs. S Adamson, Mrs. A. Scott, Mrs. W. Logan, Mrs. D. Richardson, Mrs. H. Hall, Mrs. C. Hill, Mrs. L. Maudsley, Mrs. A. Pearcy, Mrs. P. Killingbeck, Mrs. J. Kempt, Mrs. A. Kempt, Mrs. O. James, Mrs. E. Tape and Mrs. S. Foster.

Hostesses in the tea room were Mrs. W. J. Gilders, Mrs. Howard Clegg and Mrs. Ross Williamson.

Mrs. H. Reynolds and Mrs. C. Gertley were kept busy replenishing the table with plates and full tea pots. In the kitchen Mrs. D. Rose was making tea and Mrs. D. Hubbs and Mrs. G. Myles were also busy supervising the supplies. Their helpers were Mrs. G. Newmaster, Mrs. W Gaskin, Mrs. R. Gillies, Mrs. Wm. Dale, Mrs. E. Jewell, Mrs. A. Pitchford and Mrs. J. Drummond.

There was a large sale of home baking conducted by Mrs. F. Millburn with Mrs. G. Davis, Mrs. R. Hazlitt, Mrs. E. Sanders, Mrs. C. Weldon and Mrs. Betty Clarke her assistants. Miss Phyllis Kidd and Mrs. H. Murduff sold candy. Another table offered a variety of greeting cards and children's books for sale by Mrs. A. Hewitt and Mrs. M. Lindsay.

Little folks were looked after very nicely for the afternoon in an adjoining Sunday school room where Mrs. Stan Whitfield took charge and Mrs. N. Hughes, Mrs. A. Lowes, Mrs. W. Hamilton and Mrs. V. Heigh assisted.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Time For Hot Cross Buns Calls Up Tested Recipe

Little care I if I'm criticized for repeating (I keep telling myself).

I'm afraid I've given you this recipe so many Eastertimes that you wonder if I'm stuck in rut.

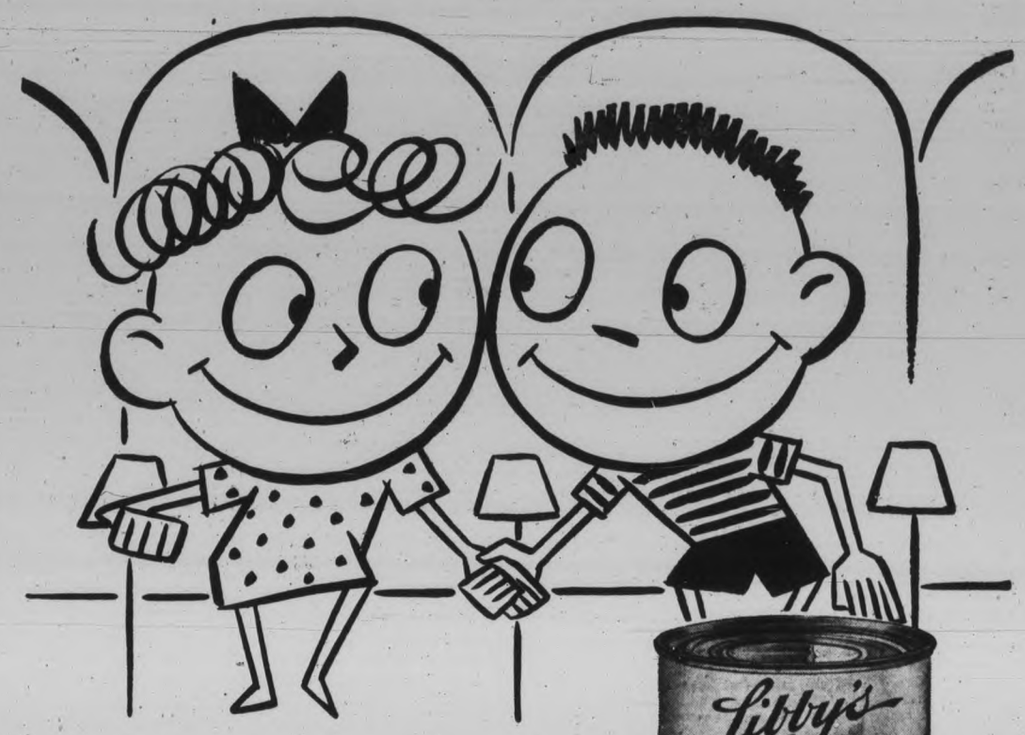
I just can't improve on it. Maybe some other bread experimenters can though. If you do please let me know. But I dare not tamper with it for your letters tell me that you like it and want to see it again now.

But gals, remember to buy fresh yeast. Don't rummage through the cupboard and discover an old package of yeast dated 1952, and expect it to raise these buns in 1953. Buy fresh yeast.

EMEM'S HOT CROSS BUNS

Buy bread flour. If your grocer does not carry it you will have to settle for all-purpose flour. Sift it and measure 3½ cups. In top of double boiler heat ½ cup milk to scalding point. Soak 1 package dry granular yeast in ½ cup lukewarm water with ½ teaspoon sugar for 10 minutes, then stir it. Measure and mix ¼ cup sugar, 2 teaspoons salt and 4 tablespoons shortening. Pour hot milk over them and stir until ingredients dissolve. (If you want to use compressed yeast crumble it into the warm mixture at this stage and add ½ cup tepid water, instead of using granular yeast and soaking it in the lukewarm water.) Add soaked and stirred granular yeast to warm milk mixture and stir in. Now stir in 2 cups of the sifted flour, and 1 unbeaten egg and beat well with a spoon until batter is perfectly smooth. Add remaining flour and ½ cup cleaned and dried raisins or currants, 2 teaspoons grated demond rind and ½ teaspoon freshly grated nutmeg. Mix well. This dough may be stored in refrigerator for 3 days if you wish. Turn dough into greased bowl, brush lightly with melted butter or shortening or salad oil. Cover tightly if to be stored. It may be used at once without chilling. Cut dough into 24 equal parts on lightly floured board, shape into balls. Place evenly in rows in 2 buttered or oiled 9-inch square pans. Cover with a towel, let rise in warm place if possible—about 80 deg. Fahr. being sure pans are out of drafts. They should rise until doubled in bulk —about 1½ hours (or 2 hours if temperature is about 72 to 75 deg.). Now with a sharp pointed knife cut ½-inch deep crosses in tops; let rise 10 minutes longer. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. (a not oven) for about 15 to 18 minutes. Cool on cake rack. The traditional frosting for this is made by simply adding water or milk to confectioners' sugar (icing sugar) until it is thin enough to spread. Trace this in the cross-cut when buns are cold.

Now some of you might want peel in your hot cross buns so here is another recipe which is tried and true and a great favorite.



HOT CROSS BUNS NUMBER TWO (WITH PEEL)

Put in a measuring cup 1 teaspoon sugar, ½ cup lukewarm water, 1 package of (fresh) granular yeast (or a crumbled yeast cake). Let stand 10 minutes and then stir. Meanwhile sift into large bowl 4 cups sifted bread flour, 1½ teaspoons cinnamon, ½ teaspoon each cloves and allspice. Add to this dry mixture ¾ cup washed and dried raisins, ¼ cup mixed peel. Mix, then make a deep well in centre. Mix the yeast mixture with ¾ cup lukewarm water, ¼ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons very soft shortening or cooking oil, 1 beaten egg. Pour this into the well in dry mixture and beat until batter is smooth. Smooth the top, brush with oil and cover tightly. Let rise until double in warm place out of drafts. Shape into buns, and placed on greased pans. Let rise in warm place until doubled again. Cut cross in top. Bake at 475 deg. Fahr. about 18 or 20 minutes. Five minutes before removing from oven brush with mixture of 2 tablespoons sugar and 1½ tablespoons hot milk to glaze them.

Scotland Yard Making Inch-By-Inch Search Of Rillington Place

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard pressed grimly ahead today with an inch-by-inch search of the drab "murder flat in Rillington Place" which already has yielded the bodies of four strangled women—one of them six months pregnant.

Police in all parts of the British Isles meanwhile are on the lookout for John Christie, dapper, 55-year-old mystery man who lived for 15 years in the seedy little tenement apartment in London's run-down Notting Hill district.

The gruesome discovery recalled testimony of a 1949 murder defendant who tried to link Christie with the strangling of a woman and child in the same house. Christie denied the accusations and the defendant, the woman's husband, was executed.

One of the dead women in the Christie apartment was identified Wednesday night as Hectorina MacLennan, 25, a London servant girl. Her brother said she had been missing from her home for about a month.

Police today tentatively identified another as Kathleen Maloney, a pretty, 19-year-old blonde with scarlet-painted finger and toe nails. She had been dead two to four months.

still unknown — were a brown-haired girl of about 25, the pregnant one, believed dead for about three months, and a fair-haired woman of about 45, dead three to four months.

The other two victims—identities All four had been strangled with a thin cord or wire.

Police are considering the possibility that the women were murdered for the small amounts of money they may have had in their purses.

Happy Days

MONTREAL (CP)—As in many other municipalities, Montreal parks officials now are busy refurbishing the summer equipment for recreation centres for children. All but 10 of the city's 162 skating and hockey rinks had been dismantled last week.

Municipal Chapt. IODE Annual Meeting

Expression of loving devotion and respect to her late Majesty Queen Mary and a minute of silent tribute to her memory featured the opening session of the ninth annual dinner meeting of the Peterborough Municipal Chapter IODE Wednesday evening at the Empress Hotel.

To the strains of the traditional "Land of Hope and Glory" played by Miss Eleanor Taylor, Mrs. William Nash, Municipal standard bearer, led the way as standards from the eight primary chapters and one junior chapter were carried into the banquet hall.

Nearly 80 members sat down to dinner with the regent, Miss Mary Medd, and municipal officers occupying the head table. Also, two past regents who are both municipal life members, Mrs. W. Gordon Hall and Mrs. A W. Turner, now of Newmarket, and special guest for the occasion, Mrs. A. H. Leckie from Dundas and Hamilton.

Mrs. W. A. Burrell was in charge of the arrangements and Mrs. C. L. Upper had charge of decorations. The tables were lovely with a centre arrangement of red, white and tinted blue carnations flanked with the same colored candles and golden state coaches, each drawn by eight horses.

Entertainment was by Mrs. L. R. Mitchell, dressed as an old man and Mrs. George Coleman as an old woman, who sang a comic duet. They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Hugh Redmond.

ANNUAL REPORTS

A wide range of work was revealed in the reports presented. Mrs. C. L. Upper, educational secretary, reported six chapters sponsored seven adopted schools supplying them with libraries, portable record players, records, books, movie projector, film and Christmas gifts, pictures, etc. The sum of $683 was spent for monetary assistance to students: Chapter scholarships, $50; chapter bursaries, $400; contribution to provincial scholarship, $193, and provincial bursaries, $15. Educational prizes amounted to more than $75. Total amount of expenditure for education was $1,717.01.

Mrs. G. Groombridge, services at home and abroad convener, reported total sum of combined chapters of services at home and abroad for 1952 was $2,900.08, comprised of 113 food parcels and donations to food fund valued at $681.98; 544 knitted and sewn articles valued at $349.50; 664 articles of good used clothing valued at $252.96; 20 pairs of golf hose filled with Christmas treats and toys valued at $53.

Donations were sent to national and provincial funds. Each year children are sent by various chapters to enjoy a holiday at the YWCA summer camp. One chapter has adopted a soldier in Korea and sends him parcels. Fruit and magazines are taken to local hospitals regularly and 175 bi-monthly visits to both hospitals were reported last year.

Veterans at Sunnybrook Hospital receive letters and parcels. Local needy families receive assistance in food and clothing and children in hospital receive toys. A number of IODE members are at present engaged in various courses in civil defense work. A request was filled to send diapers to Greece through the British Save-the-Children Fund. Food parcels, used clothing, etc., were sent to victims of flooded areas in Britain and Holland. Sixty hours of time was spent transporting polio victims to the YWCA for swimming classes. Eight wreaths were placed on the cenotaph on Remembrance Day.

Miss June Fraser, film convener, reported 25 films were shown during the year. The chapters purchased a large tripod screen for permanent use of all chapters. Four Municipal members ushered at the Film Festival in February put on by the National Film Council. Chapters are deriving a considerable amount of educational benefit from the films shown at the monthly meetings.

Mrs. W. Gordon Hall, empire and world affairs convener, reported empire and world affairs topics are now a part of most chapter meetings and also discussions on the Canadian way of life, the Royal Family and such subjects to better understanding of the empire.

Mrs. W. C. Boate, publicity convener, reported 154 releases given to the press, with 96 paid insertions and 27 broadcasts. Major Bennett Chapter on entering their book in the scrap-book competition, won second prize in 1952.

Other reports were presented by Mrs. R. S. Allin, organizing secretary; Mrs. Nash, standard bearer; Miss Jean Hamley, Echoes secretary; Mrs. W. A. Burrell, hospitality convener; Miss Eleanor Taylor, secretary, and Mrs. Brian Roberts, treasurer.

Mrs. P. C. Sanders, convener of nomination committee, then presented the slate of officers.

Officers for 1953 were installed by Mrs. A. W. Turner, the honorary regent. They are:

Regent, Miss Mary Medd; first vice regent, Mrs. George Barns; second vice regent, Mrs. Max Clarke; secretary, Miss Eleanor Taylor; assistant secretary, Miss Louise Spriggs; treasurer, Miss etta Jameson; organizing secretary Mrs. C. L. Upper; Echoes secretary, Miss June Fraser; educational secretary, Mrs. D. Miller; standard bearer, Mrs. William Nash.

In respect for her late Majesty Queen Mary all IODE chapters in Canada are to observe the following order: Wear purple ribbon for period of official mourning; cancel functions until after the state funeral except where heavy financial obligations are involved.

6—In Memoriam

CROSS—In loving memory of Mary Ann Cross, who passed away March 26, 1946.
Her memory is a keepsake,
From which we'll never part;
God has her in His keeping,
We have her in our heart.
—Lovingly remembered by Winnifred, Michael and grandchildren.

CROSS—In loving memory of a dear mother, who passed away March 26, 1946.
She had a nature you couldn't help loving,
A heart that was purer than gold,
And to those that knew her, and loved her,
Her memory will never grow old.
—Lovingly remembered, Lill, Bill and grandchildren.

HARRISON—In loving memory of our dear mother, Annie Elizabeth, who passed away April 14, 1952 and our dear father, James C., March 26, 1752.
Dear Mom and Dad you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
—Lovingly remembered by their family.

HAMILTON—In loving memory of Richard Hamilton, who left us six years ago on March 26, 1947.
It's lonely here without you Richard
For life is not the same to us
Since you were called away.
If I had all the world to give,
I'd give it, yes, and more
To hear your voice and see your smile
And greet you at the door.
—Sadly missed by Mary Hamilton and family.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks to my attending doctor, nurses of Civic Hospital for kind attention and all friends, neighbors and relatives who sent cards, gifts and flowers or made visits during my illness. Especially thanking the clergy.—Mrs. John Coones, R.R. 1, Lakefield.

Gossip Says CGE To Build, Firm Says No

Opinion at Alparka bar leans to disappointment that rumors of pending plans for two buildings at CGE are not authenticated by management.

Excavations on the west side of the main property were assumed to be test holes for a building which would occupy most of the remaining area of the CGE property along the Monaghan Road front.

Other gossip has been mentioning the prospect and hopes for an office building across the way on the west side of Monaghan Road. Rumors have been persistent, but they are not confirmed at the top.

Cyanide In Water Kills Many Fish

BUFFALO (CP) — Tests of the Niagara river here have established that the death of thousands of fish this spring is due to cyanide in the water.

The New York state conservation department said today the poison probably comes from some Buffalo industry on the shores of lower Lake Erie or the Niagara river. The department plans daily tests of water to find the firm responsible.

Delayed By Weather

MONTREAL (CP)—Three squadrons of RCAF Sabre jets flying to the NATO aerodrome at Zweibrucken, Germany, have been held up for almost two weeks by bad weather at Bluie West One, Greenland, air defence command announced today. They are delivering jets to bolster Western Europe's air defences.

Obituary

WILLIAM GEORGE ANDERSON

William George Anderson, 85, of RR 4, Peterborough, a resident of Smith Township for the past 35 years, died in city hospital Wednesday, following a short illness.

Born in Douro township he was the son of the late Daniel Anderson and the former Jane Moncrief. His wife, the former Martha Elizabeth Bolton, predeceased him in 1945. He is survived by his five sons, Howard of Hastings, Gordon of Peterborough, Stanley of North Carolina, Jack of Pickering, and Fred on the homestead, one daughter, Mrs. Oscar Freeburn (Grace) of Islington, and one brother Jack Anderson of Peterborough.

Mr. Anderson was raised and educated in Douro Township and farmed there for 25 years. He then moved to Peterborough where he lived for another 25 years before moving to Smith Township where he has resided for the past 35 years. He was a member of the Lakefield Baptist Church.

Funeral service will be held at the Comstock Funeral Home on Saturday at 2 p.m. The Rev. George Downing of the Lakefield Baptist Church will officiate at the service. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Animal Trainer Case Adjourned

SIMCOE (CP) — Kenneth Hill, the well-known animal trainer charged with creating a common nuisance by leaving two of his lions unattended in public, had his case adjourned until May 7 today at his own request.

He left today for Calgary and told Crown attorney D. E. Tisdale he was going to turn his animals over to the zoo here.

One of his lions recently gave him a mauling, injuring him so badly doctors amputated an arm.

Ontario Gov't Gives Two Million To Centre

TORONTO (CP) — The provincial government has sent a cheque for $2,000,000 to the Ontario Cancer Society as its contribution for the building of a new cancer and research institute here.

Health Minister Phillips who signed the cheque said excavation for the new institute is expected to start within a few weeks. He said both provincial and federal governments are making grants available for the institute which will cost about $4,500,000 when completed.

The institute will be equipped with two cobalt bombs at a cost of $50,000 each and $30,000 each for installation.

ONE FIRE ALARM

Firemen made a run Wednesday night to 510 Sherbrook St., the home of George W. Downer, where there was a fire hazard caused by over-heated pipes and a chimney fire. A handpump was used to extinguish the blaze.

Superintendent Named To Home

Albert McConnell and his wife Lila of Smith township have been appointed the new superintendent and matron of the Peterborough County Old People's Home in Lakefield. They succeed Mr. and Mrs. John Butterworth who have been there for two years.

There were two applications for the positions. The other applicants were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wease of R.R. 3, Lakefield. In addition there were a couple of letters written making enquiries.

They will get $165 a month and $15 a month car allowance.

Mr. and Mrs. Butterworth said they would stay on for a while so Mr. and Mrs. McConnell could get settled in their new positions. The McCormells are expected to move in April 15.

Besides looking after the 20 residents of the Old People's Home they have charge of an 80-acre farm.

At present the superinendent and matron have a full-time woman assistant and also part-time domestic help. Residents of the home help the superintendent to work the farm.

Coventry Singers Arrange Recital

A short studio recital of solemn music and verse has been arranged by the Coventry Singers of Peterborough for next Tuesday evening in the Public Library auditorium. Its distinctive purpose is to observe Holy Week. The choir will sing all the chorales from Bach's St. Matthew Pasion and Palestrina's "Stabat Mater", the first time this work for double choir has been sung in Peterborough. Robertson Davies will read Milton's ode "At A Solemn Musick" and other verse from the English metaphysical poets.

The sixteenth century Palestrina work is rarely performed in Canada.

Although the recital is essentially religious, the small choir is not associated with any one church or creed.

No tickets are being sold. The public is invited.

Alleged Swindler Held In Rent Fraud

TORONTO (CP) — Roy Gross, 34, who police charge swindled a young couple in what investigators called a "cruel rent fraud" was arrested Wednesday night.

Police say Gross posed as a real estate agent and rented a home he didn't own to a couple with two children. When the family started moving in, the owner arrived. Gross had disappeared with $75 advance rent.

Gross is also charged with five other thefts totalling more than $850.

Elaine Anne Leahy

The funeral of Elaine Anne Leahy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Leahy, 742 Snelgrove Rd., who died Tusday, was held today from her home.

Graveside prayers at St. Joseph's cemetery, Doupro, were said by the Rev. J. J. McCarthy.

Flower bearers were Fred Moher, Jams Quinlan, Paul LaFave, Robert Moher. Pallbearers were Carl and Thomas O'Brien, Terry Dunphy and Guy Beauvais.

4th Line Squad Need One Win To Take Crown

Fourth Line moved to within one game of the Bush League championship Wednesday night with a 7-6 victory over Scott's Corners. The Liners can win the title Monday.

Both teams played wide open hockey from the first face-off. Alberico and McDowell spearheaded end-to-end rushes with Alberico scoring first with help from Harris.

Halway through the first Dunn alone whistled a shot past Hubbeard to put his team two up. At the 14-minute mark Allan Hutchinson and McDowell squeezed past the defence to score. Three minutes later McDowell from A. Hutchison tied the score.

Liners struck really in the second with McDowell registering on Walling's pass at the 20-second mark. As the Corners attempted a "stop McDowell" drive, McDowell passed to Walling at the six-minute mark for another goal.

Thirty seconds later Earl Hutchinson set up Walling to give the Liners a three-goal lead.

In the third the Corners sextet moved in time and time again on the Liners with three and four-man attacks. Dunn, assisted by Seabrooke and Crichton, scored; then Harris sank another with Stevens helping. Seabrooke promptly added two more.

Walling performed his hat-trick on McDowell's pass when he skirted the defence to go in alone on Hehn, tying the score at six-all.

McDowell, supported by A. Hutchinson and Walling, rifled the winning goal in at the 18:58-mark.

LINEUPS

Scott's Corners: Goal, Hehn, defence, Crichton, Dawson; centre, Alberico; wings, Harris, Stevens; alternates, Searbrook, Dunn, Minnie, Little, Conroy, Shaughnessey, Laroque, Galley, Blodgett.

Fourth Line: Goal, Hubbeard; defence, E. Hutchison, Olan; centre, McDowell; wings, A. Hutchison, Walling, alternates, Guthrie, Thompson, Agnew, Fallis, Friar, Lowery.

Referees: Ferguson and Edmunds.

Tennis Player Jailed

NEW YORK (AP) — John Robert Howard, former husband of actress Diana Barrymore, pleaded guilty today to a charge of transporting a woman across state lines for prostitution purposes.

Howard, fifth-ranking professional tennis player, was sentenced immediately to a year and a day in jail.

The 28-year-old defendant had been accused of taking a woman from California to New York in 1949.

County Needs

Next to roads the largest disbursement is $74,882 for the administration of justice and upkeep of the jail. This is an increase of $7,850 over 1952. Receipts are $600 less or $39,374.72.

A breakdown shows $47,132 to be spent on the administration of justice account and $27,750 on the jail.

SALARIES

Under administration of justice are maintenance of offices and buildings and court rooms $13,000; caretaker's salary and police court reporter $6,400; coroners' inquests $6,500; juries, crown witnesses, Crown Attorney's fees and Sheriff $21,000.

Disbursements on the jail: salaries $21,500; maintenance of prisoners $3,500; and maintenance of buildings $2,750. Included in the maintenance of buildings is $1,000 for a complete change of locks.

Deficits on indigent patients at the two hospitals cost $22,846.34.

Estimates are up on the Old People's Home, Lakefield: disbursements $16,700 and receipts $7,900. Work this year at the home includes repairs to the roof, replacement of bathtubs, fixing of a fence, new dishes, blinds and curtains. At present there are 20 inmates.

WELFARE EXPENDITURES

Other items under charity and welfare: child welfare $15,000 ($10,750 was the estimate in 1952 and actual expenditure was $14,-119); hospitalization on receipts $6,750 and disbursements $14,000; industrial schools $550.

Agricultural representative and societies have been granted $2,000 and the Federation of Agriculture $3,550.75.

Academic and vocation education for these parts of the county not in high school areas (Douro, Dummer, Emismore and Galway-Cavendish) $12,383.35. Scholarships and the agricultural grant to Norwood High School $800.

Other estimated disbursements and receipts: county assessor $6,-900 and $1,500 (government grant on assessor's salary); insurance, workmen's compensation $2,650 and $650; interest $2,500 and $53.33; weed inspector $1,000 and $500 (government grant on expenditure); registry office $4,800 and $3,400 (searches); miscellaneous, wolf bounties etc., $1,200 and $300.

Two sources of estimated revenue: licences $129 and rent of offices in county court buildings $1,740.

Other outright disbursements: auditor $250, convention and delegation expenses $500, warden $1,000, committees $1,000, council session $2,500, grants $2,175, legal $500, maintenance of county office $1,000, printing and postage etc. $450, salaries in county office $4,800, social and reception (a new item) $1,000, reforestation $3,000 (no anticipated revenue), family court $1,800, fox bounties $1,845.

Total receipts were $234,397.05; total disbursement $548,408.79.

Total to be raised, $314,011.75—minus the 1952 current surplus of $3,470.31—leaving $310,541.43.

Army Reverses Mourning Order

OTTAWA (CP) — The army today reversed an order that its officers go into service mourning for the late Queen Mary. Instead, the three services will go into "court mourning" for one month.

Court mourning involves only officers attending court functions or in attendance of the governor-general or lieutenant-governors of the provinces, or on duty as escorts or guards of honor to such persons. In such cases, officers will wear black armbands.

Wednesday the army announced service mourning would be observed. This involves officers wearing black armbands while in uniform and black ties while in civilian dress.

Either type of mourning involves only officers and not other ranks.

Four Firemen Hurt In Toronto Blaze

TORONTO (CP) — A $20,000 fire early today damaged a five-storey building in central Toronto and slightly injured four firemen.

The firefighters in a three-hour battle confined the blaze to the basement and the first floor but dense smoke filled the upper floors.

The building is owned by the T. Eaton Company.

Loss Of Old Baldy Not Serious—Clark

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark, United Nations Far Eeast commander, said today he does not think the loss of Old Baldy on Korea's western front is a serious blow, but "it is always serious when we lose people."

He told reporters there is no indication the Chinese assault foreshadows a spring offensive by the Communists.

Asked about a New York Times report that shiploads of artillery shells have been diverted from Korea to other parts of the world because ammunition is overflowing storage space in Korea, Clark answered:

"I know nothing of it."

"We're now in good shape on ammunition," he added.

Runs For Re-Election

TOKYO (AP)—Yukio Ozaki, the man who sent the famous Japanese cherry trees to Washington more than 40 years ago, is running for re-election to Japan's Diet (parliament). He is 93. Ozaki, almost a legend in Japanese politics, has been a member of Japan's Lower House ever since it was organized 63 years ago.

First House

of the lawn and comprised the living quarters. On either side of the wide hall leading from the front door was a bedroom and at the rear was a drawing room at one side and a sewing room opposite.

The rear door of the house gave access to the lower floor which was divided into a kitchen at the north side and a dining room across the hall. Every one of these rooms had a hearth and each of the six fireplaces in the house was spacious enough for a four-foot log.

Back of the kitchen to the west was the scullery, containing a Dutch oven made of bricks and used mainly for making bread.

BIG IRON STOVE

On the north side at the rear was the pantry and in the centre of that section was the furnace, a big iron stove enclosed by brick walls confining the heat which was carried by pipes to the upper floor. Its capacity was six four-foot hardwood sticks.

Fourteen children were born at Cordach. These included the late J. M. Roger of the law firm of Roger, Bennet and Goodwill and finally judge of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, resident at Cobourg. The Rev. Walter M. Roger for many years had a charge at Perth and ultimately went as a Presbyterian missionary to Mauritius off the east coast of Africa. Two sons went to Australia.

Of the daughters, Jane became the wife of T. M. Fairbairn, a Peterborough barrister whose office is now occupied by the firm of Currelly and Foster. He was the Liberal member for west Peterborough in the provincial legislature at the time of his death.

J. M. Fairbairn, a retired chief engineer sometime of Peterborough and now living in Montreal, was the son of T. M. Fairbairn and Jane Roger and is the father of John M. R. Fairbairn Jr. also of Montreal.

The Rev. John Morrice Roger, who first assited in the establishment of St. Andrew's church and later St. Paul's, resigned from his ministry of the latter on September 29, 1875, and died January 8, 1878, after having lived in Cordach 44 years. He was 71 at his death. His wife died in 1864 in her 52nd year.

In his will Mr. Roger directed that so long as any daughter wished to continue living at Cordach the home and estate should remain intact. So, in the later years of the family, G. M. Roger and his wife, Mrs. Fairbairn and Miss Bella Roger lived on in the house together.

Eventually the property was sold to the late G. Walter Green whose family moved from the property in 1915 but retained it until its recent purchase by Schneider Alexander Ltd. The house was leased for a number of years by Victor Kaban who occupied part of it and sublet three or four apartments.

Blenheim Wins Juvenile C Title

LINDSAY (ENS)—Blenheim Bobcats won the OMHA juvenile C championship and Jack Roxburgh Trophy here last night when they downed the Bobcaygeon juveniles 5-0 in the second game of their two-game series. Blenheim won the first game on their home ice 15-2.

A number of citizens accompanied the team from Western Ontario for the game and saw the cup presented after the final period by A. E. Bert Hick, 2nd vice-president of the OMHA of Lindsay.

It was the first time Blenheim has won in the juvenile C grouping, but Bobcaygeon has one previous championship in this class in 1947-48.

Goodison scored two goals for the winners, one on a penalty shot in the first period and others went to Wolfe, Stewart and Pearson. Goalie Norman Shillington played a good game, and Laurie and Stewart showed as good defencemen.

For the losers, Poole was best, with Kennedy close behind. The game was rough with 19 minors, two majors and three misconducts handed out. Goalie Norm Shillington of the winners drew a minor and misconduct during the game, and brother Paul had four minors. Bobcaygeon star, Poole, drew three minors, a major and a misconduct for his efforts.

Elected President

LONDON (CP) — James B. Thomas, European manager of Canadian National Railways, today was elected president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Great Britain.

L. B. Sutcliffe, representing a Kingston leather firm, was elected first vice-president, and B. Strath, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, becomes second vice-president.

TRAVEL: With Jean Stenton

"I just discovered the other day what they used our goggles for," Kenty said. "I found the men had cut them in two and were using them as strainers for tea and coffee. You can't win."

* * * *

Ninety-five percent of the accidents are to the hands and feet. But in the 4½ years Mr. Kenty has been there, there have been only two fatal accidents. They were both shovel operators or mucking machine men. They were not working on their regular jobs when they were killed.

* * * *

"The men are fatalists about death. They take chances and go in places no ordinary miner would even consider," Percival declared.

* * * *

WELL LOOKED AFTER

The company has been in Taxco nine years and they look after their Canadian employees well. The company supplies a furnished house, pays the water, light etc. About all the men have to pay is their food and income tax. Every Canadian is permitted to keep a gun in his house. If an intruder clambers over the wall with the intent of stealing they have permission to shoot and Kenty has nicked one.

* * * *

Like all people away from their country, the Canadians stick together and if someone comes from home it is an occasion for rejoicing. Mr. and Mrs. Kenty threw open their home to me and gathered for an evening as many Canadians as they could and a few veteran Americans who knew Mexico well. During his time here, Mr. Kenty has made a hobby of photography and has some unusual pictures of the Lenten fiestas in Taxco part of which I just missed.

* * * *

In this fiesta, certain people who are anxious to be taken back into the church have a severe penance to perform. Masked and bare to the waist, they have a heavy load of cactus across their shoulders and the needles dig deep into their back. They have to carry it a long distance with arms outstretched and a candle burning in each hand. Kenty recalls seeing miners come into work with badly burned hands and it was only then he realized they had been in the parade of penitents.

* * * *

Mining men are like newspaper people. The minute they get together they talk shop. From this I learned many interesting things about Mexico. Canadian in Taxco has a good reputation with Mexicans so they have been good ambassadors for our country.

Predicts School Building Costs To Soar

CHATHAM (CP) — A "fantastic" amount of money will be spent on school construction in the next 10 years, Mrs. Evelyn Moore of Stratford, president of the Ontario School Trustees and Ratepayers Association, said Wednesday.

Mrs. Moore, addressing the second annual education conference of delegates from Kent, Lambton, Essex, Middlesex and Elgin counties, said $156,000,000 was spent in the last seven years on new schools. This figure, she said, will be small compared with future expenditures.

She said the demand for good teachers is more urgent than new classrooms. Potential teachers now in high schools must be carefully trained and given proper working and living conditions.

"Teachers don't think of salaries nearly as much as they do of living accommodation," Mrs. Moore said.

Delegates asked for a change in the Public School Act to permit election of school trustees on the same day as municipal elections. Another motion suggesting regional classes for handicapped children was also carried.

Six Go To Hospital After Head-On Crash

NORTH BAY (CP) — A head-on collision between a city police cruiser and another automobile five miles west of here Wednesday night sent six district residents to hospital.

The injured incluuded Sgt. Edgar Girard of the city police and Leo Paquette, 52, whom Sgt. Girard was taking to cells at nearby Sturgeon Falls.

North Bay police are using Sturgeon Falls cells pending completion of the new police station here, scheduled for next month.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By G. E. GROOMBRIDGE

Now that the Regional Conference is over we can all concentrate on preparing for the field day events. It is less than two months away. One item was discussed among a group recently, "What about lunches". Each group committee should supply one or two cars in which the lunches of the boy, properly marked, will be placed.

Just for your guidance, the field day takes place seven weeks from this coming Saturday.

UNIFORM EXCHANGE

It is reported activity has been noted in this uniform exchange work and this is a reminder that the next date is Thursday, April 2nd in St. Paul's Sunday school.

CENTRES AT CONFERENCE

Visitors at our conference came from Picton, Wellington, Bridgenorth, Trenton, Oshawa, Carrying Place, Brighton, R.C.A., Campbellford, Lakefield, Port Hope, Baltimore, Cobourg, Western, Sterling, Napanee, R.C.A.F. Creighton Heights, Norwood and Belleville not forgetting our guest speaker from Ottawa.

PLAN ACHIEVEMENT

We are wondering why, for the last two conferences, we have not seen any Peterborough group presented with Plan Achievement badges. May be, we have not planned for the future but are satisfied to plug along. May be the boys would like to see one of those crests on the Pack or Troop Colors.

2ND PETERBOROUGH

Practice for Parent's Night entertainment went into full swing following the opening ceremonies at which Randy Cummings took the lead. Red Flower was made even brighter in the presentation of badges, Ron Worboy receiving the team player's badge, Daird Choate—artist, Ron James—collector. Blair Greenly his 3rd year service star. Bill Bonney was promoted to the rank of seconder in the White Six. Test work was recorded by Don Hepburn, Randy Bradshaw, Gary Robinson. Ron Jabes and Art McNabb.

In the Troop Scouter, Hank Nokes took the opening exercises. G. Byrnes passed wood craft signs, G. Roberts—Kim's game, P. Sanderson—signalling, R. Leggitt—cyclist's badge, M. Tunnicliffe—first aid, wood craft signs, knots and whipping, rules of health, exercises, compass, axe and knife.

3RD PETERBOROUGH

Several boys were advanced at an investiture ceremony during which David Williams and Cyril Barnes of the White Six, Wayne Kemp, Allen Pearson and Bob Bennett of the Grey Six added their names to the world roster of the brotherhood. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett witnessed the ceremony. Mr. Swyers, a member of the group committee assisted during instruction period. Brent Warrent told the story at Red Flower.

4TH PETERBOROUGH

Mr. and Mrs. Devlin were special guests and took part in the investiture ceremony of their son Jimmy as he made his promise before the Pack to take his part in the world brotherhood of scouting as a wolf cub. Terry Crowder, another new chum, was welcomed to the council rock. Peter DeNoble passed model, Bert Bailey—bal lthrowing and Billy Harrington—skipping. Tawny Brother Larry Woodcock and his Tawny Six led the six competition.

5TH PETERBOROUGH

Baskets and coat hangers are being collected and points awarded in the Six competition for same. Mr. Perks took over a signalling class in which Dave Fletcher, Graham Sutton, Murray Wilson, Derek McKeever, Ken Curvin, Bob Pulford, Bob Leal and Billy Kibblewhite took part. The White Six won the honor pennant with the score of 884 points, Yellow 652, Blue 447, Black 445, Red 363 and Brown 154.

7TH PETERBOROUGH

David Giles and Bob McGavin both took part in the opening ceremonies. Ron Earle, Clifford Endicott, Jimmy Anderson, Bob McGavin, Tom Steadman and Ian Murray passed leap frog tests; Ron Earle, Jimmy Anderson, Bob McGavin, Ian Murray passed somersault; Jimmy Anderson, Clifford Endicott, Ron Earle, Bob McGavin, Ian Murray and Tom Steadman completed hopping; Bill Turner, Warren Dunfield, Bob Shimer, Bill and John Gordon, David Minty, Barry LeRoy, Tom Caldwell, Larry Greig and Stan McBride passed physical exercises; John Hewitt, Peter Philp, Nigel Parks, Terry Higgins and David Giles—2nd star signalling.

SMALL SCALE DIGGING OUT CHORE—Six-year-old Dickie Rumford clears away fallen branches that hemmed in his tricycle after a severe windstorm in Kansas City, Kan. Heavy storms throughout the mid-west, many of "twister" velocity, kicked up clouds of dust and caused considerable property damage.

John Hewitt, Peter Philp and Terry Higgins received gardener's badge, and the artist badge was presented to Nigel Parks. Richard Ward received his second star, David Wilson, Stan McBride and Nigel Parks completed compass work toward their 2nd star.

8TH PETERBOROUGH

Bill Richardson led in the grand howl. Baloo, Bagherra and Akela McLeod of St. Paul's tested the boys in star work with the results being Union Jack — B. Stickles, D. Donaldson, D. Wharry, F. Rowell, J. Andrew, B. Richardson, G. Nickals. Knots—B. Stickle, D. Donaldson, G. Nickals, B. Richardson, D. Wharry, F. Rowell, K. Wood, D. Gaskell, J. Andrew. Book Balancing—B. Stickle, D. Donaldson, G. Nickals, B. Richardson, D. Wharry, F. Rowell, D. Gaskell. Somersault and cleanliness — J. Anrew. Time telling—J. Andrew, K. Anderson, K. Armour. Highway code—J. Andrew.

13TH PETERBOROUGH

A solemn ceremony was witnessed by the troop as Scouter Borland and the Assistant Scouter were fully invested as leaders by Assistant District Commissioner Harold Wilson assisted by Eric Edmundson of the Group Contact Committee. On Thursday the troop went to the YMCA for swimming, taking part in races and water ball tag. The Eagle Patrol won the honor pennant with 44 points. Don Wilson was recently accepted into the troop as a new recruit.

16TH PETERBOROUGH

Before the Council Rock Friday, Bob Stenson was fully invested into the Cub section. Present were Eric Bacon and Eric Edmunson to assist in the preparation for field day events.

17TH PETERBOROUGH

Doug Patterson has been promoted to the rank of patrol leader, and Francis Taylor assistant. Art Little was made assistant patrol leader of the Beavers and Don Wood assistant patrol leader of the Owls. Ron Wood has completed his second class tests and has started off for the first-class badge. Scouter Wood explained that now the group is on its own, and responsible 2for the Mission Hall, the troop is grateful to the Mothers' Auxiliary and the Group Committee for their loyal support. Three Scouts recently attended a meeting of the Mothers' Auxiliary and explained about the bronze arrow course. Those attending were Doug Patterson, Brian Reid, and Roy Wood.

1ST PETERBOROUGH

Ronald Winslow has been invested into St. John's pack. The progress chart recorded the following tests completed at this meeting: Union Jack, Bobby Yudin; highway cod, Don Sherk and Bobby Yudin; first-aid; Tom Lewis; cleanliness, Ralph Cunningham; cleaning shoes, Henry Langley; book balancing, Fred Willison; collector badge and message, Wallace Davidson; house orderly and model, Ken McLaren; artist, George Boucher; skipping, Fred Willison; second star knots, Ken McLaren, Gary Hamilton, Don Ross; time, Bob Yudin, Grant Menzies, Gary Dalliday, Bruce Cotton, Fred Willison.

Sunday, March 15, was the regular monthly Communion of the Rev. Kibblewhite Rover Scout Crew. Speaker for this breakfast was assistant rover leader Doug Harris. Mr. Harris gave an interesting address, "The Forgotten River." Mr. Harris pointed out that only in a few places has Peterborough attempted to beautify the Otonabee, whereas London, Ont., has parks and walks along its river. Monday night found the crew with ample business. The crew's part in the forthcoming field day was once again brought to its attention, and the committees set up two months ago to look after the Rover refreshment stand and erection of a flagpole, had favorable reports.

Ancient Mural Found In Hamlet

PICCOTTS END, Eng. (CP)—A 16-foot water-color mural, depicting the life of Christ, has been discovered by workmen repairing an ancient farm cottage in this rustic Hertfordshire hamlet. The painting, in five panels extending along the walls of the cottage, is believed to date back nearly 500 years.

An authority on Norman architecture said the work bore traces of vandalism, probably committed in the time of Oliver Cromwell. The figures, typical of those used centuries ago by monks to teach the illiterate, were found to have been badly mutilated.

The murals done in red, yellow and blue, portray the Nativity, the baptism of Christ, with the figure of John the Baptist and an angel; Christ with hand raised in blessing; His body being taken from the cross and Mary with St. Peter and other figures.

Generations of one family had lived in the house for more than 100 years without being aware of the painting.

VON Cables Sympathy

Brant County Sets Tax Rate 1½ Mills Up

BRANTFORD (CP) — Brant county council Tuesday set the 1953 tax rate at 7½ mills, 1½ mills higher than 1952's rate. Brantford township and the town of Paris will pay the biggest part of the 1953 levy of $225,418. The township will play $110,841 and Paris will contribute $39,307.

Paris, irked at the amount of money it is contributing for county roads, asked to withdraw from the county. The move was rejected by the Ontario legislature but the county council Tuesday decided to refund to Paris 50 per cent of its contribution to county road costs.

200 Perish In Massacre As Rebel Mau Mau Strikes

Claxton Denies Canadians Misled On Air Defences

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton said today Canada is going to meet her 12-squadron air commitment in Europe on time and "it should be possible for us similarly to complete the planned buildup of the air defence of Canada." In reply to a stinging statement by a reserve force RCAF wing commander that Canada's own air defences are non-existent, the minister said the first squadron of CF-100 fighters designed specifically for Canadian defence now is in process of formation.

It was impossible, he said, to establish these all-weather, long-range squadrons earlier to meet Canadian needs "until the planes were produced and there were no suitable planes in production anywhere."

BEHIND SCHEDULE

(Production of the CF-100 is months behind the original schedule.)

He denied that Canadians have been misled about the state of their air defences, attacked in Toronto Thursday night by Wing Cmdr. Richard Rohmer as so weak that they "could not stop one Russian bomber attacking over 30,000 feet in broad daylight unless it stumbled into the Quebec area."

Mr. Claxton said he has made it clear that the F-86E Sabres being produced in Canada are to go to Europe but that they will be available for Canadian home defence until they go. There are three such squadrons in Canada now.

Wing Cmdr. Rohmer, who won the Distinguished Flying Cross in operations in support of the Normandy invasion in 1944, said in an address to the Canadian Progress Club that Canada is defenceless to an air attack.

"After the billions of dollars have been spent, after years of so-called preparation, except for three Sabre jet squadrons under training to go to Europe under NATO, Canada could not put up a single modern aircraft in its own defence."

NO FAST SQUADRONS

"There are no fast-moving RCAF jet fighter squadrons guarding the north," he said. "The Russians know that, the RCAF knows that, the government knows that. The only people who don't know are the Canadian people; because they are being told by the 'experts' in Ottawa that there are such squadrons.

"It is high time that the people of Canada were told the truth about themselves and their non-existent defences."

Wing Cmdr. Rohmer, a 1951 law school graduate now associated with a Toronto law firm, retired March 10 from command of Toronto's No. 411 auxiliary fighter squadron.

Fired From Job TV Man Threatens Jump

TORONTO (CP)—A television sound-effects man, bitter because he was fired from his job, climbed 300 feet up the CBC's giant television tower and threatened to jump.

He came down about two hours after he began his arduous ascent because of his love for his pretty brunette girl friend.

Joe Lacosse, fired Thursday from CBLT, the CBC's Toronto TV station, was on his way up the lattice work of the 460-foot high tower by 10 p. m. He climbed a ladder and eased himself up the girders to the 100-foot level platform where he got on the stairs.

About half an hour later Don Woodley, 20, spotted him. When he came closer Lacosse yelled: "Get back or I'll jump." Woodley then notified police.

By 11 p. m. the dangerous rescue operation was under way. Floodlights lit up the big metal structure set back about 200 feet from downtown Jarvis Street in a court in front of the CBC's new TV building. Seven firemen held a 12-foot net. A crowd of more than 1,000, held back by a police cordon, stood silently, faces skyward, watching the drama 300 feet above.

Two firemen, two detectives and two uniformed policemen started up the ladder in the centre of the metalic - orange - colored structure. Lacosse threatened to jump. Then he began throwing pieces of metal.

Then Detective Robert Miller began talking. The detective, who hates heights, knew Lacosse. He met him a few months ago when he investigated a slugging when Lacosse was hit over the head and robbed.

KEEPS TALKING

As Miller inched closer to Lacosse, the detective called: "Losing your job shouldn't end your life. You're a trained technician. You can get a job with a private firm; probably make a lot more money."

At first Lacosse wouldn't speak. Then hesitatingly he began to tell Miller about his beautiful girl friend and how much he loved her.

"How would she feel?" Miller asked him. "Can you imagine how upset she'll be if you jump?"

Lacosse then decided to make a deal. He would come down if all lights were turned out and his girl was waiting at the foot of the tower.

All floodlights, ground and building lights were darkened. The crowds were pushed back. Police located Jane Kilbourne and brought her to the foot of the tower in a police cruiser.

When the girl had arrived, Lacosse began his slow descent.

All was quiet when he reached the bottom and was whisked into a waiting police car. At police headquarters he broke loose from police, swinging at photographers. His girl was at his side as he was charged with creating a disturbance.

BECAUSE HE WAS FIRED by the CBC at 5 p.m., Joseph Marcel Locosse, 27, (see inset) Thursday night threatened to jump from the CBLT television tower 300 feet above the ground where firemen spread a net in hopes of catching him if he did jump. As CBC employees watched from windows, Toronto detective Bob Miller talked the man into coming down after an hour's persuading. He was charged with creating a public nuisance.

Union Heads Plan Discipline

NEW WATERFORD, N. S. (CP) About 3,000 coal miners face the threat of disciplinary action by their union bosses unless they end a spreading wildcat strike which has tied up three top-producing mines here.

Officials of the United Mine Workers (CCL) have called the walkout illegal. They have given notice of a get-tough policy towards the miners, who show no signs they intend to return to the pits.

The strike started when 1,200 employees of Dominion Coal Company's No. 12 colliery, biggest producer of coal in Cape Breton, remained idle Monday in sympathy with 13 suspended fellow workers.

The 13 objected to working in what they considered an unfavorable section of the mine. The men are paid on a tonnage basis.

Threatens To Crash In Suicide Attempt

HAWTHORNE, Calif. (AP)—A flier, threatening to crash a stolen plane in a suicide try, provided grim drama over the metropolitan Los Angeles area today.

A sheriff's spokesman said the pilot had tried to ram another plane which took off after a message to the Hawthorne airport tower—"I'm going to crash and kill myself."

A member of the sheriff's aero squadron took off in an attempt to persuade the pilot to land.

Hoping To Avert Strike At Lakehead

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Gregg today brought labor and management spokesmen together in an attempt to prevent a Lakehead terminal elevator strike which would choke off the expected peak spring flow of grain down the Great Lakes.

Frank Hall of Montreal, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (TLC-AFL), headed a union delegation representing the 1,600 Lakehead grain handlers, threatening to strike April 6 over an overtime pay dispute with 15 elevator companies.

John Lindsay of Winnipeg, chairman of the terminal elevators negotiating committee, represented the operators, along with John Wesson, head of the Saskatchewan pool elevators, and R. C. Brown of Winnipeg, vice - president of United Grain Growers Ltd.

The dispute centres around application of a contract negotiated but not signed last fall under which the grain handlers were to get a 40-hour week, reduced from 48 hours, and time-and-a-half for overtime.

Plan New Atomic Canon To Be Hit-And-Run Weapon

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP)—If the United States Army's new atomic cannon is to be a complete success in actual combat, it will have to be used as a hit-and-run weapon despite its tremendous size.

This is the opinion of Col. Devere Armstrong, who will soon superintend the firing of the first atomic projectile from the army's new 280-millimetre gun on the Nevada proving grounds.

Armstrong brought out the hit-and-run idea Thursday as a crew from his artillery battalion fired 11 rounds of conventional ammunition in a preview of the Nevada tests for visiting newspaper men.

"This is a great big gun, physically speaking," Armstrong said, "and when you combine that with its unprecedented destructive potential when it shoots an atomic round you will appreciate how vitally the enemy will want to locate it on the battlefield and then do everything possible to knock it out before it sends an atomic target within his lines.

"We are likewise vitally interested in preventing the enemy from finding the gun; hence we inquire into every known possibility from his viewpoint.

"The optimum solution from our viewpoint would be to be able, when a suitable target for an atomic round is located by intelligence agencies, to send this weapon forward from a sheltered rear area and under cover of darkness to a previously prepared position, deliver the atomic shell without prior registration or other firing that would alert the enemy, and then remove the gun back to a sheltered position."

Armstrong said the atomic shell would be fired about seven miles in Nevada and would be timed to burst 500 feet above ground. This was the range and air burst used in Thursday's firing of conventional ammunition, some of which was designed to simulate an atomic shell. The big gun, which has a maximum range of around 20 miles, fires a projectile weighing 800 pounds.

Maj.-Gen. A. M. Harper, commanding general of the artillery centre, said the firing of an atomic shell would be done "in the near future."

U.S. Answering Germ Charges

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The U. S. was reported ready to blast Russia's germ warfare charges today and to demand an impartial United Nations inquiry to prove to the outside world whether or not the charges are true.

The Soviet Union vetoed a similar American effort to get an impartial airing of the charges in the 11-country security council last year. The Americans then put the issue before all 60 UN members in this session of the general assembly for a final showdown with the Reds.

U. S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross was due to open the debate today in the assembly's political committee. An American spokesman said Gross probably would introduce a resolution asking for the UN investigation of the Red charges that the Americans dropped bacteria bombs in North Korea and Red China.

There appeared little hope the Communists would permit such an inquiry even if the assembly adopts the resolution overwhelmingly. But the Americans will consider such adoption a major moral victory, proving to the word Reds are against impartial investigation.

Four Royal Dukes To March Behind Queen Mary's Coffin

LONDON (CP)—Four royal dukes will march behind the flag-draped coffin of Queen Mary when it is borne on a gun carriage to ancient Westminster Hall Sunday for two days of lying in state before burial Tuesday. The late Queen will lie in state in the same historic building where her husband and son, Kings George V and George VI, previously lay in state.

Workmen today laid rich carpets in the shadowy stone-flagged hall.

When the coffin is brought from a royal chapel near Marlborough House, where indomitable old Queen Mary died Tuesday night, it will be followed by four of the top Dukes in England—the Duke of Edinburgh, husband of the Queen; the Duke of Windsor and the Duke of Gloucester, surviving sons of Queen Mary; and the young Duke of Kent. Missing will be the Duke of Cornwall, four-year-old son of the Queen.

HUNDREDS OF TROOPS

Also in the cortege will be hundreds of troops, bearskin-hatted regiments, breast-plated horse-guards, and massed army bands.

At the lying in state the purple catafalque will be guarded by gentlemen at arms wearing silver breastplates and plumed helmets, and Yeomen of the Guard in Tudor costumes.

The Duke of Windsor and the Duke of Gloucester also may stand guard at the start of the lying-in-state period. The Duke of Windsor now is in Paris but will return this week-end to take part in the services.

Woman Kills Husband While Sleepwalking

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (CP)—A psychiatrist testified Thursday that Mrs. Leslie Weddington, 36, killed her husband while walking in her sleep.

Dr. W. E. Rich, testifying at Mrs. Weddington's murder trial, said she was in a sleep-walking trance when she carried out a subconscious urge to kill her husband.

He said he did not think she was conscious of the fact until after it was completed. He described the case as "anxiety hysteria."

The husband, Richard Weddington, 42, was killed by a shotgun blast in the back as he slept at the couple's home near here last Nov. 1.

The couple had been married 18 years and had five children.

Talks Stalled On Saar Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and France were reported agreed today on Indo-China and European defence policy, but at odds over plans for settling the future of the industrial Saar basin.

The French-American disagreement over Saar policy developed Thursday as President Eisenhower and top American officials began conferences with a visiting French government delegation headed by Premier Rene Mayer.

As the talks entered their second day, Mayer was said to be insisting France must get general assurances she will continue, in effect, to dominate the Saar before she consents to join the proposed six-country European Army.

The Saar is a rich steel-producing area of 738 square miles, claimed by both France and Western Germany. After the Second World War, it was detached from Germany and integrated economically with France.

Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles made it known in two talks Thursday they did not believe agreement on the Saar's future should be made a condition of French approval of the long-delayed European Army arrangement.

Faces 40 Charges Involving $50,000

TORONTO (CP) — A land evaluator for the Ontario department of highways will face 40 charges involving $50,000 when he appears in court here April 10, Ontario provincial police said today.

James L. Cuttell, 45, originally faced one charge involving $1,500 when arrested in January. Since then, investigations of Crown counsel H. H. Bull and Inspector Ward Kennedy have resulted in further charges.

The original charge involved the sale of land on the Queen Elizabeth Way and new Barrie highway. Other charges involve land acquired and not used for a right-of-way, police said.

Marines Fight Savagely, Take Outpost

Both Sides Sustain Heavy Losses As Area Recaptured

SEOUL (AP)—United States marines today regained Vegas outpost from Chinese troops who 24 hours earlier wiped out all marines there in a surprise smash.

The marines recaptured the western front outpost after 10 hours of bitter, costly hand-to-hand trench fighting.

A regimental commander said the Chinese killed or captured every marine on Vegas and nearby Reno outposts when 3,500 Reds seized the positions in a surprise night attack. The number of marine casualties was not disclosed.

The commander of the 5th marine regiment said that at 9:45 p.m. tonight (7:45 a.m. EST), his troops were in firm control of Vegas.

The marines reported they destroyed the effectiveness of from 12 to 15 Chinese companies—more than 2,000 troops.

There was no estimate of Chinese casualties.

Reno, the second marine outpost lost in the screaming Red attack, remained in Communist hands. The Chinese also clung to devastated Old Baldy, 52 miles north of Seoul, captured Wednesday from the U. S. 7th infantry division.

LIKE BED OF COALS

Allied planes and artillery gouged the bloody, red dirt hill through the day. Airmen said 'the peak resembled a bed of hot coals."

Both sides have taken heavy losses in the mounting western front fighting. Nearly 2,000 Chinese casualties have been counted. Allied losses have not been announced, but crushing Red artillery fire and bloody hand-to-hand fighting have taken a toll.

Flying Squads Hunt Sadist

LONDON (CP) — Police today searched for a 21-year-old girl who they believe may have been the fifth victim of the Notting Hill sex killer.

While Scotland Yard intensified the hunt for the sex sadist who hid the strangled corpses of four women in a grubby west end flat, detectives were seeking Margaret Boyle, missing from her home for six weeks.

She lived only a short distance from the house in a squalid west London street where four bodies were found this week under the floor boards and in a sealed-up closet.

A general warning was issued that the killer may strike again at any time.

Doctors who examined the bodies said the victims had been subjected to "uncontrollable outbursts of passion" by the slayer.

Scotland Yard detectives described their quarry as a middle-aged man of abnormal sex tendencies who practiced sadism of "a peculiar type."

The last of the four bodies was identified Thursday as that of Mrs. Ethel Christie, 45, last seen by neighbors just before Christmas. She had lived in the murder flat for nearly 20 years with her 55-year-old husband, John, a trucking clerk.

Swedish Air Force, Navy Based Inside Mountains

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Sweden is building the world's largest rock shelter for civilians here as part of her atomic age "Operation Granite," which also provides for basing almost all the Swedish Air Force and Navy inside mountains.

The huge civilian shelter, biggest of a group of scores already completed or under construction around this traditionally neutral country, cuts through a mountain in the heart of Stockholm. It is designed to give 20,000 civilians complete protection against a direct hit by an atomic bomb.

It was shown to reporters for the first time as Swedish defence officials lifted the screen of secrecy Thursday from some phases of "Operation Granite," which has been proceeding since the Second World War.

Reporters were told that a vital part of the Swedish Navy can now dock in atom-bomb-proof harbors gouged from the shoreline of mountains along Sweden's Baltic coast.

The location of these harbors is a military secret. But it was reported they were "very numerous," can accommodate anything from submarines to destroyers and it is planned to make room for cruisers, too.

The Swedes also have blasted space for sheltered naval yards in the solid rock.

Reporters were admitted for the first time into on eof the atom bomb-proof mountain hangars.

They saw a unit of eight Swedish-built jet planes take to the air from inside the mountain in two minutes.

The rock shelter for Stockholm civilians has three floors and nine entrances. Some of its huge stone doors weigh as much as 60 tons.

Women, Children Burned In Houses, Hacked To Death

NAIROBI, Kenya (CP)—Mau Mau terrorists massacred an estimated 200 African men, women and children north of Nairobi during the night—beginning the open war they promised against white settlers and pro-government Africans in the British colony. The anti-white cultists went on the warpath in a seven-mile strip of Kikuyu settlements, hacking men, women and babes-in-arms to pieces, shooting and burning huts at will. It was the biggest Mau Mau raid in the history of the colony—a fury of savagery unparalleled in Kenya since the arrival of the first white colonists.

Another gang stormed into the town of Naivasha, 55 miles north of Nairobi and swept through the police station, killing five African policemen.

They ransacked the station and seized 50 rifles, 12 sub-machine-guns, carbines and thousands of rounds of ammunition.

ESCAPE IN TRUCKS

In both raids the attackers made their escape in trucks. About 100 terrorists drove up to the police station in two trucks, killed the five natives and released all the prisoners. The dead included the African policeman on duty in his office, an African member of the Kenya police reserve, two released prisoners and one suspected terrorist.

A macabre touch was added to the grisly massacre when official reports disclosed later that the

Hambley Rink In Semi-Final

TORONTO (CP)—Two eastern Ontario rinks—Peterborough and Lakefield—will meet with two Toronto rinks today in the semi-finals for the Brereton-Raw Trophy main award of the annual week-long Granite Club mixed bonspiel.

The Peterborough quartet, skipped by H. Hambley won their semi-final berth by downing A. Grant's Unionville rink 10-9 in the quarter finals earlier today. H. Hamlin's Lakefield four defeated a Haliburton rink skipped by C. Hussey 9-5.

The Toronto semi-finalists are G. Meech's Toronto High Park rink and W. Tommenson's Granite club aggregation. The final for the trophy is scheduled for tonight.

In the Royal Doulton trophy play, the secondary competition, Lindsay and Morrisburg rinks will clash in the semi-finals with two Toronto rinks.

The Lindsay rink, skipped by E. Gregory, took its quarter-final game 13-8 from a Hamilton Victoria rink skipped by W. Barclay. Dr. C. M. Laidley's Morrisburg rink won 7-5 from D. Currie's Ottawa rink.

The Toronto rinks in the semi-finals are both Granite Club rinks skipped by R. Howard and A. Spencer. The final of this event also is scheduled for tonight.

100,000 On Strike

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — About 100,000 workers went on strike in Sao Paulo state today to protest rising costs of living and clashed with non-strikers trying to enter the factories. Police quelled the disturbances and arrested several persons. Textile, metal, and shoe factories were affected by the walkout.

Policemen Weep At Sight Of Death Village

By RONALD BATCHELOR

UPLANDS, Kenya (Reuters) — Today I drove through the rolling green hills just north of Nairobi where 200 Kikuyu men, women and children were slaughtered by Mau Mau warriors lunging suddenly onto the warpath overnight.

Cows were plaintively lowing and sheep grazed. But the clatter and laughter of the African villages was stilled.

Vultures wheeled in the hot sunshine over charred and chopped-up Mau Mau victims.

Mothers walked by carrying the hacked bodies of their children—and hardened policemen stood watching, tears streaming down their faces.

The stench of death mingled with the smoke from a dozen huts.

HACKED TO DEATH

Chief Luka lay hacked to death in the ruins of his home. Only his feet were intact. Outside, two gutted trucks stood with the slashes of panga knives driven into their tires. On the ground were the grotesque, twisted forms of two bodies. Both were badly burned and had deep gashes on their chests, faces and heads.

In the grey-white ash beyond were more bodies—it was impossible to tell whether they belonged to man or beast.

Three Africans walked to meet us with blank, gazed eyes. A woman and two men shuffled forward and the older man lif his head, half bowed and said "jambo"—the Swahili greeting.

He was Benson Njenga, the dead chief's 40-year-old brother who had survived the savage onslaught.

He told how scores of terrorists surrounded the circular hut at midnight and burst into the compound through the frail wall of stakes.

He heard the command "now," the door of his hut burst open and rifle shots ripped through the room.

"I rolled under the bed and pretended to be dead," he said.

Later he peeked through the door and saw tribesmen setting fire to the roofs of the huts.

Have No Trace Of Passports

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has lost track of about 120 Canadian passports carried to Yugoslavia since the war but has no information that any were sent to Russia for the use of Soviet agents, an external affairs department spokesman said Thursday.

R. M. Macdonnell, assistant under-secretary, was commenting on a news report that Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito had told British officials on his recent London visit that his government had seized 800 passports and sent them to Moscow before his break with Stalin.

Replying to questions from members of the Commons external affairs committee, Mr. Macdonnell said 870 passports had been issued for the approximately 2,000 Yugoslav-Canadians who left Canada for their homeland since the war. Of these, 637 had been turned back to Canadian authorities, either by the holders or the Tito government.

"We can account pretty well for all except about 120," Mr. Macdonnell said.

To avert the use of passports by persons other than those to whom they are issued, G. K. Fraser (PC—Peterborough) suggested the use of fingerprints.

Britain Flies Troops To Kenya Stations

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain will begin airlifting a further 1,200 to 1,300 troops to Kenya Monday to join in operations against Mau Mau terrorists, it was learned today.

The new reinforcements will bring up the strength of British troops in Kenya to 5,500.

Fears New Homes Won't Be Built If Rent Controlled

TORONTO (CP)—New homes may not be built in Ontario if the province continues its jurisdiction over rent controls, Premier Frost said in the legislature Thursday night. In reply to an attack on his administration's bill to turn over responsibility for rent control to municipalities March 2, 1954, the premier said controls can be prolonged to the point where they would damage incentive to build new homes. During the day, the legislature heard an opposition member urge an increase in teachers' salaries to stop what he termed a deepening crisis in Ontario education, an announcement that about 100,000 square miles of the far north is banned to non-resident hunters and anglers and saw introduction of a bill to compensate persons swindled by Ontario lawyers.

Another bill introduced would enable members to sit on most government committees and commissions. Premier Frost said the tradition of separation of the executive and legislature should not be applied because government functions are so complicated today it would be a waste not to use trained members on government bodies.

He also told the House that his government is anxious to help the province's 700 credit unions in every way possible.

TRAVEL BUDGET

Travel Minister Cecile announced that the travel and publicity department will spend $1,485,000 during 1953-54—the same amount it spent last year.

The proposed change in rent control came under fire from four members, W. J. Grummett, CCF house leader (Cochrane South), T. D. Thomas (CCF—Ontario), G. T. Gordon (L—Brantford) and J. B. Salsberg (Lab.-Prog.—Toronto St. Andrew). In the voice vote during the second reading, they voted against the bill.

Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver said he questioned the policy, but he signified his approval in the vote.

The premier said municipalities have to be given a year's notice before rent control is turned over to them. If the bill is delayed another year, it would mean a postponement of two years.

COMING ANYWAY

"The step must be taken some day. It might as well be taken now," he said. "I believe that the great majority of Ontario municipalities would be better off away from rent controls."

The two CCF critics said councils in many of the 219 municipalities affected by rent controls could be unable to withstand the pressures which would be exerted on them if they tried to maintain controls.

The municipalities affected include all the province's cities and most of the large towns with a total population of more than 5,000,000.

Mr. Gordon said controls are the only means of preventing gouging by landlords and Mr. Salsberg described the proposal as a "dirty deal."

Aurele Chartrand (L — Ottawa East), speaking during the budget debate, said low pay, bad working conditions and lack of social prestige had brought crisis, uncertainty and confusion to the teaching profession and unless action is taken the result will be chaos.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURE

Frank MacDougall, deputy lands minister, said the far north ban is intended to ensure that there will not be another incident like the one Aug. 26, 1951, when hockey star Bill Barilko and Dr. Henry Hudson disappeared in their plane while on a fishing trip in the James bay area.

The banned area is bounded on the west by the Ontario-Manitoba border, on the south by the 11th base line, on the east by the north shores of the Wabassi and Albany rivers to James bay and then west along James bay and Hudson bay to the Manitoba border.

Mr. MacDougall said the search for the two men cost the taxpayers more than $250,000.

Attorney-General Porter said the bill to compesnate swindled persons would authorize the Upper Canada Law Society to make levies on its 5,000 members to reimburse victimized persons.

He said no public money would be involved and the fund would be administered by the legal profession itself.

TOURIST PROMOTION

Announcing his department's expenditure for the coming year, Travel Minister Cecile said his department's withdrawal from rent controls administration will enable it to spend an additional $190,000 on tourist promotion activities.

These will include increased newspaper advertising and publicity at a cost of $108,000; establishment of an additional full-time tourist camp inspectorate for Northern Ontario; maintenance of three tourist reception centres all the year instead of on a summer-only basis; and an increased expenditure on motion picture films.

The new tourist camp inspector would operate from the vicinity of Orillia and would bring the number of full-time inspectors to 11. In addition, there would be 13 part-time inspectors. The tourist centres which would operate all-year round were located at Niagara Falls, Windsor and Sarnia.

3-6 Year Term For Oleo Heir

NEW YORK (CP) — Minot (Mickey) Jelke, heir to an oleomargarine fortune who was convicted of inducing a number of girls to become prostitutes, was sentenced today to three to six years in prison.

He was convicted on two counts of compulsory prostitution—living off the earnings of call girls.

Jelke was sentenced to from three to six years on each count, with the sentences to run concurrently.

Judge Francis L. Valente said it was "unpleasant to deprive anyone of liberty" but that it was necessary in this case to "orient" Jelke's thinking.

Youth Pleads Guilty To Shopbreaking

BELLEVILLE—Pleading guilty to four charges of shopbreaking, one charge of breaking with intent, one charge of housebreaking and one charge of theft, James P. Kennedy, 24, of Belleville, was remanded for sentence next Tuesday when he appeared before Magistrate T. Y. Wills in magistrate's court here Thursday.

Kennedy was arrested by Toronto police at the request of Belleville police on March 10. When arrested he had articles stolen in Toronto and was subsequently sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. He was returned to Belleville to face the local charges.

Two Sailors Killed

COPENHAGEN (AP)—At least two sailors were killed and nine were injured when a violent explosion wrecked the engine room of the Danish minesweeper Lougen at the Baltic port of Roenne early today. Heavy steel plates were hurled into the air and water poured into the hull. The crew worked frantically to keep the vessel afloat.

2 Boards Settle Terms To Merge Health Services

At a three-hour session Thursday night the members of the Board of Health and the Board of Education reached agreement on terms for a merger of the Board of Education's medical health services with those of the city.

K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, and Dr. J. P. Wells, MOH, will meet with City Solicitor Wilfred S. Huycke, QC, to draw up contract for merger of the school medical services. The terms will then be submitted to both boards for their approval.

Also attending the joint meeting were Dr. E. R. Westman of the maternal and child hygiene division, Ontario Department of Health, and two other departmental staff members—Miss Edna Squires and Miss Muriel Lowry.

CONTINUE DENTAL

The Board of Education while handing over their medical services will continue their own dental services in the city public schools. The local Department of Health will supervise the medical services and assume the costs of salaries and consumable supplies. Fixed equipment will be owned by the Board of Education.

The changeover will probably begin some time in July and will be in effect when schools re-open in September.

Chairman of the joint meeting Thursday night was Alderman John A. Dewart, chairman of the Board of Health. Mayor Hugh Waddell also sat in for the discussion.

Prices Climbing On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Prices turned upward in early afternoon stock market trading today.

Industrials held firm while base metals and western oils rose. Golds remained weak. Volume for the first three hours totalled 2,119,000 shares.

A more-than-$1 gain in Gunnar led uraniums higher but New Brunswick base metals were mixed.

Industrials gained on strength in papers, steels, foods, refining oils, banks and miscellaneous issues.

Base metals showed a small majority of gains. Cassiar rose sharply and Falconbridge gained.

Senior golds weakened while secondary issues slipped.

Western oils showed gains in Devon Leduc, Marigold and Calvan.

Obituary

JOHN ALEXANDER EMERY

NORWOOD (ENS) — John Alexander Emery died suddenly at his home today at the age of 72. He was born in the village, son of the late Walter Emery and Mary Churchill, and after farming for a number of years in Dummer township moved back to Norwood in 1929.

He leaves his wife, the former Gladys Eva Hubbell, and a daughter, Mrs. Phillip Kingsley (Fleda), of Stony Lake. There are two sons in the village, Floyd and Rule. A sister, Mrs. James Jacobs, of Toronto, is the last of a family of ten children. Mr. Emery attended Norwood Baptist Church.

Funeral service will be held on Monday at the McColl-Warner funeral home at 2 p.m. The Rev. John Bingham will officiate and burial will be at Norwood cemetery.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.:

Synopsis:

A disturbance on the New England coast swept warm, moist Atlantic air westward into Southern Ontario Thursday. Overcast skies and rain spread rapidly into the Great Lakes regions. The disturbance, although weakening, is moving very slowly in a northwesterly direction. As a result there is little relief in sight of the wet weather. Showers are expected to continue in southern and central regions of Ontario today and Saturday. Widely scattered snowflurries will change to showers this afternoon in northern regions.

In sharp contrast to this unpleasant weather in Eastern Canada, the Prairies are enjoying sunny skies and moderately warm temperatures.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Saturday:

Lake Erie, Lake Huron, Lake Ontario, Niagara, Georgian Bay, Haliburton, Kirkland Lake regions; Windsor, London, Toronto, Hamilton, North Bay, Sudoury cities: Overcast today and Saturday. Occasional rain or drizzle today. Widely scattered showers Saturday. Mild. Winds northerly 20 today decreasing to 15 this evening. Low tonight and high Saturday at Windsor, St. Thomas, Toronto, Trenton, St. Catharines, Hamilton and Killaloe 40 and 50. London, Wingham and Muskoka 40 and 45. Earlton, North Bay and Sudbury 35 and 42. Summary for Saturday: Cloudy with widely scattered showers.

Flee From Volcano

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Two thousand villagers fled when a volcano erupted on an island near Bali according to first reports reaching here today. The reports made no mention of casualties but two naval vessels were dispatched from Surabaja with medical supplies, food, clothing and nurses.

A. A. McIntyre Remembered By Monuments Left Behind

"He saw a good part of his dreams come true in the city he loved," said Rev. Charles G. Boyd in a grateful reference to the citizenship and personality of the late Archibald A. McIntyre at the funeral service Thursday afternoon at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Mr. Boyd was assisted by the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr of Penetang, a former minister of St. Paul's.

When some one once enquired in London about the location of a monument to the great British architect, Christopher Wren, the reply to him was: "Look around you at his buildings which were his monument," Mr. Boyd recalled.

TWO TYPES OF MONUMENT

So, here in Peterborough, were monuments of Mr. McIntyre both in his private works as a contractor and also in his municipal service as alderman and mayor of the city. There were civic structures and improvements on the one hand, and churches, schools and other buildings on the other, with many houses.

"It was given to Mr. McIntyre to enjoy a full day, and through his long years he saw Peterborough develop from the town it once was into the city that is proud to take its place in our Dominion."

Rev. Mr. Boyd spoke of the esteem for Mr. McIntyre in the memories and hearts of his fellow citizens, also among the men of his fraternity and generally in the city.

DID HIS PART

"He did his part in building for those who were to come after him. He was faithful as a churchman and will be remembered for his regular coming to the house of God in sincerity and joy. In his life he was building for the physical visible city, but he also knew that in himself he was a building of God, and of the things which were given him of the sheer grace of God."

Peterborough in its municipal officers paid last tribute to Archie McIntyre in appreciation of his long contribution to the civic service, for years as alderman, then as Mayor in 1920-21, and finally as a ...er of the City Trust Commission.

Among those present with Mayor Hugh F. Waddell was William H. Taylor, a contemporary of Mr. McIntyre in the city council, and his opponent in the mayoral election for 1920 which resulted in a tie vote, the decision devolving to the late Simon R. Armstrong as city clerk.

CIVIC BODIES PRESENT

City council was largely represented, also the civic department heads, the Board of Education, Utilities Commission and the City Trust Commission, and in respect to Mrs. McIntyre and her interests, the Local Council of Women and the IODE.

Active pallbearers were: Mayor Waddell, Charles J. Ray, Walter H. Howell, Walter McFarlane of Keene, T. A. Mackay and Dr. John Foote.

Honorary bearers were: William H. Taylor, E. Mel Turner, G. A. Gillespie, George A. MacDonald, Max J. Swanston, James E. Gillespie, Thomas C. Ephgrave.

Mourners included Mrs. McIntyre; Mr. Spence McIntyre, his son, of Santa Monica, Cal., who was accompanied by his wife; Malcolm McIntyre of Peterborough, brother; Rev. Ben Spence of Toronto, brother-in-law, and Mrs. Spence; Mr. Bernard Urry and son Gary, of Mt. Clemons, Mich.; Mr. Roy Struthers, Chatham, brother-in-law; Mrs. Richard Ludlow, Mrs. Ted Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Drysdale, Toronto; Archie Drysdale, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Walter McFarlane, of Keene.

Burial was at Little Lake cemetery.

Says Summer Theatre Uses Bad Language

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Rev. Colin Todd at a board of education meeting Thursday criticized the Niagara Falls Summer Theatre for use of profane and blasphemous language.

Mr. Todd, a member of the board, said many persons had complained to him that a great deal of bad language was used in the productions last year.

The theatre is held during the summer in the Niagara Falls Collegiate Auditorium, owned by the board of education.

The board secretary was instructed to make the feelings of the public, as expressed by the board, known to Mrs. Maude Franchot of Niagara Falls, N. Y., operator of the theatre.

Spies Sentenced

LONDON (Reuters) — Two Albanians accused of spying for Greece have been sentenced to death and five others to prison terms ranging from 12 to 25 years, the official Albanian news agency reported today. The agency said the seven men had done more than spying—they had made attempts to "murder and poison leading personalities of the Albanian Communist party and the present Albanian regime."

Garage Burns Diesel Motor 50 Blankets Lost

APSLEY (ENS) — While its owner was away in Toronto, a two-car garage burned down here today. No cause has been laid for the blaze which took with it a diesel motor and 50 pair of camp blankets.

The fire broke out at nine o'clock in the garage of Chesel McColl. Inside an hour, the building was completely levelled.

SAVED MOTORS

Starting while one of the men at work there, Gerald Ingram, was away, it had taken a firm hold when he returned. Together with Leslie McColl, he rescued two outboard motors and a truck undergoing repairs. They were forced to pull the truck out with a bulldozer.

The two men both suffered hand burns.

Members of the Apsley Fire Department prevented the blaze from spreading to adjacent buildings which include the McColl house and a forestry department office. Also aiding were employees of the nearby Peterborough Lumber Company.

No estimate of the damage has yet been made. The owner had left shortly before for Toronto.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains opened steady in light dealings today. The market moved higher immediately after the opening.

Wheat was bought on lack of moisture in the southwest and prospect of good exports next week. Firmness in wheat helped the rest of the market.

Wheat started ⅛-⅝ cent higher, May $2.23⅝-½; corn was unchanged to ⅛ higher, May $1.59½-⅝, and oats were ¼ lower to ⅛ higher May 73¾-⅞. Soybeans were ¼ cent lower to ¼ higher, May $3.02-3.02.

WNNPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices moved narrowly in dull trade in the early part of today's session on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

There was buying of barley for export account but no indication whether this represented overnight business. Routine domestic shipping purchases were noted in oats. Flax and rye trade was mainly local.

The market tended to follow United States trends.

11 A. M. grain prices:

Oats: May ⅛ higher 75⅝A; Jly ⅛ higher 73⅝B; Oct ⅛ higher 73⅝.

Barley: May unch 1.23¾A; Jly unch 1.18⅞; ct ⅛ higher 1.17⅞A.

Rye: May ⅜ higher 1.59⅝; Jly ⅜ higher 1.62; Oct ½ higher 3.22½B.

Gets Rid of Tenants

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — A Mexican landlord found a sure-fire way to get rid of tenants who declined to check out of his apartment house, but Thursday it landed him in jail. Carlos Solano was charged with ordering a wrecking crew to topple the walls of the building while the tenants were inside. Nine were injured.

Reeve Griffith Attacks Changes In Assessment

Reeve William Griffith of Belmont-Methuen township, declared foe of county assessment, at he March session which ended Thursday, had a tiff with County Assessor Stewart Sparling over a $600 item in the assessor's estimates.

Reeve Griffith said that Mr. Sparling was already getting a $4,000 salary and $1,200 a year car allowance. Why the extras?

Mr. Sparling said it was for "extra assistance" to municipalities where intensive assessing was going on. Most of the $600 was earmarked for Belmont-Methuen where a lot of mapping is being done on properties.

Galway - Cavendish township had previously been helped out in a similar manner when there was a big overhaul of assessment in that municipality a couple of years ago, said Mr. Sparling. Now the heavy work is in Belmont-Methuen where new properties are being discovered and added to the roll along with proper descriptions.

"We like to give the municipalities some assistance over and above what they are doing themselves," said Mr. Sparling.

DOUBLE ASSESSMENT

Reeve Griffith then shifted his attack to assessment generally in Belmont - Methuen. And Mr. Sparling said that it was necessary to double the local assessment figure for Belmont-Methuen to bring the municipality into line for county equalized assessment.

The county assessor cited one example in Belmont-Metheun: recently a property assessed at $350 sold for about $12,500.

"That's not fair to the high taxpayers in the township nor to the county," said Mr. Sparling.

"For the privilege of high assessment we're paying high taxes," said Reeve Griffith. "There's more dissatisfaction now in Methuen than there ever was."

As an indication of the value of the county assessing method, Mr. Sparling said that last year about $50,000 was paid into the treasuries of the various municipalities that would not have been paid if there had been no county assessment.

Before county council adjourned Reeve Griffith renewed his attack on Mr. Sparling and county assessment. He got no support and the estimates, which had been questioned by Reeve Griffith at this point, went through without change.

His parting shot was: "If we managed our own private affairs the way we do county council we'd be bankrupt in five years."

Army Inducts New Commander

Lieutenant Colonel William Effer, Belleville, was inducted as commander of the mid-Ontario division of the Salvation Army in the Salvation Army Temple Thursday night. It is the first time a division commander has been inducted in Peterborough.

Secretary of the Salvation Army movement in Canada, Colonel Robert Harewood, Toronto, performed the induction ceremony.

During the afternoon at a private meeting Lt. Col. Effer was introduced to officers of the division from Gananoque to Whitby and north as far as Fenelon Falls who came to Peterborough for the ceremony.

At the evening ceremony there were songs and musical selections and greetings by various organizations. The Junior Singing Company and the Young People's Band performed as well as the Peterborough Songsters.

Representing the young people of the division YPS M. R. Routley, Peterborough, brought greetings to the new commander, followed by CSMS Lessels, Belleville, representing local officers; Mrs. Colonel Robert Harewood, representing the Home League; Sr. Major W. Hawkes, Kingston, representing the officers of the district.

Mrs. Lt. Col. Effer responded as did her husband.

Lt. Col. Effer said the work of the Salvation Army was the same as it was in 1865 when the movement began.

But, said the new commander, the Salvation Army was "not a maintenance force but an operational force." He said the Army's task was an evangelistic one that must continue to grow and spread its influence and working for others.

An hour after the Mau Mau gangs launched their midnight attacks the village of Lari in the Kiambu reserve 10, miles from Nairobi was in flames from end to end. Dozens of Kikuyu families died in the roaring furnaces of their wooden huts.

EMERGENCY CALL

Colonial troops and police were called out of bed as the alarm spread. Hundreds of them were rushed to the stricken areas in fleets of trucks from stations as far as 20 miles away.

Every availailable white and African defender was called to the battle area in this green and pleasant farm country. It was clear that open war promised by the terrorist leaders had come at last.

Up to now the Mau Mau have been content to pick off white settlers and pro-government Africans on lonely farms or outposts.

Now they are moving in battle strength against towns and villages in what promises to be a showdown.

All the victims of the attacks on Lari were Kikuyu home guards or government servants and their families. The Mau Mau—the hidden ones—recruit most of their members from the nearly 1,000,000 strong Kikuyu tribe.

TERRORISTS RUN WILD

Flames devoured huts and storehouses and terrorists knifed, stabbed, slashed and shot in a bloody orgy.

Those who escaped the flames rushed out of their burning huts into a ring of tribesmen waving long-bladed, razor-sharp bush knifes and hatchets.

Almost all these fugitives were hacked to pieces immediately.

Women and children, too, who ran from the fire which swept up the tinder-dry dwellings, were ripped open by the terrorists.

A few feigned death and managed to dash to safety in the nearby pine woods.

Some of the Mau Mau gangs were estimated to have numbered between 300 and 500 men.

Those killed included Chief Luka. He was slashed to death.

Arrest Demand Delights Lady Astor

WASHINGTON (AP) — A midwest editor Thursday demanded the arrest of Lady Astor for her "too bad it isn't poison" crack about a drink sipped by Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.)—and she whooped with delight at the idea.

They wouldn't have to serve a warrant on me," she told a reporter. "I'd go to get it, I'd fetch it."

Noted for her acid wit, Lady Astor made the gibe about McCarthy when she observed him quaffing a drink at a party given by Senator and Mrs. Robert Taft (Rep. O.) Wednesday night in honor of President and Mrs. Eisenhower. She said of McCarthy: "While the world rocks, he talks."

The call for her arrest came from John Chapple, editor of the Ashland, Wis., Daily Press, who fired a telegram to U. S. Attorney Charles M. Irelan here and sent a copy to the Associated Press. The wire said:

"I wish to sign a complaint charging Lady Nancy Astor with incitement to commit a felony for the statement made by her in the presence of the press, with reasonable knowledge that it would be publicized, at the home of Senator and Mrs. Robert A. Taft in Georgetown, 'Too Bad it isn't Poison,'" referring to U. S. Senator Joe McCarthy.

WILL INVESTIGATE

"On the basis of the facts as reported by The Associated Press, please inform me if such a warrant will be issued if I will sign the complaint and I will go to the proper jurisdiction at Washington to do so."

Irelan told reporters he had received Chappie's message, and he commented:

"We will look into it."

But he said he would want more facts before saying a warrant would or could be issued.

"I'm puzzled that Chapple is asking for the warrant and not the aggrieved party," he said.

Lady Astor broke into laughter when informed of Chapple's demand for her arrest.

"That's wonderful!" she exclaimed. "I never realized I had hit the bull's eye. Let him come on and try. I'll win, but I don't want to be made a heroine by him—I haven't got time."

Then the 73-year-old widow of the late Lord Astor declared:

"I'm not really a Lucrezia Borgia, you know. I only said it in fun—but," she added, "I said what thousands feel."

THE COBOURG FARM SITE chosen for the World Plowing Match and the International Plowing Match in September is excellent, said Alfred Hall, secretary of the World Plowman's Association, when he visited Cobourg Thursday. He is shown standing here talking to a group of farmers with Hubert Avery (left), Brockville, president of the Ontario Plowman's Association, and (right) Clarke Young, of Unionville, treasurer of the OPA, flanking him.

Site Excellent For Plowing At Cobourg Says Secretary

COBOURG — (ENS) — "The lay-out is excellent both for soil and sod. The competitors from the various countries will be quite satisified with the land. I am sure of that. . . ."

Thus commented Alfred Hall of England, secretary of the World Plowing Association when he looked over the site, Thursday, just north of here, of the first world plowing match, which will be held in conjunction with the international plowing match next October. Mr. Hall comes from Workington, Cumberlandshire, and he knows his plowing. Officials of the Ontario Plowman's Association and committee chairman of the group responsible for the staging of the huge plowing match next fall, breathed more easily when the world plowing expert announced his satisfaction with the land that the committee had chosen for the match.

Mr. Hall is the typical English country gentleman-farmer. He has cultured British accent and an easy manner that immediately won the friendship of the plowing association heads when he was introduced to them by J. D. Thomas of Toronto, executive vice-president of the World Plowman's Association.

PROMOTES FRIENDSHIP

The World Plowman's Association Secretary feels very strongly about the international friendship that is in evidence when plowmen of various countries get together in competition.

"It is the fellowship of the plow extending across the world. It is wonderful to find this fellowship so much in evidence. Would that it could spread into other spheres of influence," declared Mr. Hall.

"Your food here was too rich for one used to the fare less rich that we have in England and so I ate too much and it knocked me out a bit at first. I am flying back soon to England but I will return to Canada in September for the match. I think that great credit is due to the committees here for the job they have done and are doing. There are about a dozen countries asking to be represented at this first world's plowing match which is being held in your country of Canada. Only just recently I have had word in regard to entries from Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Eire, Holland and North Africa. We have had an enquiry even from Austria. This first world competition is making history," he said.

In regard to the land used in the competition, some countries preferred to plow land with short stubble and others had a preference for sod. It was essential that the texture was uniform, he pointed out. When the European countries were polled as to whether they wanted the match held in Canada, it was practically unanimous. Plowmen are good sports and it was no great trouble coming to an agreement in regard to rules, Mr. Hall said.

Donald Harwood New President Of Y's Men's Club

Donald Harwood was elected president of the Peterborough Y's Men's Club Thursday at the club's annual meeting. He succeeds Cecil Osborne.

Joseph Barnard, chairman of the nominating committee presented the slate of officers for 1953-54. Besides Mr. Harwood, others elected were: Joseph Watson, first vice-president; Jack Wilson, second vice-president; Garry Garton, secretary; William Loomis, treasurer.

Reports for the past year were presented by Harry Powell, secretary; Jack Wilson, treasurer, and Mr. Osborne.

Gerry Garton, captain of the club's Red Cros sand Community Fund team, reported that the team with fewer calls than last year was very successful and collected more than last year. A letter of congratulation from the Red Cross and Community Fund was read.

Pole Hanged For Slaying Of Garage Man

MONTREAL (CP)—Maximilian Ciesla, 21, a Polish displaced person who immigrated to Canada less than two years ago, died on the scaffold early today for the shotgun-slaying of a garage owner last September.

His last hopes for a reprieve vanished Thursday when telegram from the department of justice ordered the sheriff to proceed with the execution.

Ciesla attended mass and received holy communion shortly after midnight and then walked about a corridor and through a door which opens onto the scaffold.

The trap was sprung under him at 12:23 a. m., and he was cut down and declared dead 16 minutes later.

Among those witnessing the hanging were a handful of the provincial police officers who hunted him down.

He killed garage-owner Aurel Houle of Yamaska, down the St. Lawrence river from Montreal, during an attempted holdup.

He fled and hid on an island in the river near Sorel, 45 miles east of Montreal.

Police began a month - long search of the islands that dot the river and finally found him living in a tent. He was found guilty Jan. 22 and sentenced to be hanged.

Port Hope Asks To Annex Land

PORT HOPE—Port Hope asked the Municipal Board Tuesday night for an order annexing parts of three lots of Hope township to the town.

The request for annexation followed another bylaw which rescinded bylaw 1970 which called for the annexation of all of the three lots. Council decided after the passing of the earlier bylaw that not all that land was needed.

Reason for reducing the area was that councillors felt there would be too much opposition to large scale annexation. The town planning board had recommended taking over the larger area.

Wm. G. Normington Veteran Of Two Wars

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Funeral was held at 2 p.m. today for William George Normington who died in Kingston General Hospital on Tuesday. Mr. Normington, who was in his 74th year, had been in poor health for the past four years. He spent most of that time in Kingston Hospital.

He was born in Wales, son of the late Joseph Normington and Katherine Cutler. He resided for some time in Orono, moving to Campbellford 23 years ago. He joined the Campbellford police force in 1933 and served for five years.

Surviving Mr. Normington are his wife, the former Mary Elizabeth Watkins, one son Bill of RR 3, Campbellford and five daughters: Mrs Chas. Dagenais (Peggy) of Montreal, Gidy Normington in England, Mary of Peterborough, Mrs. Gerald Mack (Katherine), River Road, Campbellford and Harriet at home. A brother, John and sister Mrs. Ada James, living in Wales, also survive.

Mr. Normington was a veteran of two wars, having served in the Boer War and World War I. He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church.

The funeral was held from Bennett's Funeral Parlour by the Campbellford Branch of the Canadian Legion, with Rev. John McKibbon of the Anglican church officiating. Interment was in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Hastings Organizes Conservation Unit

HASTINGS (ENS)—Reeve J. R. Jones was named chairman of the village's coronation committee at a citizens' meeting in the Council chambers. Secretary will be Miss Helen Stapley and treasurer Harvey Youngs.

First named is the chairman of each committee. Committees are to meet before the general meeting to be held April 13.

ODE Buys Flagpole, Flag For School

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — The March meeting of the Bemersyde Chapter IODE was held at the home of Mr. Robert Fox, with the regent, Mrs. F. G. DeCarrol, presiding.

A bale of clothing will be sent to headquarters for overseas shipment this month and each member was asked to leave at least one article of clothing at Mrs. W. A. Kingston's.

The chapter has purchased a flag and flagpole for the Public school. A committee was formed to arrange to have these formally presented on a date close to Empire Day. The chapter will enter a float in the Coronation Day parade.

The regent was appointed delegate to the Provincial annual meeting held in Hamilton in April.

A birthday tea will be held on April 18th at the home of Mrs. George Hawthorne. Arrangements were made for the Coronation ball on March 25 and for the last Sunday evening concert in the Aran Theatre on March 29.

Visitors to the nursing homes for March are Mrs. Walter Mitchell, Mrs. Wynn, Mrs. Ross Douglas and Miss Lillian Smith.

Campbellford Club Elects Directors

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The Campbellford Fish and Game Association elected their board of directors at the meeting on Thursday night. Those named were T. Little, R. Nuttall, T. Watters, D. Maybee, F. Dennis, Ed. Rutherford and M. Little. Russel Ayrhart is president and Lloyd Taylor secretary-treasurer.

The club decided to hold the regatta on July 29. This event has been one of the highlights of the summer season in this district.

The club is working on plans for the improvement of trout fishing in Trout Creek, northwest of town. President Russ Ayrhart and Forrest Dennis were appointed to interview farmers owning the land through which the creek flows, in an attempt to secure permission to plant trees along the banks of the creek and make any other improvements which will aid the club in improving the stream.

Request Affiliation With Farm Council

SASKATOON (CP)—J. L. Phelps, president of the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union, said Thursday the Ontario Farmers' Union has requested affiliation with the Interprovincial Farm Union Council.

The council represents farm unions in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Mr. Phelps is chairman.

The SFU president said the Ontario union's request will come before the next meeting of the council, probably late in May.

Young People Bowl At Fellowship Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — The Young Adult Fellowship of the local Baptist church held a bowling session as part of their social evening on Tuesday night. The married members opposed the single members, and Fred Munden had high score for the evening.

The group reconvened later at the home of Edna Nicholas, where a Bible quiz was conducted and a social hour spent. Lunch was served and the guests enjoyed music and songs of yesteryear, from a collection of Edison records of 1904 vintage.

The Young Adults have completed a study of the Gospel of Mark and are considering another study project.

A Matter For National Pride

On Wednesday night last the CBC broadcast The Passion of Our Lord According to St. Matthew by Johann Sebastian Bach, as it was performed in Massey Hall, Toronto, by the Mendelssohn Choir, conducted by Sir Ernest MacMillan; it has been the custom of the national broadcasting corporation to do this for some years past, but the occasion this year is deserving of special note, for it was the thirtieth annual performance of this great work, and a recording is to be made of it.

* * *

We cannot state authoritatively that there is no other city in the world which has a record of thirty successive annual performances of the Matthew Passion, under the direction of one conductor, and with a remarkable continuity and tradition among singers and orchestra; we may say, however, that if there are such cities, they are few. This annual performance has ceased to be a Toronto function, attended by a few music-lovers from outlying places who journey to the Ontario capital for it; through the agency of the CBC it has become a national function, with admirers everywhere in Canada; it is a national musical treasure. But as such treasures are extremely perishable it is good news that records are to be made which will preserve this musical achievement for posterity, and carry it to many lands.

* * *

The history of this performance is as interesting, in its way, as the history of the growth of the Old Vic, or Sadler's Wells, for it is a tale of great achievement from small beginnings. It was in 1923 that Ernest MacMillan, who was then thirty, got together the first performance of the Passion in Toronto. We do not use the expression "got together" disparagingly; a work which requires three choirs, two orchestras, an organ, several soloists and a variety of unusual instruments for its performance is not lightly undertaken, and the component parts are not easily found even in a city with a good musical tradition. The writer first heard the Passion in Toronto in 1930, and though the performance was a memorable one, it was not to be compared with that which was heard on Wednesday last. Growth has particularly distinguished this musical undertaking.

* * *

Sir Ernest MacMillan founded his interpretation of the Passion on the critical discussion of it by Albert Schweitzer, we have been told; through the years this has developed into his own interpretation, and a great one. It is fully as important that Canada has a musician capable of such an interpretation as it would be if we had an actor capable of a very great production and personal interpretation of King Lear; it is a circumstance for which we may be nationally grateful, and in which we may take a national pride. That he should find the elements in one Canadian city capable of serving his purpose is similarly a matter for pride, and we think that the Mendelssohn Choir and the Toronto Symphony Orchestra may be claimed, at least in part, as national possessions.

* * *

It is the task of music critics, rather than newspaper editorials, to expand this theme. Our desire in this brief appreciation is only to say that for Canada, in one of its cities, to have brought the performance of one of the masterworks of Western culture to a high degree of excellence is another evidence, in a special sense, of the quality of this country and the hopes which we may fittingly entertain for its future.

Red Olive Branches

The death of Stalin in Russia and of Gottwald, Communist czar in Czechoslovakia—a direct result of Stalin's death, for Gottwald haply caught pneumonia at the funeral, which lead to his own—these deaths may have loosed fears in and out of the Kremlin that the Communist bloc in eastern Europe needs cement. If there are these fears, fears of rebellion in the satellite countries, they might explain why the new U.S.S.R. regime has been speaking blandly of the West and condescending to give brotherly, not fatherly, ear to the satellite countries. If the U.S.S.R. and Communist world are having internal trouble they do not want to face external dangers.

The internal trouble is not likely to be that Communist leaders in Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia and so on will become Titos. They could not, even if they dared, for unlike Tito, they are mere puppets of Moscow, and kept in position by Moscow, not by the people in the countries they rule. When the new Czechoslovakian leader was chosen, Marshal Bulganin of the U.S.S.R. was in the Prague chamber, as overseer. The internal troubles are likely to be party strife in Moscow, and economic and political difficulties in the other Communist countries which could amount to public revolt, now that the hand of Stalin is cold.

The New York Times correspondent in Vienna, which is one of the chief listening-posts for information about what goes on behind the Iron Curtain, cabled recently this summary:

POLAND—A recent increase of industrial and agricultural prices by between 50 and 100 percent., with wage increases of but 12 to 27 percent., bringing a substantial drop in an already low Polish standard of living. In the atmosphere of general discontent thus engendered, the regime has entered upon a stepped-up campaign against the Roman Catholic Church.

EAST GERMANY—Once the granary of the Reich, East Germany is in the throes of a food crisis. There, as in Czechoslovakia and Hungary, a purge with strong anti-Semitic flavor is under way.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA—Passing through political and economic convulsions. On top of fear and unrest produced by the bloodiest purges yet carried out in a "people's democracy", a coal shortage has retarded transportation, caused unemployment, and brought failure in the production and distribution of food.

HUNGARY—Last year's crop failure is making itself felt in a catastrophic lack of flour, bread, potatoes and milk.

ROMANIA—Also plagued by food shortages, partly a result of bad crops, partly by a breakdown of city-country food exchange.

BULGARIA—Labour frozen to its jobs by a new law imposing imprisonment up to one year for leaving them. A further law makes an attempt to escape from the country a capital offence. Communist organ admitting that the campaign for "Socialist competition" in industry brought "appalling results."

As the Ottawa Journal remarks—if this is a true description of conditions—the Kremlin might calculate that the present is a time to seek some agreement with the West.

Too Good And True For Canada?

For the second time since 1941 a National Film Board documentary film has won an Oscar—the American film industry's prize for the best film of its kind. The National Film Board movie which has won this distinction, ranking it first among all documentary films produced anywhere during the year, is an eight-minute movie called Neighbours. The artist-producer was Norman McLaren, who is now in India on loan from the Film Board to UNESCO. He has developed a technique of using live actors but giving to his screen images a striking cartoon effect.

Mr. McLaren is highly appreciated by the Film Board, but Canadian distributors of films seem to have a different opinion. Although Neighbours has been shown in Britain and the United States (last year it ran for fourteen weeks in New York), it was never shown in public in Canada. Is it too good for Canadians, or too strongly truthful for them to take (it is a symbolic film of quarrelling neighbours)? We have not seen the film. No Canadian distributor would rent it to show in movie houses in this country. They said it was "not very good."

Thus they judge not only the film but, in rejecting it, they also condemned their public. We suspect that they have erred as much in assessing the public as they have in their judgement of the movie. We have long known that some of the best goods which Canadians produce—and some of the best Canadian talent—is exported. But surely it is a crass, blind estimate of Canadian taste and culture which determines that the best movie of the year, produced in Canada by Canadians in unsuitable for Canadians to hear and see?

Now that Neighbours has won the award, movie distributors are hastening to reverse their decision. We believe that Neighbours may now be seen in a downtown Toronto movie house.

The Rule Of The Royal Navy

Britannia no longer rules all the waves. It has long been commonly known that the United States navy is larger than the Royal Navy, and is in fact the largest in the world. But what the First Lord of the Admiralty told the House of Commons last week about the Russian navy, was a shock. The Russian navy is the second largest, manned and ready for action, and, moreover, concentrated as the Royal Navy is not.

Here is the tally:

Battleships—U.S. 4; Russia 1-3; Britain 1.

Aircraft Carriers—U.S. 29; Russia 0; Britain 5.

Cruisers—U.S. 19; Russia 20; Britain 11.

Destroyers—U.S. 248; Russia 100; Britain 31.

Submarines—U.S. 149; Russia 350; Britain 37.

This counting does not include British and American ships in reserve, out of commission but which can be re-commissioned. Nor does it take into account the skills of the men and officers who man them. The Royal Navy does not, and never has, depended on numbers alone for its mastery of the seas.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: Why was Peterborough called "The Electrical City"?

ANSWER: What a question! Because the Canadian General Electric Company (Edison Works) was established here. It is a name which fortunately never came into general use. Peterborough had ambitions and promoters — witness the many three and four-storey buildings that use to be on Charlotte and George Streets, and Water Street. Many of them had false top storeys — like the present Bank of Montreal building, which belongs to that climbing period. "Electric City" sounded big and bright and bustling.

There is some historical, less obvious reason behind your question, I am sure. It it that Peterborough was one of the first small towns in Canada to have electric street lighting? On May 5th, 1884, the Peterborough Electric Light Compony received its charter, and five days later had ordered a dynamo from the Royal Electric Light Company of Montreal and Boston.

The Rev. C. P. Mulvaney in his 1884 history tells this: "A dynamo machine capable of running twenty-five arc lights was placed in Hazlitt's mill; and on the night of May 23rd, this wonderful white light lit up for the first time the streets of Peterborough. All the prominent merchants and hotelkeepers had lights placed in their establishments. Five miles of copper wire were placed in position for the conveyance of the magical current. Within a few weeks the light had taken such a hold on the enterprising merchants of this town, that it was found necessary to place another dynamo machine in position, so that at the time of writing (1884) fully fifty lights are being used."

DEAR ALPHA: What is the definition of a cantata, like the Easter cantata "Olivet To Calvary"?

ANSWER: It is a choral composition, on a narrative or dramatic theme, usually religious, with solos, choruses, interludes; it is only sung, not acted. There is little difference is essential meaning between "oratorio" and "cantata," but the latter is usually a minor and shorter work, without recitatives. An oratorio is always on a religious theme. The cantata you mention is so commonly and frequently performed in Canada that it is known by organ grinders — excuse me, I mean church organists — as "Ottawa to Calgary."

JULIUS CAESAR LIVES: Julius Caesar appeared on a B.B.C. programme recently. He was not playing a role in a Shakespearian play; he was merely, and remarkably, plain Mr. Julius Caesar, a British citizen born and bred. Mr. Caesar's family tree seems to have originated in Italy, where the first Caesar had his fling. The first English holder of the name was Sir Julius Caesar, Master of the Rolls and Treasurer to Queen Elizabeth I.

During the B.B.C. interview, Mr. Caesar admitted that his name involved him in amusing incidents. Once when he was riding a bicycle and went through a red light, a village constable stopped him and asked him his name. "Julius Caesar," Mr. Caesar replied. The constable became annoyed and said, "Look here, young man, it's no good you trying to pull the leg of the law." Caesar did not reply: "And you, you brute."

Mr. Caesar has run into other unusual names. "When I introduced myself to a brother officer during the war, he told me his name was Captain Mark Antony. It was."

SIR: Why do they open, and have open coffins at funerals? Frankly, the practice seems pagan to me, and somewhat disgusting. I have seen coffins kept open at a funeral in a church, so that people who came could tiptoe to the front and see the body. Surely it is a pagan veneration for a mere body, clay, from which all spirit has fled. Is this not un-Christian admiration, gloating or morbid curiosity?

ANSWER: The custom is probably rooted in primitive racial practice, and continued in some quarters because tearful friends and relatives really do want to have "a last look," whatever their Christian believes in after-life and happy release from the pains of this world. It doesn't do the body any harm to have people stare at it, and if relatives get comfort or satisfaction, well, the undertakers would not like to deny them it. Anyway, artists like to have their work viewed, and some emblamers consider themselves artists.

Another reason for leaving the coffin open for people to see the body is not one which should apply in Canada. When Stalin was buried a fortnight ago, his coffin was left open. This was the practice of Czarist Russia, too, followed for many generations. The coffins of the Tsars were left open for the people to see that they had died peacefully and were not the victims of foul play.

COUNTRY NOTE: A red squirrel was scampering along the roof of the piggery this morning, the only one I have seen on the property. Good to see him. In my childhood red squirrels were very common in Peterborough and outside it. Now they are rare. I understand they are being ousted by grey and black squirrels, which are bigger.

The red squirrel is having a hard time in England, too. Grey squirrels are native to this continent. Sixty years ago some were imported into England, and between 1890 and 1930 about 400 were released to add interest to English woods. They are fecund and hardy and have become a nuisance over there. The U.K. Forestry Commission is paying a bounty of a shilling for each one killed. Last year more than 168,000 were destroyed; they say a million and a half are left. They strip bark from the trees, especially the hardwoods, and chase out the harmless red squirrel.

The lambs are doing fine, thank you. They are eating a ground meal which Ga ma feeds them (and their mothers) twice a day, as well as taking as much milk as they can butt out of the base supply. During the warm days they have been out in the meadow, munching on stubble as unnutritive as bubble-gum.

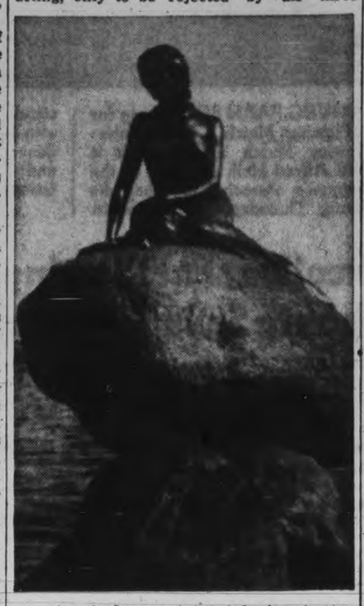
Wherefore Hans Christian Andersen

By MARGARET HEIDEMAN

ACCORDING to press reports, Mr. Danny Kaye, the idol of all England and much of America, is in bad odour in Denmark. The reasons are two. When in Denmark last summer Danny did some clowning at the Hans Christian Andersen Museum in Odense. He took the liberty of putting on H. C. Andersen's hat and of lying in his bed, accompanying these impertinent activities with remarks which the Danes considered equally impertinent. Even the proper English laughed the incident off, but the Danes could not forgive Danny's indulgence of a universal impulse of childhood (Mr. Kaye, by the way, is thirty-nine).

The second fault (or perhaps it is part of the first) in Danish eyes is that Danny Kaye plays the part of Hans Christian Andersen in the film of that name which bears little resemblance to the real life or spirit of the Danish author. It is described as lavish and fantastic in the gilded Hollywood style, but the Danes fail to find any authentic Andersen flavour in the film which, its makers candidly admit, is not a true story of Andersen, just a fantasy about him.



This puzzling description leads the ordinary enquirer to renew his acquaintance with the actual facts of Hans Christian Andersen's life and work. Of the biographies and studies of Andersen, one of the best and most readily available is Signe Toksvig's book, THE LIFE OF HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN, which is illustrated with reproductions of Andersen's cut-outs and drawings. This biography renders Andersen alive and gives the reader a feeling of intimate acquaintance with his country, his friends, and the climate of his time. Most of the tales are available in acceptable translation also, and for anyone who has not re-read them since childhood they provide an unique literary experience.

Hans Christian Andersen was the only child of a marriage between a middle-aged, illiterate washer-woman and a young cobbler whose father was a harmless idiot. The incompatible parents did their poor best for their son, lavishing affection on this unusual child with his heavy heritage of overwrought imagination, emotional sensitivity, mediaeval superstition and unstable nerves. His father, before his death when Hans Christian was eleven, bequeathed him a love of reading and of the theatre. The boy's favourite toy was a puppet theatre which his father had made for him, and his mind was a sponge which soaked up his father's readings from The Thousand And One Nights and the plays of Holberg, the folktales he heard from his grandmother, and, when he had learned to read for himself, the plays of Shakespeare.

✧ ✧ ✧

HANS Christian's life indeed resembles a fantasy, but not of the Hollywood sort. In appearance he was awkward and ugly. In disposition he was too blatantly imaginative and emotional for the comfort of his reserved countrymen. Yet all his life long his struggle for recognition was aided by people who could not ignore the indestructible core of his belief in himself.

At the age of fourteen he left Odense to make his mark in Copenhagen where he arrived almost penniless and without any real connections. In the next two years, in spite of his odd appearance and volatile emotions, he gained entrance to the Royal Theatre for training successively in dancing, singing and acting, only to be rejected by all three schools. In addition a group of artists subscribed enough money to pay for his food and lodging. Even the Crown Princess looked him over and gave him several small presents of money and books.

An Andersen fairy tale in stone: the famous small statue of The Little Mermaid, in Copenhagen, beloved by all Danes as Eros in Piccadilly Circus is loved by Londoners.

This story has a flavour peculiarly Danish. One wonders whether it could have happened in any other country. The King, Frederick VI, who liked to see the daily list of mail-coach passengers visiting Copenhagen and who had the gates of the city locked and the keys brought to him nightly, provided for Hans Christian's future by paying for his education in the Latin School. The King's patronage was recommended by Jonas Collin, one of the King's councillors and a director of the Royal Theatre, who took Hans Christian into the bosom of his family and gave him paternal guidance as long as the older man lived.

So great was Hans Christian's tenacity that, when he realized he would never succeed in his opportunities without the proper education now offered him, he went gratefully back to school at the age of sixteen, starting in a class of boys little more than half his age and size who were much more adept than he at their lessons. In spite of many trials he persisted with his formal education for the next six years until he had passed his matriculation examinations at the University of Copenhagen, "not without terrific emotions, a nose-bleed, and a swoon, and not at the top, but quite respectably towards the middle."

That winter, 1828-9, marked the beginning of a small literary success in his own country with the publication of a volume of reflections and the production of a play at the Royal Theatre.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE succeeding years brought much despair and joy, but no ordinary happiness. His books were sometimes successful; they sometimes failed completely. The three women he loved, Riborg Voigt, Louise Collin and Jenny Lind, all married someone else. Hans Christian's talents were enlarged and mellowed by travel in Germany, Italy, France, Switzerland, Spain, Turkey, England, Sweden. Though his manners and conversation now allowed him to be sought after as company, he remained over-sensitive, emotional, and fearful to the end of his days. He became the most famous of Danes, feted everywhere he went by royalty and by famous personages, and at last and best of all by his native town Odense.

In middle age he finally recognized that his forte was not the novel or the play, but the short tale, recreated by him in form and style to express the many variations on his single theme. In these tales he achieved his life's desire and won his immortal soul. They were facets and particles of his own life and longing recreated by the fancy and the style that were his special genius.

"They lay like seeds in the mind," he wrote of the tales, "needing only a current, a ray of sun, a drop of distilled wormwood, to burst into flower."

All this seems to be a far cry from the Hans Christian Andersen of Hollywood and Mr. Danny Kaye, with its musical portrayal of Andersen as a story-telling cobbler, its happy-ending mermaid ballet and its ditty about Thumbelina. When we see this film in Peterborough let us not forget the real Hans Christian Andersen and the true fairy tale of his life.

Letters To The Editor

MINISTERS DO NOT SUPPORT SUNDAY SPORTS EVENT

Sir: It would appear from a newspaper report of a proposed Ski-jumping Sports event on a Sunday in August, that the President of the Peterborough Ministerial Association gave moral support to the violation of the Lord's Day.

I feel that I have been misinterpreted, and for the benefit of the citizens would like to make clear my position in this matter. Some weeks ago Mr. Pink, who acts from what I believe are sincere motives, approached me about this matter, and wanted moral support for this proposed project. I pointed out to Mr. Pink that the Peterborough Ministerial Association does not legislate for the city, and that as a body we have no additional powers other than ordinary citizens. In addition, I warned him that we frown upon the commercialization of the Lord's Day.

The Peterborough Ministerial Association has not received any official correspondence about the matter from the city council, and as an association we have no right to forbid any citizen or citizens from applying to the city fathers for permission to organise city sports. What I did say to both Mr. Pink and Mr. Vaisey was that we would support them in everything which was lawful.

I understand a city bylaw prohibits organized commercial sports on the Lord's Day, and naturally we expect the city fathers to protect and guard our laws. The last telephone conversation I had with Mr. Vaisey on the matter left me with the impression that the sports promoters would have to be content with a one day event.

Thanking you for your valuable space.

I remain,

Sincerely yours,
HENRY G. DOUGLAS,
President,
Peterborough Ministerial Association.

MR. NICKLE AND THE GOVERNMENT AT FAULT

Sir: . . . There is some excuse for you but there is no excuse whatever for the language Mr. Nickle used in the Legislature, if he was correctly reported. He, at least, should have known better. I believe that it had been pre-arranged with the Government that he was to speak about the Unsatisfied Judgements Fund in order to attempt to justify the amendments to the legislation relating to the Fund which the Government was ready to introduce. The legislation itself is faulty in that it attacks the symptom only and leaves the underlying cause unaffected. It is like a statute which says that there shall be no swelling around a broken bone. No such arrangements, and nothing in the facts, can even partly justify the language which Mr. Nickle is reported to have used about lawyers. The only explanation for the silence of other lawyers in the Legislature is that they are spineless. The Attorney-General himself should have known that the cause of the situation of which Mr. Nickle complained was in the machinery of the Unsatisfied Judgements Fund itself and not in the conducts of lawyers who must use the machinery, and that the remedy proposed, far from improving the situation from the point of view of claimants against the Fund, was guaranteed to make it worse . . .

You have, however, gone considerably beyond the range of Mr. Nickle's remarks, and have added several cheap jibes of your own, which if they did not stem from ignorance, would confirm my first reaction [which was that The Examiner's power of invective exceeded its judgement and resulted in exposing innocent lawyers to calumny] . . .

Your editorial shows you to be of the type of reformer who, when he thinks he sees an evil, lashes out at the handiest person without bothering to find out whether the victim is responsible for it. The Legislature, at the instance of the Government, is acting in the same way. It appears that the maximum amount of costs to be allowed out of the Fund where the damages amount to $500.00 or more is to be twenty per cent of the amount of the damages. A claim for damages for more than $200.000 must be brought in the County Court, and prosecuted with all the forms and procedure of the Supreme Court, but with smaller fees allowed to the lawyers. You can't bring the simplest damage action for $600.00 down to trial in the County Court for less than $123.00, if you have examinations for discovery, which you would rarely dare to omit. This figure does not include cost of service of process, searches, plans, exhibits or witness fees or the plaintiff's expense in attending trial. The costs of a one day trial would be not less than $50.00 and usually $90.00. By the time judgement has been signed, taxed costs usually amount to over $200.00, and sometimes over $300.00. You can't reduce this figure without cutting out some of the proceedings unless you expect the lawyers to work for their expenses only. If the plaintiff is to recover only $120.00 out of the Fund for costs, who is going to pay the balance? I suppose you think the lawyer should pay it. He thinks he has to make a living, and, if he doesn't get it, he will have to go out of practice. Lawyers cannot afford to engage in litigation which is so demanding and uncertain as motor accident cases unless they are adequately paid for the time and trouble they have to put into it. The result will be that the claimant out of the Fund will have to pay the difference, unless he is willing to be his own lawyer.

The Government will be happy with the result. The drain on the Fund will be reduced. The impecunious cause of the trouble won't worry. Nobody can recover from him. The general public will be pleased because their license fees will be kept down. The only unhappy man will be the plaintiff who finds that the cost of recovery from the Fund is too great in relation to the difficulties and uncertainty of proving his claim.

The Government feels virtuous and you applaud the Government because it has attacked the symptom without removing the cause. What is required is a more efficient and cheaper method of proving that the claimant is entitled to be paid. The new legislation will not remove any of the difficulty or expense of proving entitlement. It will simply result in the claimant having to do more of it at his own expense, and will result in the Fund being so much the less suitable for the purpose from which it was intended.

The foregoing was composed and partly typed before I read Mr. Carley's letter in your issue of the 23rd. As Mr. Carley has not spoken strongly enough I thought it best to complete this letter which I think covers more of the ground than his, although not as well.

Yours very truly,
STUART RYAN, Q.C.

Port Hope.

(ED. NOTE: We have printed only a third of Mr. Ryan's very long letter. It would have been impossible to print in its entirety, for lack of space. Much of the ground has been covered by other writers on this subject earlier in the week. The paragraphs selected add some new material to the discussion, and from a different point of view.)

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Simon Peter said unto him, Lord, whither goest thou? Jesus answered him, Whither I go, thou canst not follow me now; but thou shalt follow me afterwards. (John 13: 36.)

✧ ✧ ✧

O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches. (Ps. 104: 24.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Many there be which say of my soul, There is no help for him in God. Selah. But thou, O Lord, art a shield for me; my glory, and the lifter up of mine head. (Ps. 3: 2, 3.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way?

Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me. If ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and have seen him.

Philip saith unto him, Lord, shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us.

Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father? Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works.

Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father in me: or else believe me for the very works' sake. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father. (John 14: 5-12.)

Cancel Family Fishing Licences

TORONTO (CP)—Issuance of family fishing-licences for non-residents of Ontario will be abolished, the Ontario legislature's fish and game committee decided today.

Dr. W. J. K. Harkness, head of the lands department's fish and wildlife division, said he felt issuance of the licences permitted infractions of the game laws. Six or more persons would often fish independently on the same licence and it was impossible to check on their activities.

The committee accepted Dr. Harkness' proposal of a new type of individual licence.

A non-resident man and wife desiring to fish in Ontario would be required to take out individual licences themselves and for any child over 16. The present type of licence covers man, wife and children 12 and under.

Lands department officials could not say whether the new type of licensing will go into effect this summer.

May Use Oshawa As Malton Alternate

OTTAWA (CP)—Trans-Canada Air Lines is studying the possibility of using the Oshawa airport as an alternate to Toronto's Malton field, president G. R. McGregor told the Commons railway committee Thursday.

At present, Buffalo, N.Y., is the nearest alternate field for use by TCA when Malton is closed in.

Mr. McGregor said that, with some changes in surfacing of runways, Oshawa could be a satisfactory alternate.

"INSIDE" OUTSIDE — Latest in home construction is this one at Caracas, Venezuela. The unique home has an outdoor basement. Its owner claims that by raising the home above the ground he has a "completely shaded living room" all year round. And he also gets a four-way circulation of air on hot summer nights.

Given $8,750 For Injuries

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP).—Freda White, 20, of nearby Colchester South, was awarded damages of $8,750 Thursday for injuries suffered in a highway accident Nov. 2, 1951, which claimed the lives of three Michigan residents.

The accident occurred near Kingsville when a car in which the three Michigan persons were riding crashed into a car in which Miss White was a passenger. Donald MacGregor, of Royal Oak, Mich., his mother and his wife were killed.

The Supreme Court awarded Miss White the damages against a Windsor lawyer, William Clark, administrator of the MacGregor estate, and against William Whyte and Russell Yoemans, both of Detroit, who were co-owners of the car involved in the accident.

TCA Has No Ban On Fish Meals

OTTAWA (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines has no ban on serving fish meals on Fridays in its planes, G. R. McGregor, TCA president, said Thursday.

Before the Commons railway committee, he told W. J. Browne (PC—St. John's West) that the company is not enthusiastic about serving fish, however.

"It is ather odoriferous," he added.

Family Celebrates Parents' Anniversary

APSLEY (ENS). — The family of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith gathered Tuesday night to honor their parents on the 36th anniversary of marriage.

Present were three daughters from Peterborough, Misses Iris and Virginia and Mrs. H. Leard, accompanied by Hugh McCartney. Another daughter, Mrs. C. McCall of Apsley, also joined in the celebration.

Charles Smith, a member of 93rd Battery, and Alice Collins of Hastings, England, were married in Holy Trinity Church, Hastings, on March 24, 1917, while Mr. Smith was serving in the armed forces during World War I. Coming to Canada they have lived since at Apsley. One son Edwin Smith was killed in the Second World War. The daughters presented a chime alarm clock and an anniversary cake.

Buy Baden Plant

KITCHENER (CP)—Toronto Elevators Limited have purchased the Dominion Linseed Oil Company Ltd., plant at nearby Baden. The announcement of purchase was made here today.

The plant, closed since last June, will reopen Monday with a staff of 20. Ten are former employees laid off when the company shut down.

Break For Drivers

HAMILTON (CP)—A new shipment of parking tickets Thursday ended a situation which gave motorists almost complete immunity from the law for parking violations. In the previous two days, police were so short of tickets they rationed them to only the worst offenders.

Nine-Month Term

KITCHENER (CP)—Magistrate J. R. H. Kirkpatrick sentenced Charles Langstaff Thursday to nine months for signing his wife's name to a family allowance cheque. "Many people have suffered because this man won't work," the magistrate said.

Plan Big Park Along Gorge

ELORA (CP)—The Grand river conservation authority decide Thursday to establish a 401-acre park along the Elora gorge of the Grand river as an authority project.

Cost of the property and improvements, planned over a three-year period, will be about $60,000.

The plan was presented at the annual meeting by Mrs. Kathryn Marston of Elora and Garfield Disher of Dunnville. Mayor Arthur White of Galt and several other members said the capital costs of the park, half of which will be paid for by the province, should be assessed against the municipalities in the immediate neighborhood rather than over the entire area.

T. H. Ainley of Kitchener said his municipality would pay the largest proportion under the per capita assessment plan used by the authority.

Set Higher Tax Rate

STRATFORD (CP)—A rate of 23.7 mills, an increase of 2.1 over 1952, was established Thursday night by Stratford board of education. The increase is due chiefly to debenture payments to finance an addition to Avon school.

Free Gambling Wives

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Nine wives were arrested in a stately home on gambling charges. Police said they were playing canasta—for money. What if they were, magistrate John F. Daly wanted to know Thursday. Then he discharged them all with the tart comment: "It takes place in my home and probably in yours." He was addressing a rather discomfited young assistant district attorney.

The Movie Column

Reporter Sparks Controversy With Actresses

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Joan Crawford-Marilyn Monroe controversy still rages.

No story I have ever written has evoked as much fuss as the one in which Crawford lambasted Monroe for appearing to believe her sexy publicity. So perhaps we'd better review how it all happened and what has happened since.

The story was no press agent's plant. Crawford's press agent probably would have shushed her up if he had gotten the opportunity. I was lunching with Crawford, and we were discussing her new TV venture, academy awards and other topics. Nothing exciting had evolved, so I tossed Monroe at her. That did it.

The Monroe thing had been brewing for a couple of weeks. Her picture had failed to do the business expected of it, and women's clubs were beginning to protest about her sexy advertising and publicity. The climax came at the Photoplay dinner.

Monroe showed up in one of her traffic - stopping movie gowns. When she went up to get her award, she put on a hip-waving exhibition that brought the house down. Many of the onlookers were amused; Crawford wasn't. Hence the blast.

MONROE DECLINED

Since the AP always gives the opportunity for both sides of a controversy to be heard, Monroe had a chance to answer Crawford's statements before they appeared in print. She declined.

When the story appeared, things started popping. Some columnists came to Monroe's defence. Most of the commentators noted that Crawford had a pretty racy build-up when she was a starlet in the flapper days. (But isn't that all the more reason why she should be qualified to comment?)

This week Mike Connolly of Hollywood Reporter said "somebody important" at 20th-Fox wrote Crawford: "Don't apologize to Marilyn. Your advice was good for her."

GENERAL OPINION

That seems to be the consensus. Her bosses at 20th-Fox were concerned about overdoing the sexy buildup and tried to persuade Monroe to tone it down. She couldn't see it that way, since the routine had made a star out of her. But now she has become much more conservative.

The only one who has suffered was me; I'm not sure how I stand with the two girls.

So here I am, possibly on the outs with a couple of glamor gals. Oh well, it was fun while it lasted.

Sunday Sport Said Dead Issue

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost says Sunday sport is a dead issue in Ontario.

Legislation governing Sunday sport is working out well, the premier told the legislature Thursday night, and it would be folly to change it.

Albert Wren (Lib.-Lab.—Kenora) had sponsored a bill amending the legislation to specify the sports to be permitted. The bill was defeated without division.

Under the existing policy, a municipal council may frame a by-law specifying conditions under which Sunday sport is to be permitted. If the by-law is approved by the municipal electorate, the legislature passes enabling legislation.

Shamrocks Whip Guelph Win Ont. Bantam "A" Title Lonsberry, Mahoney Star

Lanky Larry Lonsberry literally shot Pat Doherty's Shamrocks to the Bantam "A" championship Thursday night at the Civic Arena. He bombarded the Guelph Biltmore goalies with a barrage that netted him no less than seven goals and three assists to pace the Shamrocks to a 15-5 victory for the championship, the first OMHA title for Peterborough. The Shamrocks swept the two-game points-to-count series 19-9, the teams tying four-all Monday night in the first game in Guelph. A crowd, estimated at 1,700, possibly the largest crowd ever to see a minor game in Peterborough, cheered and cheered when goalie, Jim Riel, on behalf of the team, took the Hon. Harry Nixon trophy from A. E. (Bert) Hick of Lindsay, second vice-president of the OMHA.

As the teams were lined up for the presentation, Godwin Mellow, Guelph player, suddenly pitched forward face-first on the ice. After efforts to revive him failed, Mellow was taken into the dressing room, attended by a doctor and then rushed to the Civic hospital by Nesbitt ambulance.

During the game Mellow received a severe jolt, receiving a large bump on the back of his head. Later in the dressing room, he had another slight swelling on the forehead. Both indicated a slight concussion.

That incident marred the Shamrocks' victory celebration.

Excellent back-checking by the Shamrocks accounted largely for the victory. Little Bill Mahoney, who played nearly the entire game, led the Shamrocks, spurring them on, with the result the Biltmores' attack became confused, especially in the second and third periods.

The back-checking paid off more than in just stopping the Bilts' offence, for it also gave the Shamrocks quick breaks, catching the Guelph lads off stride. Those two- and three-man breaks were too much for the Guelph defence which collapsed in the third.

Actually the first period was the game's best. It produced excellent goal-tending especially by Bilts' Howard Kelly, wide-open hockey featuring good stick-handling and passing patterns.

Kelly at times was sensational as he was left time and time again by his defence to face one or two Shamrocks usually, Gary Darling, Pat Baker or Larry Lonsberry.

The back-checking of Mahoney stopped and disrupted the Bilts' attack, giving Shamrock goalie, Jim Riel, very little action. In fact the only clean shot on goal beat him, a break by Paul Booth which gave the Bilts' a 1-0 score.

That lead lasted only six seconds. Lonsberry started his scoring spree, helped by Gary Darling, Baker and Mahoney in particular. The Shamrocks went ahead 2-1 in the first, rocketed up 7-2 in the second and scored practically at will in the third.

Guelph attempted to stem the Shamrock spree in the second period, changing goalies, Kelly giving way to Kurt Christie. But the Bilts' defence didn't help Christie either and he suffered a similar fate to Kelly. Midway through the third the Bilts changed back to Kelly.

Lonsberry throughout the game clearly showed just why four NHL clubs, Boston, New York, Detroit and Toronto, have sent out offers for a playing career. He seemed to use magic as he broke away from checkers to bear down on goal, driving a hard low shot.

Several times Lonsberry dangled from well behind the Shamrocks' blueline, through the Bilts' team despite checkers, to score. He was clearly out of this class.

The stick handling of little Gary Darling delighted the fans. Often he weaved back and forth in front of the Bilts' defence until his teammates moved into place, then he laid neat passes. Lonsberry benefited from Darling's work.

Wayne Haig, Rick Pace, Frank Daley, Baker, Mahoney and the other Shamrocks played the season's best game.

Bilts' first line of Mel McPhee, Paul Booth and Larry Jones carried the load. These boys caused some concern along the Shamrock bench in the first period as they worked a long pass to centre and up.

Pete Colley and Terry Clifford in the late stages attempted to rally for the Bilts.

Lineups:

Guelph Biltmores—Goal, Kelly; defence, Colley, Lussier; centre, McPhee; wings, Booth, Jones; alts, Keleher, Zuch, Bradshaw, Drone, Clifford, Farrelly, Mellow, Hales, Christie.

GRANT'S SPORT CORNER

By DON GRANT

Brampton had better take a firmer grip on the Minto Cup, the Canadian junior lacrosse championship trophy.

While the Timbermen have brought the Mann Cup to Peterborough for the past two years, the juniors, sponsored by F. H. Patterson, have received only the spoils of the runners-up in the Ontario league. But this year may be different.

Thursday the juniors took another large step in the re-organization for 1953 when Doug Miller Jr. was appointed coach to succeed Lou Vitarelli.

The genial advertising man between pressure of business and the desire to spend more time with his wife and kiddies bowed out this year.

Since he started coaching three seasons ago, Lou has spent hours in the development of lacrosse players. Those hours were not wasted; for he has placed Peterborough on the junior map as a contending team.

Junior Club Aid to Senior Team

What is more important, he has made the senior club realize the importance of a junior team for the development of senior calibre players. For without home-brew players, the cost of operating a senior club would be too high; the importation of players from other centres is costly.

Former juniors have helped the senior Timbermen's cause, especially last year during the playoffs. Such players as Lou Nickle, Grant Burns, Gary Robinson, Bill Killingbeck and Joe Whitnell helped the Timbermen through a delicate period.

This year when all senior clubs are scrambling for players, with youth and junior experience, the juniors are going to pay off again. For graduating from last year's club will be Rock Batley, Doug Powell, Red Robinson and Bev Groves. Little Rog Smith will likely see both junior and senior action.

Lou's love of lacrosse which spurred his work will keep senior lacrosse healthy in Peterborough.

The appointment of Doug Jr. gives the juniors a coach with the same desire as Vitarelli, to develop the younger players for the climb into senior. There's a great deal of satisfaction for a junior coach when he watches his boys reach the senior club.

Dr. John Epping Heads Junior Club

With a strong executive, headed by Dr. John Epping, Doug Jr. has a man-sized chore ahead of him. With a few veterans back, plus grads from the juvenile champions and imported players, he must build a contending team.

The foundation will be the seven players left over from the 1952 squad. These lads, Carl Brioux, Jerry O'Reilly, Frank Farley, Rog Smith, Bob Allen and Junior Daniels, have had considerable experience in junior, so much in fact that several senior clubs, Hamtilon and St. Catharines, have sent out offers.

Doug is counting on graduates from his 1952 championship juvenile team to provide others. Bob Curtis, Don Scriver, Jack Chapman, Carl Simmons, Bob Hobert will probably be stepping up along with Jack Burley, Pat Brennan, Art Galley, Vic Ridley, Laverne Jones and Jack Cupoli. They've had a good grounding in the minor association.

Must Secure Added Strength And Experience

The club will not rely upon these players, feeling they'll need more bench strength which has junior experience.

Already 10 players from Huntsville, Orillia, Alliston, Toronto and Fergus have been contacted and they'll likely be showing up for tryouts. Their main purpose in coming to Peterborough is to play junior with the chance of graduating to the senior Timbermen.

Frank Patterson has visited most of the players within the past few weeks, explaining just what the club has to offer. They stress the chance of playing senior as well as opportunity to further their education by learning a trade.

The club, while trying to bring in players, has not raided other lacrosse clubs, especially junior teams. They're endeavoring to find players above the juvenile age but with no place to play junior or players of junior age, playing intermediate.

During the past two years the juniors have paid off for the seniors, for Lou Nickle, Grant Burns, Bill Killingbeck, Gary Robinson and Jim Heffernan (this year) are all junior grads. Rock Batley, Red Robinson, Bev Groves, Doug Powell and possibly Rog Smith will be attempting the jump this year.

Poor crowds last year nearly decided the club to move to a smaller town this year. But the executive decided to keep the team in Peterborough for another year, hoping the fans will give their support.

Offers to back the team were received from Millbrook and Lindsay. This year they'll probably play exhibition games in Campbellford, Millbrook, Lindsay, Lakefield and Norwood to test the fan support in these centres.

If the Peterbrough fans do not back the juniors this year, it is possible some of the league games may be played out-of-town. After all, the players don't have the same interest playing to empty stands and you can't operate a team on peanuts.

The boys will begin work next week with indoor workouts which will emphasize conditioning. They'll likely start practices outside in two weeks if the weather stays warm.

BELFAST TEAM WINS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Giving a brilliant display of English rugby, the Queens University team of Belfast, Ireland, opened its British Columbia tour Thursday with a 19-10 victory over University of British Columbia Thunderbirds.

Lindsay Beats The Gans For A 3-1 Lead

LINDSAY (ENS)—Classy Norm Parrish, goalie of the Gananoque Gans, was outlucked here last night, when after keeping his team in their playoff game with the Lindsay Muskies, he let in an overtime goal by Orley Crawford that gave the Muskies the game, 4-3, and a commanding 3-1 lead in their OHA intermediate "A" quarter-final series. Crawford's goal came early in the extra period, when he jammed Sixty Coombs' rebound under Parrish, who had sprawled across the goal-mouth after making the save. The Muskies had come from behind a 3-1 deficit early in the final regulation period to tie the count at 3-all and force the extra session in a tense, hard-checking, rough encounter.

OPENED IT UP

Vic Orley, speedy winger for the Muskies, opened the scoring in the final period, when he took Stew Hicks' pass in front, and slipped a short shot into the net. He had two chances, before and after the goal, but Parrish who played another standout game, foiled him both times.

In the second period, Gans caught up to the Muskies, Tom Tindall netting their first counter with the Muskies playing two men short. Tindall got the puck behind the Lindsay net, circled in front and slid the puck into the corner. In the final minute of the period with the Muskies one man short, Gans scored with a second remaining from a scramble in front of the net, Keyes counting with Tindall drawing the assist.

Early in the third period, the visitors increased their margin, Anderson scoring from Switzer, as O'Connell came out of his net to clear a bouncing puck and missed. Then the Muskies began their drive to tie the game:

GOT THE SECOND

Lewis scored their second goal, when he trapped the puck in front of Parrish two minutes later, slapped at it twice and finally flipped it into the net with Green gaining the extra point. Four minutes later, reliable centreman Stew Hicks, who led the Muskies all night, got the draw on a faceoff in the Gans' end, and before Parrish could move, flipped a shot into the top corner. From that time to the end of the period, both goalies had to be hot, as the teams set a torrid pace, trying for the winning goal. The final buzzer of regulation time set the stage for the overtime and sent the 1,500 fans into a frenzy of excitement.

The game was another rough Gans-Muskies' feud, although it quieted down after the first period, when referees Crombie and Heffering dealt seven minors and four majors in two separate fist-swinging brawls. There were only four more sentences throughout the rest of the game.

Hicks, Lewis, Corley, Parker and Crawford were the winners' best attackers while Davis, Green and Al Burns turned in great defensive games. Tindall, Switzer, Woods, Atkins and Jackson were best for the losing Gans, who are now up against it for the rest of series. Both goalies, O'Connell and Parrish were outstanding, although Parrish probably had twice as much to handle as did the Muskies' netminder.

Jim Wilson Tops

Jim Wilson showed the way in the Major Bowling League with a 336 single and 809 three-game score. Odeon's 3,548 led teams as Bickell's 1,334 was high single for squads. The 7-0 wins went to Odeon, UE and McLeod over Edward's, Herbs' and Sunshine; the 5-2 victories were taken by Plaza, Burtol, OPP, Hollingsworth, Silents and E & B over Selkirk, Examiner, D & W, Wonder and Irwin-Godson; and the 4-3 wins went to Cherney, Clapper and Brewers over Crowley, Bickell and Revenoors.

Good scores included: A. Hall 700, A. Caccavella 701, E. Reynolds 704, W. Harris 709, H. Roberts 712, W. Stanbury 728, J. Dormer 749, R. Bennett 739, M. Doris (318) 718, C. Reynolds (305) 797, W. Boon 737, E. Downer 732, A. Muttucci 703, and singles' D. Coughlin 304, R. Bassett 307 and H. White 303.

DO YOU OWN A CAR?

When the man who developed Bardahl Rad Conditioner brought his car to a garage for repairs, the garage owner phoned to ask him what on earth had he put in his radiator. He said that when they drained his radiator the water was so thick with dirt it would hardly pour. The Bardahl Rad Conditioner had removed rust, scale and dirt untouched by a popular brand chemical cleaner. The garage owner immediately placed an order for their own use. Since then hundreds of thousands of car owners in Canada and the United States have used Bardahl Rad Conditioner. If you own a car you should try it too . . . if your car is new it will keep your radiator in permanently new condition . . . if you have been running your car for a few years you'll be amazed at the dirt, rust and scale it will remove. Bardahl Rad Conditioner keeps radiators clean . . . eliminates rust formation which can insulate a motor, causing harmful overheating . . . and it also lubricates and stops squeaky water pumps. Bardahl Rad Conditioner costs only 89c. Ask for it at your Service Station.

Second Contest TVL Finals Captured By C's

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — Campbellford earned their second straight victory over Wellington when they again defeated the Southern Division champions in the TVL finals in Belleville last night by a score of 7-3.

The winners are top-heavy favorites to take the best four-of-seven series, possibly without going the limit. The third game is slated for Tuesday night and the entire series will be staged in Belleville.

Wellington Dukes took an early lead in last night's game on goals by Leo Goyer and Graham, but they could not keep pace with their speedy rivals from the north who matched these early counters with goals by Free and Blake, before the first period concluded.

STRUCK HARD

Campbellford struck hard and fast in the second frame and continued their superiority with little difficulty during the final session. Leo Goyer, who scored his second goal late in the middle canto to star in a losing cause, was the only Wellington marksman to flash the red light behind Nelson after the first 10 minutes of the game.

The line of Simpson, Jeffs and Wilson was probably the most effective for the winners, but the whole team had Wellington fairly well bottled up and the situation well in hand after the shaky start.

Wellington: Goal, Parks; defence, Hurst, Yorke; centre Scott; wings, Cousins, Graham; alternates, Hatfield, Goyer, Johnston, Pettingil, Mowatt, Brant.

Campbellford: Goal, Nelson; defence, Free, Baker; centre, Eady; wings, Payne, Craig; alternates, Blake, Taylor, Pace, Simpson, Jeffs, Cole, Wilson.

Summary:

First Period

Wellington—L. Goyer 2:40
Wellington—Graham (Scott, Cousins) 8:50
Campbellford—Free (Craig, Eady) 16:58
Campbellford—Blake 19:17
Penalties—Yorke, Hatfield, Wilson, Greer.

Second Period

Campbellford—Blake 42
Campbellford—Jeffs (Wilson) .. 3:08
Wellington—Goyer (Johnston, Hatfield) 17:55
Campbellford—Simpson (Jeffs, Wilson) 19:40
Penalties—Taylor 2, Cousins, Baker.

Third Period

Campbellford—Wilson (Simpson, Free) 2:31
Campbellford—Cole (Free) 6:46
Penalties—Taylor, Greer (major), Wilson (major).
Referees—Carson and V. Goyer.

TO ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE —Four members of Pat Doherty's Shamrocks, Ontario bantam "A" champions, will attend St. Michael's College hockey school, beginning April 6 in Toronto. The boys are (top, left to right): Gary Darling and Bill Mahoney; (lower) Pat Baker and Larry Lonsberry. According to Lonsberry's father, Mark Lonsberry, of Warsaw, the young defenceman will likely be attending the college in September, playing his hockey there next season. —(Examiner Staff Photos).

Four Young Hockey Players Trying Out With St. Mike's

By DON GRANT

Pat Doherty's Shamrocks will be well represented at St. Michael's College hockey school during the Easter holidays. One line, Pat Baker, Gary Darling and Bill Mahoney, and defenceman, Larry Lonsberry, will attend the school, trying out for college teams, bantam, midget, juvenile, junior "B" or "A".

This is the second group of players to be offered tryouts this year. Last week it was learned that five players, from the junior IOOF and the minor association, would be given tryouts at the Detroit Red Wing school on Easter weekend.

Baker, Darling, Mahoney and Lonsberry will leave Peterborough Monday, April 6, for the two-week school, operated by St. Michael's College. Other players from throughout Ontario will also be there.

GRADED INTO TEAMS

That Monday afternoon the boys will be graded into the various teams, according to their ability. Lonsberry, although only a bantam-age player, will be trying out with a junior "B" team. The positions for the other three have not been decided.

Throughout the two weeks the boys will be graded as they progress, climbing into higher categories or remaining in the original groups.

During the school the boys won't miss the week of regular school studies after the holidays. They will attend classes at the college.

The offers to the boys speak well for Coach Doherty's work with the Shamrocks this season as well as last. He has coached two of the boys, Mahoney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mahoney, 540 McCannan Ave., and Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baker, 299 Murray St. Both have played the past several years with St. Peter's bantams.

Mahoney started his hockey with the McGillis Eagles bantams while Baker played first in St. Catherines for the CYO.

As far as Lonsberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lonsberry, of Warsaw, and Darling, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Darling, of Warsaw, are concerned, Doherty shares coaching honors with George Heron.

Both boys played hockey with Otonabee district team, showing well even then. But when the team jumped into midget this year the lads chose to remain bantam, playing with the shamrocks.

Lonsberry, according to his father, will quite likely be attending St. Michael's College next September, playing hockey with a college team next winter. At present he attends PCVS.

During the past few weeks Lonsberry has been scouted by Boston Bruins, Detroit Red Wings, New York Rangers and the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Bruins Upset Wings To Even NHL Series

By ED SIMON, Canadian Press Sports Writer

Lynn Patrick said all along that the only way to beat the powerful Detroit Red Wings is to "out-defence" them. There were unkind guffaws from the Detroit gallery Tuesday night as Patrick's Boston Bruins defenced themselves into a 7-0 set-back in the opening game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final. But a newly-respectful crowd began to get the idea Thursday night. Firing only 24 shots at Detroit netminder Terry Sawchuk, the Bruins built up an early lead and proceded to cram their zone with protection for goalie Jim Henry. It paid off with a stunning 5-3 victory and sent them home on even terms with the National Hockey League champions.

The less fortunate Chicago Black Hawks blew a two-goal lead and dropped a 4-3 decision to Montreal Canadiens for their second straight setback. But they caused the second-place Habitants enough trouble to give coach Dick Irvin cause for speculation as to how he would fare in the next two games away from home.

FRUSTRATING NIGHT

The Red Wings had a frustrating evening. Denied a clear shot at Henry for minutes on end, they still managed to fire 46 drives at Sugar Jim, but found him virtually unbeatable, except in the late stages when the Bruins were home free.

It was a particularly wearing night for Sawchuk, who was trying for an NHL record of four straight shutouts and had his string broken on a play that didn't work out the way the Bruins planned it.

Johnny Peirson passed out from behind the Detroit net to Eddie Sandford. The puck bounced over Sandford's stick and landed in front of Fleming Mackell, who whacked it home.

Less than a minute later, Gordie Howe tied the score, but Dave Creighton scored the first of two goals to give the Bruins a 2-1 lead before the first period ended. Joe Klukay, Peirson and Creighton built up a commanding lead before Metro Prystai counted twice within 30 seconds in the third period for the shattered Red Wings.

PUT ON PRESSURE

At Montreal the Black Hawks threatened to skate the Canadiens out of the rink in the opening frame as Jimmy McFadden scored two goals and George Gee added a third before seven minutes had elapsed. Floyd Curry got the first Montreal tally during the scoring flurry.

But the Canadiens took hold in the second period, with Dickie Moore, Bernie Geoffrion and Dick Gamble providing the scoring power to give them the lead. Careful defensive work kept the Hawks from tying the score in the scoreless third frame.

Both winning clubs may have lost a man through injuries. Klukay of the Bruins suffered a back injury when he fell into the boards and was helped from the ice. Montreal's Paul Meger suffered an injury to his right eye when he collided with Jim Peters of the Hawks in the first period and was taken to hospital.

Both series resume Sunday night with the Wings at Boston and the Canadiens at Chicago.

Rideaus Win Allan Cup Semi-Finals

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Smiths Falls Rideaus won their Allan Cup eastern semi-final by trimming Saint John Beavers 5-2 Wednesday night and taking the best-of-seven series in four straight games.

The winless Beavers threatened to force at least one more game when they tied the count at 2-2 after 11 minutes of the last period but Smiths Falls put on enough pressure to decide the series.

Orval Gravelle, Stu Smith and Johnny Muretich combined for the last three goals. Gravelle shot the winner and added another before Muretich ended the scoring.

Dusty Blair and Alf Webster counted in the first period. Lou Kiley, Saint John playing coach, fired an orphan marker in the middle stanza and Johnny Choyce knotted the score at 11:43 in the third.

SENSATIONAL PLAYING

Ronnie Diguer played sensationally in the Saint John nets. He made 40 saves against 22 by Johnny Craig.

Although outscored 2-0 in the first, the Beavers appeared to have an edge during that session. Blair fired the opener from about 15 feet out with Gordie Scott assisting.

Then Dusty helped Webster to make it 2-0. Saint John's Nick Nicolle, protesting too vigorously that the goal was offside, received a misconduct. The Rideaus were a man short when Kiley scored in the second.

Roughness accompanied apparently ill feeling, although fewer penalties were called than in Tuesday night's game.

Dutchmen Subdue Sudbury 4-2 In Finals

KITCHENER (CP)—The Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A champions, Sudbury Wolves, Thursday night dropped their first playoff game in 12 starts.

The Wolves, who play in the NOHA southern group, won their group semi-finals in three games, the finals in four games and eliminated Rouyn Flashes, northern group winners, in four games to take the NOHA championship.

Sudbury almost kept their clean slate intact last night but Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, Ontario Hockey Association Senior A titleholders, rapped in three goals in the third period to take the first game of a best-of-seven final for the all-Ontario senior A championship 4-2. The series is an Allan Cup Eastern Canada semi-final.

PUT ON GOOD SHOW

The Wolves put on a good show for two periods and with a little more luck might have been farther ahead than the 2-1 margin they held after 40 minutes of play.

They appeared to fade in the final frame when the Dutchmen, who had been playing somewhat over-confidently, settled down to positional hockey.

Marty Burton and Gord Heale fired the Sudbury counters, both in the first period and both with the usually reliable Dutchmen defence looking none too sharp.

Burton got his by picking up a loose puck off Clare Martin's skates at 11:50. Don Rope sandwiched the only Dutchmen tally of the first two frames between that and a goal by Sudbury's Heale at 14:42.

HAVE BAD LUCK

The Wolves had an edge in play in the second period, but had bad luck, hitting the goal post on three occasions while goalie Keith Woodall was playing well for the Dutchmen.

The Dutchies finally got untracked in the third. A penalty hangover from the second period which left Wolves shorthanded gave Howie Lee a chance to tie it in the first minute of the third.

Charlie Brooker got the winner at 6:19 on Martin's smart set up in front. Don Bauer collected the insurance goal on a clever rink-long play with Art Hurst.

There were only eight minor penalties, six of them to Sudbury and four to Len Speck who was sidelined when Dutchies scored both their first two goals.

Centre George Defelice of Sudbury suffered a leg injury when he crashed into the boards in the second period and did not play in the final stanza.

Will Award Trophy To Bantam Loser

TORONTO (CP)—Jack Christie, secretary of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, announced Thursday night that the loser of the OMHA bantam B finals will receive a trophy. The teams involved, Newmarket Smoke Rings and Goderich Lions, have already played a two-game, total-point series but both games were tied 3-3 and 4-4.

Another two-game, total-point series was scheduled and the first game of the second series ended in a 2-2 deadlock after 40-minutes of overtime. The second game is scheduled for Goderich Saturday with the winner receiving the A. A. Morrison Trophy.

The series was so close that the OMHA decided to award a trophy to the losers.

Three Ontario Teams Reach Semi-Finals

MONTREAL (CP)—Three Ontario teams and one from Montreal reached the semi-finals in Royal Caledonian curling competition Tuesday night. The semi-finals are to be played today and the finals tonight.

In the second-round play Ken Weldon of Montreal St. George defeated P. E. MacKay, Heather; C. G. Perry of Ottawa defeated Keith Robb of Aubrey; W. E. Timmerman of Ottawa defeated T. Foster of Utica, N.Y.; and Ford Dixon of Smiths Falls defeated C. O. Baptiste of Trois-Rivieres.

Dixon won 19-9 after taking a first-round match from R. C. Well, Ardsley, N.Y., 11-9.

Little Yid Now Favorite For Steeplechase

By STERLING SLAPPEY

AINTREE, Eng. (AP)—An 11-year-old dark horse named Little Yid emerged today as the 9-to-1 betting favorite for the wide-open 107th running of the Grand National steeplechase Saturday.

The probable field for the perilridden cavalry charge of four miles and 856 yards over 30 murderous fences was cut to 37 with the announcement that Stormhead was a doubtful starter and Shock Tactics, Roman Fire and Just Joe were scratched.

A mysterious flood of money poured in on Little Yid at the next to last callover of odds by London bookmakers Thursday night. The final callover—a private affair where the bookmakers attempt to balance their books—will be staged tonight.

The Irish hot shot, Early Mist, which had been the favorite at 100 to 9 drifted out to 100 to 7. So did Lucky Dome, another Irish hope which had been second choice at 100 to 8.

STRONG SUPPORT

Glen Fire, a slow but steady jumper, also found strong support and finished up as a 100-to-8 second choice to Little Yid.

The cause of the enthusiasm for Little Yid and Glen Fire was hard to find.

Little Yid has run only twice over any portion of the course. He was beaten in the Topham Trophy chase by 20 lengths last season but was a three-length winner earlier this year in the Molyneux chase. In his last three races on easier courses Little Yid was fourth, third and second.

Glen Fire fell early in the running of the 1951 Grand National and refused to jump a fence in the easier Grand Sefton chase here last year.

In Little Yid's favor, he at least has a rider who knows how to get around the Aintree jumps—Jimmy Power who won the race on Freebooter in 1950.

Most connoisseurs of the leapers say this is the cheapest field for the world's blue ribbon chasing event in many a year. The winter book favorites were Teal, last year's winner; Legal Joy, which finished second, and Wot No Sun, third last year and second in 1950.

Two weeks ago Teal, a short-priced favorite, ruptured a bowel in a tuneup race and later died.

Legal Joy and Wot No Sun went sour in training and had to be scratched. So did Royal Tan, an Irish entry which fell at the last fence last year while running third.

SEEK CRU VOTING CONTROL

EDMONTON (CP)—The executive of the Western Interprovincial Football Union met Thursday amid indications that it and the eastern Big Four will adopt a "get tough" policy at the annual two-day meeting of the Canadian Rugby Union opening here today.

Canada's two big football conferences want control of the CRU, contending that since they are making big-time football a paying proposition they should be allowed to call the shots and not be ruled in minor-league fashion.

Rumors indicate that the two leagues may even threaten to break from the CRU.

They aim to have the say in matters concerning the Grey Cup classic and United States imports by having CRU voting privileges altered. The two leagues now hold a minority vote.

Failing voting control, there is a likelihood the big unions are prepared to bolt the CRU and manage senior football themselves under a commissioner, as is the case in the U.S. National League. But a source close to the WIFU sessions said the big unions would rather stay with the CRU as long as they obtain the voting concession.

SEDGMAN IS VICTOR

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Australian Frank Sedgman defeated Jack Kramer 6-4, 6-3 in their pro tennis tour match here Thursday night, lopping the American's lead in the series to 34-22. In the other singles, Pancho Segura toppled Aussie Ken McGregor 6-3, 6-3, giving Segura a 43-14 lead.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winnipeg's famous Elmwood Millionaires junior hockey team defeated Ottawa Primroses at Ottawa in the third and deciding game for the Memorial Cup, 22 years ago today. Billy Mackenzie was a potent factor in the Winnipeg victory, and Bill Cowley was a star with the Ottawa club.

40 Probable Starters Listed

LONDON (CP)—Here is the list of the 40 probable starters for the Grand National Steeplechase to be run over four miles, 856 yards at Aintree Saturday (owners and jockeys in brackets):

Football Union Names League Commissioner

EDMONTON (CP)—Appointment of a full-time league commissioner with wide powers was approved Thursday by the Western Interprovincial Football Union on the eve of the annual meeting of the Canadian Rugby Football Union.

WIFU president Walter Sprague of Edmonton said that five men, all with football backgrounds, were considered for the post and this was narrowed down to two. The choice is expected to be announced Saturday.

The league executive also named the date of the 1953 Grey Cup semi-final in the West between the WIFU champions and the Ontario Rugby Football Union titlists.

The sudden-death playoff with the ORFU champions, to be alternated annually between the WIFU and the Big Four, will be played Nov. 21 this year at the home of the western champions.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

In about two months from now —May 25th to be exact—weather permitting, we will get the green light for the 1953 lawn bowling activities. That's only a short time, but there's a tremendous amount of work to be done before that date. The different committees have met from time to time during the winter months and in most cases their work is pretty well in hand. The most important work to be done right now is that of the membership committee.

It's impossible to contact everybody; we feel sure that most of last year's members will be back again this year and are hoping that they bring a new member along with them.

This sport is played out in the open—in the fresh air and the sunlight; its one of the healthiest pleasures there is.

We begin around May 24 and run through till the "leaves commence to fall." The fee is reasonable, the company congenial.

We are making this appeal to any who would care to join the club. Just contact Roy Lewis at 5441 or Secretary Fred Dearborn at 8660. They will only be too glad to assist.

Don't wait until the schedule is all drawn up; get on a rink, and you'll be sure to have a good summer's sport.

G. Hamilton Leads

Gladys Hamilton led girls in the Mercantile Bowling League this week with a 314 single and 814 triple. Don Penrose showed the way in singles for men with a 303 effort, while Guido DeCarlo topped them in threesomes with 714. Braund's 3,015 was best for teams.

Other good singles included: G. DeCarlo 301, Bob Hopkins 275, Bill Sims 264, M. Flynn 263, M. Hanrahan 245, E. Tucker 227, T. Crowley 226, C. Biggs 238 and H. Hopkins 225.

Austin's won 3-1 from Prudential, the other counts all being 4-0 affairs, for Braund's over Crowe's, Empress over Nichols, Neill's against East City, and the A & P No. 1 team over A & P No. 2.

Smart Gardener

TOFIELD, Alta. (CP)—Andrew Spohn dug carrots from his garden throughout the winter, even when it was 45 below zero. He placed a layer of straw over the carrot beds just before freeze-up and the roots stayed fresh and juicy.

SWINGS AND MISSES—Maurice Richard, of Montreal Canadiens, misses the puck on a slap shot as Chicago goalie Al Rollins goes to the ice to block. Canadiens defeated the Black Hawks 3-1 in the first game of their best-of-seven semi-finals for the Stanley Cup. Canadiens won again Thursday night 4-3.

Chicago White Sox Becoming Hot-Looking League Ball Club

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Chicago White Sox are a hot looking ball club and are being driven with a grim intensity by their manager, Paul Richards, in the waning days of the western exhibition season.

Give them a little pitching and they are going to be hard to head off this time. They are in terrific condition from their preliminary training. The veteran Vern Stephens, for example, says he is a dozen pounds lighter than he has been for years and claims he will "play all of 'em" at third-base.

Somehow, Richards has infused his club with a terrific winning spirit. This team believes it can beat both New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians to the wire.

ROOKIE CATCHER

The big excitement at the moment centres around a rookie catcher, Bob (Red) Wilson, who was voted the most valuable football player in the western conference in 1950, when he was centre and linebacker for Wisconsin.

Two weeks ago Richards didn't mention Wilson in discussing his team. Since then the big fellow, who was at Seattle last year, has gone wild with the bat and has more or less astonished Richards with his work behind the plate. Now Richards say guardedly that he has "high hopes" for him.

Another who has caught fire is Rocco Krsnich, an infielder who joined the Sox from Seattle late last season. He also has been hitting above expectations, especially with men on base, and there is no certainty at all in some minds that he won't play about as much third-base as Stephens does. He is much the better fielder of the two.

The cure of shortstop Chico Carrasquel—whatever it was that ailed him last year—appears to be complete. Again the big Venezuelan is making plays no other shortstop in the game today could make, and he is clouting the ball.

Homemade Bomb

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP) — A small, homemade bomb Thursday night blasted the front porch of a Knox College professor who attributed it to enemies he's made in "law enforcement activities." Alvin White, 41-year-old economics professor and secretary of a group known as "Galesburg laymen," said the bomb "probably was meant to scare me." He said the laymen are interested in enforcement of laws against gambling and crime. The professor, his wife and four children escaped injury.

Hamlin Rink Wins At Toronto

Rinks skipped by H. W. Hamlin of Lakefield and C. V. Hussey of Haliburton each won three games yesterday to qualify in the Brereton-Raw Trophy 'spiel at Toronto Granite Club. A Peterborough rink, composed of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Watts and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Jones won its first game but lost out in the second. Mr. Jones was skip.

The Hamlin rink of Lakefield had Mrs. Hamlin and Mr. and Mrs. Ed O'Toole of Peterborough on it, and they eliminated Gar Braund's local four of Dr. and Mrs. H. Worton and Mrs. R. Miller in the first round. Hamlin's team went on then to oust Lou Walker of Lindsay and L. E. Phenner of Chicago.

In the Parsons Royal Doulton event, E. G. Braund's rink won the first round but lost out in the next session.

S. Beatty Rolls High

Shirley Beatty rolled high three of 727 and C. Monk best single of 306 in the YM senior girls' bowling circuit this week. Bombers whitewashed Tigers, as Commandos, Aces and Corvettes took four points respectively from Hurricanes, Lucky Strikes and the Glens.

Good triples were: Shirley Hackman 674, C. Pearcy 653, C. Monk 651, Marie Whiteside 641, D. Beatty 638, Betty Castle 617 and M. Flaherty 604. Neat singles were: M. Whiteside 296, S. Beatty 280 and 260, L. Bonney 254, E. Peacy 245, S. Heckman 241, D. Woods 240 and A. Jackson 236.

126 Homes Burned

PUSAN, Korea (Reuters)—Fire destroyed 126 houses in this major South Korean supply port today and caused damage estimated at $1,000,000. One woman was burned to death. The United Nations civil assistance command said 1,500 persons were left homeless.

Escapes Injury

SEOUL (AP)—Lt.-Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, 8th army commander, escaped injury today in a collision between two helicopters. Taylor's 'copter was struck by another as it landed on a clearing behind the western front. The second helicopter overturned and two officers suffered minor injuries.

Playlet Presented By Roseneath YPU

ROSENEATH (ENS).—A playlet, "Who Is Your Neighbor?" was the highlight of the YPU meeting held on Monday evening. The playlet was dramatized by Adele Varcoe, Joan McNeely, Trevor Brown, George Moore, Jim Woodruff, Beverly Robins and Rev. J. R. Wheeler.

The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Varcoe. The president, Miss Doris Robins, presided with Miss Betty Carew as pianist.

The scripture reading was given by Donna Pringle.

During the program period, Adele Varcoe gave a reading; Donald Robins gave two humorous readings; Rev. J. R. Wheeler carried off the prize for a "Fahrenheit quiz" conducted by Adele Varcoe.

The recreation period was in form of progressive crokinole.

The hostess served refreshments.

Coconut Intact

VERMILION, Alta. (CP)—A 12-inch coconut sent to Vlad Pardely here by a friend who visited Honolulu had pasted on its shell a customs declaration saying "to be opened for inspection." But customs men didn't bother to crack it and the coconut arrived intact.

Constable Pleads Innocent To Shakedown Charges

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Constable Gilbert Robitaille pleaded innocent Thursday to four charges laid against him by the Windsor police commission in connection with a statement made earlier by Cecil Smith who said he was the victim of a "police shakedown."

Smith Thursday reiterated a charge that he "bought" his way out of a conviction on a liquor charge two years ago but refused to pay a bribe to Robitaille when arrested recently.

Two weeks ago he was sentenced to two months for keeping liquor for sale. He appealed the conviction and sentence.

The commission charged Robitaille with "unlawfully accepting $600 from Smith in April, 1951, in an attempt to defeat, prevent or obstruct the course of justice."

He also was charged with unlawfully accepting $100 from Smith in March, 1952, and in March, 1953, "with the same intention." The fourth charge was that Robitaille, on March 18, 1953, "did unlawfully threaten Smith with bodily harm."

The charges, first laid against any police officer since the police investigation of 1950 which led to retirement of two high department officials, were first made public last week when Smith appeared before the commission.

Smith was asked to return with the charges in writing. When neither he nor his lawyer showed up, Smith was subpoenaed to appear at Thursday's meeting. Once given the protection of the Canada Evidence Act, under which he is immune to criminal or civic charges as a result of his testimony, he elaborated on his earlier charges and named Robitaille as the officer involved.

After hearing the evidence, the commission ordered the four charges laid against Robitaille and hearing of the charges began. The hearing was later adjourned after Robitaille pleaded innocent. It is to resume today.

IT MAY BE YOUR LIVER

If life's not worth living it may be your liver!

It's a fact! It takes up to two pints of liver bile a day to keep your digestive tract in top shape! If your liver bile is not flowing freely your food may not digest . . . gas gloats up your stomach . . . you feel constipated and all the fun and sparkle go out of life. That's when you need mild gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills. These famous vegetable pills help stimulate the flow of liver bile. 4 Leaders Outline Important Election Issue

OTTAWA (CP)—Spokesmen for the four political parties in the Commons Thursday night outlined what they believe will be some of the most important issues in the next election.

The speakers were Duncan MacTavish, president of the National Liberal Federation; George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, and Solon Low, Social Credit leader.

Their speeches were prepared for broadcast in the CBC program "Citizens Forum."

Mr. MacTavish said the main issue in the election will be whether Canadians are to continue to have a "government sustained by the only party which attracts popular support in all parts of Canada and therefore elects members to the House of Commons from every province."

The alternative to a Liberal government, said Mr. MacTavish, is a Parliament of regional groups—a "handful of Social Crediters from Alberta, a handful of Socialists from Saskatchewan, a few more Tories from Ontario and the Maritimes and some so-called independents from Quebec."

Mr. Drew said he believes one of the main issues in the election will be the "waste, extravagance and inefficiency of the present government."

Mr. Drew added:

"If Canadians want lower taxes and their cost of living reduced, then the only way they can do anything about it is to elect a new government."

The Progressive Conservative party, he said, offers the only "possible alternative to the Liberal party."

Mr. Coldwell said the CCF plans to place several matters before the electorate, including its demands for a national health insurance program.

The party also would criticize "extravagance and inefficiency" in the defence program; the government's "failure" to undertake a national housing program; the government's "rich man's budget" for 1953, and the "failure" to regain and expand overseas markets.

Mr. Lowe said the greatest problem facing the whole world is how to "distribute the abundance that men in this age of machines and skills can produce."

He suggested only the Social Credit party could open up a "new era of security and freedom for all men."

Reuters Manager Guest Speaker

LONDON (CP)—Sir Christopher Chancellor, CMG, will be the speaker at the annual meeting dinner of The Canadian Press in Toronto April 15.

The 49-year-old general manager of Reuters, the world-wide British news agency, will fly to Canada a day or two before the dinner which is in the middle of Newspaper Week.

Sir Christopher has been general manager of Reuters since it became a co-operative association, like The Canadian Press and The Associated Press, in 1941. Prior to that he was for nine years Reuters' chief correspondent in the Far East, stationed at Shanghai.

He is a well-known world traveller and in the last two years has visited virtually every country of the free world, studying Reuters services.

As president of The Canadian Press, Roy H. Thomson, president of Thomson newspapers, will be chairman of the meeting.

Reception Cancelled

TORONTO (CP)—An announcement from the office of Lieutenant-Governor Louis Breithaupt Thursday said a reception to have been given April 7 for the Ontario Education Association has been cancelled to observe mourning for Queen Mary.

Ban Blackjacks

LONDON (Reuters)—The House of Commons Thursday unanimously approved a bill making it illegal to carry blackjacks, brass knuckles, stilletoes and similar concealed weapons not covered by the existing legislation.

Korea Proves Need Of Complete Basic Training

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—(Delayed)—Korea, says Lt.-Col. Peter Bingham of Petawawa, Ont., has proven that there can be no short cuts in the basic training of the private soldier.

Reviewing for The Canadian Press his unit's year in this United Nations theatre, the officer commanding the 1st battalion, the Royal Canadian Regiment, said:

"It has shown that we must continue to insist on very thorough basic training. There are no short cuts. You can's streamline that department the way you can others."

Bingham's battalion is up for rotation during March after being relieved by the 3rd battalion, RCR, under Lt.-Col. Ken Campbell of Petawawa, which arrived in Korea March 23.

OUTSTANDING FEAT

Solid training and sound discipline, Bingham said, won the unit's outstanding accomplishment of the year—the battle of Gibraltar spur last Oct. 23. Bingham was en route back from a holiday in Hong Kong at the time.

"I take greater pride in the fact that the battalion fought and won the action while the CO was away than if I had been there," he said.

Bingham said the regiment's debut in the Korean line, from April to July, was a time of great enthusiasm. "Everybody wanted to go out on patrol, everybody wanted to fight the enemy."

After a rest in reserve the RCRs returned to the line in August, assigned to the dominant Little Gibraltar hill.

"The whole thing had a much more serious note," Bingham said. "The enemy was in a very strong position. Here the battalion began to suffer its really heavy casualties. Patrolling no longer had the same boyish zest, things had become much more serious."

INTENSE SHELLING

During the following 84 days the RCR was shelled with mounting intensity. Companies became exhausted and had to be relieved. The battalion's front was extended and a fifth company was improvised and thrown into the line on three hours' notice.

The Chinese poured shells and mortar bombs at a 6,000-shells-an-hour rate at 6 p.m. Oct. 23 for 30 minutes, then launched a two-battalion attack to seize Little Gibraltar's 1,500-foot peak.

A company position was overrun. The Chinese halted to consolidate. Seven hours later, after rebuffing one RCR counter-attack, they decamped as the battalion launched its second.

"Team work did it," said Bingham, "that, plus training and discipline."

"It is just as important to have a smooth-running team in this static war as it is in fluid war."

After two months in reserve during November and December, the battalion found itself shifted southeastward to the "Hook" position, then the left anchor of the Commonwealth division's front. There it relieved the 3rd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, which was completing its first month in the line.

Since then the battalion has been in reserve.

"I would sum up our service here by saying that it has added prestige to the regiment. We have added a new regimental day to our traditions, 'Little Gibraltar Day,' which will be observed henceforth Oct. 23.

"And we have won six Military Crosses, as many as the battalions of the original brigade won altogether, and seven Military Medals.

"But most important, it has confirmed to us something we were beginning to forget. That is, there is nothing new in war.

THE LAST WORD

"If soldiers abide by the book, by the doctrine, they will find that it covers the whole thing.

"The instruction that we have in Canada, the training manuals we have on all the aspects of war, prepare us for anything. The book is right—be it fluid war, jungle war or static war.

"This war. . . has proved that we must not skimp on basic training.

"Basic training means disciplining a soldier to instant obedience. It does not mean making a slave of him. But it conditions him to react instantly to a command in the field. It is imparted principally in drill, on the parade square.

"And a basically-trained soldier also has at his finger-tips the basic skills of a soldier, including thorough knowledge of his basic weapons—the bren-gun, the sten-gun and the rifle.

"Six months are desirable, but you can do it in three. You can't produce him in six weeks."

EXPRESSIONS RANGE from thoughtful concentration to apparent boredom as United Nations delegates from three countries listen to a long blast against the United State by Soviet satellite Czechoslovakia at the UN's political committee session in New York yesterday. Rubbing his cheek thoughtfully at left is Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. delegate who made an immediate reply to the Czech charges. Relaxing in their seats are Sir Gladwyn Jebb, centre, of the United Kingdom, and Russia's active delegate, Andrei Gromyko, right.

Fire Injuries Fatal

OTTAWA (CP)—Victor Melvin Goodfellow, a 52-year-old crippled taxi stand dispatcher, died in hospital here Thursday from burns suffered Sunday when fire caused $5,000 damage to his home. Police and fire prevention bureau inspectors are investigating the possibility that the fire in the two-storey home in Ottawa west end was started by children playing with firecrackers or matches.

Lakefield Forms Committee To Beautify Town

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—A "Lawn and Garden" committee was formed, under the jurisdiction of the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce at a meeting held in Memorial Hall on Tuesday evening. The purpose of this organization is to increase civic pride through the beautifying of the village by having better lawns and gardens, more flower beds, cleaner back yards and in general improving the appearance of all premises.

The members of this committee will prepare an agenda of suggested work and will submit it to the Chamber at its next directors' meeting on April 14.

President Donald Hendren presided for the meeting and expressed his appreciation at the splendid attendance. The following organizations were represented, Home and School Association, Recreation Committee, IODE, Women's Institute, Girl Guides, Brownies, Lions Club, Red Cross, Canadian Legion and the Women's Auxiliary to Canadian Legion.

COULD IMPROVE PARK

The Rev. J. A. Steed, a member of the village council, stated that the present facilities for recreation in the park would be improved and put in good running order and that repairs will be made to the rip rap along the water's edge. He also said that the council were considering holding an open meeting for the citizens of the village, so that all might become better acquainted with the business of the town.

In reviewing the question of what assistance the C. of C. might give to the local Fair Board in improving the Fair, many suggestions were made from the floor, such as parades, an amateur show. The retail merchants should use more displays as a means of advertising it was suggested. In answer to a suggestion that the Lakefield Lions Club should be given the games concessions on the grounds, secretary-treasurer of the Fair Board, Howard Beavis, explained that it was often necessary to give the entire concessions of the grounds to one professional group in order to have a good midway.

A. W Stewart reported that of 18 merchants contacted regarding staying open on Wednesday afternoons during the tourist season, ten wanted to close. Mr. Stewart also discussed the question of the proposed peddlers and hawkers by-law.

A full report on the algae problem, prepared by the government, will be ready for publication in about three weeks, reported Jimmie Jones, and Lakefield C. of C. will be sent a copy.

The advancement of summer sports, as a means of tourists' attraction, came up for discussion and the question of utilization of the arena during inclement weather. The general feeling was that it would be of little use without a floor. The cost of a wooden floor would be quite high, and it was felt that a cement floor could not be laid without the installation of pipes in case the village should decide on artificial ice at some future date.

A report of the arena's finance and general set-up was given by J. McKerchar.

Airfield Built Too Slowly Complaint Made

OTTAWA (CP)—A government official said Thursday completion of buildings on an RCAF airfield at Penhold, Alta., was "much later than we had hoped for" despite an air force request that "extraordinary steps" be taken to speed up the work.

R. G. Johnson, president of Défence Construction Limited, told the Commons defence committee $28,254 worth of extra costs were incurred in a speedup operation started in the fall of 1951 at the request of the RCAF but abandoned in December when it became obvious the February, 1952, target for completion could not be met. The various completions did not come until late 1952 and early 1953.

Mr. Johnson was referring to the largest single contract in the $6,334,000 job of rehabilitating the wartime airfield eight miles south of Red Deer, one given to the Alexander Construction Ltd. for construction of 12 buildings.

Penhold is one of a string of prairie airfields being reopened by the RCAF.

The major causes of delay, said Mr. Johnson, were a very wet summer in 1951 and an early winter, slow steel deliveries and inadequate labor force.

ADVISER—Nicholas Monsarrat, 43, has been appointed information adviser to the United Kingdom information office at Ottawa. He succeeds A. Gordon Huson. Mr. Monsarrat, author of 12 novels and war books, including the best-selling "The Cruel Sea," published in 1951, will take over his duties May 1.

New Respirator Works Against Nerve Gases

LONDON (CP)—A new type of gas mask to protect the civilian population of Britain in event of another war, will soon be in production.

The respirator will provide protection against the latest known forms of chemical warfare, including the so-called "nerve gases." Small concentrations of the gases can cause convulsions and paralysis within minutes of exposure. Heavier doses result in sudden death.

A closed rubber cushion tube, containing air at atmospheric pressure surrounding the facepiece, will ensure that the mask fits more closely than earlier types. Fitting and adjustment trials are being held at selected centres throughout the country to determine the proportion of varying sizes that will be required.

Cotton Tales Hold Final Meeting

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—The closing meeting of the Lakefield Cotton Tales was held on Monday evening at the home of Miss Velma Weavers, with a good attendance present.

The girls discussed plans for achievement day. They also handed in their completed dresses and record books which will be judged and commented upon at the achievement day program, which will take place April 11 at the Peterborough Normal School.

The reports of the various committees were presented. Mrs. Weavers served a dainty lunch.

CALL SASKATOON MINISTER

INGERSOLL—The Rev. D. T. Evans of Saskatoon has been called to take charge of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, E. J. Chisholm, clerk of the session, announced Thursday. The Rev. George W. Murdock, former minister, has left to take a charge in New Liskeard.

Farmers Fight Losing Battle

MITCHELL (CP) — Trade Minister Howe said Thursday night farmers are fighting a losing battle against importation of refined Cuban sugar.

Mr. Howe was answering questions from farmers at the annual banquet of the Perth County Federation of Agriculture.

"The sugar will come in anyway," he said. "It's a losing game trying to fight it. We might get by this year but not likely beyond that."

Ellice Brockman, county sugar beet grower, said 25 carloads of refined Cuban sugar have entered the area since Mr. Howe said in the House of Commons that no Cuban sugar would be shipped to beet-growing areas.

The minister said he specified there would be no "direct" shipments, and any that had been sent to Perth county had arrived "indirectly."

Government CanName Delegates To Board

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario labor relations board has ruled that the government can name representatives to an arbitration board when parties in a dispute refuse to appoint their own.

The ruling was made in a contract dispute between Fittings Limited of Oshawa, and the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL).

The issue arose when the company declined to name a member of an arbitration board. No provision was made in the contract to cover the situation.

The board ruled that if either party does not name a representative within five days of authorization for arbitration proceedings, Labor Minister Daley may make his own choice on behalf of whichever party does not appoint its own.

Flood Fund Gift

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The Chrysler Corporation of Canada Thursday announced a donation of $1,000 to the overseas flood relief fund to bring total donations to $31,372. The fund, sponsored by the Windsor Daily Star, will be used to help flood victims in England, Holland and Belgium.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

FOR

The Citizens of Peterborough

AND

Employees of Canadian General Electric

(The following advertisement is purchased by the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO-CCL), so that the citizens of Peterborough will have a true understanding of the issues in the current campaign at CGE.)

Yeterday IUE-CIO-CCL filed a formal application with the Ontario Labour Relations Board in Toronto for a representation election among employees of the Peterborough Canadian General Electric plant.

Early today IUE-CIO received a letter from the O.L.R.B. confirming receipt of the application and cards.

This application was filed yesterday for two reasons:–

1. As of midnight yesterday the old union's contract at C.G.E. expired.

2. The labour law requires that a union must file formal application for an election before the incumbent union's contract expires.

The law requires that a new union must have secured signed membership cards from at least 45% of the bargaining unit in order to petition for an election. Both requirements of the law have been met.

In an attempt to confuse the issues in the minds of all local residents – and especially C.G.E. employees – the old union has levelled two charges at IUE-CIO.

First, the old union says IUE-CIO is here only to "disrupt UE's negotiations with the company." Second, the old union says IUE-CIO is engaged in a "witch-hunt." Therefore, to set the record straight once and for all, IUE-CIO sets forth these two points:–

1 IUE-CIO did not choose this time to conduct a campaign at CGE. The time was set by the Ontario Labour Relations Act, Section 40, Paragraph 2, which states:

"Where a collective agreement is for a term of one year . . . a trade union may apply for certification as bargaining agent of any of the employees in the bargaining unit defined in the agreement only after the agreement has been in operation for ten months and before it has been in operation for twelve months."

That destroys the myth of a "company union raiding UE negotiations." IUE-CIO sought the election for CGE employees because of a sincere desire to provide CGE workers with a strong, capable, effective trade union that will win CGE workers the wage and contract improvements they deserve, but which have been denied them the past three years because they have been "represented" by a weak, ineffective, independent union that is isolated from organized labour.

2 IUE-CIO has come to Peterborough—as it went into more than one hundred other communities in Canada and the United States—in order to provide "all workers in the electrical, radio and machine industry with a union free from the domination of the Communist Party." (Quotation from CIO resolution expelling UE and establishing IUE-CIO as the only recognized labour union in that industry.)

Because of this campaign to eliminate a Communist cancer from our society, more than 300,000 workers have left UE and joined IUE-CIO. Now they not only have a union that is winning them the highest wage and contract gains in history, but they also have their own union, to manage in a democratic manner without interference from Communist officials who pose as "labour organizers."

Those are the two primary issues in the campaign at CGE. We ask you to study them and decide in your own mind which union deserves the support of Peterborough citizens and CGE employees. We then urge you to support IUE-CIO-CCL in this drive to restore strong, capable, democratic trade unionism to the CGE plant in Peterborough.

Added Uses For Wood Show Long Forest Prosperity

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Trees, always vital in the life of man, seem to be at the dawn of a wider usefulness.

The annual report of the Minnesota and Ontario Paper Company goes so far as to say historians may call this present time the "age of wood," and presents a situation which promises long prosperity for forest industries.

The report says that through advanced research and study scientists have found many new ways to turn wood into useful products. New industries are springing up and new discoveries, yet to come, will mean still more new uses for wood.

Wood, unlike man's other resources such as iron or oil, will never run out as long as he manages his forests wisely.

VITAL TO LIFE

It is made up of the elements that are vital to life. Cellulose, for example, is the basic ingredient of paper.

Cellulose is made u pof carbon and water, and so is sugar. However, it has one less unit of water. By a simple acid process, you can add this missing unit of water and get sugar.

This wood sugar can be converted into ethyl alcohol and the alcohol can, in turn, be converted into plastics, solvents, oils, synthetic rubber and liquid fuels.

Another basic ingredient of wood is lignin, and you can trace the taste of a vanilla ice-cream cone to a spruce or fir tree. For most of the vanilla flavor used today comes, not from a tropical bean, but from lignin, a by-product of the pulping process.

WOOD PLASTICS

The frames of your eyeglasses and your fountain pen may be of wood plastics. Even your telephone comes from wood.

Many people wear suits and dresses made from wood. Your belt may have been tanned with a wood derivative or made of synthetic leather from wood.

The film in your camera very likely came from wood. The dashboard of your automobile is often made from wood plastic and so is your steering wheel. The tires are either natural rubber from trees or synthetic rubber that can be manufactured from wood.

Cattle feed can be made from wood. Yeast, too, can be produced as a by-product.

Seek To Domesticate Saskatoon Berry

BEAVERLODGE, Alta. (CP)—The Saskatoon berry—a soft, juicy fruit not unlike a tiny crab-apple—is coming out of the bush.

J. A. Wallace and V. Chanasy of the Dominion experimental station here are working to bring the Saskatoon into the gardens of the Prairie. They have developed two strains, Pembina and Smoky, of the native Saskatoon or service berry which they hope to adapt to garden growth.

The two strains, named for the rivers near which they were found, are developed for their large fruit and early maturing qualities.

Ray Ure of the Morden, Man., experimental station has produced some interesting color combinations in the Saskatoon. He reports white, yellow and the orthodox black berries.

Other uses for the bushes include ornamental planting and as wind breaks.

A new airline service between Australia and Africa will cover 6,500 miles with stops only at Cocos Islands and Mauritius.

DUKE WITH CANADIANS—The Duke of Edinburgh (left) chats with Brig. J. E. C. Pangman, commander of the 27th Canadian Infantry Brigade at Hannover, Germany. The Duke, wearing the uniform of a field marshal in the British army, visited the Canadian troops. He landed and took off in the helicopter shown in the background.

Car, Truck Start Turn Together, Collide

A collision with a three-ton army truck caused $150 damage to a car driven by C. C. McCann, 26, 679 Aylmer St., Wednesday, about 5.30 p.m.

The stake-model truck was being driven in convoy by L-Cpl. L. B. Maloney, 21, of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, Camp Borden. He had stopped for the traffic light at Lansdowne and George Sts. when McCann drove up. When both vehicles started to make right turns at the same time, they collided. The army truck was not damaged. PC Sherman Keliele investigated.

Windsor May Leave Britain Forever, Unless Given Job

LONDON (AP) — The Daily Sketch said today the self-exiled Duke of Windsor and his American-born Duchess may quit Britain forever unless he receives an official appointment of some kind from Prime Minister Churchill.

The Conservative Sketch was the second British newspaper in two days to raise the question of the former King's future in the light of the death of his mother, Queen Mary.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express said Thursday the British people would like to see him come home. But neither the Express nor the Sketch broached the question whether he should bring along the former Wallis Warfield Simpson, for whose love he gave up the throne 16 years ago.

"His friends believe that the Duke of Windsor will leave Britain forever now that his mother, Queen Mary, is dead," the Sketch said. "Her death has severed his strongest link. Only one thing might prevent him staying away permanently—the offer of an official post. His wife is waiting in New York to hear what he plans to do."

The duchess has never been received at the royal court—largely, many people believe, because Queen Mary would never accept any sort of social relationship with a divorced woman.

The Sketch said the Duke, who served as governor of the Bahama Islands during the Second World War but returned to private life when the appointment ended, has wanted "for years" to serve Britain.

It quoted him as saying in 1949, "I do not miss being King—but I do miss my country and working for it."

"Last November, he told Mr. Churchill he would take on any "and he repeated that offer the day before Queen Mary's death. But so far it has not been possible for the offer to be accepted."

The Sketch said Windsor is expected to stay in Britain until the contents of Queen Mary's will are made known to the Royal Family. The newspaper reported guesses at the size of her estate range from £3,000,000 to £4,000,000. The actual amount may never be known for certain since royal wills are not made public.

Will Propose Pooling Milk Supplies

BELMONT, Ont. (CP)—Pooling of milk supplies without regard to the use of the product will be proposed soon to provincial authorities by producers' co-operatives in Oxford, Norfolk and Waterloo counties, directors of the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers' Association were told here Thursday.

The pooling would be on a "geographic" basis with all milk within an area, whether for cheese, butter, conentrate, powder or "whole" delivery, said W. L. Bishop, Norwich, who outlined the proposal. All herds, regardless of the destination of the milk they produced, would be subject to the same standards and the same inspection. All milk would be graded "with the same yardstick," he said.

Association directors endorsed the plan in principle.

Producers of whole milk now are paid one price and subjected to one form of inspection; producers for concentrated milk to another price and another inspection; and producers of milk for cheese to still another price.

Pry Two Men From Car Wreckage

STRATHBURN, Ont. (CP)—Two Windsor men who had to be pried and sawed out of their demolished truck near here Thursday night are in Victoria Hospital, London.

The driver, Lawrence J. Deschamps, 22, suffered a possible injured left shoulder and possible head injuries.

His passenger, 18-year-old Paul Holland, is suffering possible back injury.

Their light truck curved off No. 2 highway a mile west of here and smashed against a tree, then overturned, police said.

Great Lake Skippers Seek To Break Records

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Impatient Great Lakes skippers, intent on breaking records this spring, aren't letting regulations stop them in their eagerness to open the navigation season.

With United States and Canadian buoy tenders only half finished laying, the St. Lawrence river and its five connecting inland seas are cluttered with the vanguard of the world's largest freshwater fleet, six days before the official opening of navigation.

At Sault Ste. Marie, the freighter Sir Thomas Shaughnessy ignored U.S. Coast Guard orders that no ships enter the St. Mary's river before Saturday.

Capt. A. R. Irvine sailed his ship up the river Thursday, took on coal at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and locked through the Canadian side of the ship canal after receiving "first freighter" honors, all despite a running radio conversation with coast guard officials who demanded he stop.

FOUR HESITATE

Farther down the St. Mary's river, four lakers hesitated with steam up, undecided whether to make the dash through the link between Lake Huron and Lake Superior.

One, the Mohawk Deer, was stranded by ice through Wednesday night, but freed herself Thursday and proceeded to De Tour, Mich.

The only ice reported in the upper lakes lies in Whitefish bay in Lake Superior. However, U.S. Coast Guard cutters are breaking it up. Once a path is cleared, open water will extend from Montreal to the Lakehead.

Lower Lake navigation got under way two weeks ago with the arrival at Toronto of the perennial early bird, the sandsucker Charles Dick. However, the Imperial Windsor ran 20,000 barrels of fuel oil from Toronto to Cobourg Thursday, officially opening the Lake Ontario port's commercial season, three weeks ahead of 1952.

CREWS ABOARD

Canada Steamship Lines officials at Toronto and Kingston report crews aboard and many of their craft ready to sail. Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation vessels have engine room artificers at work and expect to slip within a week.

Owen Sound and Midland, where many of the lanky grain carriers winter, report harbor activity at a peak. A few ships have already headed out into Georgian bay while others are expected to leave for the Lakehead as soon as passage at the Sault is guaranteed.

Astronomy Gains Student Favor

WINNIPEG (CP) — Robert J. Lockhart and his seven student astronomers at the University of Manitoba have set their sights sky high.

These eight young men would like to add an observatory to their equipment.

Astronomy is catching on in Winnipeg. Mr. Lockhart, who lectures in the course, hopes to expand the enrolment to between 30 and 40 by next year. The membership of the Winnipeg centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada has expanded from 15 to 85 since last November.

The astronomy course at U. of M. was losing popularity until Mr. Lockhart's arrival last year but he and his seven disciples injected new life. They dug into musty store rooms and uncovered armsful of equipment including 3,000 excellent slides, two telescopes, a model of the solar system. A city business man donated another telescope.

The latest experiment in the course was to hook a camera to some of the equipment and take the first pictures of the moon ever snapped at the university.

"All we need now is an observatory," said Mr. Lockhart. "In fact, all we need is a dome. It would sit nicely on top of the university science building."

Sugar Beet Solution Proving Difficult

MITCHELL (CP)—A solution to the problem raised by Western Ontario beet growers is under consideration but the task is a difficult one, Trade and Commerce Minister C. D. Howe, said at a Perth county federation of agriculture banquet here Thursday night.

Sugar beet growers were complaining about importation of raw sugar from Cuba which was going into refineries in direct competition with beet sugar.

Mr. Howe visited Cuba recently en route back to Canada after a tour of South America at the head of a trade mission.

He said he had reached an agreement with sugar institute heads in Cuba whereby they would not ship raw sugar to Canada. However, non-members of the institute are continuing to ship sugar.

Plan Big Shop Centres

PORT CREDIT (CP)—Two shopping centres costing $4,000,000 will be built on the Queen Elizabeth Highway near Dixie road, it was announced Thursday. One centre, containing 35 stores, will have parking facilities for 1,000 automobiles. The second centre will have a theatre, supermarket, 35 stores and parking facilities for 2,000 autos. Dixie road is nine miles west of Toronto.

Author Expert On Mexico, Designs Silver, Clothes

TAXCO. — Chosen "Woman of the Week in Mexico" in December, 1952, Bernice I. Goodspeed has enough talents and organizing power to be a top notch industrial executive. She is a successful author, shop owner, silver designer, teacher of archaeology to a U.S. summer school and she runs a gallery to display her artist husband's paintings.

* * * *

"Writing is my profession, but designing my hobby," she tells friends. She came to Mexico 23 years ago knowing nothing about the country or the language. Today she is considered an authority on Mexican history and customs and has come to call the country home.

* * * *

It was quite by accident that Miss Goodspeed remained in Mexico and took up the profession of author. She blames it all on the Mexican Calendar Stone.

* * *

She had only been in Mexico City a short time when a friend told her the editor of the first tourismo magazine in Mexico wanted her to do an article. She steadfastly refused because the only writing she had done had been drama. One day she accidently met the editor and she decided to do a story on the Mexican Calendar Stone.

* * * *

FASCINATED BY HISTORY

"That was my downfall," she says. "I had three weeks to write it and I went to the National Museum to get material. No one there spoke English, but I was sent to one of the head men who could read it. He told me to write what I wanted and come back the next day and they would have the information. I was so interested in this research that I stayed on doing other articles and Mexico became my home."

* * * *

That original research on the calendar stone had an even more powerful bearing on her own life. She became fascinated by references to the Lost Toltec tribe who had such a fine civilization and then vanished. She became convinced that they couldn't be completely lost and set out to trace them.

* * * *

Miss Goodspeed kept searching until she heard there were people of pure Toltec blood living in the village of Tepoztlan. She set out with a servant via mule train to reach the ancient village. While there she was almost involved in a revolution. She lived for several months with these people learning their history and customs. Before she left the Toltecs did her great honor. She was taken to the sacred temple of Ometochtli and adopted into the tribe.

* * * *

PUBLISHING TWO BOOKS

As a result of 20 years work on the subject, she will have two books published in the fall. "The Lost People" is the story of the race, its fusion and migrations, written in story form. The second book on which she is working almost simultaneously, is "Kingdoms Do Fall." It is a novel based on research done for the first book. It is the story of the downfall of a civilization wiped out by the Aztecs and the Spaniards. It is an almost Evangeline-like tale. She has written three other books on Mexico: Mexican Folk Tales, Criada and Paricutin, all of which have been popular.

* * * *

According to the writer, there are many customs in old Mexico that were similar to those in the Near and Far East, showing there is a tie-up in the distant past. According to legend the first Aztecs were a band 300 strong, newly released from slavery in the north by the Toltecs around Lake Chapala. Like the Arabs, the Toltecs held slaves only seven years and then they were released as free men with coin or a gift of cattle. They had just been released from bondage when they reached their promised land in the south on the site of Mexico City.

* * * *

As they grew more powerful, they took captive the best minds and craftsmen of the Toltecs, very much like the Russian system of slave labor today. The Toltecs who could escape fled into the wilds and were called Apaches. Thousands committed suicide in the rivers, etc. They could not face the thought of being dominated or losing their pure racial strain through intermarriage.

* * * *

HELPED BY CANADIAN

"Much of my success I owe to a former University of Toronto professor," Miss Goodspeed declared. "I was the only student in Mexico ever taken by John Hubert Cornyn. He was one of the greatest authorities on ancient civilization and the language of Mexico. I studied with him for six years in Mexico City and had an apartment in his home. He gave me five original manuscripts which are my greatest treasure."

* * * *

Fourteen of her 23 years in Mexico have been spent in Taxco. At first she had a shop in Mexico City which sold fine handicrafts and operated a gallery for her husband, Carl Pappe. They were visiting Taxco one day and Mr. Pappe liked the countryside and decided to try painting there. So they sold out and moved to the silver town in 1939.

Tipped Off Police Arrest Man In Store

Found In Ostrander's With Watches, Rings Faces Other Charges

Alerted by a telephone call, police surrounded Ostrander's Jewellers Thursday night and apprehended a youth in the act of robbing the store.

Appearing in Magistrate's Court this morning, Edward Brooker, 23, no fixed address, was remanded until Thursday on three counts of theft involving the jewellery store, car and clothing store robberies.

TAKING WATCHES

The first alert to the robbery came when a man, unidentified by police, called to say he had observed someone in Ostrander's taking watches. Five police officers were rushed to the scene and surrounded the store.

Detective Dennis Traynor first observed someone crawling along the store floor near a counter and saw his feet disappear into the office.

Racing around to the rear Detective Traynor climbed up the back roof and observed Brooker through a transom in the ceiling. He called down to him to come out. Brooker, at this time was wearing no shoes, so he put on his shoes, went to the back door, opened it, and stepped into the arms of waiting officers.

HAD WATCHES, RINGS

They found about nine watches and a carton of rings in his possession. Entry was gained through a screen in the rear of the store which Brooker had ripped with a throwing knife he was carrying.

Police said Brooker admitted two other thefts in the early morning of Thursday. The first involved a car parked by the Grand Hotel from which a radio, camera, clothing, suitcase and a motor rug were taken.

The second was Vince Crowley's clothing store on Park Street S. Brooker gained entrance through a window and wormed between two steel bars set only 6½ inches apart. Leaving his jacket outside, he replaced some of the clothes he was wearing with new ones and took along other clothes, including 10 pairs of pants, valued at about $300.

Taking part in last night's arrest were Sergeant of Detectives John Stevenson, Sergeant Gordon Trennum, PC Grant Gillespie, PC Sherman Keliele and Detective Traynor.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

ORGANIZE SKI PATROL

Pat Moyles and Mary Dodds, former Peterborough women, have organized a ski patrol at the Goose Bay air base in Labrador. Members of the Peterborough Ski Club while in Peterborough, they are attempting to reduce skiing accidents in that area. Miss Dodds is also teaching dance routines for a large variety show.

CHILLY AND SNOWY

Thirty years ago today Peterborough citizens were shivering as the temperature dipped to six below zero. Twenty years ago the snow was so deep that tapping maple trees was impossible. Today's temperature at 9 a.m. was 43 degrees above and nearly a half inch of rain had fallen. It's quite a change through the years.

STUDENT NURSES CAPPED

One of Kingston General Hospital's largest classes of students was capped this week at a ceremoney in the nurses' residence. There were 60 student nurses in the class and a number of them were girls from the Peterborough district including Denise Doubt, Lakefield; Dorothy Holdcroft, Havelock; Doreen Appleton, Deloro, and Joyce Brown, Bancroft.

Province Scored For Failing To Act On Hope Report

Controller Leslie Saunders, of Toronto, Thursday night attacked the provincial government for its failure to implement the recommendation of the Hope Report of the Royal Commission on Education in Ontario.

Con. Saunders, who was principal speaker at the 45th anniversary dinner of the Duke of Manchester Loyal Orange Lodge No. 50, said that the report had been endorsed by the Inter-church committee on Protestant-Roman Catholic Relations and the Public School Trustees Association of Ontario, as well as the Orange Association.

"The government says the report is unworkable," Con. Saunders claimed, "but the united opinion of every aspect of Protestant thought, perhaps for the first time in Canadian history, has insisted that it be implemented.

"It seems strange that the government hasn't done anything about it. Are Roman Catholic votes more important than the united opinion of all the Protestants in Ontario?"

CONCESSIONS

The speaker listed some of the recommendations made by the commission and compared them with the concessions which, he said, had been made to Roman Catholics recently.

"We didn't know some of these things were going on until the Hope Report brought them out," he claimed. "Where are these fellows with their red blood? Why don't they get up and speak against these things? They come to us at election time and ask for our votes. They're not going to get mine.

"Long before I was born the Orange Order argued for these things and now they've been recommended by the finest commission ever set up in the country."

While Orangemen should insist on equal rights for all, they should be very careful not to associate themselves with "those who suggest our liberties should be abridged," Con. Saunders warned.

"Unless a group is subversive of the state and is outlawed by the federal government, let us not be caught up in the numbers of those who would proscribe our liberties," the speaker pleaded.

Referring to the recent visit of the Dean of Canterbury, Controller Saunders said: "I don't agree with the Red Dean. I think he's fuzzy-minded. But thousands of people are fuzzy-minded. That's no crime against the state."

A meeting in London, Ontario, at which the Dean spoke, had been broken up "by a bunch of hooligans from the university with stink-bombs and cat-calls."

NO BETTER

"If we determine issues on the basis of who gets to the meetings first that's hooliganism and that's no better than Communism and Fascism," he charged.

Con. Saunders was introduced by E. F. Reid, PGM of the LOL for Ontario East.

Fred Bateman, of Stirling, GM of Ontario East, charged Roman Catholics with trying to prevent the Orange celebration in Ottawa July 13. As the traditional date of the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne falls on a Sunday, the "Glorious Twelfth" will be observed on the following Monday.

He said that a Grand Master had been "brought on the mat" for selling tickets to help finance the celebration.

"I would do all I could to keep all lotteries out of the country," Mr. Bateman said. "But if they're going to stop one they should stop them all.

"We believe in equal rights for all and privileges for none. The Roman Catholics don't believe in that. They are always encroaching."

Mr. Bateman was introduced by Morgan Brown, Grand Lecturer of Ontario East. The Rev. E. W. Rowland said grace. Dinner was provided by the ladies of Star of Bethlehem LOBA. WM Gilbert Harrison was chairman of the program which included a number of musical offerings.

Appoint T-Men To Check Traffic

So you went through that red light without getting pinched, eh?

Don't try it again, friend. There may be a T-man watching you.

Starting April 1, Peterborough motorists who violate traffic laws can expect to receive a courteous letter from the Chief Constable if the violation is spotted by one of a number of carefully selected traffic reporters who will make it their part-time job to watch out for drivers who break the traffic laws without being seen by police.

T-men constitute a preventative organization, seeking to avert trouble for those traffic violators whom they report. Purpose of the system is to impress on drivers the necessity for obeying traffic rules for reasons of safety.

The system, which originated in Dallas, Texas, 15 years ago, has been tried out in such Canadian centres as Sudbury where it is reported to have resulted in a remarkable improvement in driving standards and a decrease in the number of traffic violations.

Will Pave Buckhorn Road If City Gives $14,000, And Province Approves

Paving Could Be Done For $70,000 Whole Length of Road Passes County Council On Split Vote

After a two-hour debate Thursday afternoon County Council came up with the decision to go ahead and pave the whole Buckhorn Road this year, a project that is estimated to cost $70,000. But there are two big "ifs" about the proposal: 1. The city of Peterborough will have to contribute their share of $14,000 to complete the suburban-area road; and 2. The Department of Highways will have to approve a supplementary bylaw, approving the appropriation of $56,000 so the suburban-area roads commission can do the job.

If everything works out as the county council hope it will, here's how the paving program will be paid for this year:

Both city and county throw $14,000 into the pot and this is matched by the department with a $28,000 subsidy, making a total of $56,000. The suburban roads commission have already earmarked $15,000 for paving three miles of the Buckhorn Road in any case; so this gives a total expenditure of $71,000 to finance the paving of the whole 12½ miles of road.

Assuming the city and the department come through, the county would finance their $14,000 by issuing five-year debentures, the first payment to be made in 1954.

County council made their resolution conditional on the city assuming its share and the department paying $28,000.

A sticky point is that the department are threatening to turn down higher road appropriation bylaws from the larger municipalities this year. This warning was given Thursday afternoon by Ewart Marston, district engineer.

Peterborough County have already raised their appropriation bylaw this year by $10,000 over last year. It now stands at $235,000. If the $56,000 supplementary bylaw is passed it will raise the total appropriation to $291,000.

ENCOURAGING INDICATIONS

There are unofficial indications, however, that the department, realizing the Buckhorn Road is the No. 1 road problem in the district, would be willing to approve the project.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Organization of Peterborough 4-H Clubs Promises Two Groups in Peterborough and Norwood Areas .... Farm Forums Concluding the Winter Season With Rally at Normal School.... Hereford Bull Sells For $8,000 At Calgary Sale.

4-H Clubs and all they signify in the present and future of rural youth are an intangible that has to be "sold."

That challenge and the approach to it was the subject of the address by Albert Hoefer. State 4-H Club Leader, Cornel University, Ithaca, New York, at the anual meeting of the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs at Ottawa recently.

Mr. Hoefer was broadly speaking of that governmental branch of agriculture that is comprehended by the word Extension. And one branch of extension work is the promotion of 4-H Clubs. He said: "It takes salesmanship of a high order to get a reluctant parent to see the real advantage to be gained by his boy or girl from participation in 4-H Club work.

PARENTS AS PARTNERS

Ken Best, assistant agricultural representative, has begun the organiaztion of 4-H Clubs for 1953 in the Peterborough and Norwood sections of this county. To that end, it is just as true here as in New York State that rural parents should be recruited as partners in the development of 4-H Clubs.

That phase need not be labored at this stage of the junior club work in Peterborough. It is recommended first of all by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, locally by F. C. Paterson and Mr. Best, and finally by that group of volunteers the Club Leaders. They are a personal background of the club organizations meriting the confidence of farm parents, and one of the most encouraging signs of family interest in this work among the young people is the presence of adults who attend Club meetings fairly often.

The character of the leaders and the sincerity in which they carry out the duties they accept has won the assurance of parents, and the same personal quality will no doubt be recruited in the establishment of the new clubs that are in prospect for this season in East Peterborough.

So, Mr. Paterson and Mr. Best invite the co-operation of rural parents, thereby pledging their best service to the boys and girls who join the clubs this year, and at the same time highly recommend the Club leaders to the farm families.

SOME OF THE MEETINGS

The list of organization meetings received from Mr. Best is as follows:

Wednesday afternoon this week the Norwood High School Grain Club.

Friday evening at Jack Stewart's garage, Norwood, the 4-H Tractor Club in the eastern townships.

The Peterborough Grain Club was organized in advance of the seeding season of last fall. John Sanderson of Bailieboro is president; Ray Allen of Douro, vice-president; Howard Johnston of Springville is secretary.

Sixteen boys sowed a minimum acre of fall wheat and eight of them took part in the seed judging competition at the Spring Show.

FORESTRY CLUB

The officers of Lakefield High School Forestry Club are: President Harry Hamilton of Dummer; vice-president Mary Ann Guthrie, Rockcroft, Harvey; secretary, Ann Wilson, Smith.

The undertaking of this Club is a Nassau plantation as reported ordered 15,000 seedling trees which are to be set out one of these days.

First Norwood 4-H Grain Club was formed Wednesday afternoon with 12 boys and girls attending. Their officers are: President: Eddie How, Indian River RR 2; vice-president: John Thompson, Norwood RR 1; secretary: Shirley Whitney, Havelock RR 4.

They are planning to sow this spring registered No. 1 Beaver oats that were grown by John Hargreaves, of Woodstock.

THREE CLUB MEETINGS

Organization of Norwood dairy and beef calf and swine clubs (4-H) is planned for Friday evening, April 10th, at the Town Hall.

TWO AT PETERBOROUGH

Two dairy calf clubs on this side of the county will be set up Tuesday evening, April 14, at a general meeting in the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Also for this part of the county is a call for beef calf and swine club members Thursday, April 9, at 8 p.m., at Mr. Paterson's office.

A new calf club rule this year says: each calf must be owned on the farm where the member resides. That also applies to swine. They must be identified and designated by June 1.

Peterborough Junior Farmers' machinery club met at the shop of Cliff Curtis Thursday night this week.

This schedule of meetings indicates the extent of Peterborough activities this season, as they say, at the 4-H level. Appeal for interest in the clubs is broadened from the homes to the communities. Each local area should have some concern about its young people joining one club or another.

Reverting to Mr. Hoefer's address and its phrases: there should be no rural Peterborough parents "reluctant" about their children joining any 4-H club. One of the recommendations to them is the direct oversight and concern provided by the provincial and federal Departments of Agriculture, one of the strongest factors of reassurance that can be offered to parents.

Total membership in the Peterborough clubs this season may rise to 200.

Odds And Ends . . .

Warble fly control treatment periods (there must be at least two) are between April 1 and 18, and the second between May 1 and 31. Not less than three weeks and not more than four shall elapse between treatments . . . It may be Asphodel to form the first township Federation of Agriculture in this county . . . Rev. J. A. Steed, of Lakefield, was the speaker at the Federation dinner Thursday night in Springville Church basement . . . Forty-eight Holstein breeders of the Madoc area of Hastings county visited Norman McConkey's farm last week . . . If three day trips can't be projected to Washington, D.C., as with Elgin Holstein breeders, at least neighboring counties can arrange visits . . . Anything to erase the excluding effects of the county boundaries that were drawn in pioneer surveying. They are evidently fixed permanently for municipal purposes, and in other respects and concerns they tend to curb inter-community relations . . . Several farmers reported $29.50 and $30 for top quality hogs the last week . . . Holstein breeders have completed arrangements for their annual dinner at Brookside pavilion. The program includes a presentation to Archie Davidson who was high boy in the 4-H Dairy Calf Club work last year. He showed a Holstein . . . Stewart Hall and Coldsprings Forums joined in a social at Zion Monday night.

Deceased Directors

The recent death of J. Ormond Ball of Scott's Corners on the North Monaghan-Cavan boundary recalls the names of men who were associated with him as directors of Peterborough Exhibition, and like him are now among the departed.

Some of them were: Thomas H. Graham, William Steinkrauss, Sam Staples, R. M. Glover, E. F. Mason, R. Torrance Lillico, T. H. Hooper, Reg. Turner, W. R. Breyfogle, Leonard Clancy, John T. O'Connell, George Paxman, Thomas Brown, Roland Denne, William H. Young, William S. Merrill, Thomas Cruikshank, Robert Grandy, David Jordan, W. J. Kennedy, Joseph Staples of Cavan, father of S.S. Staples.

Members of the board of 1940, the year the military moved in on the final day of exhibition, were: Thomas Brown, president; Gordon Hancock, vice-president; R. M. Glover, Allan T. Brown, Col. F. Everett Birdsall, J. O. Ball, Manson Cathcart, Ross L. Dobbin, R. Denne, C. G. Graham, James Gifford, Alex Huston, George Hooton, Reg. Hunter, Clifford Johnston, C. Frank Kitney, Clare Leahy, J. A. Middleton, C. E. Moore, W. Clarence Mann, James D. Moore, Fred Robson, Frank Savigny, Gordon Stalker, W. H. Young.

Rollie Denne was president in 1935 with Tom Brown and E. F. Mason, vice-presidents, and other directors not mentioned in the 1940 list were: Fred Holmes, J. Herb Jamison, Stan Lowe, Vincent Eastwood, Doug Loomis, Smith T. Milburn, Beecher Matchett, Herb McFarlane, Howard Quinn, Wilbert Rosborough, Arthur D. Runions, Thomas Shield, Charles H. Westlake, E. Wall, A. J. Arnott and A. Brown.

The correct date of the retirement of D. Hughes-Charles as president was in 1907. To strengthen the financial position of the Exhibition, and virtually keep it from closing the gates, Robert Leary, John H. Garbutt and G. A. Gillespie assumed a note for $5,000 at the bank. That was a necessary reviving stimulant. Mr. Leary was elected president in that year and remained in office until his death in 1911. He was succeeded by Mr. Garbutt for three years, 1912-15. Death ended his presidency. Mr. Gillespie was president in 1916-17, and was followed by Roland Denne from 1918 to 1934, inclusive. His successor was Thomas Brown until 1940 when the Exhibition Board turned over Morrow Park to the nation for a military training camp.

Hugh Stewart was elected president in the reorganization of the board after the war, and has been followed by N. W. McConkey now in his second year.

Farm Forums' Rally

Visiting speaker at the Peterborough Farm Forums rally Monday night at Normal School served four years in the Royal Canadian Navy during the war, rising to the rank of lieutenant commander. He specialized at OAC in field crops, and is now supervisor of farm and fisheries broadcasts for CBC.

Peterborough Forums have all been provided with program information for this closing event of a highly successful season. The Junior Farmers' choir will be singing to their ain folk, and Knox Church young people are down for a feature skit. There should be a big attendance.

One Tractor Fatality

Tractor clubs stress the possibility of personal accident in the operation of these power machines and warn farmers against becoming careless as a result of daily use in safety that can be disarming of caution.

How do these injuries and fatalities occur? Farmers know the great variety of circumstance and mischance. Here is an illustrative story in the recent news. It is from Shawville, Carleton county.

"Caught in the power take-off wheel on the tractor he was operating, Melbourne Simon Dale, 39, was fatally injured March 20 on the farm of his uncle, Harry Palmer.

"Although there were no witnesses of the accident, the victim's clothing apparently became entangled in the wheel and were completely torn from his body. He was hurled to the ground. First inkling of the mishap came when his daughter, Gloria, eight, heard Mr. Dale crying for help as she started to school. She ran to tell her mother, who rushed to the scene, while Mrs. Palmer called the help of neighbors, Bert Stark and Robert Smart."

Mr. Dale suffered a crushed left arm, fractured leg, shock and internal injuries. He died in Pontiac hospital at 4 p.m. that day. He was manager of the Pontiac County Credit Union, and a leader in the district Farm Forum.

Mr. Dale was a member of the United Church of Stark's Corners.

$8,000 Hereford Bull

At the Calgary bull sale last week, 660 Herefords sold for $446,455 or an average of $676.45. That represented three days' auctioning with about 150 bulls left to be disposed of on Saturday.

Top price was $8,000 paid by Thomas Usher of the Scollard district for Melwood Super Domino 82F. He was bred, raised and consigned by M. C. Wood of Tofield. This was only the third time in the 53 years of the Calgary sales records that a bull reached the $8,000 mark as reported by the Calgary Herald.

Melwood Super Domino was a second prize winner in the preceding sale. Fred Kennedy in the Herald reports: "By the time the bull had reached the $6,500 mark most of the bidders, including a few Americans dropped out.

From then on, Mr. Usher engaged in a bidding war with another Alberta breeder, A. T. Simonett. His last bid was $7,950, and Mr. Usher copped the prize when he went to $8,000. The crowded pavilion fairly rocked with excitement as the bidding ragged and forth, and when the final decision was made, there was a loud outburst of cheering." Harry Hays was auctioneer.

A bull from the herd of J. M. Campbell and Sons of Stavely sold for $5,500, another for $2,660, and four others brought good prices.

✦ ✦ ✦

Plainville Forum

Officers of Plainville Forum were elected at the final meeting of the season at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Carruthers. They are: President, Earl Linton; vice-president, Clarke McKinlay; secretary, Mrs. Donald Kent; assistant secretary, Mrs. Wallace Buttars; press secretary, Mrs. Earl Linton; lunch conveners, Mrs. Fred Bowman and Mrs. Edgar Buttars Lunch at the conclusion of the meeting, cake, ice cream and 1953 maple syrup, was served by the hostess, Mrs. Carruthers, assisted by Mrs. Stewart Herriott. Mrs. C. McKinlay and Mrs. W. Buttars.

✦ ✦ ✦

Springville Forum

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Whitfield entertained the Springville Farm Forum group at their home on Monday evening, March 23.

This was review night, the closing meeting of the season and a social evening with arrangements in charge of Clifford Johnston, Percy Johnston and Mr. Robert Armstrong.

Eight tables of crokinole were played. Clifford Johnston presented prizes of chocolate bars to the following: Gentleman with the highest score, Percy Johnston; gentleman with the lowest score, Neal Cathcart; lady with the highest score, Mrs. Clifford Johnston; lady with the lowest score, Mrs. O. Dunford.

Rev. A. E. Larke, chairman, and Mrs. George Whitfield, secretary-treasurer, were re-elected for next season. Mrs. B. Preston was elected as co-chairman. Mr. Larke invited the group to meet at the manse for the first meeting in the fall.

EAST DURHAM produces more than registered seed grain, tobacco and dairy cattle. There's quite a lot of musical talent, vocal and instrumental, in that section of the county. The Durham brass quartette, (left to right) Carlos Tamblyn, Orono; Earle Brown, Gerald Brown and Jack Allin of Newcastle, contributed to the success of the concert at the Central Ontario Spring Show. In the general scheme of the Show, Durham county was away out in front of the others of the Central Ontario district, and Ed Summers, agricultural representative, is likely to keep on sending grain judging teams, and probably entertainers, too.

Mayor's Ball

VANCOUVER (CP)—The second annual mayor's ball to be held April 17 again will turn over all monetary proceeds to the British Empire Games committee preparing for the games here in 1954. Mayor Fred Hume and Mrs. Hume are inviting other mayors and reeves, with members of the legislature.

TOWNSHIP OF OTONABEE

NOTICE TO CATTLE OWNERS

Mr. George Carey, R.R. 8, Peterborough, phone 12R21, Keene, has been appointed Inspector to carry out the provisions of the Warble Fly Control Act for the year 1953 in the township of Otonabee. Two treatments will be necessary either by brush or spray method, commencing on or about the 1st of April with the second treatment one month later. Costs will be 15c per head per spray or 5c per head for each inspection of cattle brushed, payable to the Inspector.

Owners using the brush method will plesse co-operate by advising the Inspector when they have treated their cattle.

Derris powder may be obtained either from the Inspector or at the office of the township Clerk at Keene at wholesale price.

J. M. McCARTHY, Township Clerk.

Attention Farmers!

At the approach of spring all farmers are planning and hoping for improved crops, greater acreage under cultivation and more livestock. These are natural desires, but you (the farmer) are needed in order to do the work required and carry through such plans.

ARE YOU GOING TO HAVE AN ACCIDENT SOON?

I can't answer that and neither can you. However, we both know that a sudden accident can cause great expense and loss of working time.

Man Refused To Appear

Two charges of theft against Vernon Johnston, 40, of no fixed address, were dismissed for lack of prosecution Thursday when the complainant, Charles Toplis of Toronto failed to appear as a witness.

'I have my own suspicions that Toplis himself is the one that's guilty," said Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, who asked for the dismissal on the grounds that Toplis had refused to appear as a witness three or four times.

Johnston was charged with theft of a television set, a pair of shoes and a wrist watch, all belonging to Toplis. He was picked up in Windsor and brought to Peterborough March 18 by Inspector W. A. Clarke and Sergeant of Detectives John Stevenson of the Peterborough police department.

Mr. Bradshaw said that he had received word from Toplis Wednesday that his car had broken down and then he had refused to appear as a witness.

HITCH-HIKER

Toplis, who is a television salesman, had previously informed police that he was driving from Toronto to Peterborough February 17 and picked up Johnston who was hitch-hiking on Bloor St.

He said he had two television sets in the car at the time, one of which he took to the home of his sister, Mrs. J. E. Howard, 144 London St.

Shortly after he arrived in Peterborough, Toplis said, the car disappeared and was discovered several hours later a block from his sister's home. The motor was ruined and the other television set, a reconditioned one valued at $150, a wristwatch and a pair of shoes were missing.

Charged With Passing Worthless Cheques

Maitland J. Carter, 30, 57 Crescent St., was remanded until Monday without bail when he appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp Thursday to answer two charges of false pretenses.

He was charged with having used worthless cheques to obtain a used car from Nick Peconi, Downer's Corners, and gasoline and cash from Johnston's service station, across Otonabee St. from Peconi's used car lot. In the first case, the cheque was for $452 and in the second $15.

Carter is wanted by Etobicoke police on similar charges.

Suspend Licence

TORONTO (CP)—The liquor licence of the Metropole Tavern in Windsor was suspended Thursday for two weeks by the Ontario liquor licence board on grounds that it did not serve food with drinks in the dining room and that it staged "improper entertainment."

Saw Amputates Hand

HULL, Que. (CP)—A circular power saw Thursday night amputated the right hand of 18-year old Jean-Guy Laurin as he was cutting slab wood. The accident occurred when a large pile of wood behind him toppled over. Hospital authorities said his condition is good.

ARTHRITIC PAIN
Almost Unbearable
"My husband is a carpenter on the railway," writes Mrs. Jack Taylor, St. Catharines, Ont. "One morning he went to work and found he could not climb the ladder to do his work. A dull pain in his shoulder and leg was almost unbearable. The druggist recommended T-R-C's. My husband took 2 capsules and before the day was over he was back at work again. Now, if he has any pain at all, he carries T-R-C's in his lunch pail."

GENTLEMAN-AT-ARMS—Splendor and pageantry will be the order during the Coronation ceremonies in London next June. Among the colorful array will be these Gentlemen-at-Arms, whose sole duty is to guard the sovereign at all ceremonial occasions. Here they are in full dress uniform, complete with white gauntlets.

Clerk Served Seven Premiers

EDMONTON (CP)—Chief clerk Robert R. Andison of the Alberta legislature has served under seven different premiers.

Mr. Andison started in the legislature in 1914 as an assistant clerk, only four years after Alberta's first premier, Hon. Alex Rutherford, ended his term. He served nine years as an assistant, then took over the senior post in 1923.

Having gone through more than 50 sessions in the 12 legislatures, Bob, as everyone knows him, takes great pride of his record of never missing a sitting.

The shortest legislature he ever attended was the eighth which lasted only three days. And Bob was on hand for the longest, too, which lasted for more than four months, from Feb. 25 to June 17, in 1937.

In 1946 Mr. Andison was awarded the Imperial Service Order.

He has never seen a member called to the bar of the house for contempt although, says Bob, "it's been a close call on several occasions."

Held Unfit For Trial

MONTREAL (CP) — Raymond Reddick, 57, of Huntingdon, Que., was declared mentally unfit to stand trial when he appeared in Court of Queen's Bench Thursday on a charge of murdering his wife. Police said Reddick killed his wife when she attempted to stop him from slashing his wrists at Lacolle, Que., Jan. 23.

Mrs. George Thompson

MARMORA (ENS).—The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Ann Thompson, widow of the late George Thompson, was held on Friday afternoon from her residence in Tweed to St. James' Anglican Church where service was conducted by Rev. L. E. Hawkes, rector of the parish. Burial took place in St. James' cemetery, Tweed. Mrs. Thompson, who had been ill for some months, was well known in the Tweed district, having been a resident of the locality all her life. In her 78th year, she was born in Thomasburg, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Latchford, who operated a hotel there many years ago. With her husband she lived for some years on a farm between Tweed and Crookston were she lived an industrious and neighbourly life. As they later moved to Tweed she resumed her activities with the Ladies' Guild of which she had been a member for so many years as well as the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. James', Tweed. She was also a life member of the Women's Missionary Society of Lodgeroom United Church, which was situated near to the farm where she had resided. Her husband died seven years ago. She is survived by three sons, Earl, Dundas; Burton, Hamilton, and Harry, with the RCAF, Winnipeg; and two daughters, Laura and Ann at home. Two brothers also survive, John Latchford, Picton, and Robert Latchford, Marmora.

High Quality Oats For Norwood Club

The grain committee of the Norwood Fair has bought 250 bushels of registered No. 1, first generation, Beaver oats for distribution to members of their 1953 standing field crop competition. This seed was purchased from John Hargreaves & Sons of Woodstock.

The high quality of these oats are shown in the following facts: they won first prize at the Western Ontario seed fair, have shown government germination test of 99 to 100 per cent., are ceresan treated for smut and 100 per cent. pure from barley and noxious weed seeds.

Other than 'Elite' seed, their parent stock, these oats are the highest grade obtainable and very suitable for foundation seed. Those wishing to become members of the field crop competition are requested to notify S. H. Buck, G. H. Brethen or D. A. McNeil, secretary, to arrange delivery, as the oats have been received at Norwood. Entries will be accepted in the order in which they are received, as supplies are limited.

40 Boys Wanted For Norwood 4-H Swine Club

Norwood Fair board, co-operating with the East Peterborough Junior Farmers' Club, would like to get the entries of around 40 boys between the ages of 12 and 20 years for one of three separate 4-H Swine Clubs.

The committee would preferably wish to enlist boys from the townships of Belmont, Methuen, Dummer, Asphodel and Otonabee. In addition to 4-H Achievement Day awards at the Norwood Fair, members of these proposed clubs will be eligible to compete in an inter-club competition and participate in the prize money from the $500 grant for Boys' and Girls' Clubs under the government of Canada Class 'B' policy at the Fair.

They may also enter in the commercial feature open class for registered English Yorkshires, and compete for valuable prizes provided by the agricultural society and the Ontario Department of Agriculture under the $200 grant given commercial feature projects.

To be eligible in all three awards, each entrant will be required to own two registered English Yorkshire gilts 8 to 10 weeks old, April or May litter. It has been arranged with the boys from last year's Norwood Fair swine club to sell approximately 30 or 40 of the above gilts from their sows and sired by the valuable club boars at a greatly reduced price to Club boys wishing to enter this project.

Local bank managers at Havelock, Norwood and Hastings have agreed to assist the boys in the purchase of their pigs. Early orders will be given preference.

Boys wishing to enter the above clubs are asked to consult Miss Ruth Cuthbertson, secretary of East Peterborough Junior Farmers or G. A. Brethen, president of Norwood Fair, as soon as possible. Early information regarding names and addresses of eligible boys sent in by municipal councils, service clubs or local banks will be appreciated by the committee.

50 British Youths To Trek BC Wilderness

LONDON (CP)—The annual expedition sponsored by the British Schools Exploring Society will send more than 50 British youths into British Columbia's mountain wilderness this summer.

Boys between 16 and 18 are to camp for a month in the Cariboo district, mapping and collecting naturalist lore for British museums.

From Montreal where the group is scheduled to arrive Aug. 4, the party travels to Vanderhoff, B.C.

Supplies will be brought from Britain.

The organizers hope to accommodate some interested Canadian youths.

Total cost of the expedition will be about $14,000.

MADE COMMODORE — Capt. Ernest Patrick Tisdall, 46, of Duncan, B.C., has been promoted to the rank of commodore and will command the RCN barracks at Halifax. Born in Newchang, North China, Commodore Tisdall has been in the RCN 30 years and commanded the west coast training cruiser Ontario for the last 1½ years. He received his early education in England before coming to Canada in 1918.

Oldest Trade Journal Ceases Publication

LONDON (CP) — The weekly, Newspaper World, Britain's oldest press and advertising trade journal, has ceased publication.

Patterned along the lines of North America's Editor and Publisher, the periodical was wound up after serving Fleet street for 55 years.

In a statement issued by the publishers, Benn Brothers Limited, rising production costs and consequent economic difficulties were given as chief reasons for the closure. Simultaneously it was announced that staff involved would be retained by the company in production of its other publications.

Passing of Newspaper World, launched in 1898 by the late Charles Baker, prominent journalist of his day, leaves the World's Press News as London's lone trade paper in the publication field.

Found Guilty Of Carelessness Driver Fined $10

Mrs. B. K. Smith, 40, 440 Cameron St., was fined $10 and $6.75 costs Thursday when she was convicted of careless driving.

The charge arose out of an accident on George St., between Sherbrooke and Rink Sts., at about 10 a.m. on February 19. A similar charge against the other driver, Robert Jack Byrd, 24, 139½ Hunter St., was dismissed March 18.

Byrd's evidence was that he was driving south on George St. and stopped at Sherbrooke St. for the traffic light. He was half way across the intersection after the light had changed when Mrs. Smith drove up on his left. He pulled to his left to avoid two parked cars but Mrs. Smith crowded him and struck his rear fender.

He didn't realize she had hit him and proceeded over the CPR tracks. When he put on his brakes to slow down for a right turn at Rink St. he looked in his rear-view mirror and saw Mrs. Smith's car going into a spin. He pulled into the service station at the corner to see what happened.

Mrs. Smith said that hers was the first car to stop at the Sherbrooke St. corner and Byrd pulled up on her right. She expected him to turn right and was greatly surprised when he went south.

When Byrd put on his brakes at Rink St. she was roughly 150 feet behind him. She applied her brakes but they failed to grip the icy surface of the street and she went into a skid, struck a hydro pole and a street sign, jumped the curb and knocked down a fence.

Evidence of PC William Scott was that there were skid marks for 144 feet leading to the hydro pole and 54 feet from the highway sign to where Mrs. Smith's car came to rest.

"The length and direction of the skid marks together with the other evidence leaves no alternative but a conviction," said Magistrate W. R. Philp. "It may have been slippery but Byrd stopped and she failed to do so. I doubt if that is an excuse for the accident."

Struck By Train Essex Man Killed

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A 60-year old Essex man was killed this morning when he was struck by a freight train near Leamington.

The man has been identified as Leslie Ash, of RR 1, Essex.

The fireman of the Chesapeake and Ohio freight train, A. Farnsworth of St. Thomas, told provincial police that he saw Ash walking along the track just before 8 a. m. and blew the locomotive's warning whistle.

"Just before the locomotive came abreast of him that man threw himself across the north rail and even spread his arms out across the space between the two rails," Farnsworth said.

The engineer of the train, H. Snout also of St. Thomas, said the train was travelling about 40 miles an hour when Ash was hit.

May Open Up Timberland In Labrador

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rich Labrador timberland may be opened up as a result of an agreement between Newfoundland and International Forest Products, a New Brunswick syndicate.

The agreement, approved by the Newfoundland legislature Thursday, offers the syndicate an option on 2,000 square miles around the watersheds of all rivers draining into Sandwich Bay.

The agreement, approved by the Newfoundland legislature Thursday, offers the syndicate an option on 2,000 square miles around the watersheds of all rivers draining into Sandwich Bay.

If it takes up the option, the syndicate will get a 40-year-lease and will have to produce a minimum of 40,000,000 feet of sawn lumber and 15,000 cords of pulpwood each year. Newfoundland would receive a sliding scale of royalties.

VOTE $94,000,000

Some $94,000,000 was voted in the British Columbia legislature to maintain the province for the next six months. Premier W. A. C. Bennett said he will ask for dissolution of the House next week and an election will be held in June. The House is expected to prorogue today.

The Alberta legislature gave second reading to a bill to revise the Liquor Act. Members also defeated Liberal and CCF motions to delay the bill until more information is obtained.

Proposed changes in the bill will extend the hours for the sale of beer from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. and compel parlors to keep food for sale.

CHARGED WITH COLLUSION

Manitoba meat packers were charged with collusion by CCF House leader Lloyd Stinson in the provincial legislature. He said that packers, instead of bidding against each other when they buy cattle, decide among themselves each day who will buy the most livestock. This worked to the disadvantage of farmers and livestock dealers.

A bill, expected to be introduced into the Saskatchewan legislature soon, provides that any corporation, company or persons getting natural gas on a retail basis from a gas utility can apply to the local government board for a revision of rates. Its provisions also apply to gas utilities.

U.S. Ammunition Dispute Causes Uproar

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Van Fleet-defence department dispute over ammunition shortages and conduct of the Korean war today threatened to erupt into a bitter controversy reaching all the way up to the policy makers of the Truman administration.

The authoritative story from several military sources is that:

1. Former defence secretary Robert A. Lovett was prodded by army chiefs for almost a year before he ordered all-out ammunition production last November.

2. The joint chiefs of staff—at the state department's request—instructed Gen. James A. Van Fleet in May, 1951, to launch no general offensive into North Korea without clearance from the joint chiefs. Van Fleet has said he was stopped by orders.

3. The army tailored its combat effort in Korea to conform to diplomatic decisions.

NO RECORDS

4. No records have been found at the defence department to support Van Fleet's statement he was "crying to turn me loose" to destroy the enemy in June, 1951—or to show he asked for clearance to stage an offensive into North Korea.

5. Ammunition stocks in the Far East have now reached the point where Gen. Mark W. Clark's Far Eastern command is trimming orders on future deliveries.

6. The army is over-producing some ammunition items and would like to cut back their production—but there is fear a hold-down order now would cause another outcry.

TO OPEN INQUIRY

These reports from high officers came as a Senate armed services sub-committee prepared to open a public inquiry next Wednesday into Van Fleet's claims that the U. S. 8th army was seriously and sometimes critically short of ammunition during all the 22 months he commanded it in Korea.

The Van Fleet statements and the forthcoming Senate inquiry have stirred the defence department perhaps more deeply than anything since the bitter debate touched off two years ago by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's ouster as Far East commander.

Even President Eisenhower got into the argument at his press conference Thursday when he told reporters the Korean ammunition situation now is perfectly sound in relation to the type of operations going on there.

TAKES SIDES

This indicated Eisenhower was throwing the weight of his influence on the side of the army chiefs who maintain the 8th army has enough ammunition to cope with any situation. Van Fleet has said the supply is not big enough to meet a Red offensive.

One officer summed up the situation in this way: "If Van Fleet had made his statements a year ago about ammunition shortages, it would have helped speed up the program and done us a lot of good. Now, we've got the problem licked and this isn't helping us any."

Commons Passes Emergency Powers Act Extension

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's controversial measure to extend its emergency powers for a year has been given third and final reading by the Commons and now goes to the Senate for ratification.

After hearing criticism of the move from opposition groups, members Thursday night voted 107 to 50 to adopt the bill extending the Emergency Powers Act from next May 31 until the same date next year. All opposition parties opposed passage.

The vote came after Prime Minister St. Laurent said the provisions of the bill, which gives the cabinet wide authority to act without consulting Parliament, are as necessary for security as Canada's defence program.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, and M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, were among those criticizing the measure Thursday. Earlier, it had been criticized by Solon Low, Social Credit leader.

Just before passage of the bill, the government accepted a last-minute amendment suggested by the Progressive Conservatives. This removed a provision for continuance beyond May 31, 1954, merely by an address to the two Houses of Parliament.

Mr. St. Laurent said he hopes the emergency powers will never be used, just as it was hoped the Western powers' forces in Europe will never be used. But the government felt that, for the security of Canada, it should have powers to act promptly.

Dealing with the one secret order passed under the act—and which has come under opposition fire—Mr. St. Laurent said it was passed in July, 1951, and dealt with combined security action with Canada's NATO partners.

He said it must continue in force for the security of Canada and her associates, and he offered to show it to opposition party leaders. But he did not think they would want to see it.

Without the secret order, the prime minister said, there would have been a gap in arrangements for common security. It had enabled Canada to do what "all the governments of the NATO countries are doing, and we have been doing it to their satisfaction and our own."

Mr. St. Laurent said he does not like secret orders. But there were times when distasteful action must be taken.

Mr. Drew said his party has opposed emergency powers in the past and will continue to do so. It did not think the legislation was needed because any necessary power was contained in other acts.

Under the proposed measure, he said, funds could be set up and money spent without reference to Parliament. Arrests could be made for contravention of orders made under the legislation.

The current situation could not be compared with that of 1951, when the act first was passed The present situation might last a lifetime and the government should make long-term plans to preserve the rights of Parliament.

6,800 Canadians To Watch Coronation Procession

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian visitors to the Coronation will be the largest group ever to go from this country to see a British monarch crowned.

Already, about 6,800 have bought seats along the June 2 procession route; others will be in Westminster Abbey; several hundred servicemen will be on hand, and an untallied number of Canadians will be going along without making advance arrangements.

Officials of Canada's Coronation executive committee say they have not been able to figure out the total but that undoubtedly it will far exceed the number of any other Coronation.

IMPORTANT FACTORS

Several factors, they note, account for the big movement. One is the combination of the first accession of a reigning Queen in more than a century and the heightened interest in Elizabeth herself as the result of her 1951 Canadian tour.

Another reason is the fact that Canadians now have more money than ever for travel; the last coronation was during the depression. Development of airplane travel also has stepped up the facility of the trip.

Coronation committee officials, working for several months, are still getting applications for street-stand seats at $17 and $11.25 apiece. They say those who have paid for them up to now are sure of accommodation and that there are still some hundreds left, but they are not saying just how many.

They are keeping a secret, too, the number of seats allocated to Canada in the abbey but state this allocation is regarded by Canada as satisfactory.

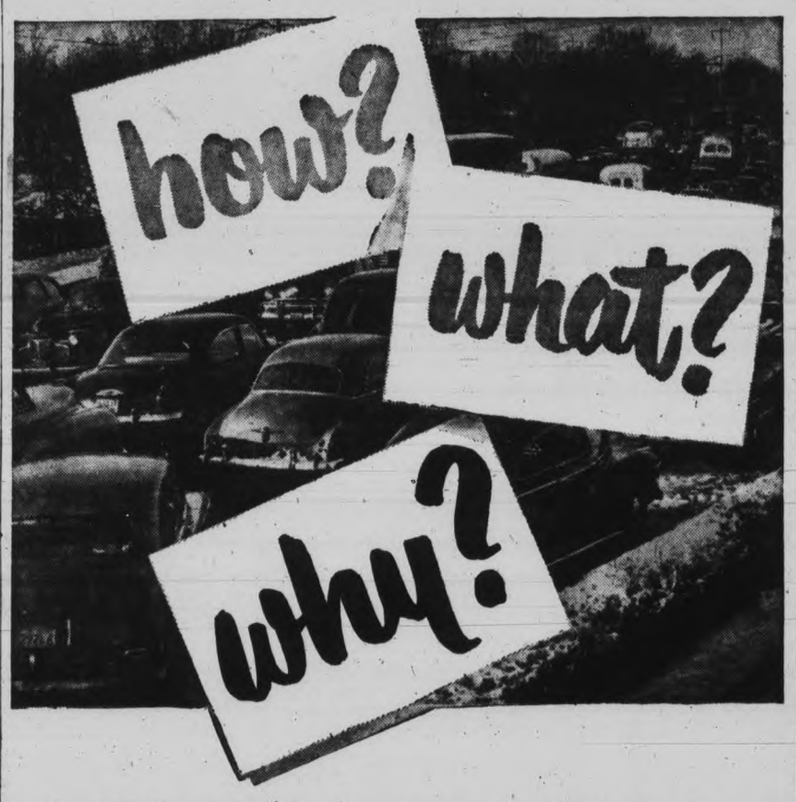
DISTRIBUTION BASIS

The abbey seats are distributed to Canadians on the basis of applicants' standing in the official precedence list. This includes the official delegation of 13 headed by Prime Minister St. Laurent; lieutenant-governors, judges, churchmen and others ranging down to municipal mayors. Even the Yukon and the Northwest Territories will be represented by elected members of their councils.

Between 700 and 800 Canadian servicemen are expected to be on hand. The navy, sending five ships for the Coronation review at Spithead, has arranged tentatively for 400 seats in stands along the route, besides the number that will be bought by Canadians. Other service members will march in the procession or serve as "street liners."

Six Canadian holders of the Victoria Cross are going to the Coronation—at their own expense—and have been provided with seats in a special section just outside Buckingham Palace. They include Labor Minister Milton F. Gregg, who won his decoration in the First World War.

TO GROUP VETERANS



While the Canadian - allocated seats are scattered along the route, provision is being made to group war veterans together at some good vantage spot. Some Canadian veterans living in the United Kingdom also will act as ushers, getting free seats.

Four members of the official Canadian delegation will be special guests of the Queen for about a week at Coronation time. They are the prime minister, Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret, George Drew, leader of the official Opposition in the Commons, and Trade Minister C. D. Howe.

Problems of how the official delegation will dress for the Westminster Abbey ceremonies now have been largely ironed out. Prime Minister St. Laurent will wear evening dress—regarded as alternative court dress — rather than privy councillor's uniform, and the other political figures will follow suit. The judges and churchmen are expected to don their ceremonial robes.

Lieutenant - governors — about eight of them are expected to go—also will wear evening dress.

STOPS HEADACHE FAST ASPIRIN

HOW much have automobile insurance rates increased?

- In relation to other car costs they've gone down.
  Each $100 of insurance carried takes a smaller portion of the motorist's dollar than ever before.
- But cars are more expensive.
  You can't insure the $2,400 car of today as cheaply as the $850 car of 1939.
- So, in dollars, how much have auto rates gone up?
  An average of 30% for Public Liability and Property Damage. An average of 60% for full coverage.

WHAT affects the cost of automobile insurance?

- The number of accidents
- The average cost of accidents
- The costs of doing business
- The profit or loss of the insurance company

WHY have rates gone up in dollar cost?

- Because accident rates have been soaring.
  Today one person is killed every four hours in Canada — one person is injured every fifteen minutes — a fende[illegible]hed every two minutes.
- Because accident costs have been soaring.
  A wrecked car costs two to three times as much to replace as in 1939 — a damaged car costs twice as much to repair — those fenders every two minutes cost three times as much.
- Because medical and hospital costs have increased an estimated 165%.
  The bill for injuries is the highest in history.
- Because average Canadian earning power is up 150%.
  That means higher payments to settle "lost time" claims.

THEN HOW have insurance companies kept rates from going much higher?

- By cutting operating costs.
  Overhead is higher but operating costs per vehicle have been slashed.
- By losing money.
  Auto insurance companies paid out $65,000,000 in claims last year. They lost $6,3000,00 doing it.

THE REMEDY

- Reduce accidents.
  When the accident rate goes down — unless the cost of each accident goes 'way up — insurance rates will go down too. Competition makes that certain.

REMEMBER —
The accident that doesn't happen never costs anybody a dime.

Charge Reduced Driver Convicted Being Impaired

David Dawson, 24, 485 Donegal St., was fined $75 and $5 costs Thursday when he was convicted of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

The charge, which was reduced from one of drunk driving, arose out of a collision on the west side of Rubidge St. between Simcoe and Charlotte Sts. about 7 p.m., March 7.

PC William Scott, who investigated, said that a car belonging to Barry Seabrook, 335 Rubidge St., was damaged to the extent of $200 when it was driven up on to the sidewalk. The same amount of damage was done to Dawson's car and the other two vehicles had $75 and $40 damage.

Scott said that Dawson was unsteady on his feet, there was a strong smell of beer on his breath, his eyes were bloodshot and his speech was quite thick.

Sergeant Harold Mesley underwent a severe grilling by defence counsel James Dunn when he gave evidence that Dawson was in a drunken condition when he saw him at the police station about an hour after the accident.

"Was he a bad drunk?" Mr. Dunn asked.

"No, he wasn't. He was past the state of being impaired," the sergeant replied.

"How far is that?"

"Well, a man can be so drunk he wouldn't even know his own name."

"He wasn't at that stage?"

"No. I've seen a lot of drunks and I think it's just a natural instinct you can use to tell when a man's drunk after you've had a lot of experience."

Seabrook, who said he came out of his house when he heard the crash, said there was nothing to indicate Dawson was intoxicated.

Kenneth Coss, Dawson's employer, said that he and the accused had had one or two ales after work and had left the beverage room about 6.30. He was driving his own car when the accident occurred but he didn't actually see it. He said that Dawson was a little scared but he wasn't drunk.

QUARRELING

"Weren't you quarreling with everyone after the accident?" asked Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC.

"There were no fight that I saw," Coss answered.

Dawson's evidence was that he had been blinded by the lights of an approaching car at the time of the accident. He said that he might have had three ales but he thought it was just two. He said that his voice had been affected by laryngitis which he had been treating with penicillin.

Called back to the stand, Constable Scott said that Coss had been very interested in getting Dawson's car away from the scene.

"I told him to stop bothering me or I'd have to lock him up too. I didn't arrest him at the time because I thought he was entitled to some consideration," he said in answer to a question by Mr. Dunn.

"I don't think too much dependence can be put on the evidence of Coss but I think a great deal can be placed on Seabrook's evidence," Magistrate W. R. Philp said. "In view of his evidence I would reduce the charge to impairment. The question is one of the condition the accused was in at the time and not the circumstances of the accident."

A further charge of careless driving was dismissed when the crown offered no evidence.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Darling and John of Sudbury were called home, owing to the illness and death of the former's mother, Mrs. J. A. Darling.

Many friends of Mrs. Bruce Parker regret to learn of her serious illness in a Toronto hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Braithwaite were guests the first of the week of their daughter, Mrs. Don Kemp, and Mr. Kemp, Burlington.

BLAST KILLS ONE, INJURES FIVE—One man, George Lazarou, was killed, four men were injured and houses were rocked in Toronto's east end yesterday when a 500,000 gallon tank filled with ammonia fumes exploded. The explosion occurred at the plant of Canadian Industries Ltd. Crowds look at the damage after the explosion.

71 Soldiers Serving In Korea Receive Awards For Gallantry

OTTAWA (CP)—The army today recognized the bravery and courage of 71 soldiers in Korea.

The fighting men ranged from a gallant and wounded corporal who hurled himself on an officer to save him from an exploding grenade to Brig. M. P. Bogert, the 44-year-old commander of the 25th brigade.

To them went 36 gallantry and leadership awards and 35 mentions -in-dispatches—men who tackled a treacherous minefield with bare hands in pitch dark to rescue trapped comrades; officers no violence could halt in their leadership; medical men and padres who did their duty under the most deadly conditions; men who held their groups together when the chips were down.

In one of the longest lists of Canadian decorations to come out of Korea, Brig. Bogert, soon to return to Canada, was appointed a commander of the Order of the British Empire. The citation paid tribute to his "outstanding work, quick decisions, decisive action, high example of co-operation."

The coveted DSO was awarded to two of Brig. Bogert's senior subordinates—Lt.-Col. Richard Peter Bingham, 39, of Montreal, commanding officer of the 1st battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, and Lt.-Col. Edward M. D. McNaughton, 34, of Kingston, son of Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, and officer commanding the 1st regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

INSPIRING LEADERSHIP

Col. Bingham was eulogized for "inspiring and personal" leadership that took him frequently under fire to the most exposed positions to direct and encourage his men. Col. McNaughton won praise for his "boundless energy and enthusiasm" and his "outstanding ability, courage and success."

The OBE was awarded to Lt.-Col. John Ralph Cameron, 38, of Halifax, OC of the 1st battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry; Lt.-Col. Clive Browning Caswell, MC, 42, of Montreal, OC of the 37th field ambulance; and Lt.-Col. Louis D. Trudeau, DSO, 38, Quebec City, OC, 1st battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment.

There was the Military Medal that went to Cpl. Vincent Lloyd Fenton, a 23-year-old infantryman from Kelowna, B. C. He was in a group preparing for a patrol last August when someone dropped a live grenade. In an instant Fenton threw himself on his platoon officer who might have been killed otherwise. Fenton was seriously wounded.

TACKLE MINEFIELD

There were the two NCOs who tackled a minefield with their bare hands because there was so much shrapnel lying about the detector was useless. A patrol was lost out in the field of mines of the most deadly type. For 71 minutes the two crawled in the darkness, feeling for mines and disarming them, fully aware that one false move could mean death, until they had found and removed three wounded men and the body of a fourth. Then they went back and rearmed the mines so there would be no gap for the enemy to come through.

They are Cpl. Jean Pearce, 22, of Minnow Lake, Ont., and L.Cp,. Antoine Dion, 26, of Riviere du Loup, Que. Both got the Military Medal.

THREE IN FAMILY

NEW YORK (AP) — A mother made a crude gas chamber of her kitchen Thursday, then took her two little girls with her in death. The woman, Mrs. Margaret Hoell 43, was found dead on the floor with her daughters, Jeanne, 11, and Betty, 7.

Ask Province Pay Increases For Teachers

TORONTO — An Opposition member called on the Provincial government Thursday to halt what he described as a deepening crisis in Ontario education by increasing teachers' salaries.

Aurele Chartrand (L, Ottawa East), spoke during the budget debate in the Legislature.

He said that low pay, bad working conditions, and lack of social prestige had brought erisis, uncertainty, and confusion to all levels of the teaching profession, and that, unless action were taken the result would be chaos.

He urged the government to raise teachers' salaries, to raise the calibre of teachers' colleges, and to raise the standards required for the granting of teachers' certificates. Of these the most important was the raising of the salaries. If this were accomplished, the rest would follow.

Mr. Chartrand noted that provincial government school construction subsidies are calculated with respect to numbers of classrooms built. If school boards wanted to build gymnasiums or auditoriums, they had to finance them themselves.

By this means, the government hoped "to effect substantial savings in the province in grants for school construction purposes."

Mr. Chararand said the province should use any such savings to raise teachers' salaries. Because the municipalities were already overburdened with education levies, any such initiative must be taken by the province. The time for this action is now.

He quoted a 1950 education department report as stating that "the closing of one-room schools with low enrollments has been encouraged in the interests of economy, efficiency, and the social development of the child by association with other children of his own age."

Mr. Chartrand said that if the department recognizes economy, efficiency and the social development of the child as prime factors in Ontario's educationai system, "then it cannot help but admit that our standards of education are being sadly lowered."

The department's 1950 and 1951 reports showed also that 1,857 persons "of little or no teacher-training experience were employed to give guidance and instruction to thousands of young Canadians in their most impressionable stages."

Mr. Chartrand quoted average salary figures from the 1952 report: Male public school teachers, $3,152; female public school teachers, $2,599; all secondary school teachers, including principals, $3,800.

"I would suggest," he concluded, "that our line of advance is through higher standards of education by way of better paid teachers, who will regain their human dignity and a corresponding incentive to the discharge of their many professional duties."

DOROTHY DIX:

Girl Writes Well Penalized By Parents For Poor Marks

DEAR MISS DIX: I am becoming very impatient with myself. At 15, I am still in grammar school and am not getting very good marks in my studies, even though I try my best. My parents say I don't try hard enough. They deprive me of many of the pleasures girls and boys my age are enjoying. I am not even allowed to go to school dances. I am not bad looking and would have a chance to go to them if my parents would permit me. I do see their side of the story, but I am doing the very best I can in school, and would enjoy a little fun outside.

CORA D.

TALENTS DIFFERENT

ANSWER: Well, there's one thing I can say for you, Cora. You write a better letter, from the standpoint of spelling, appearance, handwriting, than many of my readers who boast much higher mental attainments. While your school grades may not be high, there's nothing wrong with your general intelligence. Your talents probably lie in a different direction, and it behooves your parents to ferret them out. Perhaps you could be trained in some form of handicraft, or in domestic arts. Mother and Dad should talk to your teachers and the principal of your school to get an idea of your capabilities instead of denouncing you for low marks in the subjects you are forced to take.

I cannot agree with their stand on your social life, either. Depriving you of the normal pleasures of adolescence will not improve your scholarship. From the tone of your letter, I am sure you are trying to do your best in school, and your failures are not caused by lack of effort on your part.

Perhaps you could induce an interested teacher to discuss the problem with your parents. If there is a vocational guidance bureau in your local high school, help is available there. If the high school lacks such facilities, try one of the colleges near you. Psychological tests are available to bring out your aptitudes, and I am quite certain you have ability in some field as yet untouched by your school curriculum. Good luck!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have five children, and my father lives with us. My brother, his wife and little girl come quite often to see my father. They stay for supper on Sunday nights. They have asked us all to their house for a Sunday supper, but since they only have three rooms I think we'd be crowded in a small place. I feel that I should take something to help out, as there are so many of us, but my husband says not to take anything as he doesn't expect them to do so when they visit us. We love to have them.

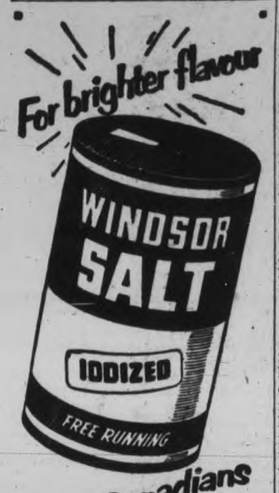
M. A.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You have solved the major problems of getting along with families, so don't stub your toe on a small item. By all means visit your brother when you're invited; the room may be crowded but hospitality certainly isn't cramped. As for taking something, if you have a particular talent for baking, you might contribute a cake, or a jar of homemade preserves, but don't try to give a major portion of the meal.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Would you please try to explain why folks sometimes think it's all right for fifteen and sixteen-year-olds to marry, when we know it's wrong. They should have a chance to enjoy life before settling down.



H. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You won't find many people approving marriages at this early age, although I recall a newspaper item last week in which parents approved a marriage for a 12-year-old. It's an unwise course that's sternly frowned upon by almost anyone dealing with teen-agers.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Asks For Reducing Diet; Makes Own Rules

QUESTION . . . I want to reduce but calories bewilder me . . . I weigh 135 . . . am 60 years old and 4 ft. 11 in. . . . to help you I don't care for pastries, but I love a bit of candy for dessert and salted peanuts but doctor says I can't have salt for I have Meniers disease . . . you know, my head spins. Is there anything worse than homemade vegetable soup without salt? Is there a substitute? I never use sugar in coffee or tea. I eat a lot of meat, don't care for potatoes, eat only 2 slices bread per day. The only vegetables available at our small store are lettuce, tomatoes, cabbage, carrots, rutabaga, celery, peppers; fruits are: grapefruit, apples and oranges.

Could you make up a menu for 1 week at least using what I have told you? For breakfast I have two pieces of toast with margarine and honey or marmalade and 2 cups of coffee. Please use this only for breakfasts and if too many calories, take them off somewhere else. I don't want eggs or salmon. I have my own canned in the morning. I don't like fish tomatoes, and buy such tihngs as peas, beans, etc. Meats, only steaks, roasts, pork, liver, sausage, hamburg, cheese, also vegetable and fruit juices.

ANSWER: Your letter bewilders me when you say you want to reduce but don't want eggs for breakfast but do want 2 pieces of toast with honey or marmalade. I want to make one thing very clear. Serious reducers should be willing to abide by their doctor's orders, and since you are ill in my opinion you would be wasting money to go the doctor and yet not do what he says.

You see you must have protein food for every meal if your health is not to suffer on a reducing regime. I would be treading on very dangerous ground if I did what you suggest, "if too many calories for breakfast, take them off somewhere else". Where else would I take them off? Two slices whole wheat bread(which you should have during a whole day) have 150 calories. One tablespoon butter or margine contains 100 calories. One tablespoon honey has 64 and 1 tablespoon marmalade 100. There you have at least 320 calories not counting the milk in your coffee. A liberal reducing diet allows you only about 1,200 in a day. You should have 1 egg, 1 slice whole wheat toast, one-half grapefruit or 1 whole orange and clear coffee for breakfast on a safe reducing diet. Then you should have—

LUNCHES (for reducers)

(1) Whole wheat bread sandwich with ½ pat butter, and filling of thick slice lean meat OR 1 whole chopped hard-cooked egg, with lettuce; 8 oz. skim or buttermilk; 16 grapes or 1 apple; (2) ½ can diluted consomme or clear tomato or chicken soup, 1 slice whole wheat bread with ½ pat butter, cottage cheese, tomato and slice of meat on lettuce; 8 oz. skim or buttermilk, ½ banana or grapefruit. (3) 6 oz dilute vegetable soup, 1 slice whole wheat bread or toast covered with grilled cheese; orange, 8 oz. skim or buttermilk. (NOTE: you ask for substitute for salt in soup —use MSG which is commercially sold under name of Ac-cent).

DINNERS (for reducers)

Broiled liver, 4 oz., brushed with 1 teaspoon butter on both sides before broiling, quick-cooked cabbage, celery stuffed with white cream cheese; water-packed peaches, graham cracker, clear coffee. (2) Four or 6 ounces beefsteak including fat, diced turnip with ½ pat butter, small baked potato including skin; fruit salad on lettuce including, grapefruit sections, orange sections, cheese-stuffed dates (3) and a little French dressing, clear coffee. (3) 6 oz. unsweetend fruit juice, 4 or 6 oz broiled humburg patty, ¾ cup cooked spinach with ½ pat butter, ½ cup caned peas; carbutter, ½ cup canned peas; carrot and cucumber strips; sliced ripe banana with whole milk, clear coffee. (4) Baked ham slice —4 oz., small baked sweet potato with ½ pat butter, stewed canned tomato with onion if desired; ½ large grapefruit, clear coffee.

If you read this column regularly you know by now that I hate to take any of the joy out of life, but candy is out. One chocolate mint 3-in in diameter has 195 calories. A 1¼-inch square piece of chocolate fudge 95 calories. Is it worth it?

EVENING GOWNS are something special and this all-Canadian fairy-tale number by Sam Sherkin is outstanding. Layer upon layer of fine pink net over taffeta gives skirt fullness beneath a wide, pleated waistline. Adding to the fullness are wing-like sections, each one cut separately and softly shirred. The wings are repeated in the bodice.

The WCTU, Peterborough branch, met Thursday afternoon at the YWCA. President Mrs. W. A. Poast was in the chair and Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, assisted by Mrs. Poast and Mrs. E. M. Davis, conducted opening devotional exercises. The theme was in keeping with the Easter season, "The cross develops the cross-bearer." Mrs. George Hewitt reported that 37 examination papers on the scientific temperance course for Sunday schools had been written by pupils of Lakehurst and RR 3. All writers got more than 50 per cent. and won certificates. Prizes were awarded by this union. A nominating committee of four was selected to form a slate of officers for the ensuing year. Mrs. E. M. Davis gave a poem, "Life—a Quest for Peace and Happiness." The topic of Mrs. A. J. Throop's clip sheet was "Intoxicating Beverages and th Children." This was the educational feature.

Institute Hears About Canada's Tenth Province

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) — The Women's Institute met on Wednesday afternoon in the hall.

"Newfoundland" was the subject of the address given by the Rev. E. C. Kelloway, pastor of Trinity United Church, Cobourg.

Mr. Kelloway was born in Newfoundland where he received his public and high school education. He attended McGill University and the United Theological College, Montreal.

He served in mission fields in Northern Newfoundland, Saskatchewan, Quebec, and Ontario.

Mr. Kelloway described his homeland.

The guest speaker was introduced by the WI president, Mrs. Keith Harper. Mrs. Paul Harris, favored with a solo, the "National Anthem of Newfoundland." "The life of St. Patrick," was told by the historical research convenor, Miss Edith Hoskin. A poem "A Little of Everything" was read by Mrs. K. Harper.

During the business part of the meeting, it was decided to send $10 to the Crippled Children's organization.

The nominating committee named were: Mrs. Albert Willis and Mrs. Harold West.

It was decided to invite Mrs. Bart Trackery, of Roseneath, to install officers at the April meeting. Mrs. Thackery is president of West Northumberland District Institutes.

The roll call for the meeting was "Name a place in Newfoundland." The prizes in the apron contest were won by Mrs. E. Jamieson, for the most practical apron, and to Mrs. C. Timlin for the fancy apron.

Mrs. Harold West, the convenor in charge, moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Kelloway and those assisting in the program. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, followed by refreshments of sandwiches, tarts, and cake, served by the committee.

Ceremony to Mark Canada Day

TORONTO (CP)—Highlight of a world conference here next August by the Associated Country Women of the World will be a musical cavalcade at Maple Leaf Gardens depicting the history of Canada, Mrs. Hugh Summers said Wednesday.

Mrs. Summers is president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada which is putting on the show for representatives of some 25 countries.

More than 11,000 rural women from many parts of Canada and the United States are expected to attend the Canada Day ceremonies on Friday, Aug. 21.

Mrs. Roy Frost Hostess To WA

MARMORA (ENS)—The March meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Anglican Church was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Roy Frost. In the absence of the president, Mrs. R. G. Winters, Mrs. J. M. Brownlie, past president, took charge.

A letter was received from Mrs. Kent, of St. John's, Stirling, WA, inviting the members to a special meeting in Stirling on April 28, when the speaker will be Mrs. A. C. McCallum, of Sydenham. Mrs. R. Frost reported for the Dorcas, outlining the needs for the bale which is to be sent to the Indian Residential School at Prince Albert, Sask. Blocks were brought in for the quilt that will be sent with the bale and others will be forthcoming to complete the quilt.

Chapter 3 of the study book, "Thine Is the Glory," was taken by W. J. Cottrell, who closed the meeting with prayer. The hostess served refreshments.

Mrs. Theo Tryon Heads Auxiliary

BANCROFT (ENS) — The organization meeting of the newly formed Ladies' Auxiliary to the local branch of the Canadian Legion, was held at the Legion hall. Prominent guests of the auxiliary in attendance were Mrs. Margaret Richardson, President, Provincial Command and the Secretary, Mrs. McMillan.

Mrs. Theo. Tryon was elected as president. Her officers are: Mrs. W. Lavally, 1st vice-president; Mrs. A. Towle, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. J. Ward, secretary; Mrs. E. G. Thomas, treasurer; Mrs. E. Young, standard bearer. The Executive Committee is composed of Mrs. A. Goodman, Mrs. T. Tanner, Mrs. A. Moxam.

Badges of membership were presented to the ladies at the gathering by Legion president Wm. J. Lavalley and secretary Dan Armstrong.

Tribute To Queen

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. A. Turner Bone, president of the National Council of Women, in a tribute Wednesday to the memory of Dowager Queen Mary, said "the women of Canada salute her memory as one who through her whole life has exemplified those qualities of heart and mind that we all admire."

"A mother of Kings and grandmother of a Queen, she was a truly regal lady."

THE CLASSIC RAINCOAT has softer lines for next season and in this Canadian fashion Alvinna curves the soft shoulder. Deep armholes provide ease for wear over suits and the tie-belt can mould any size waistline. The fabric is a viscose blend.

Displays Button Collection

Possibly no household in Peterborough is without a collection of buttons— at least a dozen or so for utilitarian or decorative replacement purposes.

But there is a collector of buttons in the city who has more than 6,000 that are not intended for practical use — much as her friends may plead for them.

And Mrs. C. G. Boyd is constantly on the lookout for more old buttons. They must be at least 75 years old and the most desirable are more than 100. Those of interest to collectors such as she are either made in England or France.

She told the Soroptimist Club about her hobby at a dinner meeting Thursday night and showed them more than a thousand of her most interesting buttons. She has them all mounted on cards and some of her finest are in glass topped trays.

Mrs. Boyd has sorted her buttons and arranged them so that one card is all bird designs, another is all glass buttons, another depicts cherbus in a variety of poses. Several cards are all head buttons and she has divided them into real and mythological. She has vest buttons and studs and a collection of waist buttons including the Gibson Girl. There are heraldic buttons and buttons showing famous buildings of the world. Sporting buttons, which presumably came off hunting jackets, depicts an animal used in the hunt and hunted.

She has a small collection of lovely buttons that are from opera cloaks which she obtained from an old tailor in Montreal who allowed her only one of each. Some of the more intricately engraved buttons she calls "story" buttons. Some depict famous operas such as The Mikado, Madame Butterfly, some are of Biblical story origin and one card is of buttons inspired by fairy tales, such as "Ride a cock horse to Banbury Cross."

Being the wife of a Presbyterian minister here, Mrs. Boyd had the privilege of living in Perth, Scotland, for six months when her husband arranged an exchange of pulpits. Her hobby became widely known through publicity in Perth and Glasgow papers and she was surprised and delighted to receive gifts of old buttons from numerous strangers, even receiving them in envelopes on the collection plate.

Mrs. Boyd foraged for old buttons in the shops over there, too, and so brought back a sizable addition to her collection. She has one card on which all the buttons have Scottish family crests.

She said that in United States there is the National Button Society which has nearly 3,000 members now, and estimated there might be as many more people in the country who are collectors. When she attended the last convention of the society at Buffalo a year ago, there were 13 Canadians present.

About 40 books on buttons have been published but they do not cover all the buttons that Mrs. Boyd now has. Like most collectors she began this hobby unsuspecting the extent it has reached. Now that she has become something of an authority on buttons, with rare and valuable specimens in her possession, she considers those she was so enthusiastically collecting at first of comparatively little interest.

Mrs. Boyd was introduced to the club by Miss Verna Johnston and she was thanked by Miss Marjorie Nesbitt.

Soroptimist president Miss Gene Clark was chairman and the program wass arranged by Mrs. Eva Brackenridge. The members stood in silent tribute to the late Queen Mary for two minutes before being seated for dinner. The Soroptimist invocation was repeated previously and the national anthem sung afterward.

Chapter News

COL. AGNES NEILL CHAPTER

A minute's silence was observed in memory of the late Queen Mary as the meeting of Col. Agnes Neill Chapter, IODE, was opened Tuesday evening. The standard was then brought forward and the meeting opened by regent Mrs. Wm. Durant.

It was decided to order 13 coloring books and seven large books to send to the adopted school in commemoration of the coronation. Because materials have been late in arriving, the sewing meeting was postponed until April 16 when it will be held at Mrs. Durant's home. Wool was distributed by Mrs. L. Routley for post-war knitting.

It was voted to have a program every second meeting and next month they will have a film, "One God," if it is available. Mrs. G. Carruthers gave a brief report of the forthcoming tea, April 11.

Mrs. A. Gertley introduced the guest speaker, Madame Lenart, beautician from Hungary, who was assisted by her daughter in giving a talk and demonstration on the art of applying make-up. Mrs. A. Lacey was the model. A vote of thanks for this enjoyable contribution was moved by Mrs. B. Roberts.

Lunch was served by Mrs. R. Hough and her group and a social period followed.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Automatic Tea Maker Saves Britain's Early Tea Makers

By JOAN BARBERIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Before they so much as get out of bed in the morning, Britons like a cup of tea.

Now, somebody has to get this breakfast aperitif and we've always thought it rather a loving gesture that this custom has carried on through the years.

Now the tea can be provided automatically, without anyone getting up, by a gadget that starts operating even before the sleeper awakes. It boils the water, makes the tea, switches itself off and rings the alarm.

NEW GADGETS HERE

The appearance of this device on the British market spurred us on to see what was new in gadgets right here.

There's a handy plastic armchair tray that will probably be a favorite with father. Two grips on strong springs under the tray hold it firmly at any width of chair arm and eliminate balancing of tea cup, etc.

A spatter-proof frying pan lid will be welcome in many kitchens. It's perforated aluminum and permits dry frying without flying grease.

Although not a new idea, there's a new type of bottle cap. It's made of plastic and a test showed that it kept a small bottle of ginger ale in "fizzing condition" for a week, and that it would fit 10, and probably more, different bottle tops.

PLASTIC DISH PAN

Particularly nice for one-room dwellers is a soft plastic dish pan. Ideal for washing the best crystal in, too. It's easy to clean and has a firm plug in the bottom.

Plastic mixing bowls aren't so new, but still worthy of a mention as shower gifts and the fact that they sell like hot cakes.

A plastic clothes peg with a hanger hook top has any number of uses—especially good for the traveller.

Not exactly gadgets, but appearing in Canada soon, are latex foam cushions. Round or square, they are easy to cover, easy to keep clean, and have made a hit in the U.S. They are made of shredded foam rubber sandwiched between solid foam rubber, and come in different sizes.

A new table cooker broils, grills or fries, has four broiling levels which may all be used at once and handy plastic side handles to move it even when hot.

Omemee WA Deplores Alcohol Use

OMEMEE (ENS). — The program for the March meeting of Trinity United Church WA was under the direction of Mrs. H. McKee's group. Mrs. George Smith read I. Cor. 3, 1-17, and the commentary was given by Mrs. Mahood. Mrs. M. Jones led in prayer and a solo was sung by Mrs. Harold Laidley.

The topic, The Working Christian, was presented by Mrs. McKee. The greatest joy experienced by the Christian, said Mrs. McKee, is found in the consciousness of work well done, as he co-operates with God in working His will. To be a co-worker with God is life's highest privilege.

Business was conducted by the president, Mrs. H. Deyell, and included reports and arrangements for the annual spring tea. Thankyou messages for remembrance in illness and bereavement were read from Mrs. Don Barrett, Mrs. R. Williamson, R. Broom, Miss Mary Faulkner, Mrs. E. Lloyd, and Mrs. J. White. The treasurer reported $107.38 net proceeds from March projects.

Christian citizenship convener, Mrs. Graham, quoted alarming statistics on the increasing use of intoxicating drinks, pointing out the inconsistency of the Ontario government in setting up more and more hospitals to treat alcoholics while allowing more and more outlets for the sale of alcohol and permitting advertising to attract and mislead the youth of the province. It is time, she said, for women's organizations to take up the cause.

On motions of Mrs. S. Northey and Mrs. Graham, it was decided to hold a spring tea, acompanied by a bake sale, a country store, and a mystery parcel sale, April 28. Conveners were appointed as follows: For the spring tea, table convener Mrs. T. J. Pogue, and menu committee Mrs. V. Lang; for the bake sale, Mrs. H. Lang; the country store, Mrs. M. Jones; and the parcel sale Mrs. W. Weir.

Mrs. Deyell and Mrs. Harold Laidley were appointed to convene a quilting committee.

In memory of the late Dowager Queen Mary, a two-minute silence was observed, followed by the National Anthem. Lunch was served by the group.

BRIGHT AND CRISP is this Canadian-made cotton print dress. Tiny mushrooms are printed on a polished white ground. The skirt has unpressed pleats.

Bewdley News

The Volunteer Fire Brigade of Bewdley sponsored a successful oyster supper in the Community Hall.

Eighteen tables of progressive euchre were played at the closing party for the season of the Whitehead's Corner Club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Graham. The secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Wilf Lindsay gave a report of the winter's activities. Ten euchre parties were held. Thirty dollars was given to the flood relief and $10 to the Crippled Children, leaving a balance in the treasury.

Mrs. Harold McCallister and Mrs. Peter Brockenshire of Peterborough attended a shower at Welcome for their cousin, Miss Floris Ferguson, also of Peterborough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Ferguson, Welcome.

Mr. Harold Buttars, Warkworth, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Buttars, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Manley and Mrs. Mary Morton, Cobourg, visited Mr. and Mrs. Ron Manley in Picton Sunday afternoon.

Miss Marilyn Ansell has returned after motoring to Detroit for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nichels and Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Sidey attended the Restaurant Owners Convention in Toronto, Tuesday.

Colored Film Shown W.A. Group

ROSENEATH (ENS)—Roseneath township hall was filled to capacity on Wednesday evening when Dr. F. P. Lloyd, Cobourg, presented an illustrated travelogue and colored films he had taken, travelling from the East Coast of Canada to British Columbia.

The travelogue was sponsored by group 1 of the WA of the United Church. Mrs. James Thompson is the leader of this group, with Mrs. Lorne Thackeray as secretary.

Rev. J. R. Wheeler was chairman. Preceding the showing of the films there was a short memorial service, tribute being paid to the late Queen Mary, with two minutes' silence, followed by the singing of the National Anthem. Dr. Lloyd showed a film he had taken at the coronation of King George VI.

Miss Beverly Robson, Cobourg, was guest soloist and contributed three numbers, "Thirty Pieces of Silver," "Beautiful Dreamer" and "It Is No Secret."

Home-made candy was sold by the members.

The 1951 census showed 85.3 per cent of the population in Canada was Canadian-born.

Will Pave

urban area road—a main artery whose upkeep is of interest to both city and county. The three-man suburban area roads commission has a city, county and neutral representative. Their finances are met 25 per cent by the county, 25 per cent by the city and 50 per cent by the Department of Highways.)

It was only by a split vote that county council decided to go ahead this year with the project. Reeve Gordon Fitzgerald of Smith township had to use his two votes (with the deputy-reeve Smith has a total of three) to get it passed successfully. The four northern townships of Harvey, Burleigh - Anstruther, Galway - Cavendish and Chandos are not in the county roads system and therefore had no vote. Supporting Reeve Fitzgerald and Deputy-Reeve Robert McAdam were Reeve William C. Grant of Lakefield, Deputy-Reeve Loyola Mooney of Douro; Warden Ernest J. Leeson of Havelock, Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore, and Reeve Dick Stewart and Deputy-Reeve Dave McIntyre of Otonabee.

Against were Reeve William Griffith and Deputy-Reeve George Newton of Belmont-Methuen, Reeve James Humphries of Asphodel, Reeve Rork Ferguson of Norwood, Reeve Stewart Clysdale and Deputy Reeve Sloan of Dummer, and Reeve Roland Tedford of Douro.

Discussion arose when Reeve Willard G. Waterman, chairman of county roads, brought in a recommendation from a joint committee of the county roads committee and the surburban area roads commission who had conferred with city officials on a mulch-paving program. The recommendation was that six miles or half of the Buckhorn Road, be paved this year.

Reeve Waterman said he thought they were about five years behind in their mulching program.

"If traffic increases as much in the next five years as it has in the past five years then the county is going to be in a very embarrassing position as far as these gravel roads are concerned." said Reeve Waterman.

He said that in meetings with the city members of the roads committee received no commitments. They were waiting for the county to get a program.

IN SHAPE TO PAVE

"Is the Buckhorn Road in shape to pave?" asked Reeve Ferguson.

"There are spots in the six miles where breakups will occur but it's not too bad," said County Engineer Jack Kean.

"Is there any chance of getting the whole thing done at once?" asked Reeve Fitzgerald. "I believe the city favors that idea."

He was joined by Deputy-Reeve McAdam who said: "I'm of the opinion that the city is willing to go along with the county but they want to know what our intentions are."

Reeve Stewart said he didn't want to go back to Otonabee with the report that for two more years the road committee's money would go toward paving one road "on the way to a municipality not in the county roads system." Debentures should be issued if a road-paving program was to be started.

Discussion about paving the road out of current funds on a two-year basis ended when Reeve Fitzgerald proposed issuing debentures and doing the whole job at once. He was seconded by Reeve Stewart.

Reeve Tedford said he was not in favor of issuing debentures and Reeve Griffith predicted that some ratepayers will be paying off debentures for the rest of their lives. Reeve Grifith said most of the money was being spent around Peterborough and not in the eastern sections of the county.

He pointed out that Harvey—a township not in the county roads system—is getting a causeway and paved road built up to its boundaries.

"The big end of our money is being spent around Peterborough," he said, "and it's the traffic of Peterborough that's causing all this need for construction."

County Engineer Kean estimated that it would cost over $5,000 to pave each mile of the Buckhorn road. Last year the cost of maintaining the road surface was $1,300 a mile.

The motion by Reeves Fitzgerald and Stewart barely passed a standing vote.

Reeves Gifford and Tedford then moved that discussion on a five-year mulch program on suburban area roads be held over until the June session.

OBITUARIES

MRS. ELIAS CALVERT

Mrs. Charlotte Calvert, 77, died of a heart ailment Thursday, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Louis Soles, near Reaboro.

Born in Cavan township, she was a daughter of the late Frederick Veals and Ann Herbert. She lived in Cavan until her marriage in 1895 to Elias Calvert, when she went to reside in Ops township. In 1936 they retired in Reaboro where Mr. Calvert died the following year.

Mrs. Calvert was a member of Reaboro Baptist church and active in Women's Institute work.

She leaves one daughter, Rosetta (Mrs. Lewis Soles), another daughter, Alta (Mrs. Earle Reads) having died 28 years ago. Robert Soles of Peterborough and Mrs. Lorne Thursday (formerly Lenore Soles) of Sunderland are grandchildren, and there are two great-grandchildden, Wayne and Nancy Thurston. She also leaves one brother Alexander H. Veals of RR 2 Omee; and four sisters: Mrs. Lillie Roebuck of Reaboro, Mrs. Mina Farnell of Wyevale, Mrs. Sadie Clute of Wyevale, and Mrs. Robert Barr (Ruth) of Toronto.

The body is resting at the Mackey funeral home, Lindsay, where the funeral service will be conducted Saturday at 2 p.m. by Rev. W. Leaton, pastor of Reaboro Baptist church. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

MRS. FRED McBAIN

Mrs. Ida Lillian McBain, wife of the late Frederick McBain, died Thursday in Omemee, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roland Clifford. Mrs. McBain, who was in her 76th year, had been in poor health for six years.

She was born at Burlum, Ontario, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Heasman. On her marriage to Robert Morrison in 1900 she went to live in Cavan township. Eight years later they went West where they lived first in Manitoba and then in Alberta. Mr. Morrison died in 1931, and six years later she came to Omemee. In 1937 she married Frederick McBain, who predeceased her by only seven months.

She is survived by her stepmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Heasman of Peterborough, and leaves three daughters and five sons: Mrs. Roland Clifford (Elizabeth) of Omemee; Mrs. Bert Dack (Ethel) of Peterborough; Mrs. Gerald Nelson (Lillian) of Omemee; Harry of Ribstone, Alberta; Allan of Barhead, Alberta; Clarence, Jack and Wilbur of Omemee; also a stepdaughter, Mrs. Vincent Hickson (the former Violet McBain) of Lnndsay. There are also 42 grandchildren.

Mrs. McBain attended the United Church and was a member of the LOBA.

The funeral will be from the Morcombe funeral home, Saturday, at 2 p.m. Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt officiating. Burial in Emily cemetery.

I.U.E. Has Filed Application With Labor Relations Board

The International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO-CCL) today received official confirmation from the Ontario Labor Relations Board of their application for certification among some 3,300 production workers at the Peterborough plant of the Canadian General Electric Co.

Local 524 of the rival United Electrical Workers (Indep.) are the present bargaining agents.

Formal application by the IUE was made Thursday in the OLRB office in Toronto. David Lewis, IUE's legal counsel, made the application and filed a sufficient number of cards to ensure an election among the workers at the plant, IUE officials said today.

(The Ontario labor law requires that in order to obtain an election a union must have signed membership cards from at least 45 per cent of the employees in the bargaining unit. If this is the case the OLRB will automatically order a vote here in Peterborough.)

FOURTH CAMPAIGN

This is the fourth campaign by the IUE to supplant the UE since the former broke away from the old union back in 1949. Three times in those four years the IUE have applied for certification; last year they did not. To date there has been one election among the production workers at the plant. That was in the summer of 1951 when IUE were defeated 1,909 votes to 1,582.

The two-year master contract between the UE locals in the Canadian chain and the CGE ends today. So the IUE made their application within the required time.

NEGOTIATING CONTRACT

The UE locals are at present negotiating with the company over a new contract.

In a statement issued today by the IUE organizing committee a "representation election" was called for among the workers. The committee said:

"With this application, CGE workers will be given a chance to decide whether they wish to return to a strong, capable, affiliated union—or, whether they wish to remain with the old, weak, independent and ineffective union that is isolated from the labor movement. The issue . . . affects the future of their wages, hours, working conditions and their standard of living.

"The second issue at stake in the forthcoming election will be that of communism. It is an established and, significantly, undenied fact that the top leadership of the old union is shot through and through with communism."

Car Hits House As Driver Dies Of Thrombosis

Seconds after his car leaped the sidewalk and smashed into a Simcoe St. verandah, Thomas Fosythe, 69, of 649 Downie St., died in his car seat of coronary thrombosis Thursday.

He had been driving east on Simcoe St. when his car veered north across the road and over the sidewalk and lawn before coming to rest against the verandah of 272 Simoe St.

First on the scene, Edmund O'Brien of 278 Simcoe found Forsythe in the driver's seat with his head resting on the back of the seat. He died before an ambulance could reach the scene.

BORN IN PORT HOPE

Born in Port Hope, he had lived here for 35 years and was employed by Canada Packers for over 30 years. An adherent of St. Andrew's United Church, he leaves his wife, the former Jean Sutherland; two daughters, Mrs. Joyce Ellis of Oshawa and Mrs. Claude Hewitt of Bridgenorth; one sister, Mrs. Roy Stacey of Newtonville; and four brothers, John and William of Port Hope, Norman of Warren, Ohio, and George of Toronto.

The body is resting at the Nesbitt funeral home where funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at two o'clock by the Rev. Henry Cotton of St. Andrew's United Church.

Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Priest Consulted To Form Co-Op

Rev. Francis Marrocco of St. Patrick's College, Ottawa, will be consulted by a committee of the Civil Service Recreational Association about plans for an educational program leading up to the formation of a consumer co-operative venture. He is director of the Social Action Department, Canadian Roman Catholic Conference at the College, and is mentioned in the Ottawa Journal as a "leading authority on co-operative effort."

To the meeting Wednesday in Ottawa sponsored by the Civil Service Recreational Association Father Marrocco said a consumer co-operative was a self-help device particularly valuable in this hand-out age.

"It strives always to cure people of that terrible disease of leaning on governments for everything," he said.

NEEDS DEDICATION

It required more than enthusiasm. There had to be dedication. Father Marrocco stressed two main points in starting such an operation. They were the proper spirit of fraternal love and desire to co-operate, and then a sound knowledge of the practical mechanics of business. Preliminary study and continuing education were essential. Without that, failure was all but certain. He offered his help in an educational program providing prospective members were willing to carry on through, but not if they were only seeking to become "part owners of a store."

Father Marrocco was born and educated in Peterborough, was a priest in this diocese and some years ago began to specialize in co-operative affairs.

TRAVEL: With Jean Stenton

There were then few tourists. The visitors were mostly world travellers, archaeologists, etc. They restored an old house on the Street of the Arch and it was used as a gallery.

OPENS SHOP

During the war one day a friend brought in six hand-embroidered blouses and asked her to sell them. She refused but finally agreed to try. In three days they were gone and people were asking about skirts. Since finances were limited in this period, she conceived the idea of a shop and that is how her well-known place began.

* * * *

Because Miss Goodspeed did not like the silver designs being used she decided to make her own from archaeological designs. She draws a rough pattern and gives it to one of her three master craftsmen who makes her a copy. There are only a limited number of things in one design so that the market will not be flooded. The three craftsmen are in charge of groups that work separately with 5, 13 and 4 artisans respectively.

* * * *

Her pins and bracelets are nearly all based on archaeological designs. She uses the dragon from a Mayan shield or one with a symbol of the wind or hands, the symbol of life, or again a Mayan astrology design in turquoise and silver.

* * * *

For her textile work she has men producing materials in Mexico City and Taxbaya so that they cannot be copied. The head man in Mexico City is a Spanish refugee and the other a German, both born artists who know textiles and dyes. This woman designs all her clothes and she has women to do the sewing and embroidery in Taxco after she makes them a pattern to follow.

* * * *

FAMILIES DO WORK

Her women supervisors are mostly trained by a mother superior in a convent order. They bring their daughters or whole families into the business and do the work in their homes. In Taxco she employs 50 women and girls in that branch and 25 artisans, plus three master craftsmen in her silver department.

* * * *

"My research has shown a decided similarity between things Chinese and Mexicon," she declared. "The first Mayas as you know were found in India."

* * * *

The head of the Spanish department of the University of Wichitas, Prof. J. E. Angulo, brings 35-50 students every year to Miss Goodspeed for six weeks of summer school in Taxco. She has classes three times a week in the history and archaeology of Mexico. This has been operating for five years.

* * * *

Her work has reached the point now where she is supplying stores in the United States and other parts of Mexico.

* * * *

The first story she ever sold outside Mexico was to The Ottawa Citizen. She was sitting in a hotel one day and got in conversation with a man who was so interested in her research on Mexico that he gave her an introduction to Mr. Southam and she wrote an article which they accepted.

Torn $2 Bill Convicts Trio

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — A torn $2 bill played a major role Thursday in convicting three Toronto district persons in connection with a break-in at a garage at Beardmore, 120 miles east of here.

Remanded for sentence to April 2 were Victor L. Osborne, 23, of Islington, and Fred George White, 19, and his sister Mabel Rose, 20, both of Long Branch. Osborne pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and theft, and the other two pleaded guilty to charges of retaining stolen goods.

An officer said $10 in coins and a $2 bill torn in half had been stolen in the garage break-in. The $2 had been paid to the garage a few hours earlier by the trio. After the break-in, the same bill was turned in by them at another garage where they had a flat tire fixed.

CGE Net Income Shows Drop For '52

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., had net income in 1952, after all charges, of $7,122,952, compared with $7,846,272 in 1951.

Provision for income taxes was $8,300,000, compared with $6,500,000 and depreciation was $4,241,619, compared with $4,335,411.

Sales billed were $154,438,207, an increase of five per cent, and a record. Reduction in net income, says the annual report, was occasioned by the provision of an additional $800,000 for estimated taxes on income, and the non-recruiting profit in 1951 of $820,665 on realization of investment in a subsidiary.

Current assets were $56,061,022, and current liabilities $24,560,191, indicating working capital of $31,500,831, an increase of $1,629,433.

PROGRESSIVE FINLAND

Official figures in 1952 showed Finland has 832,000 licensed radio receivers, about one for every five persons.

Streets Slippery Cars Tangle In 3 Accidents

Three accidents took place on slippery Peterborough Sts. Thursday night with total damages amounting to less than $500.

The first, at 7.30, involved Sandford R. Henderson of Lakefield and Lawrence J. Blanchard of 538 McKellar St. Henderson was driving west on Sherbrooke but noticed the Aylmer St. stop sign too late to stop, his attention being diverted by railway signal lights.

Partially into the intersection he collided with the right rear side of Blanchard's car. Damage to each car was estimated at $150. PC G. J. Gillespie investigated.

CREASED FENDER

The second accident near eight o'clock at the corner of George and Charlotte Sts. involved James Benor of Campbellford and James Reid of 513 Murray St. Reid, facing south, was stopped for a light at the intersection. Benor, planning to make a right turn creeped up between the sidewalk and the Reid car.

Reid's bumper creased the Benor vehicle's left side causing $15 damage as Benor came by. PC G. J. Gillespie investigated.

At 8.45, an accident investigated by PC B. A. Howden occurred at the intersection of Water and Hunter Sts.

Thomas Murphy of Kingston was stopped, facing north on Water. James Smooker of Warkworth, driving east on Hunter made a right turn onto Water and met in collision with the Murphy car at the centre of the road.

Damage to Murphy's car was estimated at $100 and to Smooker's, $50.

Heir By Adoption

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A 15-month-old boy has become, by adoption, the heir to a $20,000,000 oil fortune. Mr. and Mrs. Tevis F. Morrow Thursday completed court proceedings for the adoption of the child, their first in 16 years of marriage. Morrow, 55, estimated his annual income from oil-fields in Texas and Wyoming at $1,500,000.

Returns To Peiping

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio today reported the return of Premier Chou En-lai and the arrival of new Soviet ambassador Vasili Kuznetsov from Moscow. Chou led a delegation of Chinese Communists to Moscow to attend the funeral of Stalin.

Detectives Uncover New Remains In "Murder House"

LONDON (CP)—Scotland Yard detectives today uncovered new remains believed to be human in the garden of London's "murder house"—a dingy flat that already has yielded the bodies of four women. The discovery came as anxious police warned that the sadistic sex-strangler, known as "Mr. Murder" may strike again at Monday's full moon. The flat and now the garden of the house in the seedy Notting Hill district have yielded a series of gruesome discoveries since Tuesday. The killer had walled up three of the bodies in a pantry and the fourth under the floor of the living room.

Detectives had worked around the clock digging up the garden and prying open the floors and walls before unearthing a number of bones and scraps of material in the corner of the garden near a high wall.

Dr. F. E. Camps, home office pathologist, was present in the garden when detectives made the find.

Earlier, Scotland Yard detectives had expressed fear that the killer may have claimed two more victims—21-year-old Margaret Boyle and a young waitress known only as "Kay." Both lived near the horror house—and both are missing.

KILLER MOON-MAD

Police believe the moon-mad killer already has picked out another victim and will strike Monday unless he is caught. The biggest post-war manhunt is under way in the hope of rounding him up before then.

Every British policeman has been shown a picture of John R.H. Christie, the 55-year-old trucking clerk who was a tenant in the house of death for 18 years. Christie's 45-year-old wife was the strangler's first known victim.

Newspapers all over the country printed a picture of Christie, who, Scotland Yard says, "might be able to help them with their investigation."

Normally a suspect's photograph is not published until he appears in court so as not to prejudice his case. But the director of public prosecutions, fearing the killer may strike again, yesterday gave special permission for publication of the picture to forewarn unsuspecting women.

PART-TIME COP

Soft-spoken, dome-headed Christie was a part-time auxiliary policeman. Every regular cop who ever worked with him has been put on the search.

The Notting Hill Killings, discovered four days ago, were the most vicious since the "acid bath" murders four years ago in which dapper George Haigh confessed slaying nine persons and dissolving their bodies.

Police worked on the theory that the killer, driven by the fury of a deranged mind, is affected by the full moon. There is evidence that some of his previous victims were killed when the moon was full a month ago.

Another theory was that the sex maniac lured shapely young women from back-street cafes to his apartment to pose in the nude before his camera. Three of the four scantily-clad bodies found hidden behind the wall and floor of the death apartment were those of attractive girls in their 'teens or early 20s.

Police questioned photographers' models in the hope they might have information on the girls who posed for the strangler. They said

Fear 25 Dead As Two Trains Crash

24 Railroad Cars Splintered In Ohio Collision

CONNEAUT, O. (AP)—Two New York Central passenger trains smashed into a derailed freight within the space of two minutes Friday night killing at least 17 persons and injuring more than 60. No Canadians were among the casualties in early lists.

Some estimates of the death toll ran as high as 25.

Warren Woods, Erie, Pa., county coroner, said there were 16 bodies on the rescue train which arrived in Erie, 27 miles east of the wreck scene, this morning, more than eight hours after the wreck.

Working in mud sometimes knee-deep and in a drizzling rain, rescue workers labored until dawn to get the last of the injured and dead from the torn and twisted cars.

Only a rutty lane, blocked by mired autos, provided access from the thickety wreck area to the nearest highway two miles to the south.

400 ABOARD

There were about 400 persons aboard the two express trains which a NYC official said rammed the derailed freight at about 10 p. m. EST last night. A Buffalo-to-Chicago passenger train, roaring along at 80 miles an hour, first hit cars of a westbound freight. A minute later the Southwest Limited, en route from St. Louis to New York slashed into the pile-up.

The number of injured may reach 100, not including another 100 treated at a red cross aid station for minor hurts.

The accident—touched off by a piece of pipe that rolled off a fourth train into the path of the freight—came just across the Ohio-Pennsylvania line in Pennsylvania.

Offers Made As UN Troops Repel Heavy Red Attacks

TOKYO (AP)—The Communists said tonight they accepted a United Nations offer to exchange sick and wounded prisoners before the Korean war ends, and at the same time proposed immediate resumption of suspended armistice talks. It was not immediately clear whether the acceptance depended upon resumption of the talks. The Red answer, heard here, was broadcast over the Communist Peiping radio. Gen. Mark Clark, UN Far East commander who made the offer Feb. 22, said he had received the message and would release a statement shortly.

"We are going to study this offer very closely," Clark said. "We want to be sure there isn't anything in it we don't understand."

He indicated his reply to the Reds would favor resumption of the truce talks if the Communists really meant their acceptance.

Even as the Red radio broadcast the message to Clark, Allies in Korea were fighting furiously to throw back the biggest Red assaults in five months.

SIGNED BY PREMIER

The Communist reply was signed by North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Peng Teh-huai, commander of Chinese forces in Korea.

It said: "our side. . .fully agrees to your side's proposal to exchange sick and injured prisoners of war of both sides during the period of hostility."

They also suggested the exchange could pave the way to "smooth settlement of the entire question of the prisoners of war. . ." —a reference to the deadlock on exchanging all PoWs which broke up the armistice talks at Panmunjom last fall.

The Communists have insisted on return of all the 122,000 PoWs in UN camps, but the UN has reported only about 81,000 of these have indicated willingness to return to their Red homelands.

3,198 AMERICAN PoWs

The Chinese said Dec. 18 they were holding 3,198 American PoWs. They also are holding many more South Koreans plus prisoners from UN countries fighting in Korea.

The text of the Red letter to Clark also was broadcast by the North Korean Red radio at Pyongyang.

The Communist letter said both sides reached agreement last year on the question of repatriating the sick and injured prisoners, but claimed there was no way to complete arrangements because the talks were broken off.

"It was solely because the. . . negotiations were suspended that there was no way to implement this agreed provision," the letter said.

Clark's letter offering the exchange of sick and injured prisoners said the UN command "remains ready immediately to repatriate those. . .personnel."

"I wish to be informed whether you are prepared for your part to proceed immediately with the repatriation . . . " Clark asked.

Wildcat Strike Ends As 3,000 Miners Return

NEW WATERFORD, N. S. (CP) Nearly 3,000 rebellious Cape Breton miners today decided to return to three mines which have been tied up one week by a wildcat strike.

The "back to work" order came on the heels of a United Mine Workers (CCL) District 26 ultimatum that the striking miners would lose their jobs unless they returned to the pits for the Sunday night shift.

The UMW locals at No. 12, 16 and 18 mines made the decision at separate meetings, in line with an order by district president Freeman Jenkins that any decision made at a scheduled mass meeting Sunday would not be considered.

The strikers represent nearly a third of Nova Scotia's 10,000 coal miners, the largest working force in the Maritimes.

The strike came at a crucial period while the union presented new wage demands at a conciliation board. The board adjourned until Wednesday.

The 2,700 men walked out after 13 fellow workers were suspended for refusing to follow company orders.

Indo-China Plan Has Prospects Of U.S. Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—A French plan for victory in Indo-China in two years had excellent prospects of American support as the United States and France wound up their cold war policy talks today.

But a sharp clash appears to have developed between:

1. U. S. hopes for speedy French ratification of a European army treaty which would permit the arming of West Germany.

2. French insistence that, before that action is taken, France and Germany must reach an understanding over the future of the industrially-rich Saar area.

This may prove to be critical. State Secretary John Foster Dulles, who has argued against such French demands, has told European leaders he must have positive signs of progress toward a European army to get congressional approval of foreign aid funds.

REPORT RESULTS

A communique officially reporting the accomplishments of the conferences, which have been under way since Thursday, was one task at today's White House meeting among President Eisenhower, Dulles, French Premier Rene Mayer and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and other top officials of the two countries.

When Dulles and other administration officials met with the French delegation Friday, their talks covred these reported points:

1. The French were said, by Jean le Tourneau, minister for the associated states of Indo-China, to have a plan for ending the bulk of the fighting in Indo-China in two years. This assumes there will be no large-scale Chinese Communist intervention in the meantime.

WON'T RATIFY

2. Mayer said it is impossible to get the French Assembly to ratify the European army treaty, and related pacts giving West Germany virtual independence, without first obtaining a Franco-German understanding on the future of the Saar. He expressed hope negotiations with Germany would be opened soon. Dulles voiced sympathy but argued France should leave the Saar question until later.

3. The U. S. group was urged by the French to plan American aid for the North Atlantic Treaty allies on a long-term basis of three years instead of year by year. U. S. officials promised to give favorable study to the proposal.

4. U. S. officials urged that the French co-operate in speeding the work of a commission set up to solve such problems as the kind of military production in which West Germany would engage once its rearmament is permitted.

India Supports Burma Protest

CALCUTTA — (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru said today India will support the Burmese government's complaint to the United Nations about alleged violation of Burmese territory by Chinese Nationalist troops.

Burma complained to the United Nations Wednesday that 12,000 Chinese Nationalist troops were waging a "reign of terror" in parts of Burma.

The Burmese government asked the general assembly to brand Nationalist China an aggressor.

Friday the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa denied that it had any control over the Nationalist guerrillas, which are operating along Burma's border with the Yunnan province of Communist China.

Three Paintings To Cost $276,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Citizenship Minister Harris said Friday that three "rather valuable" paintings will be purchased for the National Gallery at a cost of some $267,000.

He told the Commons that was the explanation for a $276,000 vote in the estimates for the gallery whose directors had recommended purchase of the paintings as a distinguished asset to the gallery collection.

The minister said he would disclose the names of the artists and details of the paintings to opposition members privately if they so wished, but until the purchase was completed he could make no details public.

Lakehead Man Wins $47,000 In Sweep

MONTREAL (CP)—H. J. Ross of Fort William was the only holder of an Army and Navy sweepstakes ticket on Early Mist, winner today of the Grand National steeplechase, and will collect $47,000.

H. L. McMillan of Toronto held a ticket on Mont Tremblant, second-place horse, and wins $28,000.

J. H. King of Vancouver wins $19,000 as holder of the ticket on Irish Lizard, third horse.

Mau-Mau Slay 12 Natives

NAIROBI, Kenya (CP)—A gang of Mau Mau terrorists killed at least 12 pro-British native home guards in a night attack on an African village near Nyeri, it was announced today. The killings followed only about 24 hours after the massacre of at least 300 loyal natives near Nairobi. Reports from Nyeri, 60 miles south of Nairobi, said the gang of about 100 terrorists was armed with pistols and rifles. The attack was made in the Chinga location in the south Nyeri reserve. Police and security forces have arrested 1,000 Kikuyu for screening and claimed to have identified from 200 to 300 of them as having taken part in the Thursday massacre. Six known terrorists have been killed.

Latest casualty figures for the massacre are 71 men, women and children killed, and another 51—mostly women and children—missing, believed killed.

Many others were feared burned to death when their village was set afire. Reuters reported that 300 were massacred.

Through the night the colony had been tense, for the brutal terrorists had armed themselves the previous night with a raid on a police arsenal.

The terrorists swept down on Chinga from the Aberdare mountain forests. Invading the Kikum tribal reservation, they shot down the native guards and hacked their bodies with long jungle knives.

It was the latest in the long series of murders and other violence by the Mau Mau, a secret native society whose members take a blood oath to drive the white man from Kenya. Hundreds of persons have been slaughtered by the terrorists and houses and other properties destroyed.

FLY TROOPS IN

The government of this East African British colony ordered a state of emergency last October in a drive to stamp out the Mau Mau. Troop reinforcements now are being flown in from Britain to aid in the campaign.

The Chinga attack came as security forces were still tracking down the earlier killers.

During the night assistant superintendent Ian Henderson of the special branch police was ambushed and shot at in the forest area as he was driving back from the scene of the massacre. A bullet, believed to be of heavy calibre, shattered the windshield and penetrated the door of his car. Henderson stopped and sprayed the forest on either side of the road with tommy-gun fire.

Quebec Flood Claims Life Of Farmer, 40

ST. JEROME, QUE. (CP)—Flood waters of the ice-choked North river claimed their first victim Friday when a 40-year-old man was swept away and drowned after his horse-drawn wagon capsized.

Ernest Gratton was with his son driving along the flooded highway near St. Cat when the wagon capsized throwing them into the nine-foot deep torrent. His son was unable to rescue him.

In the Lachute-St. Jerome area more than 55 families were forced to evacuate their homes by rowboats. Scores of families were marooned on their farms as floodwaters swirled around their homes and barns.

Along the main Laurentian highway four-feet deep floods lapped around farmhouses while traffic was brought to a crawl. Near St. Janvier, five miles south of here, traffic was turned back by police.

At Lachute, 20 miles west of here, the J. C. Wilson paper mills and Lachute creamery were forced to close down after company officials reported it practically impossible for employees to enter the plants.

Lachute residents reported the floods dropped during the day and believed "the worst was over."

Officials said heavy rains and recent warm weather swelled the ice-packed, usually slow-flowing North river. Streams feeding the river were filled to capacity by melting snows higher in the Laurentians.

Lachute main street was reported under six inches of water Friday night and traffic moved slowly through the little Laurentian centre.

Three Ontarians Win $140,000 On 'Early Mist'

MONTREAL (CP)—Three Ontario residents held Irish hospital sweepstakes tickets on Early Mist, winner today of the Grand National steeplechase.

In the draw they were identified only by noms de plume—"4.30" of Toronto, "Palomino" of Welland, and "Guards Sweetie" of Hamilton.

Each of the three will win £50,000 —close to $140,000.

MOTHER OF FOUR

Guards Sweetie was later identified as Mrs. Wesley Gardner, wife of a Hamilton steel-worker and mother of four young children.

The Gardners' who live in three rooms, plan to get another home with their winnings. Gardner is employed by the Steel Company of Canada. He has been on short time because of a slack season and has been working four days a week. He was out of work earlier this Four Canadians who held tickets on Mont Tremblant, second in the race, will collect approximately $56,000 each. Their noms de plume are "Buddy," Montreal East; "Danny's Mom," Toronto; "Anything," Toronto, and "Smyley," Elora, Ont.

Three others held tickets, worth about $28,000 each, on the third-place horse, Irish Lizard. The three are "Casa de Blanka," Moncton, N.B.; "Mr. J. R. Auclair," Montreal; and "P.A.," Toronto.

Ticket-holders on each starter in the race get about $1,200 each.

Didn't Want To Win, Woman Gets $140,000

TORONTO (CP) When Lena Ling, 40-year-old switchboard operator, discovered she had drawn a horse in the Irish sweepstakes on the Grand National steeplechase, she said she hoped the horse wouldn't win.

She didn't want a horde of salesmen pounding on her door, she told friends.

But the horse, Early Mist, finished first and Miss Ling won $140,000.

The darkhaired Miss Ling lives in suburban Forest Hill village and works for a Toronto machinery firm. The ticket was the first she ever bought on a sweepstake, she said.

Pass Farm Estimates

TORONTO (CP)—The legislature Friday passed the government's 1953-54 agricultural estimates of $8,854,000 in five minutes. Some members had already left the House.

Charges Lobby Bars Oleo Color

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Gordon Kerr, president of the Ontario Council of Women, said Friday night the provincial government was "bowing to a strong lobby" in not allowing the coloring of margarine.

Mrs. Kerr made her comments during a meeting of the Windsor and Sandwich Progressive Conservative Riding Association which was addressed by Public Works Minister Griesinger, member for the constituency.

Mrs. Kerr asked permission to speak after Mr. Griesinger said he had supported the government in its stand on colored margarine.

"The Ontario government is very fussy about what type of monopoly it deals with," she said.

"Dairy and agricultural interests make strong and frequent representations to the government and are heard and supported. Other interests, daring to make such representations, are called lobbyists."

Seriously Hurt By Rifle Shot

Wilbert Coulter, 28-year-old construction worker from Cavendish township, is lying critically injured in Civic Hospital after shooting himself in the chest Friday night with a .22 calibre rifle.

He is being operated on today and his condition is reported to be satisfactory.

Coulter told provincial police that about 10 p.m. Friday he went outside to shoot a skunk that was near his home, 18 miles northeast of Bobcaygeon on the Lake Catchacoma Road. He was unable to find it and came inside and accidentally shot himself before he put the gun away.

Coulter said that he put the .22 between his legs to roll a cigarette and the gun went off, striking him in the chest. The bullet narrowly missed his heart.

Robert Richmond, who owns the house where Coulter and his mother board, heard the shot and came downstairs and found Coulter wounded but still unconscious. He drove to Bobcaygeon over the near-impassable road and brought Dr. W. D. Thomas.

Coulter was taken to Civic Hospital by ambulance.

The wounded man is being attended by Dr. J. E. Howes.

Burma Refuses More U.S. Aid

RANGOON, Burma (Reuters)—Burma told the United States abruptly and without explanation today that it wants no more American financial aid when the present aid agreement expires in June.

Observers interpreted the move as an effort to assume an independent position in the cold war—especially since Communist China is Burma's next-door neighbor.

It came only three days after Burma accused Nationalist China before the United Nations of aggression through the presence of 12,000 Nationalist troops on Burmese territory close to the Chinese border. The Burmese government might launch an offensive across the border against these troops.

Hold Immigrant In Phony Fund

TORONTO (CP)—Police Friday arrested an immigrant they said has been collecting funds for a Polish organization and pocketing the money.

The man, who police said called himself "Dr. Paderewski" was trapped in an office and held for detectives. He was charged with obtaining money under false pretences and having a forged document.

The man allegedly used a forged letter authorizing him to make collections for the Canadian Polish Congress Inc. His collections may have begun last August and ranged as far as Quebec City.

Quebec OPPs Seize ½-Ton Of Margarine

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Quebec provincial police Friday seized 1,000 pounds of margarine and arrested two men in raids in this eastern townships district.

Five hundred pounds of margarine were found in an automobile on a highway between Sherbrooke and nearby Bromptonville. The remainder was seized at a Bromptonville creamery. The vehicle also was confiscated.

Transportation and sale of margarine are banned in Quebec province. Names of the men taken into custody were withheld.

Russ Give General Pardon To Short Term Prisoners

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY

MOSCOW (AP)—Prime Minister Georgi M. Malenkov's government announced a sweeping amnesty program today to free Soviet prisoners serving five-year terms or less—providing their crimes represented "no great danger to the state."

The amnesty decree, issued by the praesidium of the Supreme Soviet, said the pardons had been made possible by a decrease in crime and by the consolidation of the Soviet state system. The decree was published prominently in Russian newspapers and broadcast by Moscow radio.

The full amnesty program extends to most persons serving five years or less in prisons, corrective labor camps and other places of detention. Those serving more than five years will have their sentences halved.

The pardons specifically do not apply, however, to anyone serving more than five years for counter-revolutionary crimes, large-scale theft or embezzlement of public property, gangsterism or premeditated murder.

Some prisoners will be freed regardless of the length of their sentences. They include women with children 10 years old or less, pregnant women, minors of 18 or less, men of 55 or more, women over 50 and persons suffering from incurable illnesses.

Prosecution will be halted, meanwhile, in all cases falling into these categories and in cases in which the major sentence would be five years or less.

Cambridge Out-Rows Oxford In Classic

By ROBERT MARX

LONDON (Reuters)—Cambridge University today overcame a "Coronation jinx" and streaked away from Oxford to win the boat race, Britain's annual rowing classic, by eight lengths.

The official winning time for the 4½-mile Thames course was 19 minutes, 54 seconds. The record of 17:50 was set by Cambridge in 1948.

Before the start the 99th renewal of the famed race was considered a toss-up. But as the starting flag went down the Cambridge eight moved into the lead and never lost it.

Oxford had won the event in each of the past two Coronation years—the 1911 crowning of King George V and the 1937 Coronation of George VI. But they were not able to make it three in a row for Queen Elizabeth II.

The official time was about par for a windy, rainy day.

The Cambridge shell started off quickly and gradually edged into an open-water lead.

Oxford, remembering its ignominous sinking in a rough tidal stretch two years ago, brought out a "secret weapon" today—long strips of canvas to keep water from spilling into the shell. They didn't sink, but they didn't come close to winning, either.

Cambridge put the race away in the long straight stretch past Duke's Meadows. Oxford never really had a chance of getting back into the race, and the crew, straining as their oars kicked up spray in the choppy waves, seemed to know it.

The winners finished fresh and smiling. The Oxford rowers collapsed over their oars.

Cambridge now has won 54 times—including 27 in the last 31 years—to Oxford's 44. There was a dead heat in 1877.

In memory of the late Queen Mary, Britain's Royal grandmother, both coxswains wore black armbands and their pennants were draped in black.

Some 250,000 fans, yelling and waving the light and dark blue colors of the two universities, lined the banks all along the course. Millions of others followed the race and running commentary by radio and TV.

Reserve Army Plays Important Part In Community Life

The Reserve Army has its part to play in community life and is just as important as other organizations, such as service clubs and fraternal groups, Brigadier Michael S. Dunn, commander of the Eastern Ontario Area, said Friday night at the annual Sergeant's Mess dinner.

"It is a training in citizenship," said Brigadier Dunn who is best known locally as an overseas commander of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders.

A hundred members of the sergeant's mess—uniformed WOs and NCOs of the 50th HAA Regt. (RCA) and the 28th Technical Squadron (RCEME), as well as honorary members—heard the brigadier's address. The dinner and social evening that followed was in the Armouries.

Brigadier Dunn touched briefly on various aspects of his theme "The Reserve Force in Peacetime."

He said that too many citizens don't appreciate the work done in the Reserve Force yet it plays a necessary part in the life of the community—and in a larger sense—in the life of the country. He ranked it as just as important to Peterborough as service clubs and fraternal organizations.

Members of the force are preparing themselves for the defence of their country, he said. And they are teaching Peterborough youth the value of discipline and the skills of anti-aircraft training and technical affairs.

"The Reserve Force is doing something for the community and making its members better citizens," said Brigadier Dunn. "In fact it is a training in citizenship."

Brigadier Dunn said the training in the Reserve Force teaches a man patriotism and loyalty; it also teaches him responsibility to his men, his superior officers, his civilian job, community and country. Other characteristics that are strengthened by service in the Reserve Force, he said, are leadership, industry, loyalty, patriotism, discipline, tactfulness, initiative and judgment.

"If you add up all these characteristics you get citizenship," said Brigadier Dunn. "The reserve unit is a community organization looking after the good and welfare of this community, Peterborough."

WO2 Victor Thraves, president of the mess, introduced Brigadier Dunn and he was thanked by Staff Sgt. Roy Gilders.

The toast to the Queen was proposed by Sgt. Roland Bonneville and the toast to the 50th HAA was by Sgt. J. M. Watson.

Urge CBC Limit Foreign Controls In TV Stations

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC board of governors, hearing applications for privately-owned television stations in different parts of Canada was urged Friday to limit foreign control in such stations.

Corey Thomson, well-known Montreal radio and television personality, urged that foreign companies or individuals be prevented from owning more than 25 or 30 per cent of the stock.

He made the request after it was disclosed that Famous Players Canadian Corporation would own 50 per cent of the stock in stations sought for Kitchener and Quebec City. It was disclosed in evidence that the corporation is 65-per-cent American-owned.

The 11-member board made no immediate comment on the proposal.

EIGHT TV BIDS

Before the board were applications for TV stations in Kitchener, Quebec, Hamilton, London, Sudbury, Windsor, Saint John, N.B., and Sydney, N.S.

The board deferred decision on each application. Its recommendations may be announced next week.

The Kitchener application was filed by Central Ontario Television Limited. Famous Players would hold 50 per cent of the stock. The remainder would be split between Carl A. Pollock, Kitchener industrialist, and Gilbert Liddle, one of the owners of radio station CKCR in Kitchener.

Joseph Sedgwick of Toronto, counsel for station CFRB, criticized the arrangement. He said the transport department and the CBC should set their faces against alien ownership of TV companies broadcasting in Canada. Famous Players would be in effective control of the Kitchener station and Famous Players was largely owned by Americans.

COULD SWITCH CONTROL

N. S. Robertson, counsel for Famous Players, replied that station CFRB is owned by Standard Radio, a company whose whole control could be switched to the United States. Station CFRB was one of the two stations in Canada with American network affiliations.

Mr. Sedgwick replied there are few American shares in Standard Radio. Control of the company could not be changed without consent of the CBC.

There were objections to the Kitchener application on other grounds. Stations CFRB and CKEY in Toronto objected because the applicants sought use of Channel six, a channel given to Toronto under international allocation.

H. A. Saunders and Allan Holmes of Galt, asked that action on the application be deferred until they have had an opportunity to apply for a TV station in Galt.

Mrs. F. M. Buchanan of station CKPC, Brantford, also asked for a deferment to permit her station to make an application. She made a similar request during hearing of an application from Hamilton.

London Free Press Printing Company Limited applied for the London station.

The Weather

Peterborough Temperatures:

Today:
Night low....36 Noon.....40
Noon barometer.....28.9

Yesterday:
Highest.....44 Lowest...37

One Year Ago:
Highest.....48 Lowest...23

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Synopsis:

Rain is falling again today over a large part of Ontario and due to slightly colder tempeartures over western sections, the precipitation is occasionally in the form of snow. The storm centre responsible for this inclement weather was located near North Bay on this morning's weather map and was moving slowly northward.

As the storm centre edges northward gradual improvement is indicated in the weather for Southern Ontario. Sunday should bring some sunshine to the southern half of the province while a mixture of showers and snowflurries is indicated for Northern Ontario.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Sunday:

Southern Lake Huron, Lake Ontario, Niagara regions; London, Toronto, Hamilton cities: Cloudy with a few widely scattered showers today, clear tonight. Cloudy with a few sunny intervals Sunday, clearing in the evening. Not much change in temperature. Winds west 15. Low tonight and high Sunday at London 30 and 45, St. Catharines, Trenton and Toronto, 35 and 45, Hamilton 32 and 45.

No Home Squadrons Ready, But First On Way: Claxton

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton said Friday that Canada still hasn't got any squadrons of the CF-100 jet fighters specially designed for home defence but that the first squadron now is in process of formation. It was impossible to form a home defence squadron earlier, he said, because there were no planes available of the type Canada needs for her defence—long-range all-weather planes—either in Canada or elsewhere.

(Various delays have put CF-100 production months behind schedule. In the meantime, the RCAF has formed 12 squadrons of short-range, daylight F-86E Sabre jets for service in Europe.)

As the Commons echoed briefly to a retired wing commander's charge that Canada is defenceless in the air and that Mr. Claxton has misled the country into thinking otherwise, the minister predicted that within a year Canada will look on the decision to build CF-100s as "a major contribution" to continental defence. He said he has made the present air-defence situation plain "time and time again."

READY BY SPRING

Mr. Claxton forecast that the 12-squadron commitment for Europe will be met on schedule—by the spring of 1954—and "it should be possible for us similarly to complete the planned buildup of the defence of Canada." Meantime, there were Sabre squadrons on duty in Canada preparing to go abroad plus "a large number" of air crew and aircraft at operational training units and a number of auxiliary or reserve squadrons with older Mustang and Vampire planes.

His statement was a reply to a question by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, (PC—Nanaimo) and indirectly to Wing Cmdr. Richard Rohmer, DFC, 29, of Toronto, who recently retired as commander of a reserve fighter squadron.

In a speech at Toronto Wing Cmdr. Rohmer charged that Canada is defenceless in the air, that statements by Mr. Claxton and others have misled the public and that except for the Sabre squadrons earmarked for Europe Canada could not put up a single fighter if she were attacked tomorrow.

CF-100 DELAYED

The Rohmer blast came at a time when the RCAF is training at North Bay the pilots who will go into the first CF-100 squadron specifically for home defence. It is no secret that the RCAF had hoped to form it months ago but was held up by prpduction delays. The CF-100 is designed to suit Canada's needs and to be able to fight at any time in any weather. The Sabre is a short-range daytime fighter.

Mr. Claxton said Canada is sending her Sabre squadrons to Europe because it is generally agreed that the best place to defend Canada is as far away as possible. Six were there and three were on their way. Others were on duty in Canada.

Four-Way Fight For Alta. Gas In Washington

By JOHN KAMPS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Should the Pacific northwest get natural gas from Canada or from the United States?

That's one angle of a many-sided legal fight being waged at a power commission hearing on applications to pipe gas to the Washington-Oregon-Idaho area.

Lawyers' tactics so far show three applicants are lining up solidly against one. The three would handle Canadian gas. They are Westcoast Transmission Co., Trans - northwest Gas Co., and Northwest Natural Gas Co

Their opponent is Pacific Northwest Pipeline Co., which proposes to build a pipeline from the San Juan basin field in Colorado and New Mexico to Utah, Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon and Washington.

Westcoast seeks a U.S. licence to pipe gas from the Peace River field in Northern British Columbia and Alberta to Washington and Oregon, via Vancouver. It's the only applicant which has a Canadian licence to export gas.

Trans - Northwest has no fight with Westcoast. Trans-Northwest would buy its gas from Westcoast and pipe it through eastern Washington and Idaho.

FIGHTS THREE

Northwest Natural, however, is competing with Westcoast and Trans-Northwest as well as with Pacific Northwest. That's because it wants to pipe gas from the Pincher Creek field in southwestern Alberta to Washington, Oregon and British Columbia.

Lawyers for firms proposing to handle Canadian gas apparently intend to base part of their fight against Pacific Northwest on the contention that San Juan basin reserves aren't adequate and the gas should go to relieve shortages in California and elsewhere.

Pacific Northwest, on the other hand, is expected to concentrate on the one-year limitation of the Canadian export licence. Pacific Northwest lawyers say consumers along the proposed Westcoast pipeline would have only a one-year guarantee of service because the licence would be up for renewal annually.

Pacific Northwest got some recent support from Senator Lester Hunt (Dem. Wyo.) who introduced legislation aimed at prohibiting importation of natural gas from Canada on grounds it would be detrimental to Wyoming's coal industry.

WESTCOAST'S REPLY

Westcoast lawyers have this reply to the Pacific Northwest argument over the licence limitation:

The Canadian government determined, through investigation by experts, that the Peace River area has plenty of gas to take care of the pipeline requirements and at the same time supply Canadian points along the route, so the licence would be renewed annually without question: gas in both the Peace River and Pincher Creek fields has no market at present.

Northwest plans to renew its application for a licence to export gas from Alberta April 1. The Alberta conservation board rejected Northwest's application last year, but has announced it will consider the case again.

Glacier Gas Co. is listed as an application to build a pipeline from Canada to Montana, Idaho and Washington. But it's an applicant in name only. It has presented no testimony since it tried unsuccessfully to have itself taken out of the proceeding.

BLEW DOWN FURNACE PIPES

Weary Marines Capture Slope For Second Time

SEOUL (AP)—Weary United States marines captured outpost Vegas again today in a bitter hour of fighting up its gentle, deadly slopes.

Routing Chinese from trenches, they slammed back a Red counter-attack at the crest and won back the low western-front hill for the second time in two days.

Vegas fell Thursday night under a Red spring attack that broke Monday night when 3,500 Chinese swarmed around Old Baldy, 26 miles northeast.

The Reds still hold Baldy, a red-dirty target for Allied artillery and bombs.

As ground fighting roared on, Communist MiG jets flew south and clashed with U. S. Sabre jets in a handful of dog fights, but no destruction claims were made.

HOUR FOR 400 YARDS

It took the hard-pressed marines a bitter hour to make the final 400 yards up the shell-torn slope—blanketed by Communist mortar fire. An officer at the front said a Chinese counter-attack hit the marines immediately after they reached the top, but it was cut down.

A division staff officer said the Chinese obviously meant to keep the hills they paid so dearly for.

It took five costly charges by the marines to take Vegas. During the morning, the Reds turned back four marine assaults. At noon the marines began their slow advance up the last 400 yards, made the top and held on despite Red counter-attacks.

The 5th air force reported Allied fighter - bombers dumped 200,000 pounds in front-line strikes along the entire western front.

At one point the marines pulled back 700 yards to let the fighter-bombers have a clear shot at the Chinese.

Build 7 New Homes Says Sweep Winner

WELLAND (CP)—Mrs. Alda Micheline, 65-year-old mother of six children, excitedly declared today that she will build seven new houses with the $140,000 she won with her Irish sweepstakes ticket on Early Mist, winner of today's Grand National.

"One house will be for dad and me and the others for the children," she cried, tears of joy streaming down her face. Her nom de plume was "Palomino."

During most of the race, which she heard on the radio, Mrs. Micheline plucked chickens in the kitchen for Sunday's dinner. However, when Early Mist took the lead at the start of the second lap, she took a seat by the radio and let out a whoop of joy when her fortune was assured.

The first permanent English settlement in the United States was at Jamestown, Va., in 1607.

3 Teen-Agers Die Playing Chicken

THREE RIVERS, Mich. (CP)—Three teen-agers died and two were in critical condition Friday following a game of "chicken" in which two drivers crashed their speeding cars head-on rather than give in and swerve to one side.

Police said the tragedy climaxed a wild game of auto tag played on a dark road near here when one car sped towards the other. In the resulting war of nerves, neither driver turned "chicken" and the fatal crash resulted.

Dead are: Roland Rice, 17; Lyle Kahler, 18, and Noreen Schug, 15.

In hospital are: Rex McNally, 19, who officials say is near death, and Allan Anderson, 18.

Coroner Tom Geisler said the cars involved were owned by the fathers of Rice and Kahler. He said he couldn't determine who was in which car because all five were friends and the crash left both cars in a single heap of junk.

Obituary

MRS. MANLEY LAVENDER

MARMORA (ENS)—Following an illness of several weeks, Mrs. Manley Lavender died at her home here Thursday evening in her 49th year. She was born in Glanmire, Myrtle Emma Henderson, daughter of William Henderson and the late Mrs. Henderson and had lived in Marmora for the past 28 years.

Prior to her marriage she had been a school teacher. For a number of years since she had carried on a hairdressing business at her home.

An Anglican she was for some years a member of St. Paul's Anglican Guild. She was also a member of Marmora Women's Institute, Marmora Chapter Eastern Star and Marmora Home and School Association.

She is survived by her husband, two sons, Glen and Dean at home, one daughter Anne, who is teaching school at Port Perry; and her father, resident in the Millbridge district. Also surviving are one sister, Mrs. William Lavender (Hazel) Marmora, and two brothers, Fred and Charles, Millbridge.

The funeral on Sunday will be private with the Rev. T. H. Good of Madoc conducting service at her home at 2:30 p.m. Burial will be in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

HOLE IN CHESTERFIELD

A spark from some unknown source is credited with starting a fire late Friday afternoon behind a cushion on a chesterfield owned by C. N. Rabb, 471 Bonaccord Street. A hole was burned in the chesterfield, but the fire was out when firemen arrived.

Happy Grandma

STIRLING (ENS) — Mrs. Russell Stapley has three good reasons for being proud these days. She recently became a grandmother on three different occasions in five days. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jones of Stirling March 18, a son to Mr. and Mrs. John Svoboda of Penetang March 20 and a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morton of Stirling March 23. All three mothers are daughters of Mrs. Stapley.

Suspect Admits He's Wanted Man

VANCOUVER (CP)—A bank robbery suspect captured here after five years of freedom has admitted he's Harry Duguid, Canada's eighth most-wanted man, RCMP said Friday.

He earlier emphatically denied that he was the suspect who escaped from Welland county jail in Ontario in 1947 while awaiting trial on a bank robbery charge.

The 37-year-old man told police that as "Harry Taylor" he had lived quietly in suburban Burnaby for three years with his wife and children.

Captured Sunday near a theatre, he pleaded guilty to a breaking-and-entering charge and will be sentenced Monday.

Three warrants for Duguid are held by Ontario police.

Toronto police want him for a $14,500 bank robbery in 1942 and provincial police have a warrant for a $19,400 holdup of a Stamford bank in 1947. The third is for escaping custody.

Val d'Or Crash Kills Three, Injures One

VAL D'OR, Que. (CP)—Three men were killed and another severely injured Friday night when a taxi and a private car collided on a highway between this northwestern Quebec centre and Amos, Que.

Dead are Willie Bergeron, 52, of Taschereau; his brother, Albert, 56, and taxi-driver Jean-Baptiste Vaillancourt, 47, of Bearn.

Maurice Legault, 20, of Amos, a passenger in Vaillancourt's cab, was brought to hospital here.

a middle-aged man often sat with girls in cafes in the Shepherd's Bush district half a mile from the murder house and produced nude photos of young women.

"They are artistic studies," he told them.

One of the first to accept his invitation to pose is believed to have been an Irish blonde, Rita Nelson, 24. Rita introduced the man to 19-year-old Kathleen Maloney, a Devon-born orphan with a prison record. Then, the man met 25-year-old Ina Maclennan, a Scottish girl who liked gay living.

None of the three girls was seen again until their bodies were found in a walled-over closet underneath the kitchen sink of Christie's apartment.

Christie was last reported seen four days ago at a photographic shop. He was quoted as telling a clerk, "You'd better get a lot of stock in. I shall be doing a lot of photography from now."

Six Inches Of Water Cover Highway Section

LINDSAY (ENS)—Cars driving along a section of Highway 35, five miles south of Lindsay, are having to splash through deep water which is covering the highway. Provincial police report that the water on Friday was six inches deep but it did not prevent drivers from getting through.

This section of the highway, by the long swamp, floods regularly during the spring rains. The land on either side of the paved surface is marshy and does not drain the water off properly.

About 10 inches of water was on the road a week ago.

Local drivers and truckers say the main driving problem is not the flooded highway but the side-roads, many of which are now impassable.

Battle For Chimney

STRASBOURG, France (CP) — Two storks fought for possession of a nest on a chimney-top Friday and fell on to some high tension wires, still locked in combat. Shocked into breaking off the engagement, they flew away, having caused a short circuit over a wide area of Strasbourg.

Fear 25 Dead

The wreckage lay in muddy, uneven country four miles or so east of Conneaut amid woods and brush. Stretcher bearers labored a quarter of a mile through the brush to a narrow dirt road on which ambulances slipped and skidded in single file.

Patrolman John Fitzpatrick of the Ohio highway patrol said he saw 15 dead on the ground and five bodies still trapped.

In New York, a New York Central spokesman said his latest report showed 15 dead and possibly 10 more bodies yet to be recovered.

Tony Talarico, who ran from his nearby filling station to the wreck, said he counted 25 dead.

14 BODIES IN ROW

An associated press reporter said there were 14 bodies in a row by a railroad track, three other bodies to be cut free of the wreckage and added a patrolman told him four or five others had been removed earlier.

Patrolman Fitzpatrick said 40 injured persons were taken to Erie, Pa., hospitals, 20 to Ashtabula, O., General Hospital and 14 to Conneaut General Hospital.

A. C. Will, chief dispatcher of the NYC's Erie division, said a trainmaster told him about 100 injured were aboard a rescue train heading toward Erie.

WEIRD SEQUENCE

The triple crash involved this weird sequence of events:

An eastbound NYC freight train lost a piece of pipe, which fell into the path of a westbound freight. The westbound freight was derailed. Several cars piled atop an adjoining track.

Then the Buffalo-to-Chicago express, No. 5, struck the wreckage of the freight. All but one of the train's 11 cars were derailed.

No. 12, the Southwest Limited, then plowed into the wreckage of No. 5. All but three of the Limited's 10 cars derailed.

"It was the damndest mess of wreckage I ever saw," said truck driver O. D. Watson.

UE Resumes Negotiations Fine Named Conciliator

Negotiations between the UE Joint Negotiating Committee and the CGE will be resumed Tuesday with the assistance of Louis Fine, Ontario's chief conciliatory officer. Talks will be held at Queen's Park.

The two-year master contract between UE and CGE ended Friday.

Union proposals — on behalf of the UE locals in Toronto and Peterborough—were made in January and negotiations have been going on in February and March. When the parties became deadlocked UE applied for conciliation services.

Chief union proposals are a general wage increase of 20 cents an hour, reduction of the work week from 44 hours (in Peterborough) to 40 hours with no loss of take-home pay; a health and welfare plan paid for by the company that will give $40 a week sick pay and pay doctors' and hospital bills; a pension plan providing a monthly pension of at least $125 for retired workers; and better job security and working conditions.

PERENNIAL ARRANGEMENT

George Wallace, president of Local 524, UE, made this comment about the securing of Mr. Fine for conciliation: "This is a perennial arrangement in bringing about a settlement in negotiations."

Mr. Wallace said the application made Thursday by the IUE for certification at the Peterborough plant is an attempt to "interfere with negotiations presently under way between the company and its employees...."

In a statement today Mr. Wallace said:

"The charge of ineffectiveness and weakness made against UE by IUE is clearly ridiculous.... The record of gains in wages, working conditions and paid vacations for the Peterborough workers is the clearest repudiation of this statement....CGE workers who in 1941 were receiving an average wage of $21.65 a week are now getting between $3,000 and $4,000 a year.

"On the issue of Communism on which IUE attempts to justify raiding, CGE workers have in each campaign of attack on their union clearly demonstrated their contempt and disbelief of this charge. This unsupported charge has been made in four campaigns and is again strongly repudiated by CGE workers."

BC Premier May Announce June Election

VICTORIA (CP)—Friday's prorogation of the British Columbia legislature may be followed today with announcement of a June provincial election.

Premier Bennett, whose minority Social Credit government was toppled earlier in the week on the floor of the House, called a press conference for 10 a. m. PST (1 p.m. EST) after meetings with Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace.

The premier gave no hint of what statement he plans to make but, if a June election is in the political cards, prorogation clears the way for announcement of dissolution of the House and an election date—possibly June 8.

Suggested as an alternative to an election, but a move political observers now feel is highly unlikely, is for the lieutenant-governor to ask CCF leader Harold Winch to form a government. The CCF holds 18 seats, one less than Social Credit.

GRITS HOLD SIX

The Liberals, whose administration was defeated in the June 12 election last year which marked Social Credit's rise in the province, have held the balance of power with the six seats they salvaged.

The Progressive Conservatives hold two seats and Labor one. Two are vacant through deaths.

Social Credit took office Aug. 1 and met defeat Tuesday night. The combined opposition and one rebel Social Credit member defeated the government 28-17 on second reading of a bill designed to set up a new system of financing education costs.

Time and again during the session the government dared the opposition to defeat it and force a general election. The Liberals on three occasions sided with the government to prevent what otherwise would have been defeat. This support continued until Tuesday night and the education bill.

Liberal leader E. T. Kenney said the Liberals had done their best to help Social Credit carry on good government because, he said, the people didn't want an election at this time.

Jailed For Plot

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A former Argentine congressman and four other persons Friday were sentenced to five-year prison terms on charges of plotting to assassinate President Juan D. Peron. Ex-congressman Cipriano Reyes, founder of the Argentine Labor party and an early Peron supporter, and four other defendants, were arrested in 1948, accused of plotting to kill the president and his wife.

Too Much Crime

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—A disgruntled magistrate says he's considering asking for a transfer to some other town—there are too many criminals here to suit him. "Since I arrived three years ago my house has been burglared three times," he complained Friday.

PETERBOROUGH FIGURE SKATERS presented their "Ice Fantasies of 1953" for the first time Friday night at the Civic Arena. Under the direction of club professional Ede Kiraly, former European, Olympic and World champion, the skaters went through their acts to please the capacity audience. The club featured many of its best skaters such as Gaynor Galoska (top left) as Miss Coronation, but also featured Miss Mildred Harris and Neville Murray, well-known out-of-town performers. The show featured the children, dressed in gay costumes. Rosamund Davies (centre, top right) is an Indian between two butterflies, Susan Jopling and Elaine Purdon. Dressed in dainty polka-dot dresses, Margo Huffman, Sharon Hutchinson and Amelia Baggs, with Jane Bamforth, wait patiently for their number. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Fine Skating, Costumes Highlight Carnival On Ice

With its fourth annual carnival, "Ice Fantasies of 1953," the Peterborough Figure Skating Club has shown itself to have marvellous possibilities. Some excellent young skaters are being developed and their progress since last year could easily be detected in the smoothness of the performance at Civic Arena Friday evening.

The club is only six years old and has only a small amount of ice time, yet the local skaters alone gave a fully satisfying performance for the capacity audience in the rink.

Their director and club professional, Mr. Ede Kiraly, also gave a performance that alone would have been worth the admission price. His breath-taking fast and perfectly timed figures in solo drew a tremendous ovation, to which, happily, he responded.

Mr. Kiraly is a young man, not yet 30, a graduate engineer from the University of Budapest, Hungary, who from 1944 to 1950, when he came to Canada, continued to gather an outstanding record including Hungarian, Vienna, European, Olympic and World's champion honors. He was responsible for the solo and group numbers of the Peterborough skaters, and he also selected a large portion of the carnival music.

LOCAL STARS

Second half of this two-hour show brought to attention the star-like performances of Miss Joan Begley, Miss Arlene Ferguson and Miss Nancy Zolyomy. These young ladies each personified to a high degree for their experience the grace, the beauty of execution and the timing that makes up fine skating, and were a joy to watch. As a pair Miss Begley and Jack Martin had every appearance of professionals.

The ability of young sisters Gail and Sandra Wood was most particularly noted when they were featured as a pair in the Babes in the Woods part of the charming fantasy on ice, "Goldylocks and the Three Bears." These two seemed always to be on the ice and probably changed costumes oftener than any others.

Gaynor Galoska was the local star of the show as Miss Coronation and she did her solo number superbly. The Coronation Pair, Dorothy Kingston and Lorne Hale, also did very fine work on the ice. Costuming for these numbers was significant. Miss Galoska wore a jewel-studded tunic of royal purple velvet, Miss Kingston wore shimmering gold and royal blue and Mr. Hale was in the uniform of the Royal Navy.

Other solo performers from the club are Jackie Hopkins as Goldylocks, Marilyn Clark, Karen and Kay Thornton, Sandra Yudin, Rosemary Pilon, Diane Zakos, Carol Hollingsworth, Jean Ann Dobbin, and Francis Finn as an Indian chief. Carol Smitheram and Karen Wood skate briefly as a pair. More than 100 club members make up the various supporting groups and range in age from three years.

No show is complete without the funny man and Peterborough Club is this year presenting the peer of the ice skating world, Neville Murray. His antics provoked hearty laughter and wisecracks, to which he sometimes replied. His props are a battered opera hat to match his tattered attire, a bicycle that comes apart and goes together upside down, which he rides that way, and a unicycle.

From Toronto Figure Skating Club comes the guest artist, Miss Mildred Harris, who has won the Gold Medal, highest possible award in Canada for her accomplished figure skating.

Catchiest number in the show is act six, titled "Fantasie Parisienne," with ten dancing chorus girls in glittering green tights.

Third and last presentation of the carnival tonight is well worth an effort to see, if tickets are available. The announcer and story teller is Mr. Andy Rutter. Club president this year is Mr. Gordon L. Dobbin and the chairman of the carnival committee was first vice-president Mr. Wm. J. Garner. Mrs. Don Wood supervised the costume material selection and the making, with mothers and other interested women assisting with the sewing.

Obituary

MRS. ERNEST SHANNON

MARMORA (ENS) — About seven months after the death of her husband, Ernest Shannon, Mrs. Dora Elizabeth Shannon died in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, late Thursday night.

She was born in Brinston, Ont., daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Driscoll. After her marriage in 1914 she lived in Marmora for a time and then in Deloro where her husband was on the laboratory staff of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Co. Ltd. On his retirement about two and a half years ago they returned to Marmora to live on Forsyth St.

Mrs. Shannon was a devout member of Sacred Heart Church, belonging to the Catholic Women's League and the Altar Society for many years.

She is survived by one son John of Croydon, England, who recently arrived by plane; two daughters, Mrs. William Monk (Margaret), Toronto, and Mrs. Brock Cooper (Teresa), Bay Shore, N.Y.; three brothers, Alan Driscoll, Marmora; John, Toronto, and Edward, Ottawa; two sisters, Mrs. R. Harkness, Cornwall and Mrs. R. Weaghant, Harrow.

The funeral will be held Monday morning. Requiem mass in Sacred Heart Church will be followed by burial in the Sacred Heart Cemetery.

Fear Eruption

JAKARTA, Indonesia (Reuters)—Some 2,000,000 people near Merapi, one of the biggest Volcanoes in Java, are living in fear that it may erupt at any moment. It has been "spitting fire" since Tuesday and volcano experts have advised the government to take precautions, such as the provision of first aid stations.

Deep Sea Diver Undertakes Job On Prairie

CALGARY (CP)—Western Canada doesn't have any menacing marine life in its lakes and rivers, but that doesn't mean a deep-sea diver can't get into difficulty.

Derek Smith of Sudbury, Ont., who was trained as a diver while serving with the navy in the Second World War, said one of his toughest experiences was at the Ghost River dam, under construction 40 miles west of here.

Smith is construction superintendent on the job and found a diver was needed to discover why forms would not fit on the bottom of the tail race. After scanning unsatisfactory bids for the task, he decided to do his own diving.

LOST HELMET

He got off to a bad start after donning a diving suit weighing 110 pounds. He began to descend into the swirling pool in the tail race of the dam when he turned his head to look around—and his helmet fell off.

"If I hadn't been standing on the ladder at the time I'd have been done for," he said. He kept his wits and climbed back up the ladder to safety.

When he did reach the bottom he found a great maze of tools and wire that had been swept into the tail race by a flood in 1929. Smith said he would just as soon enter a wrecked ship on the ocean floor as get into that tangle.

He was "caught" once while diving at Marathon, a Northwestern Ontario pulp town on Lake Superior. He became snagged on an old cable that time and lost consciousness. He was down for four hours until he was untangled by another diver.

It's tiring work, he admitted. "One hour down there is like 12 on a pick and shovel. Even 20 feet of water can squeeze your chest so that you can hardly breathe."

Below Normal Precipitation May Cut West's Grain Crop

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Most of the Prairie grain belt had below-normal precipitation during the fall and winter months, in contrast to a year earlier when ample moisture supplies started what turned out to be a record grain-growing season.

Statistics prepared by the meteorological division of the federal transport department show most areas of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba had moisture deficiencies of between 10 and 15 per cent during the seven months ending Feb. 28. Only in southern Alberta and southeastern Saskatchewan was the moisture slightly in excess of normal.

The official survey did not extend beyond the end of February. It indicated generally light precipitation for the first two weeks of March. The weather bureau officials had not yet received statistics covering the wide snowfall a week ago, when more than 18 inches of snow fell at some points within the Prince Albert-Battleford-Saskatoon triangle, with lesser snowfalls in Alberta and Manitoba.

REGIONAL RECORDS

The greatest average deficiency in precipitation was 35 per cent in eastern Manitoba. Western Manitoba was 10-per-cent deficient up to the end of February. For all Manitoba, the average deficiency was 24 per cent.

Northern Saskatchewan had an average deficiency of 15 per cent and southwestern Saskatchewan 19 per cent, but southeastern Saskatchewan was seven per cent above normal. The average deficiency for all Saskatchewan was nine per cent.

Central Alberta showed a 26-per-cent deficiency from normal moisture supplies at the end of February. Northern Alberta was 15-per-cent deficient, but there was an increase of seven per cent above normal in southern Alberta. The all-Alberta deficiency was 13 per cent.

MONTHLY SUMMARY

In the seven-month period, August and January were the only months with generall normal or slightly above normal precipitation.

August precipitation was slightly heavier than normal across southern Alberta, southern Saskatchewan and into southwestern Manitoba. The heaviest rainfall was in southeastern Saskatchewan, which then reported an excess of 100 per cent. Precipitation in the central and northern regions of all three provinces was normal to slightly below normal.

In September, precipitation was below normal everywhere except in northern Saskatchewan, where it was about normal. The deficiencies ranged from five to 50 per cent.

October was dry in all regions, with deficiencies ranging up to 80 per cent in southwestern Saskatchewan. In November all regions again reported precipitation considerably below normal. December was the driest month of the season in all regions except southwestern Saskatchewan, where October was the driest. Only a small percentage of reporting stations in the whole agricultural area had more than a trace of precipitation during December.

CHANGE IN JANUARY

Precipitation finally increased in January with all regions showing excesses over the normal records. These excesses varied from 100 per cent in northern Alberta to five or 10 per cent in southern Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

In February, precipitation again was lighter, falling slightly below normal in Manitoba and in central and northern Alberta. Southern Alberta however had an excess of 150 per cent and there were excesses of five to 10 per cent in Saskatchewan.

Slides 10 Storeys

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 17-year-old girl, June Dolores Morales, slid 10 storeys from the roof of a department store on a heavy rubber-encased television cable Friday and suffered only minor friction burns. She landed on the roof of an adjacent one-storey building. Police said she was hysterical and screamed: "My sister told me to drop dead." She was taken to hospital for observation.

White Rose Dealers Hold Meeting At Empress Hotel

White Rose Dealers in the Peterborough area have been invited to attend a newly-developed, streamlined presentation covering automotive fuels and engine service. H. V. Plowman, District Manager, Canadian Oil Companies, Limited has announced. Presented by Ethyl Corp. as the "Product-Sales Clinic", the program will be conducted at the Empress Hotel, Peterborough on March 31st, 1953 at 8.00 p.m.

"The Clinic will assist White Rose Dealers in rendering complete and up-to-date service," Mr. Plowman said, "by providing them with the latest authoritative information on engines, fuels and lubricants."

To assure motorists maximum fuel economy, trouble-free performance and long engine life, the Clinic stresses the importance of correct lubrication and proper engine adjustment and service. Dealers will be shown the most frequent causes of mechanical troubles and how to prevent them. The Clinic will point out that the majority of driver complaints can be traced to faulty engine adjustment or operation under severe conditions with inadequate maintenance and service.

Aids used by Ethyl engineers in presenting the Clinic include giant-size, brilliantly-colored cutaway working models of vital engine parts, and specially-animated motion pictures. The "black lighting" technique used throughout makes the presentation particularly effective according to Mr. Plowman.

In announcing the Clinic, Mr. Plowman added, "An automobile is one of the biggest investments the average person makes. The more a service station dealer knows about its inside workings, the better he is able to protect the motorist's investment. That is why we're glad to sponsor this outstanding Ethyl presentation in Peterborough.

The West Wants Roads

For years the western provinces have maintained that the Federal Government should not only build the Trans-Canada highway through them, but also provide feeder highways from interior towns and the hinterland. People in Ontario, which has built its own highways and byways, see little reason why auxiliary roads should be built from Federal revenues. Let the provinces build their own, they say. If the population of the western provinces is not great enough to provide the money for secondary roads, then it is not great enough to warrant the roads being built.

* * *

There is another consideration. Roads are used for the transportation of goods as well as of people. Some roads are built primarily as industrial and mining highways. Even though the number of people in the area does not justify the expense of building them, profits and taxes from the industry or mine do. Such a road is the splendid northern Quebec highway to Chicoutimi and Arvida. Northern and northwestern Ontario has also highways through thinly-settled areas, built by the Department of Highways to serve industry.

* * *

There is a third consideration, the military necessity. Last Saturday the highways ministers of British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan met and agreed to press for an early conference with Ottawa to urge the Ottawa Government to build a network of main and secondary highways, to contribute to the building of roads which might become defence roads, and to provide money for all-weather defence highways. Their argument is that such roads are necessary for the safety and military defence of Canada.

* * *

We do not deny that roads—good, all-weather roads and well-linked—are militarily important. But we think that the western highways ministers are using this argument as a lever to secure Ottawa money to build roads through their hinterlands for another, provincial purpose: to open the country to industrial and mining developments. This is a very good purpose, but should the Federal Government be expected to build them?

* * *

The west and northwest are on the verge of still greater mineral and industrial exploitation than in the last ten years. Here is one example. Eight hundred miles north of Trail, B.C., as the crow flies, there is a place called Pine Point. It is in the Great Slave Lake area. Unusual drilling and shaft-sinking activity have been going on there. Vast deposits of lead-zinc ores have been proven over an area forty miles long and five miles wide. The ore is flat lying and at shallow depths, easy to get. In some places the ore body is a hundred feet thick. Before it can be mined, access by road or rail must be established. There is also natural gas west of Pine Point. Hydro power could be economically developed, too.

* * *

The question is whether mineral prices and the demand will continue to be sufficient to open operations at Pine Point, which would have to be on a scale comparable to the $200 million investment in the Quebec-Labrador undertaking. If roads or rails were laid to Pine Point, the development would be virtually assured.

* * *

We do not say that the B.C. Minister of Highways wants the Federal Government to build, or help build, a road to Pine Point. There are, however, dozens of lesser Pine Points all over B.C., Alberta and Saskatchewan, rich in oil, hard minerals, power or even just soils. If roads were built to and through them, western people would benefit greatly—and so would the provincial treasuries.

* * *

Our point is this. Should Ottawa be called on to build or help finance a costly network of roads in the west and northwest on the theory that they are necessary for defence (and therefore a Federal concern), but which, for practical purposes, would be for sole benefit of the provinces in their exploitation of resources? Quebec and Ontario build their own networks of roads. Companies engaged in special developments build theirs. Are the western provincial governments not demanding more than they have a right to expect from Ottawa? Or perhaps they are asking for financial help which their long previous experience of Ottawa subsidies makes them think they can get, whether it is their due or not.

The Top Brackets

Peering through the latest collected statistics on income tax, which are figures for the year 1950, we discover that the declared average income of consulting engineers and architects is the highest in Canada. They earned on the average, according to what they stated in their income tax returns, $10,955 each during the year. This is a reflection of the great amount of building and construction which has been taking place, as well as of the high value architects and consulting engineers set on their services.

The next highest professional group were medical doctors and surgeons, who declared on their tax forms an average income of $9,881. The third highest group were lawyers. On the average across Canada lawyers had a declared income that year of $9,841 each.

The incomes of these three groups are by far the highest in the country. The next group—dentists—is down to $6,202. We should point out that these are average figures. Many architects, engineers, doctors and lawyers make much more money, many make much less than the average figures given above.

At the bottom of the list of declared incomes of professional workers are nurses. Their average income was $1,660. The average income of employees of all kinds—in government, business and industry—was $2,962. The average income of taxpaying farmers, as declared on their tax forms, was $3,697.

The average income of newspaper editors is not reported separately among the statistics of professional occupations, perhaps because they are thought to be unprofessional people. We judge that it lies between Unclassified and Entertainers, who are respectively fifteenth and sixteenth on the list; thus between $3,317 and $3,129.

International Knitting

To crochet: to knit with a hooked needle.

To knit: to form texture or garment of interlocking yarn or thread by means of steel or wooden needles.

There are other definitions of knitting, having to do with knitting one's brows, knitting nations together (and unravelling them, too). But it is to the simple definition—plain knitting with needles and yarn that we happily refer. We do not want here to discourse on matters of international relations, even though we speak of international knitting.

This year in the United Kingdom, eighteen countries will be represented by a hundred exhibits in the world's first International Exhibition of Knitting and Crochet. Two of the exhibits will be woollen sweaters and other objects of knitted art done by Indians on the west coast of British Columbia. The notion pleases, in such troubling and jumpy times as ours—an international exhibition devoted to the quiet, homely and traditional skills of knitting.

We wonder, however, if any international stitches will be dropped, or any fraying take place even at this exhibition? No; we are not worried about Russian entries or claims; as far as we know, Russia is abstaining. But suppose our B.C. Indians use nylon yarn for their sweaters? What then, O sponsor? The sponsor is the International Wool Secretariat.

Starting By Comet

Small English cars, which have become numerous in Canada and the United States since the war, have brave ways of acting bigger than they look. One of them—a standard model of English manufacture—set out on St. Patrick's day accompanied by three men who are taking turns at the wheel, to drive from the Equator to the Arctic Circle. It would be a Quixotic trip, had it not begun on the seventeenth of March. We'll put it down to an Irish advertising stunt by the English firm. The three men are driving night and day from Uganda (Africa) to Jokkmokk in northern Sweden, with briefs stops for refuelling and ferry crossings between North Africa and the south of France, northern Germany and Denmark, and Denmark and Sweden.

What makes this Equator-to-the-Arctic trip in the little English car as bizarre as it sounds is this: the three drivers went from England to their starting point in Africa by a Comet jet plane.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Have you looked behind your wallpaper lately?

A psychologist says that children are startled by the idea of work. We retain a lot of this fresh, childish spirit.

The Vancouver Province observes that some people catch their opinions in the same way they catch their colds. From somebody else's open mouth?

An American fashion designer offers "an entire Coronation wardrobe." Thanks, we have our outfit for Coronation Day in a cupboard, all ready for use. It is an old shirt, old grey flannels and a pair of sneakers. Clad thus, and armed with a hoe, we shall ponder loyally and happily upon distant glories of which we approve, but fortunately need not share.

The Journal of Samuel Marchbanks

SUNDAY: Was reading a book this afternoon which was supposed to be about psychology, but as I ploughed through it I became increasingly aware that it was about business. No deception was intended; the author quite honestly thought that the principal aim of all mankind was to do business in the most convenient and efficient manner, and that psychology and the study of human relations was all directed toward this end. A man marries because it gives him a better place to eat and sleep, and thus makes him better at business. Sex is a problem to be solved, because when it is not solved it interferes with business. Religion is a good thing because it keeps people happy (which makes them good at their jobs) and makes them calm (so that they do not offend customers and fellow workers). Recreation is desirable, because it send a man back to business refreshed. It was, without meaning to be so, a deeply depressing book. If life is no more than that, then bring on the Atom Bomb, and all our business will be done forever.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONDAY: From a point of vantage this morning I watched a policeman putting tickets on a number of cars which were parked someplace where they should not have been, or which had overstayed their welcome, or which had offended against the policeman's code in some manner. And as I watched, an immoral thought assailed me. How simple it would be to pop across the street and collect all those tickets, and secrete them in my pocket-book! How easy, then, to go about the streets, seeking out the cars of my enemies, and put a ticket on each! What laughable confusion this would create in the City Clerk's department! What comic dismay in the police department! What Aristophanic scenes in the magistrate's court! It would work like a charm. Nobody ever reads a parking ticket; they couldn't, for policemen are worst writers than doctors. A man who gets a ticket either pays it without question, or shoves it in the glove-box of his car, hoping that the fairies will somehow spirit it away. Personally I never get a parking ticket because I carry a piece of chalk with me, and always mark my tires in several places with it, thus confusing the police, who are also great chalkers. A simple precaution, but one I recommend to every motorist.

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: St. Patrick's Day, and I attended a play which was being done to celebrate the occasion. I have been to many such plays and I am always puzzled by the disparity between Irishmen as they appear on the stage on St. Patricks Day, and Irishmen as they are when I meet them in daily life. The stage, or St. Patrick's Irishman, is full of comic turns of speech, hates to wear decent clothes, and is given to wild rhetoric and involved scheming: the offstage Irishman, in my experience, is often taciturn, dresses like everybody else, and is extremely hardheaded in business and everything else. I have observed, too, that Irishmen are normally fond of their mothers, but they do not feel moved to apostrophize these old parties in strongly sentimental terms, as do stage Irishmen. The same dichotomy (to us a fashionable word) is observable between Irish girls, offstage and on. The stage Irish girl is wildly flirtatious; the offstage Irish girl is, if anything, rather more reserved than girls in general, and in this resembles the French girl. How has this legend about Irish people grown up?

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: I do not like showerbaths. I am a Wallower, a Prone Cleanser. Still, I admit that showers save time. When I have climbed into the tub with a few books I have withdrawn from life for at least an hour, and in the morning I have not an hour to spare, so I take showers. But as soon as I have put myself under the spray, violent hydraulic activity breaks out everywhere in the Towers; laundry-tubs are filled, toilets are flushed, teeth are cleaned, drinks are drawn, hoses are set to work and everything that can possibly be done with water is done immediately. First my shower becomes freezing cold, and as I scream and dance it becomes boiling hot again; parboiled, I work the taps feverishly, and instead of improvement, all water ceases to flow; I put my head around the curtain and roar like a sergeant-major; other voices roar back at me, but the sound of the distant Niagara makes it impossible to hear what they are saying. At some point in this struggle with the elements I manage to step on the soap, and I am thinking of hanging a strap from the ceiling of the shower, as in a street-car, or possibly getting a lineman's safety-harness from the Bell Telephone Company. Showers will be the death of me.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: The faces of several politicians appeared prominently in the paper this morning, as they are important men in UN and probably saviours of society. A depressing, blank lot of mugs they had, too. In Victorian times a statesman might look like anything at all except an ordinary man; strange collars, fantastic heads of hair, whiskers of extravagant growth and cut, monstrous noses — all marked them as creatures of a vaster world than that of the ordinary citizen. But the characteristic UN face of today is a large, fleshy surface, like a watermelon, with peepy, withdrawn eyes and a mouth like a post-operative scar. It is to these that the fate of the world is confided. They look like men engaged in some difficult, shady branch of accountancy. Which, of course, is precisely what they are.

FRIDAY: Had a long talk with an insurance man today, and was fascinated by the skill with which he avoided talking about my death. This was a game we played between us. We never admitted for a moment that I was mortal, and would some day be one with Napoleon, Homer and Strangler Lewis. Instead we tried imagining what the world would be like if I, purely as a joke, withdrew from it and lolled for a time on a big pink cloud. When it was impossible to avoid the nasty matter completely, he would say: "Now just supposing for a moment that you are Out of The Picture, Mr. Marchbanks . . ." and then we would both smile, as though such a supposition was the most ridiculous thing in the world. But when he had gone I felt a gentle melancholy creep over me. Will I, as I am passing Out of The Picture — when, for instance, I am half hidden by the frame — derive vast spiritual comfort from the feeling that those who are remaining In The Picture are also on Easy Street? Ought I not to store up treasure in Heaven, where I may get at it when I and The Picture have finally parted company? Was so softened by these reflections that I patted a dog as I walked home, and was surprised at myself.

SATURDAY: A friend of mine who is of a quaintly reflective turn of mind hailed me today with these words: "Has it ever struck you that Dickens, who made such a hullabaloo about Christmas, has nothing whatever to say about Easter? Can you imagine what might have happened if he had given us Easter at Dingley Dell? Can't you imagine the Pickwickians walloping into the hot-cross buns, eating eggs by the dozen (probably with the shells on, out of pure high spirits) and knocking back gallons of Easter drinks? And what would an Easter drink be? Probably something flavoured with chocolate; cold cocoa and gin, for instance. Easter would be a different festival today, I can tell you, if Dickens had got his hooks on it!" And with these words he passed on, leaving me bewildered by the vision he had conjured up. Certainly it is true that there is an odd duality about our celebrations of Easter. The religious side of them, even the Resurrection, is treated in a pretty solemn fashion. And the other side — the secular business with rabbits and eggs — is paganism, with all the heartiness drained out of it. Yes, Easter needs its Dickens.

NOW WE SEE THROUGH A GLASS, DARKLY

Two Booms In One

(LONDON ECONOMIST)

MANY Canadians are shy about their boom. The word does not express what they think has been happening to them since the war. It suggests speculative excesses, a frenzy that is bound to come sooner or later to an abrupt and dismal end; and Canadians have slowly grown into the habit of assuming that in fact their economic expansion is so firmly based, so carefully related to an extraordinary wealth of natural resources, that it must go on and on. There will be fluctuations, perhaps, but not of a size to create any doubt about the trend.

Other countries at other times have enjoyed the same confidence—and been disappointed. Perhaps Canada will not. Yet the very existence of such confidence, however well based, shows that the boom psychology is real enough even though it does not produce wild speculation. It could not be absent from a country that is experiencing an almost unprecedented rate of material progress, from an economy that for five consecutive years has devoted to investment more than a fifth of its gross national product. Certainly the Canadian boom is oddly quiet, conducted with rare good sense; and conceivably it may prove to be a boom without a bust. But it is none the less a boom on that account. Indeed, it is more: the distinction of postwar Canada is that it is having two booms in one.

There are two kinds of economic growth: the opening-up of new primary sources of wealth, agricultural or mineral; and the development of secondary, manufacturing industry. Canada is a primary-producing country that has long been turning increasingly to industrialization. Usually, that marks the end, at least for a time, of any active, large-scale expansion in primary products. By the time a country's industries reach an advanced stage, its accessible primary resources are well known and in fairly full use. But in Canada since the war a rapid industrial expansion has coincided with the discovery of new and very rich primary resources of oil, power and, above all, of metals. The two kinds of economic growth are at work together. The pace they are working at would be remarkable in either alone; in the two combined, it is as exciting and impressive as any achievement of industrial civilization.

The means to conquer the wasteland came between the wars, with the aeroplane; the incentive came with the war and the postwar boom. For six years now the venture has been going forward not only rapidly but with increasing confidence. After a long pause, the economic frontier of North America is again being pushed outwards. For the first time for a quarter of a century, railways are being constructed into new territory; engineers who had done it before had to be brought out of retirement. It is becoming possible to say soberly that—while important differences must be emphasized—the North is beginning to be in some respects what the West was eighty years ago. Certainly in Canada, more than anywhere, it is difficult to doubt that capitalism has at least recovered from the stunning blow of the Great Depression.

That, however, would be true if there were no Canadian North. The frontier is being pushed out in search of iron and uranium, of water power and oil, of lead and zinc and nickel and copper. It is these ventures that may make Canada one of the very first industrial powers long before the end of the century. But they have little to do, except psychologically, with the boom as most Canadians experience it now. They are the symptom much more than the cause of Canada's postwar prosperity. More prosaic developments have to be thanked for the doubling since 1939 of Canada's gross national product, for the rise of 50 per cent in real income per head. It is only a small exaggeration to say that these things would have happened much the same if Canada ended 200 miles north of the American border. Agriculture and forestry have been prosperous and the relatively long-established industrialization of Eastern Canada has been greatly intensified. This is the first, and still by far the most important, of the two Canadian booms.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, Send thou men, that they may search the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Israel: of every tribe of their fathers shall ye send a man, every one a ruler among them . . .

So they went up, and searched the land from the wilderness of Zin unto Rehob, as men come to Hamath . . . And they went and came to Moses, and to Aaron, and to all the congregation of the children of Israel, unto the wilderness of Paran, to Kadesh; and brought back word unto them, and to all the congregation, and showed them the fruit of the land.

And they told him, and said, We came unto the land whither thou sentest us, and surely it floweth with milk and honey; and this is the fruit of it. Nevertheless the people be strong that dwell in the land, and the cities are walled, and very great: and moreover we saw the children of Anak there . . .

And Caleb stilled the people before Moses, and said, Let us go up at once, and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it. But the men that went up with him said, We be not able to go up against the people; for they are stronger than we. And they brought up an evil report of the land which they had searched unto the children of Israel, saying, The land, through which we have gone to search it, is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof; and all the people that we saw in it are men of a great stature. (Num. 13: 1, 2, 21, 26-28, 30-32.)

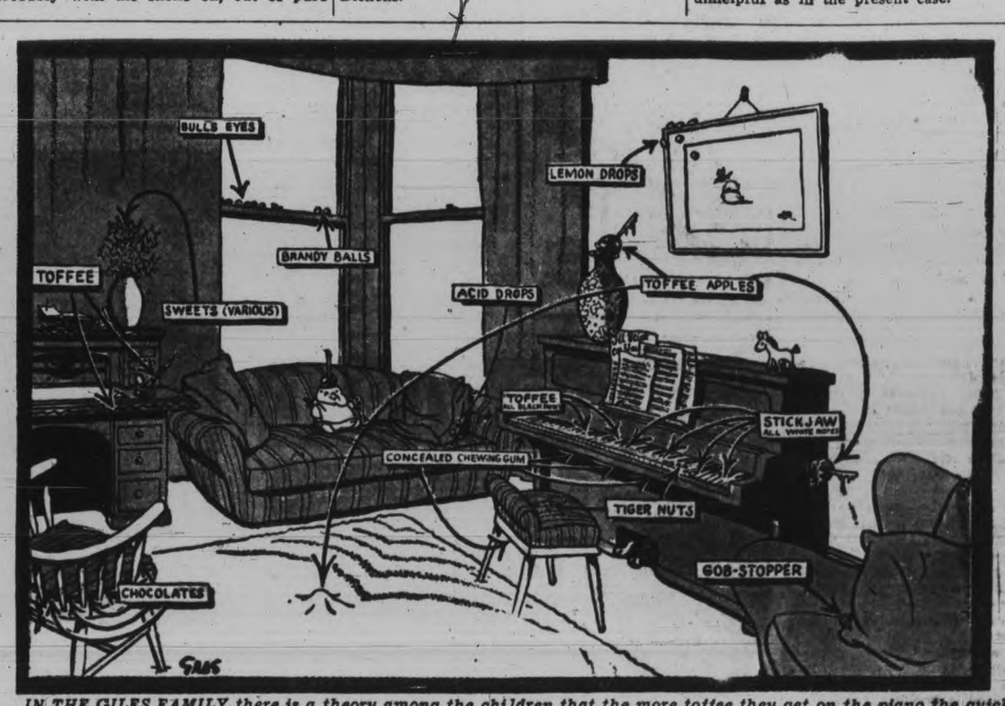
Radio Vatican Rebuked

(Brantford Expositor)

While there is no great merit in disguising facts and less in self-deception, there can be a time and a place for most things, including criticism of the policy of a foreign state.



In this respect Radio Vatican has been less than tactful or well-timed in making complaint over the visit of Prime Minister Tito to Great Britain, where he has been received by the Duke of Edinburgh and Prime Minister Churchill, no less.

Quite impertinently, Radio Vatican, in a broadcast on March 10, as reported by The Times of London, claimed that everybody in England, the Government included, agreed that Marshal Tito "must be placed among today's persecutors of religion and of the Church."

Much depends on definition and it is an astonishingly sweeping statement that includes Her Majesty's Government and all the people of England as sharing the identical view of President Tito held by the Vatican.

The placing of restraints and restrictions on secular organizations and their activities is not peculiar to Tito's administration in Yugoslavia. Indeed they have been applied with considerably greater vigor in other countries, non-Communist as well as Communist. Spain, for instance, could try, yet there are people there who can claim with cause to have suffered constraint and, indeed, persecution because of the religious or philosophical beliefs they hold.

If there is to be a deploring of such conduct on the part of oppressors, let it be universal, not so specific, so obvious and so unhelpful as in the present case.

IN THE GILES FAMILY there is a theory among the children that the more toffee they get on the piano the quicker they get their music lessons over—you press one note and they all go down together. I offer this simple sweets-are-now-off-the-ration guide to parents who, during the more or less sweet-free years, may have forgotten the trouble spots.

Peterborough Locks Safeguard Canada Since Company Founded '85

During the mid-Victorian age in Canada inmates of federal prisons were kept busy at the wry occupation, to them, of making locks. They must have turned them out in considerable volume because business men of that day saw a nice profit to be made if they could make and market locks commercially.

Consequently, seven Peterborough men founded a company called the Peterborough Lock. An original minute book in the company's vault shows that letters patent were issued in 1885 by Lieutenant Governor John Beverley Robinson to George A. Cox, James Stevenson, George Hilliard, M.P., John Burnham, M.P., A. C. Dunlop, James Carnegie and W. E. Sherwood, all of Peterborough, and Thomas Brooks of Cleveland.

With Mr. Stevenson as first president and Mr. Cox, first general manager, the new company acquired land on Simcoe St., to become the second oldest industry to establish in the city. The business grew from a modest beginning on small premises to its present stature, the largest lock and building hardware manufacturing company in Canada.

Their business is a highly-competitive one in Canada's fast-moving post war building boom, but the Peterborough Lock are keeping well abreast of it and constantly looking well to the future. Besides making door and cabinet locks of infinite variety and padlocks, in fact "anything that locks", they are one of two Canadian firms that make a complete line of marine hardware. They also manufacture a complete group of builders hardware and assemble and market a high-class kind of door closing mechanism.

In their iron and brass foundry Peterborough Lock casts its own metal and the rough products travel through polishing and buffing, plating, lock and assembly and special products departments. Precision of the tool room and pattern shop control literally thousands of operations.

Strangers who pass the familiar three-annex brick building on Simcoe St., have no idea of the magnitude of the business but a visit to the inside, which takes many hours, leaves one with a bewildered impression. Millions of parts in process in thousands of metal trays. Batteries of machines equipped with the latest of safety devices. And out of all this mechanical nightmare—to one who is not particularly mechanically minded—come the locks that protect much of the private and public property in Canada.

The Peterborough Lock Company is one of the wholly-owned subsidiaries of the Bowser Incorporated chain of 18 companies whose sales grossed 35 million dollars in 1952. The Belleville Lock Company is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Peterborough company.

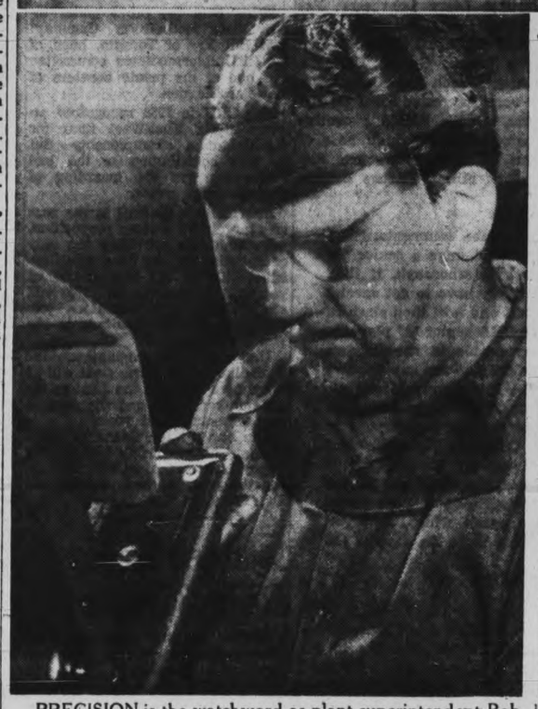
Under president Bob Maybee and his youthful executive 200 employees earn a half-million dollar payroll each year. They are the highest-paid hardware makers in the Dominion. That they find it a pleasant place to work the proof may be found in the number of old timers who are on the payroll. There are 55 employees with more than 15 years of service each and of these 35 are in the Quarter Century Club.

Mr. Maybee has three right-hand men: Jack Jobe, vice-president in charge of sales; Claude Bastable, secretary-treasurer; and Bob Waddell, plant superintendent. Al Heideman looks after purchasing and personnel and Ernie Farquhar, product engineering. Plant efficiency is ably headed by various department heads.

Besides keeping up with usual sales committments during the Second World War, the Peterborough Lock manufactured and supplied all marine hardware for Canada's fighting ships. In a talk with Messrs. Maybee and Jobe, in an effort to pin-point some outstanding building job in Canada that used their hardware, they named place after place. There are hotels, hospitals, schools, public buildings, banks and places too numerous to mention. They were both quick to point out that the Union Station in Toronto is equipped with Peterborough Lock products from top to bottom. When asked to give some rough estimate as to the numbers of Canadian homes equipped with their products they threw up their hands. I could see the reason for my futile question in leafing through one of their handsome sales catalogues.

From "anything that locks" there are letter box plates, door grills and knockers, "panic" hardware such as fire exit latches, hinges, lavatory, cupboard and kitchen hardware, sash fittings, transom hardware, shelf rests and hand rail brackets, hat and coat hooks, cupboard and door buttons, door closers and, of course, keys to fit everything that is lockable.

The trade of master locksmith has not, and never will, die out in the Peterborough Lock Company. In this department you will find the majority of old timers whose specialty is to assemble the most intricate locks of their manufacture. Joe Primeau, for instance, will tell you with pride that he has been a master locksmith for most of the 48 years he has been with the company. He and his kind have amassed a knowledge that machines will never master.



Their skill recalls an epitaph on a gravestone in Puritan New England which, cut boldly in stone, says:

'A zealous Lock-Smith dyed of late,
And did arrive at heaven gate,
He stood without and would not knocke,
Because he meant to picke the locke.'

Fertilizers For Plants

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

Liquid manure has long been a favorite means of feeding plants of all sorts. Due to the messiness and sometimes unpleasant aroma of this plant food, it was inevitable that research chemists would find a more welcome product. Well, the market is now flooded with liquid fertilizers. All are good, although some are better than others.

Using good fertiliser will help improve soil, and aid plant growth.

A new "plant food" which the home gardener may either spray on the leaves or apply to the soil will be made available to home owners through garden supply stores this spring.

This product, known as soluble plant food, will supply a "balanced diet" of nitrogen, phosphorous, potassium and essential trace elements. It may be used as a fast-acting, clean, odorless spray for house plants, roses, ornamental shrubs, flower beds, vegetable gardens, fruit trees, berries, shade trees or lawns.

Nitrogen, principal element used by plants in producing green leaves is the element made most readily available through the use of fertilizer. While there are around 75,000,000 pounds of nitrogen in the column of air above each acre of land, only a few plants, such as beans, peas and clover, are capable of utilizing this elemental atmospheric nitrogen. However, certain nitrogen compounds sprayed on leaves move rapidly through the leaf surfaces and the nitrogen becomes available for plant growth.

Spraying plant food on the leaves is particularly desirable during periods of summer drouth. Ordinary fertilizer placed in the soil must be made soluble by soil moisture before it can be taken up by root systems. Feeding nutrients through a spray on the foliage saves both time and irrigation water.

Applications at two-week intervals during spring and summer are suggested to keep plants in a healthy growing condition. The plant food may also be applied to the ground around trees and plants in the manner of ordinary fertilizer.

A water soluble companion product will be introduced this spring. This water soluble plant food is for all purposes where a liquid highly concentrated and designed plant food is preferred.

A·F·I·E·L·D with NICK NICKELS

General manager Jack Richardson of the Peterborough Canoe Company is rubbing his hands with glee this week on a sales coup that recently paid off for his company.

He and a sales team took 13 new outboards and two canoes to the Cleveland Sport Show. They displayed the craft in a six-booth space, gave out 5,000 miniature spruce paddles and generally took the show by storm. This is the first time a Canadian boat manufacturing firm has taken their product to an American show. By show's end tonight, manager Jack estimates his boys will have sold well over 100 boats.

The Peterborough sales team found out something about canoe sales.

"This is not a canoeing country (Ohio State)," said dealers and show visitors. But, when water lovers were exposed to an examination of the famous Peterborough canoe they changed their minds. They had never seen such a good-looking product for many a long year. The State is actually a skein of placid canoeing streams.

Employees who accompanied Jack to Cleveland were Bob Miller, George Birch, Dave Rogers, Mel Hunter and Larry Deegan.

Slices From the Tourist Melon

We can rave about our summer tourist industry in the Kawarthas but a recent announcement from Ottawa deflates a bit of the huff and puff. In 1952 Canada, with a population of less than 15 million people, spent $36 million dollars more travelling in the U.S.A. than their 160 million people spent in Canada.

The main factors accounting for this change-about are the high level of current Canadian prosperity, the Canadian liking for American holiday spots, the lifting of government travel restrictions and the jump in the value of the Canadian dollar on foreign exchange markets.

However, one of our senators, the Hon. J. J. Duffus, is a district die-hard. He predicted in Ottawa the other day that our Canadian tourist industry would double within the next two or three years. That would mean the Kawarthas can expect something like a $10 million-dollar spread.

Are we ready for it?

The Lindsay Post in a Wednesday news story report the finding of Indian relics by pupils of Dongola Public School west of Kinmount in Victoria County.

It is interesting to children and teachers alike to unearth pottery and so forth but it would be more helpful if experts of the Royal Ontario Museum were alerted. These people might be able to send a field party to the area this summer, if they thought it was important, but haphazard digging by amateurs defeats the very evidence that archaeologists base their findings on.

Where a specimen lies under earth cover and how it lies tell more to them than we amateurs can imagine. The pupils may be destroying something important in their zeal to locate old pottery and arrow heads.

Spri'g In Suburbia

Though robins are robbining and flickers flickering in the trees overhead we in Suburbia cannot hear them for the sucking sounds of rubbered feet squelching in and out of the back doorway fifty-eleven times a day. The front porch has been closed off weeks ago and a good thing, too. None but a very thin person could sidle through the accumulation of winter sport equipment (forgotten) and summer stuff that comes out of the attic on the first warm day. There are hockey sticks, lacrosse sticks, ball bats, skates, oars, paddles, shin pads and scout staves.

Parents know full well what to expect if they leave the house together for a while. In their absence the young fry, with no one to warn them continually about tracking mud into the house, have a field day.

The boys decide to paint a punt BLACK. They have also found a private cache of sap which they proceed to boil and between the two operations the kitchen and back porch becomes a public highway with muddy ruts several inches deep. The girls and their friends have concocted some inside-outside games that require a deal of running about.

The wee home is not pleasant to come back to, let me tell you. The cooking gas is used up, the pots are black inside and out and the floors have to be attacked with a shovel to get the top layers of mud off. Then comes the scrubbing.

Life is not worth it at all, it seems, until one of the kids urges the parents to come out quickly and see the short green shoots of daffodils and crocus that he has unearthed with a stick under the wet leaf mould.

Lindsay Lasses Victors Over CGE Cagers To Capture Junior Title

Lindsay lasses won the junior city basketball championship Friday night when they trimmed the CGE girls 38-24 in the fourth game of their best-of-five series. The Lindsay team swept the series three games to four. Nurses and Black's were scheduled to play the second game of the intermediate series, but due to shift work at the hospital the nurses couldn't form a team. This series will be resumed on April 10.

WITH THE WOLVES—Andy Milne, who played hockey and ball here before going to Sudbury two seasons ago, has been an ace scorer all winter with the Wolves, northern senior "A" champions. Sudbury is currently fighting it out with Kitchener for the all-Ontario senior crown.

Lindsay made sure of the championship by outplaying the CGE lasses throughout the first half, running up an 11-2 score in the first quarter and then settling for a 15-4 half-time score. They held on throughout the second half, turning back a strong CGE rally.

LED THE WAY

Marj (Mooch) Owen flipped in three field baskets and a foul shot, Ruth Gilson three field baskets, Donna Copp and Isobel Green foul shots to build up the lengthy half lead. Meanwhile the best CGE could offer were foul shots by Barbara Luther, Dorothy Jackson and Marg Batley.

Owen protected the Lindsay lead throughout the second half, maintaining her strong first half pace. She sank five more field baskets and another foul shot for 11 points out of Lindsay's 23 in that half. Other points went to Gilson, Copp, Green and Helen Robertson.

Led by Mark Batley, the CGE girls rallied in the second and probably would have come closer to winning except for the first half. Jennie and Barb Luther, Madge Jones and Pat Gaskill added points to Batley's as they were outscored 23-20.

Lindsay's Marg Owen easily led the scoring with 18 points, followed by teammate Gilson with 11. CGE's best was Batley with nine. Lineups:

Lindsay (38).—Gilson 11, Robertson 1, Copp 3, Green 5, Owen 18, Brintell.

CGE (24).—J. Luther 2, B. Luther 4, Jones 5, Jackson 2, Bullock, Batley 9, Calladine, Gaskell 2.

Paddy Young Wins Title Shot

NEW YORK (AP)—Paddy Young Friday night smashed his way into an American middleweight title fight with Carl Olson by scoring a unanimous decision over rugged Ernie Durando in a bruising Madison Square Garden 12-rounder. Young, an 11-to-10 favorite, weighed 160 to Durando's 157¼.

Cut over both eyes by the fourth round and rocked twice within the same span, the lion-hearted New Yorker came on like a prairie fire to win impressively in this fifth meeting of the two sluggers.

The scoring, all for Young, was: referee Ruby Goldstein, 6-5-1; judge Bert Grant, 7-5, and judge Harold Barnes, 7-4-1.

Sudbury Loses Second Straight To Dutchmen

KITCHENER (CP)—The all-Ontario senior hockey finals are beginning to resemble western movies—they always have the same plot.

Sudbury Wolves have played two games with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in the best-of-seven set. They lost both. But in both games the Wolves at one time held a lead.

The Dutchmen took a 2-0 lead in the series Friday night with an 8-3 victory. The Wolves scored first—two goals in the opening three minutes. But their lead didn't even hold as long as it did in the first game Thursday. The Wolves clung to their 2-1 lead Thursday until the third period at least. Then they bowed out as Kitchener rapped in three in the final for a 4-2 win.

Friday night Sudbury's two goals were wiped out before the teams got warmed up. The Dutchmen led 3-2 going into the second Sudbury only clicked once after that—in the second period.

Kitchener added another to their total in the second to take a 4-3 lead at the end of the period. In the final frame, the Dutchmen had a field day, rapping in four goals while the Wolves were silent

The series, an Allan Cup Eastern Canada semi-final, now moves to Sudbury for the next three games. Two only may be needed.

Nick Tomiuk and Roly McLenahan quickly shot the Wolves into the lead. Charlie Brooker retrieved a loose puck at the nine-minute mark and put the Dutchies back into the running. Maurice Leveque and Clare Martin made it 3-2 for the home side before the period ended.

Don Bauer notched half of his evening's output in the second period to put Kitchener ahead 4-2. Tatter McClellan tried to stir the Wolves into a comeback with his second counter.

Two minor penalties 52 seconds apart to the Wolves in the third made the comeback attempt futile and the Dutchmen hit twice while Sudbury was short-handed. Jack McKenzie and Bauer were the scorers. Don Rope and Howie Lee completed the lacing in the last 10 minutes of the game.

Sudbury's top notch netminder, Lorne Anderson, was unable to continue his duties after 14 minutes of the second period. He suffered a gash in his left leg when Leveque, Dutchmen left-winger, collided with him. Anderson was replaced by sub-goaltender Rolly Giacomin. At that time, Kitchener's lead was only 4-3.

The Wolves drew eight of the 13 minor penalties handed out.

He was continued in $15,000 bail and will be sentenced April 22.

Canadian Terrier Seen As Top Dog Contender

CHICAGO (AP) — A Canadian Kerry blue may be the canine to beat for best-of-show laurels in the 13th annual international kennel club all-breed dog show today and Sunday at the International amphitheatre.

Ch. Tailteann's Princess Gill is the Canadian contender, owned by Mrs. Eileen McEachren, Todmorden, Ont. The dog was top winner at the recent Detroit and Toronto shows.

More than 2,200 dogs, representing 102 different breeds, are being shown in the two-day competition.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

As another season of basketball winds up here—and 'twas a right hefty season what with OABA, LOBA, high school, men's, girls' and house loop activity — let's see if there's anything wrong with the game today. Seems to us there are a few faults which might be corrected to make this sport even better than it is now. Whistlehappy refs and also rule-makers who are making the cage game a parade to the free-throw line should be curbed. This would cut down some on whopping high scores and would give defensive players something of an even break. We've spoken of these points before, and find that certain coaches have come out in print in the past year along the same line.

* * * * * *

Officials today interpret the rules in favor of the attacker, and that's why your scores mount and that's why there are so many fouls called. Players aren't dumb and they take advantage of this officiating and rule-making trend. A guy gets the ball and barges in toward the enemy basket. What happens? If the defenceman doesn't get out of his way, the defenceman is charged with a foul for blocking, charging, holding, interference or some such. That's nuts. Defenders or guards have certain rights in other games and are entitled to at least hold their position without being whistled at for fouling a rushing opponent. Why not call the foul on the guy coming in for charging the defenceman?

* * * * * *

Give Defender A Break

Let's be fair about it and not give everything to the player rushing towards his rival's hoop. We do have defencemen, too, and they are supposed to defend. Furthermore, why give a second free throw to a fouled player if his first free toss misses? These rules haven't helped to reduce fouls any in the past season — in fact, we believe the fouls have increased. And the scores have kept rising. Basketball is a good game, but as played by men, it should not be a sissy sport, nor should it favor the attacking side. Too many whistles spoil any game. These are personal impressions and if any local cage coach disagrees in whole or in part we'll be glad to record his views.

Our congratulations to Coach Pat Doherty and the Peterborough Shamrocks on capturing the OMHA bantam "A" title. After taking the PMHA crown here, this fine squad eliminated Oshawa and Belleville teams in provincial playdowns, erased Toronto Marlboros in the semi-finals and won the Ontario championship decisively over Guelph. The city and district boys wearing Shamrocks' livery are worthy puck champions in their class in Ontario, playing hustling, smart and clean hockey, and they were well-coached. Some of 'em are definitely tabbed for future pro tryouts. Several NHL clubs are interested in Larry Lonsberry, we know.

Hail, The Champions

So, it's hail and farewell to a good scrappy young gang of hockey champs. They are: Gary Darling, Larry Lonsberry, Pat Baker, Frank Daly, Bill Mahoney, Ricky Pace, Peter Stewart, Wayne Haig, John McFadden, Val Armstrong, Cyril Coombes, Ron Jay, Bob Shaw, Gerald Kimball, Doug Lustic, Gerard DeNoble, Jimmy Riel and Norman Tetlock. Also, Coach Pat Doherty, a teacher at Sacred Heart School. The very interested local OMHA member was Al Watkins. A word, too, for the PMHA executive which has closed off a successful season with the high note of having a provincial championship team. These officers are: Ray Tanner, Moon Wootton, Bill Dawson, Jack Miller, Phonse Brioux, Sam Miceli and Mrs. E. Woodcock.

Speaking on baseball, the Oshawa scribe comments: "The OBA ruling that cities over 30,000 must have a senior 'A' team means that both Oshawa and Peterborough, if they enter the Lakeshore League, will likely have to get special permission to compete in that circuit and will then clash in a separate series late in August in OBA senior 'A' playoffs. Whitby and Bowmanville, if they decide to use Oshawa players, may get permisison by the OBA to use any Oshawa players not already claimed by the Intercounty Merchants and the Oshawa Transporters. Just 30 years ago a meeting was held in Peterborough to iron out the big dispute in COBL circles, when Kingston, Cobourg, Belleville and Peterborough threatened to pull out of the COBL. It resulted in two groups being formed, the other one having Oshawa, Leaside, Lindsay, Bowmanville and Port Hope. Jake Solomon headed that minor revolt which, however, had an amicable ending. Yeah, those were the days of the real COBL rivalry."

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

It was rather unfortunate that there were not more on hand last evening to witness some of the finest curling seen here this winter — and when there is better curling, it will be done right in the Charlotte Street Curling Rink.

Those three final games last evening were tops. It would hardly be honest to say which one was the best. On ice No. 2 in the Sturgeon final young C. Selkirk was pitted against Jim Dutton, and you can imagine how close the game was when only a total of 11 shots were scored in the 10 ends. Both skips skipped well and played well, and they were strongly supported by every member of their rinks. We understand that Mrs. J. Dutton, Dr. R. E. Pow and Mrs. Pow, and G. Tollington all came from Calgary.

On ice No. 3 in the Sturgeon consolation, D. Rankine and A. Ingram had a tidy affair — good curling and once again the total number of shots were 11 in 10 ends. It was an interesting game and well played.

The final game in the Neill consolation event almost was forced into overtime. It was between Fred Hollowell and Joe Adams. A real nip and tuck game, with high-class curling. Hollowell was two up coming home and when Adams went to play his last stone he was laying one shot and made a real try to draw for the second shot, hoping to tie up the game and force an extra end, but he was just inches short and another good game was recorded.

It was a grand evening for the spectators, and a fitting climax for those two bonspiels.

A FINE JOB

At the time of writing, we don't know how Norm Hamley and Harold Hamblin finished up in the Toronto mixed rink bonspiel, but they did a fine job to reach the semi-finals in the main event of a 64-rink entry bonspiel.

The Kiwanis bonspiel is set for Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The club championship games for the Harry Foote Memorial Trophy get under way next Tuesday evening.

Peterborough Rink Drops Final In Mixed 'Spiel

TORONTO (CP)—Gerve Meech's Toronto High Park club edged out Peterborough's N. H. Hamley rink 12-11 Friday in the final to take the Brereton-Raw trophy mixed bonspiel.

Two brilliant shots by vice-skip Mrs. M. C. Code on the 10th and final end made the victory possible. After five ends Peterborough led 7-1 and it appeared as if N. H. Hamley would bring Peterborough its second trophy in the 19-year history of the event. But Meech scored five in the sixth end. Hamley again went ahead with three in the sixth but Meech scored three in the eighth. Peterborough counted one in the ninth and went into the final end two up. Mrs. Code took it from there.

Hamley's rink had earlier eliminated H. W. Hamblin's Lakefield four, 9-4. Up to that time both Hamley and Hamblin had scored four victories each.

Meech's rink was the only Toronto quartet to win in any of the finals. In the Defoe Trophy final Andy Grant of Wauwatosa, Wis., downed A. J. Simon of Toronto 9-4. Dr. C. M. Laidley, Morrisburg, walked away with the Parsons Royal Daulton Trophy defeating R. H. Howard of Toronto 11-4. J. Grant Jr., of Unionville, defeated D. W. Currie of Ottawa 10-7 in the final for the Rathgeb Trophy and New York's C. M. Hovey edged out L. E. Phenner of Chicago 12-11 in the long distance travellers event.

Intermediates Get CRU Rules

EDMONTON (CP)—The Canadian Rugby Union adopted the first set of rules and regulations for intermediate football at its annual meeting Friday.

Included in the resolution was a clause saying the CRU, at the discretion of its executive, would "guarantee against loss" in the intermediate East-West final

"This puts the props under intermediate football in Canada," said Bill Fry of Toronto, head of the CRU intermediates committee and one of the prime boosters of this classification.

The CRU in 1950 recognized an intermediate East-West final for the Canadian championship But its sole contribution in the last two years was the awarding of championship crests.

Intermediate football in the past was largely an eastern proposition, with Manitoba providing the only competition for the bona fide Canadian title in the last couple of years. It is reported that 1953 will see Calgary and Saskatoon join Winnipeg and St. Boniface in the western picture.

Under the new regulations, the Canadian intermediate final will be alternated between the East in the odd-number years and the west in the even-numbered years.

The cup for the Canadian intermediate championship will be the Percy Robinson Memorial Trophy, for the eastern championship the Dr. Ferguson Trophy.

Lonsberry Leader Scoring 36 Points

Larry Lonsberry led the local Shamrocks in scoring in their provincial playdowns just concluded when Shamrocks captured the OMHA bantam A championship over Guelph. They ousted Toronto Marlboros in the Ontario semi-finals, having previously disposed of Belleville and Oshawa in playdowns. Shamrocks staged eight OMHA playoff games in their quest for provincial honors after winning the PMHA bantam crown here. Lonsberry had 26 goals and 10 assists in those eight games for 36 points, or better than four points a game.

Next to the rushing defenceman in scoring was clever forward Gary Darling who counted nine goals and eight assists for 17 points. Pat Baker also shone with 13 points, followed by Bill Mahoney with 11, Frank Daly and Ricky Pace with nine each, Wayne Haig four, Peter Stewart three, and John McFadden and Val Armstrong two apiece.

ROSS STARS FOR CHAMPS—Goalie Ross Nicholls was outstanding in the net for the 1953 CGE shop hockey champions recently as Structural Steel swept the final series two straight over Machine Shop. The former senior "B" netminder for Eagles—and with Norwood's TVL team the past season—was at his best in the shop playoffs.

Survey Shows Rugby Unions Favor New Year's Day Game

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—An annual New Year's Day football game at Vancouver's proposed 62,000-capacity stadium may become a reality in 1955.

This was indicated Friday in a survey by The Canadian Press of Big Four, Western Canada and Senior Ontario Union club presidents and executive members of the Canadian Rugby Union. All saw merit in the CP proposal, although many problems would need to be ironed out before such a game materialized.

The idea was submitted to the CRU annual meeting in Edmonton Friday when CRU secretary Harry McBrian read a letter concerning playoffs. The letter was filed without discussion.

Norm Perry of Sarnia, slated to succeed Arthur Chipman of Winnipeg as CRU president, had advised CP previously he "would like to suggest that it be brought up for discussion" at the annual meeting.

If officials give the green light to the proposal, it might follow the lines of the annual East-West professional all-star game in the U.S. with proceeds going to a national charitable organization. It would be the first time in Canadian sports history that a national sport contributed to charity on a country-wide level.

If the CRU adopted the proposal it would be a tremendous boost to organized football in Canada and to Vancouver, latest entry in the Western Interprovincial Union. Vancouver's new 32,000-seat stadium, with an additional 30,000 standing-room capacity, will be ready for the 1954 football season.

The main obstacles to such a game, officials pointed out, would be: (A) Finances; (B) Holding players beyond the regular schedules, playoffs and the Grey Cup final in November; and (C) Determining the personnel of the competing teams.

CP suggested the game might be played between all-star teams from Eastern and Western Canada, the Grey Cup winner versus an all-star East and West club, or players that fans would like most to see.

Weather conditions in the city would not be unfavorable. A Vancouver weather office survey for Jan. 1 during the last 15 years showed an average temperature of about 42 degrees. Summed up, Jan. 1 weather since 1937 was dull and mild.

"The idea of a Canadian bowl game would certainly be most enthusiastically received by anyone interested in Canadian football," said Frank D. Bliss, president of Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Big Four. He pointed out the disadvantages such as the financing and holding players beyond the regular season and play-offs.

Tom Allison of Toronto Argonauts wrote that the cost of staging the game would be "too high" but he added: "It would be a possibility, but it has so many angles that it would require a lot of development work to put a thing of this type across."

Arthur F. Mercer, president of the Vancouver football club, said the idea was "excellent," that the cost would be "quite high" but that "it would be financially successful."

Sam Shefsky, president of Toronto Balmy Beach in the ORFU, said the Jan. 1 game would be a big thing for football. "Financing such a game would be a big obstacle but I believe it could be overcome," he added.

St. Mike's Win Jr. A. Series, Now Meet Flyers

GALT (CP)—Toronto St. Michael's Friday night advanced into the finals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series against Barrie Flyers, by downing Galt Black Hawks 6-5. St. Mikes won their best-of-seven semi-finals 4-1, with one game tied.

The Barrie-St. Mikes series opens in Toronto tonight.

Captain Bill Dineen won the semi-finals for the Collegians with his goal at the 16-minute mark of the third period. Galt was playing a man short, Neil McDonald serving a minor for tripping.

After the first period the Hawks made it a battle. They spotted the Irish three goals in the first nine minutes of play. Mike Ratchford scored at 17 seconds when Les Duff intercepted a pass and then shot the rubber to Ratch. Noel Price got the second. Les Binkley stopped a high shot and as it dropped out of his glove he tipped the puck into the twine. The third goal was also a gift. Markarian, trying to carry the rubber from behind his own net, lost it at the goal post and Paul Knox pushed it in. Then Jim McBurney got his first goal of the series on Ken Wharram's assist. Bill Dineen followed with his first goal of the night.

Neil McDonald got the Hawks back in the fight in the second period with two counters.

Galt tied it up early in the third period, when Wharrm scored with a slap shot from inside the blue line. At 6:50 Hec Lalonde put Galt up a goal, tipping in Wharram's pass. Paul Knox's second counter from a face-off in the Galt end tied it up.

It was the fifth time the Irish had eliminated the Hawks in OHA playoffs.

Bolstered By 3 Farmhands, Canadiens Aim For Three Straight Wins

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Their ranks bolstered by three farmhands, Montreal Canadiens travelled today to Chicago in hopes of stretching their lead over the Black Hawks in the Stanley Cup hockey semi-finals to three straight. The Canadiens went through an hour's workout Friday at Montreal. Coach Dick Irvin had 25 men on the ice, including regulars and three players called up from farm teams. Accompanying the regulars to Chicago for Sunday night's game are goalie Jacques Plante and forwards Callum MacKay and Doug Anderson. Plante and MacKay were called up for the series from Buffalo of the American Hockey League. Anderson, who was used a couple of times in Thursday night's game which Montreal won 4-3, was summoned from Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League.

Irvin indicated he will play Dickie Moore in place of Paul Meger, hustling little wingman who suffered an eye injury from Jimmy Peters' stick Thursday night.

The Montreal coach was cheered by the impressive showing of his sophomores in the first two games of the best-of-seven series. Boom Boom Geoffrion leads the scoring parade with two goals and two assists. Dick Gamble, Moore and Meger have tallied one goal each.

HAWKS HOPEFUL

The Black Hawks were hopeful that their own home grounds will enable them to overcome their two-game deficit.

Coach Sid Abel said he wasn't convinced that the Hawks were too far behind to take the series. He summed up the Chicago performance in the first two games as: "Spirit and aggressiveness, good defence, good offence and—a lot to be desired."

Supporters of the Black Hawks took comfort in the recollection of Chicago's achievement in 1938. After losing opening games to the Canadiens and New York Americans, the Hawks won both those series and then downed the favored Toronto Maple Leafs to win the Stanley Cup.

At Boston, the Bruins-Detroit Red Wings semi-final also resumes Sunday night with the series tied 1-1.

Coach Lynn Patrick of the Boston team thinks he's found the formula to stop the high-flying Detroiters.

"The only way to beat the Detroit Red Wings is to keep right on top of them, checking them every second," he says.

He warned his players they had better not give Detroit a chance to get set if they want to take the third game of the best-of-seven series, adding:

"Give those Wings an opening and they'll beat your brains out."

Detroit swamped Boston in the first game 7-0. But the Bruins staged a fighting comeback to take the second game in Detroit 5-3, thannks to tight checking, sharp shooting and a terrific performance in goal by Sugar Jim Henry.

Boston was cheered by word from the club's physician that winger Real Chevrefils, who missed the first two playoff games due to a knee injury, may be back in action Sunday night.

CANADIAN HANDMADES IN LEATHER, a travelling exhibition of the Canadian Society of Creative Leathercraft, will be at the public library next Wednesday. Among the articles on display will be (left to right, above): mission grain steerhide Bible case by Robert Muma; ladies' shoes, by Margaret Jennings; two-tone goatskin gloves by Edith Roscoe; calf writing case, by Iiva Limberg-Villman; carved cowhide glasses case by Roscoe; cowhide shoulder bag by Reta Larmour.

Leathercraft To Go On Show At Library

Sponsored by the Peterborough Recreation Commission, "Canadian Handmades in Leather", a travelling exhibition of the Canadian Society of Creative Leathercraft, will be on display Wednesday at the public library.

Society members, many of whom are among Canada's best leatherworkers, have loaned their prize pieces for the exhibition. Sifty-six articles will be shown, all of expert craftsmanship and original design.

Alex Sinclair, recreation director, said that all of the work has been chosen to illustrate the widest variety of techniques in decoration, coloring, construction and assembly.

EVEN BELLOWS

As well as the customary wallets, belts, and purses, there are many unusual items such as jewel boxes, fireside bellows, writing cases, bound books, leather picture, blotters bookends and shoes.

Among the well-known exhibitors are Robert Muma, creator of designs with a Canadian motif; Deane H. and Lara Russell of Ottawa, Canadian designers; Margaret Richardson of Ottawa, Edith Roscoe of Weston, Reta Larmour of Toronto and Don McKinnon of Toronto.

Mr. Sinclair said that the purpose of the exhibit is to present a comprehensive display of leather work to Canadian craftsmen with the hope that it will inspire them to develop their own Canadian type of design, improve their skills and emphasize the ever-widening possibilities of working in leather.

WOMEN VERSUS MEN — The Peterborough Curling Club is conducting a bonspiel today which members have been waiting anxiously for, the men play the women. During the past two weeks the women have been continually warning the men to expect the worst. That could mean the women running off with the Padre William McDonald Trophy. Mr. McDonald (centre, above) holds the trophy up for inspection by Mrs. M. McCartney, Mrs. T. Doughty, Tom Doughty and Dr. McCartney.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Women Curlers Play Men In Unique Local Bonspiel

A bonspiel, unique in provincial curling, is being held today at the Charlotte St. Club. Fourteen ladies' rinks are competing against the same number of men's teams in two draws for the Rev. William McDonald Trophy.

"It is the first time for such a competition in Peterborough, and I believe in Ontario," Secretary Ira Moore of the curling club said during the morning draw. The event will be an annual one.

Mr. McDonald's belief in the curling ability of local ladies led to this unusual 'spiel. A former first-class curler himself, now an honorary member of the club and a retired minister, Mr. McDonald dreamed up the idea a year ago, saying he thought women curlers here as a general rule were as good as the male players. Putting his belief in concrete form, he offered the trophy this year. Schedule rinks compete on equal terms with the aggregate scores settling the winner.

A good-sized gallery took a keen interest in the morning draw, and part way through two of the ices showed the ladies sweeping briskly to a comfortable 7-1 lead over chagrined male opposition. There was no mercy being asked or given in the bonspiel battle of the sexes, though the opponents will break bread together when the 'spiel ends this evening and refreshments are served.

Big Four, WIFU Get Bigger Voice In Union

By GRAHAM TROTTER

EDMONTON (CP)—The Canadian Rugby Union bowed to the glitter of the dollar sign Friday and in so doing averted a wide-open split between its professional and amateur components that would have toppled it from its pedestal as the Dominion's supreme regulatory football body.

Threatened with secession of its two big money-making conferences unless they were given a greater say on how to manage their own affairs, the CRU shifted voting control from the minor league factions to the East's Big Four and the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

The two big unions, which make the CRU solvent, now hold a 6-to-4 voting edge. At the 1952 annual meeting—before there was talk of pulling out—they were out-voted 5 to 4 in an attempt to gain control.

The Big Four and the WIFU, whose teams have graduated in the last decade from play-for-fun football to individual annual budgets of $250,000 or more, now have three CRU votes apiece instead of two.

QUITS CRA

The defunct Western Intercollegiate Football Union, a thorn in the side of the big unions with its one vote, although inactive, resigned from the CRU. The two votes held by the Ontario Rugby Football Union and the one each held by the Quebec Rugby Football Union and the Eastern Intercollegiate Union were left unchanged.

CRU president Art Chipman of Winnipeg, who hands over the reins of his office today to Norm Perry of Sarnia, said at a banquet tendered by the Edmonton Eskimos Friday night that he was confident the CRU would be stronger and go on to better things under the new setup.

WIFU president Walter Sprague said the shift in voting power was the greatest constitutional change in the CRU's history.

'ARGOS LUKEWARM

The move was accomplished in a two-hour session behind closed doors and no real fireworks were apparent. It was reported that only Toronto Argos of the eight big-monied teams were lukewarm to the proposition, but they were outvoted on the issue in their own league.

Before heading into contentious rule changes at today's wind-up of the first CRU annual meeting west of Winnipeg, the football executives raised the price of Grey Cup spectator tickets, split up a $15,000 pot from 1952 Grey Cup game incidentals, set a uniform deadline for signing of American import and Canadian senior players, and put the props under intermediate football.

CUP TICKETS UP

Tickets to the Grey Cup game, to be held Nov. 28 in Toronto, a week after the country's first Grey Cup semi-final in the West between the WIFU and ORFU champions, were boosted to $6, $5 and $3.50 from $5.65, $4.50 and $3.30.

The $15,000 from television, radio, movie and program rights at the 1952 Dominion final that the CRU had originally kept for itself was divided to give the CRU $5,000 and Toronto and Edmonton $10,000 between them.

A CRU committee to investigate and be responsible for all these incidentals growing out of the Grey Cup final and semi-final was to be set up today.

Oct. 1 of each year will be the deadline for the signing of all American imports and Canadian seniors.

Teams will be allowed replacements for signed American imports called up under United States military draft after the Oct. 1 cutoff, subject to CRU investigation

Hayes Jenkins Wins Third Skating Title

HERSHEY, Pa. (CP) — World champion Hayes Jenkins of Akron, O., won his third figure-skating title this year when he captured the United States men's singles championship Friday night.

Jenkins, successor to Dick Button, who recently turned professional, used the same program to win the U.S. title as he did to capture the world and North American championships.

Early Mist Wins Grand National, At 20-1 Odds

AINTREE, England (CP)—Early Mist, a 20-to-1 shot, today won the 107th running of the famed Grand National steeplechase with Mont Tremblant, at 18 to 1, second, and Irish Lizard, 33 to 1, a distant third over the four-mile, 856-yard course.

The gruelling race means a pot of gold to some of the million of Irish sweepstakes ticket holders throughout the world.

Thirty-one horses started, one of the smallest fields in recent years. The gruelling race was run in light showers.

Early Mist, ridden by Bryan Marshall, carried 156 pounds.

The eight-year-old Irish horse took the lead at the start of the second lap of the bell-shaped course as Ordnance, the early leader, fell at the 17th fence.

The winner is owned by J. H. Griffin.

Early Mist won by 20 lengths and there were four lengths between second and third.

In all only five out of the 31 starters finished the course over 30 jumps.

The other two finishers were Overshadow and Senlac Hill.

Overshadow was a 33-to-1 outsider while Senlac Hill was 66 to 1.

One of those which failed to finish was Little Yid, the favorite at 7 to 1, which refused a jump.

Little Yid was up with the leaders most of the way, but balked at a fence close to the finish.

Grand National Field Said Weakest Since World War 1

AINTREE, Eng. (CP)—A 34-horse field, small and sharply lacking in quality by usual standards, met today on Aintree's ancient racing course for steeplechasing's biggest show—the Grand National.

A denial was hard to find to claims that the field for the 107th running of the world's premier equine jumping event was one of the weakest since the First World War, but there didn't appear to be any drop in interest.

Another crowd of about 250,000 ticket buyers was expected along with nearly 50,000 fudgers, who'll see the big race on neutral ground from the far side of the track without paying admission.

Post time was 3:15 p.m. (10:15 a.m. EST).

SHOWERS FORECAST

A big crowd watched the final gallops on a hard turf. The weather forecast was for bright periods and showers.

All 34 probable starters were back in their barns at 8:30 a.m. and police guards were placed around the stables.

Little Yid and Glen Fire were narrow favorites in this race in which every horse is a long shot.

Little Yid, once considered a worthless colt, was quoted at 10 to 1 Friday night in the London bookies' final callover. Glen Fire was right on his heels at 100 to 8.

Three others, rated better than Little Yid and Glen Fire a few days ago, stood at 100 to 7. They were Early Mist, Lucky Dome and Whispering Steel.

HARD TRACK

The heavily-grassed track, studded with 16 barriers of wooden fences and water hazards, was unusually hard-packed for early spring in northwest England.

But the racing strip was in far better condition than anybody expected it to be a week ago. A five-week drought ended Thursday morning with a heavy rain.

The rain, though far from enough to prepare the track perfectly, saved Aintree from being unreasonably hard on the horses' hooves and the backbones of the jockeys as they bounced over the four-mile, 856-yard course.

On Aintree's first circuit, the full quota of 16 jumps is taken. The second circuit cuts around two jumps making a total of 30 leaps in the gruelling test.

Mont Tremblant had by far the best record of any horse in the field but at seven years he was a youngster. And he was loaded with top weight of 173 pounds. His odds were 100 to 6 and that was conservative considering the weight.

RECORD BEST

Mont Tremblant, owned by Dorothy Page, got his name from the winter skiing spot in Canada's Laurentian mountains. Fulke Walwyn, Mont Tremblant's trainer said he understood the gelding was christened by former owner Maurice Hennessy, the French cognac maker who liked to visit the Quebec resort.

Only four horses in previous Grand Nationals ever carried more than 173 and won.

Witty at 22 to 1, Cardinal Error at 100 to 6, and Parasol 2nd at 20 to 1 were the other best regarded horses.

There wasn't a former Grand National winner in the race and not a horse which ever ran a particularly well-timed trip on the full Aintree course. Last year's winner, Teal, died recently.

The winner will receive the equivalent of $27,456.20. Second place money is $3,231.20 and $1,615.60 for third.

TWO-WAY PLAYER — Red Kelly, 25-year-old defenceman with Detroit Red Wings, has been named best two-way player in the National Hockey League in a poll conducted by The Canadian Press. Kelly, who finished eighth in NHL scoring this season with 19 goals and 27 assists, has been a mainstay with the Wings since 1947 after graduating from junior ranks with Toronto St. Michael's College.

Writers Pick Four Pros, Youngster As NHL Stars

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO (CP)—Three old pros and a comparative youngster with a total of 38 years' service in the National Hockey League today received signal honor from sports writers and sportscasters of the NHL cities.

Between them, they hold four titles in a poll conducted by The Canadian Press. They are:

Fastest skater: Bill Mosienko of Chicago Black Hawks, a 12-year veteran;

Best stickhandler: The ailing Max Bentley of Toronto Maple Leafs who has 11 seasons of big-league play behind him.

Most under-rated player: Bob Goldham, Detroit Red Wing defenceman with nine years' big-league experience.

Best two-way player: Red Kelly, Detroit defenceman now in his sixth NHL season.

ELEVEN VETERANS

The high-flying Mosienko is a 31-year-old Winnipeg-born right-winger who started pro hockey with Providence in 1940. Goldham, one year his junior, broke into the money ranks in 1941 and Bentley, who celebrated his 33rd birthday at his Delisle, Sask., home March 1, went up to Chicago from Saskatoon Quaker seniors 13 years ago.

Kelly, 25, has been a mainstay on the Red Wing defence since 1947 after graduating from junior ranks with Toronto St. Michael's College.

Mosienko showed his heels to a field of seven nominated by the experts. He polled 17 votes, 14 more than veteran Milt Schmidt of Boston Bruins and 15 up on Fleming Mackell of the Bruins, Eddie Kullman and Wally Hergesheimer, New York Rangers, and Marcel Pronovost of the Wings.

One selector, Joe Falls of The Associated Press, Detroit, saw it this way: Howie Meeker of Toronto Maple Leafs is the fastest during his "first minute on the ice" and Johnny Wilson of the Wings is the fleetest "for the whole game."

EASY FOR BENTLEY

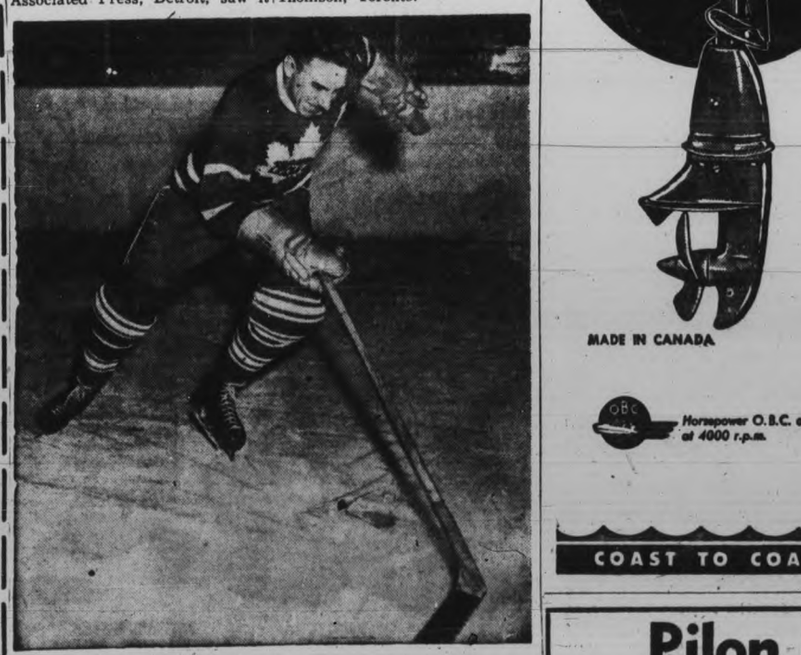
Bentley had an easy time winning his title but Kelly and Goldham squeezed to the top over a big field by single-vote margins.

Bentley, dipsy-doodle centre, polled nine votes, six more than Elmer Lach of Montreal Canadiens and Gordie Howe of Detroit, tied for the runner-up spot with three each. Single votes went to Kelly, Alex Delvecchio and Ted Lindsay, all of the Wings; Schmidt and teammates Joe Klukay and Mackell; Johnny McCormack of Montreal and Chicago's playing-coach Sid Abel.

Howe, already chosen as the greatest player in the league, the most improved player over the last five seasons, lost out by a whisker to Kelly in the "best two-way player" balloting. He polled seven votes, just one less than the redhead, and two up on Schmidt.

Ted Kennedy of Toronto, out of action with an injury since New Year's Day, caught the eyes of two selectors and singles went to Lach, Harry Watson of the Leafs and Tony Leswick, another Red Wing.

Fifteen players, representing every team in the league, received "most under-rated player" votes, and the width of a skate separated them. Goldham polled three, one up on Klukay; Marty Pavelich, Detroit; Al Rollins, Chicago; Nick Mickoski, New york, and Bobby Hassard, Leaf rookie.



Single votes went to: Tom Johnson and Butch Bouchard, Montreal; Kuliman; Gus Bodnar, Chicago; Bill Quackenbush, Hal Laycoe and Mackell, Boston, and Jim Thomson, Toronto.

UNDERRATED — Bob Goldham, 30, Detroit Red Wing defenceman, has been voted the most underrated player in the National Hockey League by sports writers and sportcasters in the six NHL cities.

Ban British Goods

ANKARA (Reuters)—Turkey has banned free entry of British exports because Britain will not buy her goods, the government announced today.

BEST STICKHANDLER—Max Bentley, 33, dipsy-doodle Toronto Maple Leafs' centre from Delisle, Sask., has been chosen best stickhandler in the National Hockey League. In a poll conducted by The Canadian Press among sports writers and sportcasters in the six NHL cities, the veteran collected nine votes, six more than Elmer Lach, of Montreal Canadiens, and Gordie Howe, of Detroit, tied for the runner-up spot with three each.

Victims Of Former Floods Hope Solution Found

By MARY KAY FLYNN

KANSAS CITY, Kans. (NEA)—A big flood does more than damage or wash away physical things in its path.

It makes a lasting mark on the human lives it touches.

The impact of this nation's worst natural disaster—the July, 1951, flood in Kansas and Missouri—on the 48,000 families it displaced, temporarily or permanently, is likely to show in various ways throughout their lifetime.

The April, 1952, Missouri River flood displaced 87,000 persons. Combined tangible damages by the floods amounted to $1.49 billion.

Right now the human rehabilitation that is still going on is underscored by a different sort of flood—the rising tide of debate over flood control. It is a battle between those who say big dams and reservoirs upstream are the answer—and those upstream who want such projects abandoned.

In the middle are the flood victims, like those of the Armourdale and Argentine districts of Kansas City, Kans., who have just emerged from the silt and destruction of two disasters in as many years.

MOST DEMOLISHED

Almost half the 4,500 dwellings inundated were washed away or were so badly damaged they had to be bulldozed away. In some places the water was 23 feet deep.

Many of those who returned to reclaim what they could of their pre-flood investments have new debts and new challenges. Some are confident a flood won't come again in their lifetimes but most are keeping their fingers crossed.

The last structure to be torn down in the $664,000 cleanup of 1,630 acres of flood-ravaged property within the city limits was a three-and-one-half-storey parochial school in Armourdale.

About 100 of the families who supported the school have returned to renovated homes and are faced with the burden of raising $60,000 to replace it.

Just a few blocks away, the reconstruction of a Baptist church is under way for the second time since the flood. The church was destroyed by fire a year ago, several days before it was to be reopened after repairs of flood damages.

Hardest hit are elderly persons and couples between 30 and 45, with children, who received little or no financial grants. Almost two-thirds of the 12,500 "flood" families in Wyandotte County, which includes Armourdale, received Red Cross aid in varying degrees.

One elderly woman, widowed since the flood, currently is paying rent for the first time in years—with money obtained by cashing in half the premium benefit of her life insurance policy. The home she owned was practically destroyed.

STARTING AGAIN

The James Hartshorns, in their early forties and the parents of six children—one born three days before the flood—had no debts until the high water came. Now they're trying to start all over by fixing up their damaged home and getting by with used furniture and clothing.

"Sometimes I almost feel I don't have the strength to go ahead," the mother sighed.

Dr. J. A. Burger, 62, whose flood losses, which included the home where he raised his 14 children, totalled nearly $45,000, virtually was "bankrupt" when he undertook the building of a new home outside the "flood risk" area.

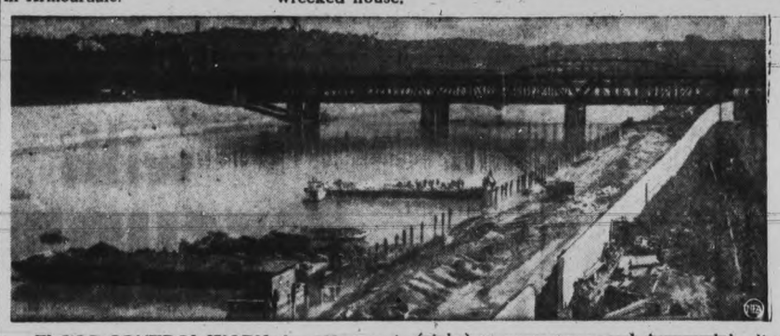
Before the flood, William A. Dickason and his wife's elderly parents owned homes side by side. Water wrecked the houses and furnishings together with the newly purchased home of a son of the Dickasons. Now all three families live in a one-and-a-half-storey house, the down payment having been made with Dickason's savings.

A substantial number of Armourdalians lost their jobs along with everything else. The Cudahy Packing plant, which employed 1,800 persons, and six smaller packing plants closed down because of extensive flood damage. Some other business firms did not reopen.

Even though resigned to their loss, the absence of valued keepsakes and belongings is continually felt by the flood victims.

Jennie Hrones summed it up this way: "You think you've forgotten about the flood until you miss another article you had before the high water destroyed it."

Outwordly, most flood victims seem to have put the flood in the past. But lots of housewives will confess that even yet various recollections of the flood will bring on a good cry.



The anxious question, "Will the floods come aagin?" is heard often in Armourdale.

SCARS OF '52 FLOOD still show around this home in Armourdale, Kansas City, as owner paints flood-wrecked house he rebuilt.

FLOOD'S HUMAN IMPACT is reflected in weary posture of this Armourdale man who ponders future on roof of wrecked house.

FLOOD CONTROL WORK along Kansas River includes new concrete floodwall (right) to protect ravaged Armourdale district. Willow mat being sunk in river will help stabilize its banks.

Millbrook Choir Presents Gay Operetta

MILLBROOK (ENS) — On Thursday evening the opening performance of "The Belle of Barcelona," a musical comedy, was staged before a packed house in the town hall.

The operetta, put on by the choir of St. Andrew's United Church, has a cast of 30.

Singing the title role as Margarita de Montero is Betty North. Playing opposite her is Fraser Carr, tenor, who also sang the male lead in last year's operetta.

The scene is laid in the plaza Del Rey in Barcelona, Spain, and the time is the spring festival of the toreadors. At the opening Luis de Montero, a wealthy plantation owner with political ambitions, played by Bruce Ingham, his wife, Gloria, who never forgets that she is an aristocrat (Doris Ingham) and their two daughters Margarita, and Mercedes (Velma Guthrie) have just returned to Spain after a visit to America.

While abroad Margarita has become interested in a young Canadian naval officer, Lieut. Harold Wright (Fraser Carr) but leaves Canada with her family without communicating with him.

They meet again in Spain when he is appointed customs inspector. Francisco de la Vega, a scheming Spanish nobleman, suitor to Margarita, is played by Ernest Powell, a newcomer to the cast. Pedro, plantation manager to the de Montero estate, and the unwilling accomplice of de la Vega is Lawrence Winslow. Emilio, the favored toreador, and suitor to Mercedes, is Gordon Might. Jean Winslow and Melvin Butler whose comedy roles delighted audiences last year are seen this year as a prim English governess and a young red-headed Irishman. Captain Colton of the cruiser Montana is played by Donald Spicer and Luella Kellett and Frances Elson are Dona Marcela and Dona Anita, companions to Margarita and Mercedes.

Special dances are solo numbers by Margaret Hobbs and Betty North, and by a group of eight girls, Frances Dawson, Margaret Guthrie, Diann Hogoboam, Kathy Newell, Luella Kellet, Jessie Lunn, Leone Fallis, Frances Elson. Spanish senoritas and students include the dancers and Jean Burnham, Edith Sheppard, Edith Clarke, Mariel North, Eileen Powell, Colleen Bremner, Doreen Todd, Yvonne Richards, Mabel Spicer, and M. McDowell.

The music is directed by Mrs. G. A. Spicer, choir leader, who sings the obligato in the opening choruses.

Accompanists are Miss Mabel Clarry and Mrs. Spicer. Mrs. B. E. Ingham directs the speaking parts. In charge of costuming is Miss Ellen Kent. Donald Spicer is stage manager and is in charge of lighting. Aubrey Fallis handles the curtain.

The costumes were very colorful and elaborate, and the stage setting of the plaza is complete with grape vine hung stone wall, and a castle in the background.

While those actually taking part are from St. Andrew's, members of other churches were glad to be helpful and the village as a whole took a keen interest in the production.

The hall was filled to capacity for three presentations last year and a number of people followed the operetta around as it was staged in nearby towns.

This year engagements are booked through April and into May. Miss Ellen Kent was responsible for costuming and Tom Campbell helped with stage properties The second performance was Friday evening in the town hall.

British Drive To Capture World Jet Market Gets Government Approval

LONDON (CP) — The British aviation industry has been given the green light by the Churchill government to proceed all-out in its free-enterprise drive to capture the world's export markets in the field of jet aircraft.

Assurance of government financial backing in consolidating the lead already established by the industry, came in separate statements by the air minister, Lord De L'Isle and Dudley and Lord Mancroft, spokesman for the ministry of supply.

Precise nature of the aid was not disclosed. But Lord Mancroft made it clear there was no question of waiting for orders or manufacturers holding back for financial reasons when they wanted to go into a foreign market.

Lord De L'Isle and Dudley hoped the new sales drive would boost aircraft exports from the £43,000,000 figure for last year to at least £60,000,000 in 1953. He believed that within 10 years exports might rise to some £200,000,000.

"Here is a wonderful opportunity," he said. "Here we see an industry forging ahead and bringing immense credits to our prestige and our purses. Nobody can say we are down and out when we are scooping the world in aircraft. The government recognizes the opportunity and is determined to grasp it as firmly as it possibly can."

He warned, however, that the industry would have to get on with the job in the shortest possible time as it had a powerful and resourceful competitor in the United States.

Lord Pakenham, former Socialist minister of civil aviation, said much effort would be needed to "collar" the aircraft export market.

He suggested there would be widespread demand "for drastic and revolutionary solutions" if a more effective form of ownership between state and industry is not discovered within the next year and the fleeting export opportunity is missed.

The air minister said "it would be folly to threaten nationalization of an industry which is performing so great a task."

VISITS OTTAWA—Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, chairman of the Indian delegation to the general assembly of the United Nations, meets Prime Minister St. Laurent following her arrival in Ottawa for a two-day visit. She will also visit Montreal and Toronto.

Farm Legislation Occupies Two Provinces

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Compensation for injured farmers and hearings on proposed legislation for marketing agricultural products highligthed activity in two western legislatures Friday.

In the Saskatchewan House, Opposition leader Walter Tucker said he thought it high time farmers and farm workers should receive compensation when injured. Speaking during a debate on whether to include them under the workmen's compensation act fund. Mr. Tucker said that as a result of increased mechanization on farms there have been more accidents.

Premier Douglas replied that the government had studied the problem, but there are some difficulties; other employers could pass on increased costs resulting from contributions to an accident fund

Alberta's agricultural committee, which includes all 61 members of the House, ended its hearings on proposed marketing legislation without expressing an opinion.

Legislation was proposed by the province's federation of agriculture to handle agricultural products and the establishment on an experimental basis of a producers' egg marketing board to prevent extreme price fluctuations

The British Columbia legislature was prorogued, marking the end of Premier Bennett's first-session and the first time in 50 years that a B. C. administration had been defeated on the floor of the House.

The Soial Credit government was defeated Tuesday. It was elected June 12 last year and replaced the Liberals in office Aug. 1.

Premier Bennett will likely ask Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace for dissolution, with a possible election in June, but CCF leader Harold Winch may ask for the right to form a government

The government's defeat came on the second reading of a bill to set up a new system of financing education.

MAY PERMIT BINGO

Manitoba may have a permit system for charitable bingo games, Attorney-General Ivan Schultz said in the legislature.

Duff Roblin (PC — Winnipeg South) said during discussion of estimates for the attorney-general's department that the Criminal Code calls bingo a crime but allows the public to 'blow a wad of money at the races."

The attorney-general said persons can apply to the federal department of justice for changes in the laws relating to charitable bingos if convictions can't be obtained, but if there is no satisfaction in that quarter, Manitoba may follow Alberta in permitting occasional games.

Newfoundland members approved an agreement with Superior Rubber Limited providing for a loan of $1,000,000 to the company, repayable in 13 years. The firm is building a plant at Holyrood, near St. John's, and is aiming at a yearly production target of $1,200,000.

IN MOURNING FOR QUEEN MARY—Mourning orders were received Friday by the 50th HAA Regiment. Lt.-Col. M. E. Clarke and Major Howard R. Hammell (left to right) read the orders regarding procedure during the mourning period for Queen Mary. Officers will wear black arm bands and flags will fly at half-mast until the funeral Tuesday. Only the court will be in mourning for a month. This doesn't affect the regiment.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Named Staff Chief

TOKYO (AP)—Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison, chief UN Korean truce talk delegate, today was named chief of staff of Gen. Mark Clark's UN and Far East commands. Harrison will continue as chief delegate to the truce talks, now in recess.

Fear F-M Disease In Meat From S. America

LONDON (CP)—Possibilities of new foot-and-mouth infection from resumed South American meat imports are seen in some British agricultural circles.

Veterinary surgeons studying the latest northern England foot-and-mouth outbreaks in cattle, hogs and sheep are reported more inclined to blame infected meat from abroad than migratory birds.

Officials urge that every scrap of waste meat and bone from chilled imported carcasses be boiled more than an hour.

Sir Thomas Dalling, veterinary specialist with the food and agricultural organization of the United Nations, says in a report that many South American cattle have been exposed to hoof-and-mouth disease so long that they have acquired partial immunity. Accordingly symptoms may be erroneously diagnosed or ignored.

The virus, which can survive 2½ months in a chilled carcass, doesn't affect humans, but plays hob with cloven-hoof animals.

Yorkshire veterinarians' statistics indicate more than half Britain's outbreaks in the last 12 years originated with hogs eating suspect imported foods.

Supplies from Argentina, bought under a new meat contract, have just started to reach Britain for distribution. Compensation last year for foot-and-mouth losses totalled £2,400,000 and expenses £120,000 in Britain.

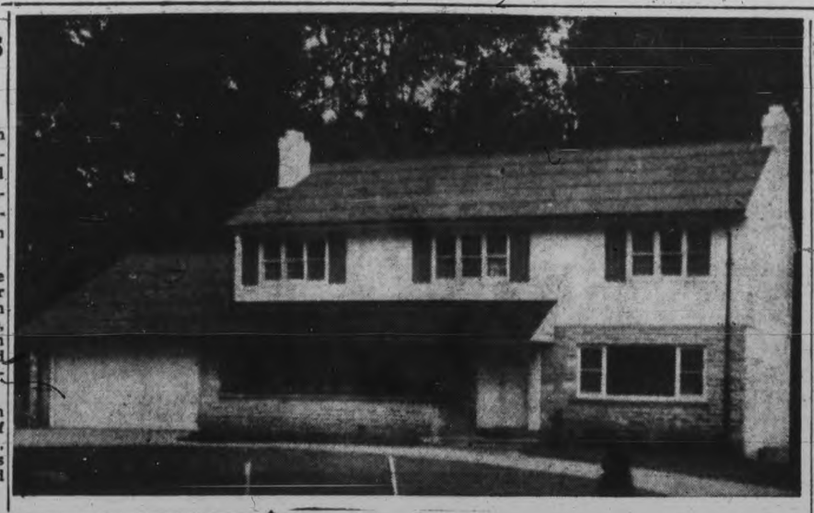
U.K. Breeding Stock Exports Dealt Blow By F-M Disease

LONDON (CP)—United Kingdom exports of breeding livestock to Canada have been dealt a further blow by fresh outbreaks of foot-and-mouth disease in England and Scotland.

It had been confidently expected that Canadian restrictions would be lifted in March, ending a year-long embargo. Instead, Canada has extended it by at least six months.

This means that about 650 breeding head, mainly beef bulls and heifers consigned to Canadian buyers, will have to wait a while longer for shipment.



Britain did a record business in breeding stock exports in 1951, worth more than $1,719,000 That dropped to $1,372,000 last year, partly because of the ban imposed by Canada a year ago February when foot-and-mouth disease broke out in Saskatchewan.

UNSPECIFIED

Canada's portion of the record 1951 sales isn't specified in U K. export figures. It's lumped with Commonwealth sales which accounted for 10 per cent of the total exclusive of Australia which imported 1½ per cent. Biggest importer was Ireland at more than half.

Canada has not brought cattle direct from England for a number of years because of foot-and-mouth disease. Until the ban a year ago, imports had been routed through Glasgow where the cattle were held in quarantine for two months before shipment.

Some imports trickled through via Ireland but the expense of holding cattle in quarantine there, and of extra shipping charges was costly. Ireland's own ban has ended the traffic.

Two Hydro Officials Defend Policies Before Legislature

TORONTO (CP)—Two top Ontario hydro commission officials defended hydro policies Friday, one before a legislature committee and one before the House itself.

Hydro chairman Robert Saunders defended the commission before the legislature's government commissions committee against suggestions by Albert Wren (Lib-Lab.—Kenora) of maladministration in connection with power supply to Northern Ontario mining companies.

George Challies, minister without portfolio and vice-chairman of hydro, said in the legislature that the 14.9-per-cent increase in rural power rates this year was necessary because of increased construction costs and essential changes in hydro policy.

Mr. Wren suggested to Mr. Saunders that differerencs in power charges by hydro and by the Canada Northern Company, a private company affiliated with the Quebec Northern Power Company, are unjustified; that hydro "bludgeoned" one Northern Ontario mining company into signing a power contract with hydro and that the government had made promises of special concessions to another.

The Northern Ontario member did not name either of the latter two companies.

Mr. Saunders said he agreed with Mr. Wren's suggestion that hydro charged $45 a kilowatt hour—$43 for large amounts—and spent 42 per cent of its revenues on operation and maintenance while Canada Northern charged $40.21 a kilowatt hour and spent only 24 per cent of its revenues on operation and maintenance.

The cause of this, Mr. Saunders said, is that hydro is a public service supplying power to large thinly-populated areas while Canada Northern confines its activities to the more heavily-populated and profitable areas. Hydro's consumer density figure was 2.22 a mile while Canada Northern's was 6.55.

Hydro's province-wide activities made necessary the installation of expensive power-transmission facilities the costs of which had to be divided over the whole province. The construction of transmission facilities between Des Joachims and Toronto at a cost of $27,000,000 was a case in point.

On the "bludgeoning" charges Mr. Saunders told this story:

He had negotiated with officials of the company involved for three years without being able to get them to sign a power contract. Last August, he had given them "until the night of Labor Day" to sign. They had told him he had no legal right to enforce such a demand.

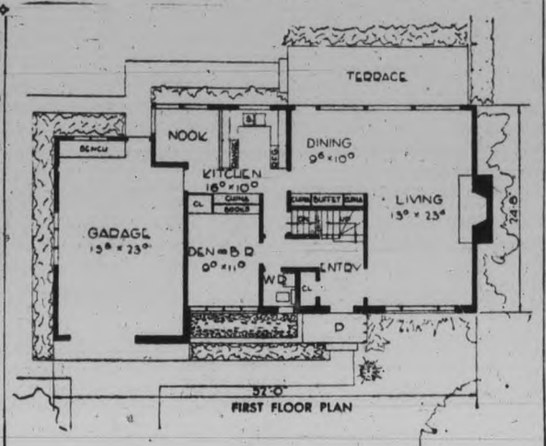
"I negotiated patiently with that company for three years," Mr. Saunders said. "At that point I thought it was time to get tough."

He denied any knowledge of government promises of special concessions to any mining company although Mr. Wren said he (Mr. Wren) possesses documentary proof of such concessions which he will produce in the near future.

In his legislature speech, Mr. Challies blamed these factors for the rural hydro rate increase, announced recently by Mr. Saunders:

The necessity of meeting load demands by steam-generated rather than water-generated power; a higher standard of maintenance required because of the increased use of power in rural areas for domestic purposes; increased labor and material costs.

Increased load demands had been met in recent years by the installation of steam-generating plants because of the holdup in the St. Lawrence seaway and power project. Steam-generated electricity which involved coal consumption was vastly more costly than the water-generated product which involved only water rental.



He gave an example: The cost of 4,000 kilowatt hours—the average annual domestic use—was 75 cents from a particular water plant and $14.02 from a particular steam plant.

Mr. Challies said hydro is raising its standards of maintenance in rural areas because of the increased use of electrical machines by farmers. One maintenance item which had increased in cost was tree-trimming, from $19,000 in 1945 to $1,356,500 in 1952.

He listed such increases in labor and materials costs as: In seven principal trades in the construction field, the average of the increases in hourly rates between 1945 and 1952 was 97 per cent; costs of copper, lumber and timber had increased during the same period by between 138 and 149 per cent.

Mr. Challies said that despite increased costs, hydro intends to maintain a program of rural expansion started in 1945. Expansion would be maintained at about the rate in 1952, when 2,080 miles of primary line and 24,931 customers were added.

Premier Frost announced the legislature will not be in session Tuesday as a mark of respect for Queen Mary.

HOUSE No. 77BW.—The four bedrooms and the first floor den (or fifth bedroom) make this an ideal home for a larger family. Good traffic circulation, a terrace off the large living-dining area, the kitchen eating nook and the beautiful wood and fieldstone exterior all combine to make this an outstanding two-storey home. For working plans, write to Home Building in Canada, 2842 Bloor St. West, Toronto.

Jewel Thug Gets $10,000 In Loot

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A tough armed thug robbed a tiny Hamilton Road jewellery shop of close to $10,000 worth of goods Friday night and left the jeweller trussed with a rope.

The gunman walked into Doug Gibbs' jewellery store just at closing time. He carried a suitcase.

Walking to the counter at the rear of the deserted shop, where Gibbs stood, the man pulled back his coat, revealing a revolver stuck in his belt.

"You know what this is," he said. When Gibbs tried to stall him he said: "Don't fool around. Get that vault opened."

The jeweller did as ordered and the thug took $50 in cash from the vault, then ordered his victim to dump all the diamonds, watches and rings into the suitcase.

The robber then bound Gibbs and fled.

Hurled Through Window

HAMILTON (CP)—Dr. K. Ambrose McGhie of Aldershot was thrown through the rear window of his car Friday when it collided with a fuel oil truck. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with head injuries, face cuts and abrasions. He is head of the McGregor Clinic here. The truck driver was Willard Thibodeau of Hamilton.

PREMIER OF FRANCE—Rene Mayer, left, waves a greeting to spectators on his arrival at International Airport, New York, from Paris. He was met at the airfield by Henri Bonnet, right, French Ambassador to the United States. The French Premier and his party made a brief stopover in New York before flying to Washington in President Eisenhower's private plane. The initial meeting with the U.S. president was held aboard the presidential yacht, the Williamsburg, Thursday.

Backbencher Raps Independent MPP

TORONTO (CP)—A government member came to the defence of the Ontario hydro commission in the legislature Friday, calling opposition criticism "wicked, loose and unfounded."

In an address during the budget debate, G. C. Wardrope (PC—Port Arthur), described Albert Wren (Lib. Lab.—Kenora) as a "hit and run" critic of hydro. Mr. Wren hit and ran away and then returned to hit again, Mr. Wardrope said.

Mr. Wardrope also called for the creation of a university at the Lakehead and for the establishment of junior colleges in Ontario to serve other communities distant from university centres.

He said that such a university and such colleges would save parents the expense of maintaining their sons and daughters away from home while they attended university. Many young persons remained away from home after graduation and the establishment of colleges would prevent many trained minds being lost to their communities.

Clear Constable Of Shakedown

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The Police Commission Friday exonerated Constable Gilbert Robitaille of guilt in four charges laid on the basis of statements made by Cecil Smith, a former "king" of local bootleggers whom the commission termed "a consummate liar."

After the commission's decision was handed down, Police Chief C. W. Farrow announced Robitaille's promotion to sergeant.

Smith demanded protection under the Canada Evidence Act, giving him immunity to civil or criminal charges as a result of his testimony, before he would elaborate on charges he made last week that he was the victim of a "police shakedown."

Robitaille was charged with receiving payments of $600 and $100 and with demanding $400 from Smith "in an attempt to defeat, prevent or obstruct the course of justice." The fourth charge was that he threatened Smith with bodily harm.

A written judgment issued by commission chairman Judge Archibald Cochrane, of Brampton, and Crown Attorney MacDonald, a commission member, said that on the basis of evidence there was only "one possible conclusion we can reach—that there is no truth whatever in Smith's evidence."

"We accept the evidence of Constable Robitaille on all essential points."

Planning Plumbing System Can Reduce Building Costs

Location of plumbing fixtures is too often given only casual consideration in the design of dwellings. As a result, the plumbing system must bear the burden of unnecessary complexities. Once located, the fixtures must be connected according to standards or regulations, regardless of the quantity of the materials or labour involved. Forethought can reduce these costs a considerable amount.

Logical arrangement of rooms containing plumbing fixtures and orientation of fixtures within the rooms will require minimum lengths of pipe and will provide an economical installation with probable operating and maintenance economies.

Plan future location, where possible, to group all the fixtures on each floor and orientate the fixtures in each group, so that the shortest length of drain pipe can be run to a central stack. This will automatically reduce to a minimum the length of required water piping.

Where fixtures are on two or more floors, other conditions permitting, group the fixtures on each floor and locate the groups approximately over each other so that all fixtures can be connected to the same drain and vent stacks.

ORIENTATION TO SERVICE

As an economy measure it is desirable to locate rooms containing fixtures near the point of entrance of water and sewer services. This is particularly applicable in the design of long narrow houses such as ramblers, or those houses with the short dimension of the building towards the utilities service entrance.

In two storey houses locate the bathroom, or bathrooms, on the second floor over the kitchen or powder room so that all fixtures may discharge to a single stack.

The fixtures in a single room, where feasible, should be placed against, and discharge toward, the same wall.

APARATUS LOCATION

If possible plan space for the fixed clothes washer with regard to the water supply and drainage facilities, especially in the smaller, more compact house. Long, uneconomical piping should be avoided.

Domestic type dishwashing machines, when installed as a separate piece of equipment should be located adjacent to the sink to take advantage of the shortest possible piping and drainage connections and to increase their convenience.

The utility of the conventional three fixture bathroom may be increased by placing the water closet and lavatory in a partitioned compartment, separated from the tub or shower. This arrangement permits simultaneous private use of the fixtures.

Six Years For Attack

TORONTO (CP)—Frank Sullivan, 22, who police said drugged and attacked a woman twice his age was sentenced Friday to six years for rape. Charged in the same case over the incident last September in an office in a dowtown factory Norval Strongin was acquitted of rape, convicted of common assault and given a suspended sentence.

HOUSECLEANING SHORT CUTS such as these take the drudgery out of the big spring offensive. This home-maker (left) finds her picture-frame washing goes faster if she doesn't have to worry about splashes. She uses wrapping paper to protect the wall with a tiled blotter to prevent seepage inside the frame. To keep freshly laundered curtains from snagging (right) on the curtain rod, she applies a piece of cellophane tape over the end of the metal rod. Curtain will slip on smoothly and easily.

Spring Cleaning's An Age-Old Fashion These Modern Tips Will Make It Easier

BY GAILE DUGAS.

Even if we all lived in dustless, cornerless, sootless and lintless houses, the chances are quite good that we'd feel compelled to make a gesture toward spring cleaning each year, just out of habit.

But since the majority of us do not live in such houses, we must make far more than a mere gesture.

There are several schools of thought on this whole unpleasant business. One believes in attacking the problem each week during the year, doing windows one week, rugs the next, and so on. This way, you have many more opportunities to exhaust yourself and nothing is ever really clean all at once.

Another school likes a cleaning plan that features cleaning one entire room at a fell swoop. (If you've cleaned the kitchen the night your husband brings home unexpected company and therefore the living-room is a mess, that's your hard luck.)

The third, or die-hard school, believes in the all-out, rip-roaring onslaught with everything a shambles each spring for a week or longer.

No matter which is your choice you're still in for hard work.

To take the edge off, we've gathered together some timely tips. These are efficient short-cuts which won't turn the whole thing into fun but will make it slightly bearable.

For instance, your marble lamp bases, tabletops, and art objects can get a good soap-sudsing. Use soft cloths, lamb's wool or a sponge. Dampen the surface first before you soap, then rinse carefully and buff dry with a lint-free cloth. If you want a high gloss, apply a clear wax.

When you set about washing all the mirrors in the house, be sure that you prevent moisture from seeping in and around the frames or near the backing. Use blotting paper or a thin piece of cardboard tucked into the edges as you wash the surface.

Your shower curtain needn't present a problem. Unhook it and dunk it up and down in thick soapsuds right in the tub. If it's very soiled, let it soak a few moments while you attend to some other thrilling task, like cleaning out the furnace. Then squish and squeeze the curtain through the suds, rinse it well, and rehang it to drip dry over the tub.

Washable window shades will come clean quickly if you spread them out on a flat surface and scrub them with a cloth or brush dipped into a sturdy lather. Wash just a small section at a time and overlap your strokes. Rinse with clean, damp cloth and repeat the whole process on the reverse side. Hang and allow to dry thoroughly before rerolling.

Now, we come to that great adventure: The clothes closet. For a job that will make your lazy neighbors turn green with envy, haul everything out and dump it on the floor. This is just a good beginning.

You know quite well that anything looking even faintly soiled must be washed. You should be finished with the furnace, anyhow, so you can just take this stuff into the laundry, and get started. Then come back, take a sudsy sponge, and wash down your garment bags, shoe boxes, blanket boxes, suitcase and hangers.

If you come to anything you just can't bear to wash, throw it out. While you're at it, you might as well wash the walls, shelves, lighting fixtures and hooks. If the little ones wander in for lunch, just give them a swipe with the sponge, too.

Now, reline shelves with clean paper or plastic shelving and reassemble the clothing in orderly manner or a reasonable facsimile thereof.

What are you complaining about? All you have to do now is shop for dinner, cook same, do dishes, wash the kiddies, see that your husband keeps his big hands off the clean shower curtains and out of the clean closets and plan your cleaning for the next day.

Lovesick Pilot Threatens Suicide, Lands

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A lovesick pilot, facing arrest on bad cheque charges and worried over the break-up of his romance, led other fliers on a four-hour chase along the California coast Friday after threatening to crash his "borrowed" plane in a suicide try.

Booked on suspicion of theft of the airplane, he denied the charge.

Roland Clarence Sperry, 30, a furniture salesman in need of a shave, stepped from the plane to declare he had changed his mind about killing himself.

"I've got too many troubles, I guess," he said. He blamed financial worries, including alimony payments to his divorced wife.

A note found in his parked automobile, addressed to "darling Isabel," also hinted at romantic complications. He said Isabel Torres was his fiance.

Miss Torres had anxiously told police before Sperry landed: "I'll marry him if he comes down safely." She said he "tried suicide three times a week."

Sperry's divorced wife, Ovella, was at the airport praying for him to come down.

The red Stinson plane was nearly out of gasoline when it landed.

Motorcycle police roared out and arrested Sperry as he stepped from the plane.

Fertilizers

It may be used by dissolving it in water and applying to the soil or to plant foliage. It is recommended for: starter solutions . . . to be used when setting out or transplanting flowers, vegetables, shrubs, trees and lawns started with plugs or stolons; regular feeding of house plants and window boxes

It also may be used for "quick-feed" soil applications for flowers, shrubs, trees and supplemental feeding of lawns; foliage feeding (leaf spray) of lawns, trees, shrubs and garden plants to stimulate summer growth and deepen foliage color; liquid feeding in home and commercial green houses, golf courses, golf greens and on commercial fruit and vegetable plantings.

Gardening Questions

Q—Last summer our best lawn was made unsightly by hundreds of small ant hills. What can be done to get rid of the ants?

A—Spraying the lawn with a 50 per cent Chlordane, using one pound to 10 gallons of water per 1,000 square feet of area, should do the trick. Apply when ants first appear and again in two or three weeks.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q—What can be done to a privet hedge in which many plants were badly broken down by an out-of-control automobile?

A—If the damaged plants are broken close to the ground, cut back the entire hedge to within a foot of the ground. Then the entire hedge will grow uniformly. Cultivate a 10-6-4 or similar fertilizer in the soil on both sides of the hedge, using four pounds per 100 feet of row. Cut all dead canes off at ground level.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q—Is there a book giving some description of all roses under cultivation? One cannot find some of the older varieties unless dozens of catalogues are on hand.

A—Modern Roses IV ($7.50,) published by the J. Horace McFarland Co., Harrisburg, Pa., in cooperation with the American Rose Society, lists some 6,000 varieties, and tells of the flower and plant, name or originator and parentage when known.

Queen's Pallbearer To Be Toronto Colonel

OTTAWA (CP)—Lt.-Col. James Neil Gordon, DSO, 38, of Toronto, commanding officer of the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, is flying to London where he will act as honorary pallbearer at the funeral of the late Queen Mary, former colonel-in-chief of the regiment, army headquarters announced Friday.

Col. Gordon has been called out of reserve for active duty by the army for the period he will be away.

He joined the Queen's Own as a second lieutenant at the outbreak of the Second World War and served in Canada, Newfoundland, England, France and Germany. In 1943 he served with the British Army in North Africa.

Poet-Professor Dies At Kingston

KINGSTON (CP)—Dr. George Herbert Clarke, 79, author and poet and former head of the English department at Queen's University, died Friday.

Dr. Clarke, who had been recovering from a recent heart attack, died of scalds suffered while taking a shower, doctors said.

He was professor of English and head of the department at Queen's from 1925 to 1943.

Born at Gravesend, Kent, England, he was educated in England, at Woodstock College and at McMaster University. He was later given honorary doctorates by McMaster, Bishop's University and Queen's.

Dr. Clarke was a member of the editorial committee of Queen's Quarterly since 1925 and editor since 1944. He was also a member of the staff of the British war trade intelligence department and of the British ministry of information in London from 1916 to 1917, a fellow of the Royal Society of Literature (Great Britain), a member of the Royal Society of Canada and was awarded the Lorne Pierce medal in 1943.

He was a distinguished poet. Among his works are "At the Shrine and Other Poems," 1914; "A Treasury of War Poetry," two volumes, 1917 and 1919; "The Hasting Day," 1930; "Halt and Parley," 1934 and "Collected Poems," 1947.

Plane Ditched, Save 4

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—A four-engined civilian cargo plane bound for Hawaii made a forced landing in the Pacific early Friday but all four crew members were saved. The men were picked up from their life raft by a Swedish motorship. There were no reports of injuries. The plane crash-landed about 300 miles off San Francisco after its two right engines failed.

DASHBOARD COFFEE POT—Here's the answer for parched throats of many American morning commuters. A German importer in New York is introducing this gadget, a coffee pot which plugs into the cigarette outlet on the dashboard of a car. Just add the coffee and 10 minutes later awaken yourself with a hot cup of "Java."

Winnipeg Editor, 68, Dies Of Heart Attack

WINNIPEG (CP)—Charles V. Combe, 68, veteran financial editor of the Winnipeg Tribune and authority on Western Canada business, died Thursday night of a heart attack. He was at his desk as usual earlier in the day.

A native of London, Mr. Combe was graduated from the University of Manitoba in 1910 with honors in philosophy and political economy. He joined the Tribune in 1911.

Acquitted Of Attack

TORONTO (CP)—A jury Friday acquitted Velmore Serrie, 21, and Bruce Pollock, 25, of charges of rape. The men, both from Toronto, were accused of attacking a 32-year-old mother at Cherry Beach here last August.

May Supply Trees Free For Worthy Purposes

TORONTO (CP)—The lands department may supply nursery stock free of charge for educational or scientific purposes, the Ontario legislature's lands and forests committee decided Friday.

The committee approved an amendment to the Forestry Act which would allow the department to supply young trees for such purposes on any terms it thinks proper.
